Smith Declares Independence For Rhodesia From Britain

Wilson Calls It Treason

COMBINED AP & UPI

SALISBURY, Rhodesia — Prime Minister Ian Smith declared Rhodesia independent today, the first such declaration against Britain since the American colonies broke away in 1776.

Britain retaliated swiftly, in effect outlawing Rhodesia. Prime Minister Harold Wilson declared in the House of Commons that Smith and his ministers had been fired—an action which will be ignored in Rhodesia. Wilson asserted his government will have no dealings with the Rhodesian regime.

Britain called for an immediate meeting of the United Nations Security Council to discuss the implications of Rhodesia's declaration of independence.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart was understood to be flying to New York from London to participate in the meeting.

The request for a council session was made by British Ambassador Lord Caradon in an early morning telephone call

Search Fails To Find Walk-Away Prisoner

A 27-year-old walk-away prisoner from San Quentin remained at large today despite a search patrol of over 50 guards supplemented yesterday by California Highway Patrol, sheriff's officers, and other law enforcement agencies.

Free is Eual Leon Stone, a Los Angeles County burglar described as "an ordinary sort of person—no trouble at all." He was working outside the wall on a minimum security ground crew when he departed, according to Prison Capt. C. G. Hocker.

The officer said the large search group was maintained through last night, then pulled off at 8 a.m. today. Continuing the vigil are two patrol cars, one working the south side of the ridge from San Quentin Wye to the Highway 101 intersection at Greenbrae, and the other from Richmond Bridge to San Quentin Wye.

Stone, serving two years for burglary and car theft, was paroled, then returned last August to San Quentin as a parole violator. He was missing about noon yesterday when a muster was held. He is described as 5 feet, 8½ inches tall, weighing 160 pounds, of ruddy complexion with brown hair, and having a tatooed skull on his left forearm.

He was wearing blue denims, officers said.

Johnson Calls Aides To Meet On Diplomacy

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson called his top military and diplomatic advisers to the LBJ Ranch today for his first major foreign affairs review since his Oct. 8 surgery.

Summoned for the day-long conference were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and McGeorge Bundy, Johnson's special assisant for national security affairs.

Officials said topics would include operations in Viet Nam, the Nov. 17 conference of hemisphere foreign ministers in Rio de Janeiro and the Dec. 6-8 American visit of West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

Joseph Laitin, acting press secretary, announced that Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission, director of the Johnson-ordered

Eisenhower Chest Pain Returns

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Doctors said today former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is in "satisfactory" condition but warned he could lapse into a full blown heart attack.

"It is not uncommon for patients with known coronary disease to experience repeated episodes of chest pain which may or may not progress to a full blown heart attack," the medics said.

Doctors said they would continue to treat Eisenhower as if he had already suffered a heart attack.

In San Francisco, Dr. Paul Dudley White, the noted Boston heart specialist who treated Eisenhower for a heart attack 10 years ago, said he was confident that the former president will make a full recovery from his latest attack.

White, in San Francisco to address a program sponsored by two Northern California heart groups, Wednesday said he had spoken with Eisenhower's doctors and was satisfied the coronary attack Monday night was a mild one.

"There should be a good prognosis and the attack should leave no scar," he said.

Woman Burns Self In Viet Nam Protest

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A 24-year-old mother who had said "all the world's problems are my problems," was found with her clothing aflame late last night in front of her South Bend home. Her husband said she had been concerned about Viet Nam.

Patrolman Edward Friend said two burned books of paper matches were found on the steps of Mrs. Celene Jankowski's house.

Viet Cong Ambush Backfires On Road

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Viet Cong force ambushed a South Vietnamese unit on a main highway west of Saigon today, but 130 of the Communists were killed by combined ground and air action, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The spokesman said American and Vietnamese planes hammered the attacking Viet Cong and killed 100 of them. He had no information on government casualties or other details of the action five miles west of Baria.

A large force of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops pressed an offensive in sandy, rolling coastal terrain 350 miles northeast of Saigon, but results were meager.

Two Viet Cong were reported killed and 18 suspects were detained in the search-and-destroy mission 18 miles northwest of Chu Lai on the coast of the South China Sea. No Allied casualties were reported, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The Americans stormed ashore yesterday with the Vietnamese in the first joint amphibious operation of the war against the Viet Cong. Col. Thell Fisher of Springfield, Va., was in command of the operation, the first time an American was put in operational control of a Vietnamese fighting unit.

The United Auto Workers Union will send a fully equipped pediatric clinic and three tons of food and medical supplies to South Viet Nam.

Walter Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO union, said the $250,000 shipment will allow South Vietnamese trade unions to establish a children's clinic.

The new squadron of F100 Supersabre jets had been based in the Philippines and at Da Nang.

U.S. Air Force jets dropped 340,000 propaganda leaflets 180 miles west of Hanoi on Dien Bien Phu, site of the decisive French defeat in the Indochinese War.

Vietnamese troops said they uncovered a huge arms cache 40 miles west of Saigon.

Marin Craft Begins Secret Gear Testing

The Marine Mineral Technology Center's new research vessel set sail today from the Tiburon Peninsula to complete her first assignment since being commissioned.

The Serendipity, as she is called by the staff at the center located on Paradise Drive, is churning toward the waters off Santa Barbara where she will continue work on a project for the Defense Department.

Her job is to place buoys below the surface of the ocean at various depths to test sonic waves. The ship, manned by a crew of technicians from the Texas Instrument Corp. of Houston, returns to the buoys, equipped with devices to record the waves, in from one to three days to check the readings.

The exact nature of the project is classified.

"She should complete that job in about three weeks and return to us by Dec. 7," said J. Leslie Goodier, project leader for the undersea mining at the center. "Then we'll get to work equip-

Woman Leaps To Her Death From Bridge

A 30-year-old San Francisco woman, on leave as a patient from Napa State Hospital, leaped to her death from the east side of the San Francisco end of the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday morning.

Her plunge to the water 100 feet off shore was seen by motorist Jerry C. Bodewin of Novato and a Daly City woman at Fort Point below the bridge.

The California Highway Patrol said they found the purse of Karen Ann Silverstein on the east pedestrian walkway, between the south tower and the toll plaza. In her purse were papers indicating she was on leave from Napa State Hospital.

Her body was recovered shortly after she jumped by the fishing boat Marie Anna and was turned over to the Coast Guard, CHP officers said.

Marijuana Confirmed In Kentfield Shooting

Michael Lazar, 22-year-old College of Marin student murdered by a school custodian last Friday, did have a small container of marijuana in his possession at time of the shooting, it was confirmed yesterday.

Sheriff's Inspector Marco M. Melovich said a substance removed from Lazar's clothing and taken yesterday to a state narcotics laboratory in San Francisco was definitely established as "weed."

He added, however, that "at this particular phase of our investigation, there is no link (of the marijuana) to the murder as far as the motive is concerned."

Officers said it has not been determined how or where Lazar obtained the marijuana.

The youth, of 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, and a student at the college, was killed while he and a girl friend, Janine Lieberman, 18, also a student, were visiting in the apartment of the custodian, Hardy Westmore, 46, also of the Kentfield address.

Westmore is charged with the apparent motiveless slaying of Lazar and attempted murder on Miss Lieberman. She suffered a single .30 caliber deer rifle wound of the right shoulder and is in "fair" condition at Marin General Hospital.

Marin Coroner Frank J. Keaton said he discovered the marijuana in a 35-mm film can in Lazar's left front trousers pocket just after the shooting. It contained only enough marijuana for half a cigarette, he estimated.

Mrs. Cannon Will Not Ask Reelection

The committee which was organized to oppose the re-election of Novato Mayor Robert D. Carrow and Mrs. Lucile Cannon, met last night at the Hilltop Restaurant and found out that it might not have a campaign.

"There were 28 people at the meeting," said George Amaroli, who with Harold E. Bright has organized the "Committee for Reasonable and Prudent Taxation Through Representative Government."

However, when Amaroli and Bright called off their threatened recall of Carrow, Cannon and William Jack Adams, Carrow told them he might not run for re-election.

Mrs. Cannon yesterday announced that she would not run for re-election in the April municipal elections. She stated that she wished to spend more time with her family and that the threatened opposition had nothing to do with it.

"Carrow has not publically stated that he will not run, but if he runs for either the council or some higher office, we will oppose him," Amaroli said.

A motto "TAB", which stands for Taxation After Balloting, was adopted by the committee last night, according to Amaroli.

Widening Talks In Closed Meet

The Kentfield Fire District Commission last night held a closed session with Asst. Director Arthur T. Knutson of the Marin County Public Works department on the possible effect of widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard on the fire district.

Thomas Henricks, deputy county counsel, told the commission that it was legal to hold a closed meeting because plans for the widening of the street were not public information yet and might affect the price of the property, said Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp.

The Ralph M. Brown act forbids closed meetings of municipal governing bodies except for hiring, firing or hearing charges against an employee.

Red Chinese Crew Defects

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Three crewmen of a Communist Chinese air force jet bomber defected to Nationalist China today and the Formosa government promptly presented them with a reward of $140,000 in gold.

The Chinese airmen landed the Russian-built plane at a Formosa air base. The plane skidded off the runway, seriously injuring the radio operator and bruising the navigator. The pilot was not hurt and the plane was only slightly damaged.

It was the third Communist plane to defect to the Nationalists.

College Student Refuses Draft

OAKLAND (AP)—A college student, calling the war in Viet Nam "immoral," says he will refuse to be drafted. But he adds that he would accept a draft to defend this country, "but not to fight in Viet Nam."

"The individual has the right to determine," said Daniel F. Healy, 21, "when he can or cannot take another man's life."

Healy showed up for his pre-induction physical yesterday and handed out statements of his intention to refuse the draft.

An FBI man warned Healy he could be committing a federal crime with a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine and five years in prison.

Healy said he was not a conscientious objector.

Peking U.N. Resolution Delayed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Peking's supporters today drafted a resolution to seat Communist China in the United Nations that would soft-pedal the expulsion of Nationalist China. But they delayed its introduction in the General Assembly.

Informed sources said the resolution would have Red China take over the seat "illegally occupied by" the nationalists.

This, some of the sponsors felt, would win some votes among African countries that balk at any proposal to expel the Republic of China on Taiwan.

LBJ Talks Luci Into Delaying

Nugent plans to go into the service on Nov. 28. If he goes into the Air Reserves, it would be only a six-month stint.

Johnson is said to feel Luci is still too young. He also wants her to get her degree at Georgetown University's school of nursing.

The Golden Gate Bridge is the only toll bridge in California which is not administered by the state.

Marcos Leading Macapagal In Philippine Balloting

MANILA (UPI) — President Diosdado Macapagal continued to lose ground today to World War II hero Sen. Ferdinand E. Marcos in their election fight for the Philippines presidency. Nearly half the votes remained to be counted two days after the polls closed.

Latest returns showed Senate President Marcos with 2,333,031 votes to 1,899,245 for Macapagal. Fifty-seven per cent of the votes had been counted by noon today.

Marcos, 48, candidate of the Nacionalista Party, was one of the most decorated Filipino soldiers of World War II and a survivor of the Bataan death march. Macapagal seeks to become the Philippines, first two-time president. He belongs to the Liberal party.

Most political observers said it appeared doubtful Macapagal, 55, could overcome Marcos' strong lead with only half the vote remaining to be counted. Both candidates and the National Elections Commission declared they feared widespread fraud because of the lengthy delays in counting and reporting the eight million ballots.

The first vehicular crossing of San Diego Bay, now being planned and designed by the Division of Bay Toll Crossings, is scheduled to be completed in 1969.

Motorcycle-Car Crash Kills Youth

CONCORD (AP) — A motorcycle-automobile collision here last night killed Dale Thompson, 17, and critically injured Larry Cappell, 17, riding with him on the bike. Both lived in Concord.

Police said Thompson's motorcycle ran broadside into a car driven by Ronald G. Cast, 17, of Pittsburg about 8 p.m.

Aluminum Firms Rescind Price Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three of the nation's four big aluminum producers backed down today in the face of stern Johnson administration opposition and canceled price increases the government had called inflationary.

The Aluminum Co. of America—No. 1 in the industry — called it quits last night by rescinding the increases announced Monday. Reynolds Metals followed to hours later.

Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., third biggest, joined the procession midmorning today. That firm called the price rises "restorations" and said its action followed "similar cancellations by other major producers."

Alcoa's decision to cancel the price increase was announced at a hastily called night press conference by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. He hailed it as "a patriotic act."

The defense secretary also said the government agreed to an immediate resumption of negotiations for the orderly disposal of a surplus of 1.4 million tons of aluminum now held in national stockpiles.

McNamara said he believed the government would be able to limit the amount of aluminum disposed of from the stockpile to less than 200,000 tons and thus "avoid disruption" of prices.

One-Time 'Angel Of Broadway' Defeats Illness

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Rheba Crawford Lambertz, once known as New York's "Angel of Broadway," appears to be improving after being critically ill from meningitis, a county hospital spokesman said.

Mrs. Lambertz, 67, was reported to be in "fairly good condition" yesterday. She entered the hospital two weeks ago.

Mrs. Lambertz gained her title as "Angel of Broadway" as a sidewalk preacher for the Salvation Army in New York during the 1920s.

She resigned from the Salvation Army in 1929 and moved to California where she was appointed director of the State Department of Welfare.

Mrs. Lambertz later worked with the late Aimee Semple McPherson at the Angelus Temple in Los Angeles.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Ben-Gurion To Visit

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—Former Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion will visit the United States next February to attend a conference on the Israel Bible Research Society in Chicago, it was reported today.

Irish Leader Threats

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — The government last night ordered police protection for the homes of northern Ireland's premier and other ministers because of terrorist threats. The danger was apparently posed by Republican extremists who want to end the partition of Ireland.

Tass Accuses FBI

Threat Brings Arrest

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert Francis Squillan, 23, of New York, was arrested by the FBI yesterday on charges of writing a threatening letter to President Johnson.

Agent John F. Malone said Squillan mailed the letter from Rome. It was traced to him by an analysis of the handwriting.

Bliss Leaves Hospital

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) —Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss, 57, hospitalized five days ago with chest pains and a muscle spasm, was to leave today for his home in Akron, Ohio. Bliss became ill last Friday while attending the Western States Republican Conference. Doctors said they found no trace of any heart ailment.

Troops Query Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who returned last night from a tour of Viet Nam, said he was asked by some servicemen if the anti-war demonstrations reflect the feelings of "most young people in the United States." He said he had assured them that "the majority of Americans are in support" of Viet Nam's right to self determination.

Student, Politicians Disagree On Viet

By WAT TAKESHITA

Four radio panelists disagreed this morning on the justification for use of force in Viet Nam.

They spoke over Radio Station KTIM's Sounding Board program, directed by Kitty Oppenheimer. The discussion will be rebroadcast via tape recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Robert D. Carrow, chairman of the Marin Democratic Central Committee, and Thomas A. Skornia, chairman of the Marin Council of Democratic Clubs, defended U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Nancy Swadesh of Tiburon, state chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, and Lynn Gray, 21, College of Marin student from Fairfax and member of the Marin Viet Nam Committee, disagreed.

Carrow noted these three choices for the U.S.: (1) Pull out, (2) stop the bombing and military buildup, and (3) negotiate.

He said no reputable organization would go so far as to urge an immediate pullout. He added that the second and third alternatives have been tried, all unsuccessfully.

Since North Viet Nam will not negotiate, the U.S. has no alternative but to exert enough force to bring them to negotiation, said Carrow.

"We are trying to rule out violence; yet we are carrying out our well-intentioned policies through violence," declared Mrs. Swadesh. "This certainly is a paradox."

In Europe after World War II, communism was stemmed through the Marshall Plan. "Why not a similar program in Viet Nam?" she asked.

She said the conflict in Viet Nam is essentially a civil war, and she questioned America's "moral justification" for killing the Vietnamese and exposing American boys to death and injury.

American military might will probably wipe out the North Vietnamese, but the ideaological conflict will remain, Mrs. Swadesh contended.

"Whether we should be supporting our young men in Viet Nam is not the question; they shouldn't be there in the first place."

Skornia warned that South Viet Nam is "only a testing ground in the planned Communist program to encircle and defeat the free nations of Southeast Asia and of the world."

Until world peace can be achieved through world law, "we must be prepared when called upon to meet force and violence with measured responses which will at least permit the ad hoc development of a process for more orderly change."

Skornia declared that the U.S. has "no other choice" but to meet force with force.

Gray, speaking as an individual, traced the history of the struggle in Viet Nam, dating back to the 1954 Geneva Accord, when the country was partitioned and plans set up for free elections in 1956.

He contended that free elections were not held, and that Ngo Dinh Diem was installed chief of state by an electorate consisting of about 15 per cent of the citizenry.

Gray pointed out that Dwight D. Eisenhower and other American leaders felt that if widespread elections were held at that time, about 80 per cent would have voted for Ho Chi Minh.

"The Diem regime had no popular support," said Gray. He sees "no justification for support of Diem" or for any of the other governments that have been installed in the last 10 years.

The panelists agreed that draft card burning and troop train stopping are illegal, and those who engage in such activities should be prepared for the consequences.

Youth Council Group Selected

Six were named last night to a committee to prepare bylaws for the Mill Valley Youth Council which has been operating under regulations in the southern Marin Boys Club charter, Jack Benjamin, council co-director announced today.

Mrs. Parnel Finn will be chairman. Others are Frank David, Les Mize, J. M. Sykes, Jack Little and Benjamin.

The committee expects to make its recommendation at the next meeting of the Youth Council Advisory Committee Dec. 13.

THIS DRIVE NOT PARADISE

Thomas G. Corbett of 119 Jamaica Avenue, Tiburon, was driving East on Paradise Drive in his Volkswagen last night when he suddenly found the road had cracked and dropped six inches along the dividing line near El Camino Avenue. The discovery came to him with a jolt and a tearing noise. He stopped his car and found his two left tires torn up, police reported. Officer Charles Brobeck said the fissure ran 57 feet down the road. When an Independent-Journal photographer went to the road later this morning, the crack was blacktopped over. Town Manager Ronald L. Usher said he did not know who made the repair. He had not even been told of the crack, he said. Paradise Drive has been site of a sewer line replacement the last two months. The town has complained of damage to the road.

Dixie Board To Pass Up Poverty Coin

Trustees of the Dixie School District last night agreed they will not seek $11,370 available under the recent public law 10-89 for education of children from impoverished families.

Districts can only receive the money if they develop a program specifically aimed at such pupils.

Trustees agreed to experiment with two new kinds of report cards. Seventh and eighth graders at Miller Creek School will be first graded according to five different achievement levels. They then will have five different grades they can receive within that level, Supt. Dennie B. Willis explained.

At Bernard Hoffman School, fourth and six graders will be given two grades, one for standing in his class and another grade related to his own effort.

Trustees approved a change in the speech therapy schedule. Therapist, instead of two visits a week with pupils, will work for six weeks steadily with those in need and then let the pupil rest for six weeks.

Willis said a test of this scheduling proved very effective last year.

Collision Hurts Inverness Woman

Mrs. Manka Prokupek, 56, of the Inverness Valley Inn, Inverness, was treated at Marin General Hospital last night for multiple cuts on her face, after the car she was riding in struck a car which skidded broadside into the eastbound lane on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, one mile west of Fairfax.

Russell G. Elmore, 17, of 145 Central Avenue, Woodacre, was westbound on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard when a tire failed and his car skidded on a curve, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The CHP said his car slid into the eastbound lane and was struck by a car driven by Milos V. J. Prokupek. Highway patrol officers said Elmore complained of pain around his ribs but said he would see his own doctor.

A/C Transit To Hike Some Fares

OAKLAND (AP) — Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District said today it would increase bus fares for children and trans-bay commuters Jan. 1 because of mounting costs.

Directors said they are faced with a deficit of approximately $750,000 for the current year.

Trans-bay commute fares will be increased 2 cents a ride. Children's fares will be increased to 15 cents from 10.

The district's 20-ride commute books to San Francisco will be increased 46 cents.

White said Eisenhower's second attack was typical of angina Pectoris, or cardiac insufficiency. He hazarded a guess that Eisenhower had "put on a pound or two" in recent months.

A statement issued by doctors this morning said:

"It is our opinion that the attack of pain which occurred yesterday afternoon represented another episode of acute coronary insufficiency of longer duration and greater intensity than the episode he experienced Tuesday morning.

The 75-year-old Eisenhower was placed under an oxygen tent again yesterday when he had another attack of chest pains which hospitalized him early Tuesday morning.

Sausalitans Turn Out To Assist School Planning

The Sausalito School District Board last night met with 75 residents who answered an invitation to help in a study which will prepare plans for new school buildings.

The district is contemplating a three-year building program which could require a million-dollar bond issue.

District Supt. Charles Lavaroni said today that 112 invitations had been mailed to people recommended to help in the study. Along with the 75 who attended last night's meeting, he said, 15 others sent letters expressing their support.

Persons who attended last night's meeting, Lavaroni said, were assigned to five subcommittees which will report back to the entire "committee of 100" in February.

Vandals Overturn Mechanical Rides

Vandals overturned the mechanical toys, broke bottles and emptied garbage in the Corte Madera Shopping Center sometime early this morning, according to Corte Madera police.

The hobby horse, rocket ship and swing sets on the east side of the center were overturned, police reported. A car with several youths in it was seen in the area by a nearby service station attendant between 3 and 5 a.m., according to police. No description of either the car or its occupants was obtained by police.

Burglaries Reported In Four Homes

Loss of two television sets and a large mirror in a burglary of the home of Joanne Winfred Betts, 742 Marin Drive, Tamalpais Valley, was reported by sheriff's deputies today.

Officers said entry was via an unlocked sliding door.

Arlys D. Lines, 160 Miller Road, Mill Valley, reported her son's locker at Tamalpais High School was forced and a ring and wristwatch worth a total of $300 were taken.

A $30 love seat owned by James Meyer, owner of Bungalow Motel at Stinson Beach, was stolen from the Stinson Beach Motel, officers also reported. Entry to a motel room was by breaking a front door glass.

Burglars entered an unlocked family room door of the home of Ann L. Al-Shamma, 3195 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, to steal $6 cash and a radio, sheriff's officers said today.

Humphrey Vows U.S. To Remain Until Peace Won

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today led the country in paying homage to the nation's veterans with a pledge that "we will remain in Viet Nam until a just and lasting peace has been established there."

At the same time he lashed out at those who plead "that mankind's plight in other places need not be our concern.

"These voices must be rejected." Humphrey said. "Theirs is the counsel of despair and defeat."

The speech spearheaded the theme of this year's Veterans Day observance, "Peace With Honor." Johnson called in a proclamation for the day to show the dedication of Americans for "the cause of world peace."

When the San Diego-Coronado Bridge is completed, it will be 10,000 feet long, will provide a minimum 200-foot clearance over two main channnel spans, and will carry four lanes of traffic on a single level.

Togetherness Extends To Twin Surgery

CHICAGO (UPI) — After 37 years, the "togetherness" of a good marriage became second nature to Mr. J. Alvin Dru'yor, 62, and his wief, Inez, 60.

It carried them into a Chicago operating room yesterday in an affair of the heart. Both suffered from identical heart conditions and both underwent identical operations.

Dr Maurice Mazel said today the couple as in "very good" condition. They were expected to be up and around today and should be able to leave the hospital in "from seven to 10 days." Mazel said.

Contrary to usual folk custom, it was gentlemen first in the tandem operations; Dru'yor went first because his was the greatest risk.

Dr. Mazel said "approximately 87 per cent have survived" the operations. "This is the 106th consecutive operation without a single death."

RHODESIA

to Council President Fernando Ortiz Sanz of Bolivia.

There was no immediate word on when the session would be held.

Wilson expelled Rhodesia from the sterling area, banned exports, including British purchases of Rhodesia's $112 million a year tobacco crop, ended all British aid, suspended trading preferences.

Britain embargoed the shipment of all arms to this central African country, and asked for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council.

The United States publicly deplored today Rhodesia's unilateral declaration of independence from Britain and the State Department announced "we will be in consultation with the British government."

The statement, by emphasizing consultation with Britain, left no doubt that the United States intends full support for Wilson's program of economic boycott of the Rhodesian regime.

Britain's other allies, were expected to join in ignoring the declaration and in imposing economic sanctions.

While Smith still was speaking on the radio, British Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs announced that Smith and all his ministers had been dismissed on orders of Queen Elizabeth for "an unconstitutional act of independence."

Smith and his Cabinet determined to go it alone after months of fruitless negotiations in which the British government demanded guarantees of eventual political power for the colony's 4 million Africans. Smith and his colleagues are determined to preserve rule by Rhodesia's 225,000 white settlers.

In proclaiming independence, Smith rejected last-minute appeals from both Wilson and Queen Elizabeth II. Wilson had telephoned Smith at 6 a.m. today in a final attempt to dissuade him.

Smith's broadcast was monitored in London at No. 10 Downing Street while the British Cabinet was in session considering the crisis.

As soon as Smith made his declaration, the British governor of Rhodesia, Sir Humphrey Gibbs, announced that on instructions from the queen he had suspended Smith and all his ministers from office.

It was not immediately clear how the governor would implement the queen's instructions, however. Wilson previously had ruled out the use of British troops to nullify a declaration of independence.

Smith, in his broadcast in Salisbury, said Rhodesians had demonstrated their loyalty to the crown and to others in the United Kingdom and elsewhere throughout two world wars.

He contended that the people of Rhodesia fully supported the request of their government for sovereign independence.

Yorty Blasts Request For 5,000 Negro Jobs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Samuel W. Yorty says a recommendation by the County Human Relations Commission that 5,000 new jobs be made available for Negroes is "an extremely dangerous, ill-conceived statement."

Such a move, Yorty told newsmen Wednesday, "would really skyrocket property taxes." The recommendation, he said, is building up a case for a potential riot."

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Amelia M. Lamb Dies At 82

Amelia M. Lamb, 82, of 21 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, a retired practical nurse, died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

A native of Minster, Ohio, Mrs. Lamb had lived in California and Marin County one and a half years. She worked as a practical nurse in Gary, Ind., where she lived most of her life. She moved here from Florida, where she lived for six years after retiring.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Mary Owens and Mrs. Martha Keever, both of San Anselmo, three grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A Requiem Mass will be offered Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo. Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

NELL CLARK

Mrs. Nell Clark, who for many years had taught school in one room school houses in the Missouri River area of Kansas, died today in a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Bellville, Kans., she had started teaching school when she was 16 years old. She rode horseback to reach the remote rural schools where she taught for 12 years. She had made her home in Troy, Kan., until moving to San Rafael 10 years ago to make her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tegeler of 189 Bay View Drive. She was 88 years old.

Prior to moving west, she had been active in the Republican party in northeast Kansas.

She is survived, in addition to her daughter, two sons, Dr. John Clark of Asbury Park, N.J., and Ian Clark of Victorville, Calif., and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Holy Innocents Episcopal Church in Corte Madera. Interment will follow in Kansas.

LOUIS NORGUIERA

Louis Norguiera, 59, of 312 H Street, San Rafael, a 19-year resident of Marin, died at a local hospital today after a brief illness.

He was a member of the Marin County Mounted Sheriff's Posse and once served as posse captain.

He was a chemist with the American Marine Paint Co. in San Francisco.

He leaves his wife, Marie Norguiera, a daughter, Gloria Ecton of Fairfax, a sister, Mrs. Helen Carlson of San Francisco, and a brother, Joseph Norguiera of San Francisco. He also leaves four grandchildren.

Funeral cortege will leave Chapel of the Hills Mortuary in San Anselmo at 8:30 a.m. Saturday and go to St. Rita's Church in Fairfax where a Requiem Mass will be held at 9 a.m. Rosary will be recited at Chapel of the Hills at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Two Injured In San Rafael Accidents

Two persons were injured, neither seriously, in separate traffic accidents in San Rafael yesterday.

Charles Doyle, 17, of 327 Colburn Street, San Rafael, suffered bruises, a fractured left hand, and a sprained finger about 7 p.m. when the motorcycle he was riding and a car driven by Thomas Alan Barker, 34, of 8 Third Street, San Rafael, collided at the intersection of Lincoln and Fifth Avenues.

Mrs. Aimee Posty, 68, of 207 Bayview Street, San Rafael, suffered right shoulder and collar bone injuries when the car in which she was riding was in collision with a second vehicle at D and Bayview streets at 4:54 p.m.

Police said she was passenger in a vehicle driven west on Bayview Street by John Posty, 68, of the same address. Martin Henry Long, 49, of 116 Longfellow Drive, Mill Valley, was driving the other vehicle south on D Street.

Both victims were treated and released from San Rafael General Hospital.

Military Agents Arrest Soldier In Viet Protest

FT. DEVENS, Mass. (UPI)—A soldier, dressed in civilian clothes while participating in an anti-Viet Nam demonstration, was seized by military officials outside the main gate of this Army post on Veterans Day today.

The soldier, who identified himself as Pvt. Steven Underwood, 18, Fremont, Calif., was one of 25 pickets protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam. Some carried signs and said there was a possibility of a draft card burning incident later today.

Underwood was grabbed by two military intelligence agents in civilian clothes. Before leading him away they made him show his military pass, meal card and other papers.

Underwood said he enlisted in the Army for four years in March. "But I didn't have all the facts before I signed up," he said.

Asked whey he was demonstrating, he answered, "It's what I believe in."

to Council President Fernando Ortiz Sanz of Bolivia.

There was no immediate word on when the session would be held.

Wilson expelled Rhodesia from the sterling area, banned exports, including British purchases of Rhodesia's $112 million a year tobacco crop, ended all British aid, suspended trading preferences.

Britain embargoed the shipment of all arms to this central African country, and asked for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council.

The United States publicly deplored today Rhodesia's unilateral declaration of independence from Britain and the State Department announced "we will be in consultation with the British government."

The statement, by emphasizing consultation with Britain, left no doubt that the United States intends full support for Wilson's program of economic boycott of the Rhodesian regime.

Britain's other allies, were expected to join in ignoring the declaration and in imposing economic sanctions.

While Smith still was speaking on the radio, British Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs announced that Smith and all his ministers had been dismissed on orders of Queen Elizabeth for "an unconstitutional act of independence."

Smith and his Cabinet determined to go it alone after months of fruitless negotiations in which the British government demanded guarantees of eventual political power for the colony's 4 million Africans. Smith and his colleagues are determined to preserve rule by Rhodesia's 225,000 white settlers.

In proclaiming independence, Smith rejected last-minute appeals from both Wilson and Queen Elizabeth II. Wilson had telephoned Smith at 6 a.m. today in a final attempt to dissuade him.

Smith's broadcast was monitored in London at No. 10 Downing Street while the British Cabinet was in session considering the crisis.

As soon as Smith made his declaration, the British governor of Rhodesia, Sir Humphrey Gibbs, announced that on instructions from the queen he had suspended Smith and all his ministers from office.

It was not immediately clear how the governor would implement the queen's instructions, however. Wilson previously had ruled out the use of British troops to nullify a declaration of independence.

Smith, in his broadcast in Salisbury, said Rhodesians had demonstrated their loyalty to the crown and to others in the United Kingdom and elsewhere throughout two world wars.

He contended that the people of Rhodesia fully supported the request of their government for sovereign independence.

Yorty Blasts Request For 5,000 Negro Jobs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Samuel W. Yorty says a recommendation by the County Human Relations Commission that 5,000 new jobs be made available for Negroes is "an extremely dangerous, ill-conceived statement."

Such a move, Yorty told newsmen Wednesday, "would really skyrocket property taxes." The recommendation, he said, is building up a case for a potential riot."

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Amelia M. Lamb Dies At 82

Amelia M. Lamb, 82, of 21 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, a retired practical nurse, died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

A native of Minster, Ohio, Mrs. Lamb had lived in California and Marin County one and a half years. She worked as a practical nurse in Gary, Ind., where she lived most of her life. She moved here from Florida, where she lived for six years after retiring.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Mary Owens and Mrs. Martha Keever, both of San Anselmo, three grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A Requiem Mass will be offered Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo. Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Two Injured In San Rafael Accidents

Two persons were injured, neither seriously, in separate traffic accidents in San Rafael yesterday.

Charles Doyle, 17, of 327 Colburn Street, San Rafael, suffered bruises, a fractured left hand, and a sprained finger about 7 p.m. when the motorcycle he was riding and a car driven by Thomas Alan Barker, 34, of 8 Third Street, San Rafael, collided at the intersection of Lincoln and Fifth Avenues.

Mrs. Aimee Posty, 68, of 207 Bayview Street, San Rafael, suffered right shoulder and collar bone injuries when the car in which she was riding was in collision with a second vehicle at D and Bayview streets at 4:54 p.m.

Police said she was passenger in a vehicle driven west on Bayview Street by John Posty, 68, of the same address. Martin Henry Long, 49, of 116 Longfellow Drive, Mill Valley, was driving the other vehicle south on D Street.

Both victims were treated and released from San Rafael General Hospital.

Military Agents Arrest Soldier In Viet Protest

FT. DEVENS, Mass. (UPI)—A soldier, dressed in civilian clothes while participating in an anti-Viet Nam demonstration, was seized by military officials outside the main gate of this Army post on Veterans Day today.

The soldier, who identified himself as Pvt. Steven Underwood, 18, Fremont, Calif., was one of 25 pickets protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam. Some carried signs and said there was a possibility of a draft card burning incident later today.

Underwood was grabbed by two military intelligence agents in civilian clothes. Before leading him away they made him show his military pass, meal card and other papers.

Underwood said he enlisted in the Army for four years in March. "But I didn't have all the facts before I signed up," he said.

Asked whey he was demonstrating, he answered, "It's what I believe in."

NELL CLARK

Mrs. Nell Clark, who for many years had taught school in one room school houses in the Missouri River area of Kansas, died today in a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Bellville, Kans., she had started teaching school when she was 16 years old. She rode horseback to reach the remote rural schools where she taught for 12 years. She had made her home in Troy, Kan., until moving to San Rafael 10 years ago to make her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tegeler of 189 Bay View Drive. She was 88 years old.

Prior to moving west, she had been active in the Republican party in northeast Kansas.

She is survived, in addition to her daughter, two sons, Dr. John Clark of Asbury Park, N.J., and Ian Clark of Victorville, Calif., and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Holy Innocents Episcopal Church in Corte Madera. Interment will follow in Kansas.

LOUIS NORGUIERA

Louis Norguiera, 59, of 312 H Street, San Rafael, a 19-year resident of Marin, died at a local hospital today after a brief illness.

He was a member of the Marin County Mounted Sheriff's Posse and once served as posse captain.

He was a chemist with the American Marine Paint Co. in San Francisco.

He leaves his wife, Marie Norguiera, a daughter, Gloria Ecton of Fairfax, a sister, Mrs. Helen Carlson of San Francisco, and a brother, Joseph Norguiera of San Francisco. He also leaves four grandchildren.

Funeral cortege will leave Chapel of the Hills Mortuary in San Anselmo at 8:30 a.m. Saturday and go to St. Rita's Church in Fairfax where a Requiem Mass will be held at 9 a.m. Rosary will be recited at Chapel of the Hills at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Sen. Byrd Quits Post In Senate After 32 Years

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Gov. Albertis S. Harrison said today that U.S. Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., has resigned his Senate post.

Harrison said the resignation was effective last night upon receipt of a letter from the 78-year-old Senator announcing his retirement.

Byrd was appointed to the U.S. Senate on March 4, 1933, and became one of the most powerful political figures in the country.

The text of Byrd's resignation said:

"It was 50 years ago this month that I first was elected to the Senate of Virginia. Since then through the partiality and generosity of the people of Virginia I havs served as governor of our Commonwealth and for nearly 33 years I have served in the United States Senate.

"I have concluded that the time has come for someone younger to bear these burdens and shoulder these responsibilities."

He gave arthritis as his main reason for giving up his Senate post.

Redwood Stunts Due To Aid Lettermen

The Green Archer, a Robin Hood-style hero, will invade Redwood High School next week to help finance the school's Letterman Club.

Flaming arrows and fair maidens will aid the Archer in his shows in an attempt to surpass the highly successful "Zorro" series, begun last year by football coach Bob Troppmann to bolster the sagging Letterman treasury.

MANSFIELD TRIP RAISES QUESTIONS

Senate Diplomatic Expert Shunted Aside To Minor Parley In Australia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's approval of a European- Asiatic factfinding tour by Sen. Mike Mansfield has raised new speculation over White House relations with Sen. J.W. Fulbright.

While Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, and four colleagues are assessing relations with European allies and probing conditions in Asia, Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Foreign Relations Committee, is scheduled to attend a minor conference in New Zealand.

Fulbright has contended that the Johnson administration over-reacted when it intervened militarily in the Dominican Republic. He has suggested a new and longer pause in North Viet Nam bombings to encourage the Communists there to negotiate. The White House has said this would not do any good.

Fulbright heads a group scheduled to attend a meeting of British Commonwealth parliamentarians in Wellington, New Zealand, the first week of December. While this may furnish valuable contacts, it seems unlikely to produce any world-stirring pronouncements.

The freeze that seems to have developed in relations between the President and Fulbright after the latter's Sept. 15 criticism of the Dominican course shows no signs of breaking. Senatorial colleagues said Fulbright wrote Johnson a note while the President was in the hospital for his gall bladder operation and got back an acknowledgment from a staff member.

It was not exactly clear how the Mansfield trip materialized. But it was known that it was not authorized through the Foreign Relations Committee and that Fulbright was surprised by the announcement.

Mansfield has been critical of some aspects of Johnson's Viet Nam policy. But he has supported the President's course despite his original opposition to escalation of the war.

He said yesterday in a statement:

"To the extent that we speak abroad, it will be solely to stress the essential unity of this government in the search for an equitable and lasting peace in Viet Nam and for stable and mutually satisfying and useful relations with all nations similarly inclined."

Mansfield's group will include one other Foreign Relations Committee member beside himself, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt. Others going along are Sens. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii; J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del.; and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

The extent of White House interest in the trip was indicated by the fact that the Mansfield group will travel by Air Force jet while Fulbright's delegation and another headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., were told they would have to get slower planes or commercial accommodations.

Fairfax Trustees Set Hiring Rules

The Fairfax School District board, meeting last night, set up procedures for choosing a new superintendent for the district from an expected 40 applicants.

Supt. Homer Sisk reported that the board met with the screening committee, composed of William Vanason, director of business services in the county schools office, Tamalpais High School District Supt. Chester Carlisle, and Mill Valley School District Supt. G. R. McConnell.

The board and screening committee determined that an advisory committee would first choose from nine to 12 of the candidates by reading their confidential files, then pass these names onto the screening committee for closer evaluation, Sisk said.

Peking Flays Kremlin For Peace Effort

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today the Soviet Union tried to end the Viet Nam war early this year "in tacit agreement and close collaboration" with President Johnson.

"Since (the Soviets) are cooperating so closely with the U.S. imperialists in united action, it is, of course, impossible for (Chinese) Marxist-Leninists to join in and take 'united action' with them," the Chinese said.

The Chinese, in an 18,000-word article in the party theoretical journal Red Flag, said the Soviet peace moves started in January when Soviet leaders transmitted to Communist North Viet Nam a U.S. demand that it stop supporting the Viet Cong, stop supplying it with guns and stop attacks on the cities of South Viet Nam.

The article outlined these other Soviet overtures and the responses:

In February, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, en route home from North Viet Nam, stressed in talks with Chinese leaders in Peking "the need to help the United States find a way out of Viet Nam."

"This was firmly rebutted," the Chinese said, and "we expressed the hope that the new leaders of the Soviet Communist party would support the struggle of the Vietnamese people and not make a deal with the United States on the question of Viet Nam."

Kosygin agreed, but "the new leaders of the Communist party of the Soviet Union soon went back on their promise."

On Feb. 15, the day after Kosygin returned to Moscow, the Soviet government officially put before North Viet Nam and China a proposal to convene a new international conference on Indochina without prior conditions.

This amounted to an endorsement of President Johnson's offer for "unconditional negotiations," Peking claimed. It charged that the Soviet leaders have been trying to arrange peace talks without mentioning withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam.

U.S. Nuclear Expert Reported As Missing

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Army reported today that a nuclear technician based in Germany disappeared on a trip to the United States after delivering classified material to an Army depot in New York State.

The man was identified as CWO Spencer D. Harris Jr. His hometown was not immediately available nor was the site of the depot to which he delivered the material.

The widely circulated newspaper Bild Zeitung said Harris was fully informed on the location and plans for all U.S. nuclear weapons stored in Germany. It said he also had knowledge of nuclear tactics to be used in case of emergency.

Bild Zeitung said American security agents around the world had been alerted to look for the missing man.

Harris was last heard from Sept. 21 when he cabled for an extension of his leave.

The Overseas Weekly, a private newspaper published here for American forces in Europe, reported today that the disappearance of another American soldier, Sgt. 1.C. Glen R. Rohrer, 44, of West Allis, Wis., had set back Army espionage in Europe 5 to 10 years.

The Overseas Weekly, quoting high intelligence sources, said Rohrer crossed into Czechoslovakia with top secret information and the names of hundreds of Western agents and contacts operating in Communist countries. As a result, many operatives have been pulled back into the West, the weekly reported.

Ross Trustees Hold Session On Faculty

Trustees of the Ross School District last night held a special closed session for teacher evaluation and continued it until next Monday, Supt. William W. Monohan reported today.

The Monday session will start at 7:30 p.m. and the regular, open meeting of trustees will start at 8:30 p.m., he said. Teacher evaluations are discussed by the board every spring and fall, Monohan explained.

Fuel Stolen

Theft of 325 gallons of American Helicopter Corp.'s aviation fuel stored in an underground tank at The Lodge, north of Novato, was reported today by sheriff's officers. A padlock was filed for access to the tank.

Bolinas-Stinson Board Backs Tam Bond Issue

Trustees of the Bolinas Stinson School District last night unanimously endorsed the $5.75 million bond measure to be decided by voters of the Tamalpais High School District Tuesday, trustee Arthur E. Carpenter reported today.

The board will meet next on Dec. 8 for review of budget expenditures.

MANSFIELD TRIP RAISES QUESTIONS

Senate Diplomatic Expert Shunted Aside To Minor Parley In Australia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's approval of a European- Asiatic factfinding tour by Sen. Mike Mansfield has raised new speculation over White House relations with Sen. J.W. Fulbright.

While Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, and four colleagues are assessing relations with European allies and probing conditions in Asia, Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Foreign Relations Committee, is scheduled to attend a minor conference in New Zealand.

Fulbright has contended that the Johnson administration over-reacted when it intervened militarily in the Dominican Republic. He has suggested a new and longer pause in North Viet Nam bombings to encourage the Communists there to negotiate. The White House has said this would not do any good.

Fulbright heads a group scheduled to attend a meeting of British Commonwealth parliamentarians in Wellington, New Zealand, the first week of December. While this may furnish valuable contacts, it seems unlikely to produce any world-stirring pronouncements.

The freeze that seems to have developed in relations between the President and Fulbright after the latter's Sept. 15 criticism of the Dominican course shows no signs of breaking. Senatorial colleagues said Fulbright wrote Johnson a note while the President was in the hospital for his gall bladder operation and got back an acknowledgment from a staff member.

It was not exactly clear how the Mansfield trip materialized. But it was known that it was not authorized through the Foreign Relations Committee and that Fulbright was surprised by the announcement.

Mansfield has been critical of some aspects of Johnson's Viet Nam policy. But he has supported the President's course despite his original opposition to escalation of the war.

He said yesterday in a statement:

"To the extent that we speak abroad, it will be solely to stress the essential unity of this government in the search for an equitable and lasting peace in Viet Nam and for stable and mutually satisfying and useful relations with all nations similarly inclined."

Mansfield's group will include one other Foreign Relations Committee member beside himself, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt. Others going along are Sens. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii; J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del.; and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

The extent of White House interest in the trip was indicated by the fact that the Mansfield group will travel by Air Force jet while Fulbright's delegation and another headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., were told they would have to get slower planes or commercial accommodations.

Fairfax Trustees Set Hiring Rules

The Fairfax School District board, meeting last night, set up procedures for choosing a new superintendent for the district from an expected 40 applicants.

Supt. Homer Sisk reported that the board met with the screening committee, composed of William Vanason, director of business services in the county schools office, Tamalpais High School District Supt. Chester Carlisle, and Mill Valley School District Supt. G. R. McConnell.

The board and screening committee determined that an advisory committee would first choose from nine to 12 of the candidates by reading their confidential files, then pass these names onto the screening committee for closer evaluation, Sisk said.

Peking Flays Kremlin For Peace Effort

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today the Soviet Union tried to end the Viet Nam war early this year "in tacit agreement and close collaboration" with President Johnson.

"Since (the Soviets) are cooperating so closely with the U.S. imperialists in united action, it is, of course, impossible for (Chinese) Marxist-Leninists to join in and take 'united action' with them," the Chinese said.

The Chinese, in an 18,000-word article in the party theoretical journal Red Flag, said the Soviet peace moves started in January when Soviet leaders transmitted to Communist North Viet Nam a U.S. demand that it stop supporting the Viet Cong, stop supplying it with guns and stop attacks on the cities of South Viet Nam.

The article outlined these other Soviet overtures and the responses:

In February, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, en route home from North Viet Nam, stressed in talks with Chinese leaders in Peking "the need to help the United States find a way out of Viet Nam."

"This was firmly rebutted," the Chinese said, and "we expressed the hope that the new leaders of the Soviet Communist party would support the struggle of the Vietnamese people and not make a deal with the United States on the question of Viet Nam."

Kosygin agreed, but "the new leaders of the Communist party of the Soviet Union soon went back on their promise."

On Feb. 15, the day after Kosygin returned to Moscow, the Soviet government officially put before North Viet Nam and China a proposal to convene a new international conference on Indochina without prior conditions.

This amounted to an endorsement of President Johnson's offer for "unconditional negotiations," Peking claimed. It charged that the Soviet leaders have been trying to arrange peace talks without mentioning withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam.

U.S. Nuclear Expert Reported As Missing

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Army reported today that a nuclear technician based in Germany disappeared on a trip to the United States after delivering classified material to an Army depot in New York State.

The man was identified as CWO Spencer D. Harris Jr. His hometown was not immediately available nor was the site of the depot to which he delivered the material.

The widely circulated newspaper Bild Zeitung said Harris was fully informed on the location and plans for all U.S. nuclear weapons stored in Germany. It said he also had knowledge of nuclear tactics to be used in case of emergency.

Bild Zeitung said American security agents around the world had been alerted to look for the missing man.

Harris was last heard from Sept. 21 when he cabled for an extension of his leave.

The Overseas Weekly, a private newspaper published here for American forces in Europe, reported today that the disappearance of another American soldier, Sgt. 1.C. Glen R. Rohrer, 44, of West Allis, Wis., had set back Army espionage in Europe 5 to 10 years.

Rohrer left his intelligence unit in Frankfurt on Aug. 16. His car was found abandoned near Weiden, on the border between Czechoslovakia and West Germany, and bloodhounds followed his scent to the border.

The Overseas Weekly, quoting high intelligence sources, said Rohrer crossed into Czechoslovakia with top secret information and the names of hundreds of Western agents and contacts operating in Communist countries. As a result, many operatives have been pulled back into the West, the weekly reported.

Ross Trustees Hold Session On Faculty

Trustees of the Ross School District last night held a special closed session for teacher evaluation and continued it until next Monday, Supt. William W. Monohan reported today.

The Monday session will start at 7:30 p.m. and the regular, open meeting of trustees will start at 8:30 p.m., he said. Teacher evaluations are discussed by the board every spring and fall, Monohan explained.

Fuel Stolen

Theft of 325 gallons of American Helicopter Corp.'s aviation fuel stored in an underground tank at The Lodge, north of Novato, was reported today by sheriff's officers. A padlock was filed for access to the tank.

Bolinas-Stinson Board Backs Tam Bond Issue

Trustees of the Bolinas Stinson School District last night unanimously endorsed the $5.75 million bond measure to be decided by voters of the Tamalpais High School District Tuesday, trustee Arthur E. Carpenter reported today.

The board will meet next on Dec. 8 for review of budget expenditures.

"She was actually first commissioned as the Navy net layer Suncock in 1946, but being completed right after the end of the war she spent most of her life in mothballs.

"The Navy recommissioned her at Mare Island and turned her over to the center last July. Since then we've been working on her, too. New navigational equipment, radar and a radio telephone system have been installed.

"We have yet to squip her with Sonar to record the contours of the bottom of the sea and other such refinements."

The Serendipity is 168 feet in length and has a beam of 34 feet, much larger than her sister ship, the 65-foot Perspicacity.

"The Perspicacity is now conducting underwater mineral tests off the Washington and Oregon coasts," Goodier said. "But she's pretty small and we have to keep her close to shore. The Serendipity will be able to go anywhere in the world."

The Serendipity, which will carry a crew of about 15 scientist-seamen, has a crane capable of lifting 20 tons and two lifting horns on her bow with a 50-ton capacity.

"When we start working with small two-man submersible vessels—we don't like to call them submarines—next year, that lifting capacity will come in handy," said Goodier, upon whose wall hangs the words: "think down."

The ship has been in use now for about two weeks, practicing with the buoys in San Francisco Bay and planting them along the coast off Northern California.

The Marine Mineral Technilogy Center, under the Department of the Interior, is expecting a small two-man submersible vessel from the General Dynamics Corp.'s San Diego marine research center late next month.

The Serendipity will be used as mother ship to conduct tests off Point Reyes with the craft. The small sub will will also be used to explore for phosphate, a mineral in demand for fertilizers.

Webster's gives the definition of serendipity as "an apparent aptitude for making discoveries accidentally."

"The ocean holds great promise for Man," said Goodier, "but any discoveries we make with the help of Serendipity won't be by chance; they'll be the results of hard work. . . . Well, maybe a little bit o' luck, too."

Bus Crash Brings Death To 4 In Car

STEWARTS POINT (UP)—Four persons were killed on rain slick Highway 1 yesterday when a packed school bus collided with a car near here in Sonoma County.

The victims were all occupants of the car. None of the 30 children and adults aboard the school bus was seriously hurt although many minor injuries were reported.

The victims were tentatively identified as Pauline Horn, 37; Jarad Horn, 4; Nadine M. McGill, 18, and Ella P. White, 70, all believed to be from Point Arena.

The Highway Patrol said Mrs. Horn's vehicle skidded broadside across the highway and was struck by the bus.

Apollo Delayed, But Not Gemini

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — U.S. scientists today delayed until Saturday the first test firing of the new Apollo spaceship, but took another step toward the Gemini 7 launch Dec. 4 by wiring the to-man capsule to its booster.

The Apollo rocket unit being readied for a 15-second ground firing is similar to one that is to return three moon explorers to earth after the first lunar exploration in about three years. The static test had been set for tomorrow, but lagging preparations put it off a day.

Work leading toward the launch of Gemini 7 and then Gemini 6 in December was proceeding at full speed.

DON'T FAIL OUR CHILDREN

You have a vital stake in what happens Nov. 16. The issue: A bond proposal for the Tamalpais Union High School District.

The choice: Will we maintain our tradition of excellence? Or will our schools be swamped by a rush of children—young victims of Marin's growth?

FACT: Proposed is $5,750,000 to build the initial phase of San Geronimo High and the final phase of Redwood High.

FACT: Right now there are nore students than spaces at the district's three schools: Drake, Redwood and Tam. Marin's growth will soon have them bursting at the seams.

FACT: The two new projects will ease pressure at all three present schools.

FACT: The needed schools will have to be built sometime. If they are delayed only two years, increased costs will exceed $575,000. That's not economy.

FACT: Everybody's for the bond issue. From both sides of the unification issue. From both political parties. Thousands of individuals. Scores of groups. There is no significant opposition—nobody argued against it with the official sample ballot.

WHICH WAY IS UP?

California Highway Patrol officer Thomas Foley talks with Larry A. Hawkinson, 25, of 204 Laurel Place, San Rafael, (head visible) after pulling him out of the wreckage of this van truck, six miles west of Highway 101 on Lucas Valley Road. The westbound truck ran off the road, down an embankment and rolled against a tree. Hawkinson was trapped inside for 20 minutes before help arrived. He was examined at Marin General Hospital and released, suffering a bruised arm and chest. (Independent-Journal photo)

DIRECTORS TALK TO GRAND JURY

More Study Of Gallinas Village Complaints Will Precede Any Action, Panel Announces

Testimony from all five members of Gallinas Village Community Service District board was taken by Marin County Grand Jury yesterday in an investigation of charges of district irregularities.

However, jury foreman George R. Scott said no immediate release of the information will be made. He said the court reporter's transcript—to be completed in a day or two—will be given to the panel's committee on municipalities, districts and commissions for study.

The committee then will report to the entire jury for possible further action.

The investigation followed charges by Albert R. Borden, 707 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, that board directors have violated sections of the state code in conducting district business. Borden, who previously testified before the jury, was not present at yesterday's session.

Board members attending were Herbert C. Belben, chairman, and John H. Campbell, Mrs. Alys Durenberger, Harry W. Thomas and John H. Miller.

Scott said questions prepared by the committee were asked, then jurors asked individual questions.

In other action, the jury quizzed County Administrator Alan Bruce about a charge that money from a special tax levy is not being directed toward its proper goal—a veteran's memorial building at the Civic Center. A proposal has been made that the memeorial building would be combined with a Civic Center auditorium, rather than as an originally planned separate building.

Bruce informed the jury yesterday that the Marin County Veterans' Memorial Building committee has approved the joint building plan. W. P. Duhamel, chairman of the committee, also told newsmen today the plan is acceptable. He said concern was not over a combined building, but whether the building can be named as a veteran's memorial building.

It can, he said.

Richmond Firm To Do Repairs On Bridge Piers

A low bid of $98,201 was opened by the Division of Bay Toll Crossings yesterday to repair damage caused when a Navy picket ship crashed into two piers of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge last Jan. 15.

The bid, submitted by Duncan-Harrelson Company of Richmond, was forwarded to the Department of Public Works in Sacramento for formal approval. Four other bids ranging to $204,313 were submitted.

The accident occurred as the USS Locator was being towed under the bridge. The picket ship crashed into the pier on the west side of the main channel, smashing loose the wooden fenders and damaging the concrete of the pier structure. It then ricocheted and damaged fenders around the pier on the east side of the main channel.

Accident Claim Congestion In Courts To Get Study

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Congestion in California's courts, caused primarily by an increasing number of accident damage cases, will be the subject of seminars in Los Angeles and San Francisco tomorrow and Saturday, sponsored by the American Trial Lawyers Assn.

In what is an innovation in methods of coping with the congestion, the seminars invite all attorneys in the state to become "students" at the teaching groups.

Joseph Kelner, New York, is leader of a team of lawyer-professors which will seek to find the key to unlocking court congestion. He said about 99 per cent of all personal injury cases are settled at present, but the one per cent left has caused the difficulty.

"Understanding," Kelner stated, "professionally and technically, the techniques for settlement and damages cuts appreciably into the one per cent, and results in welfare both for the client and the taxpayer."

"The practicing attorney," said Markus, "realizes that the demand for settlement in personal injury cases calls for a comprehensive knowledge of legal, psychological, economic and community values to serve client and the public."

Anti-Social Causes Attacked By Waters

VAN NUYS (AP) — "No one espousing anti-social causes is going to sit in the governor's chair after next year's elections," Laughlin E. Waters, Republican candidate for governor, said in a speech last night.

The former U. S. district attorney for Southern California listed as "anti-social" attitudes: "Blind opposition to medicare; destructive attacks upon. . .social security"; "unrealistic positions" on the Viet Nam issue or "failure, in any way, to indicate that California must and should assume its own obligations as the greatest state in the nation."

District May Require Hill Sewer Valves

Directors of Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary district last night discussed an ordinance that would require backwater valves in new subdivisions for hilly areas.

District secretary Helen D. Foulkes said the proposed ordinance was tabled until a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 18 at the district office in order to have more information.

Needed was a firmer idea of valve cost. Directors last night heard estimates ranging from $21 to $125.

Contractors would be required to make the installation in new tracts. The district could not require the installation in existing subdivisions, but could recommend the valves for home owners in hilly areas.

Directors have been considering the requirements for some time, but a recent case in which sewage backed into a home after the street line was clogged, helped prompt last night's discussion, said Mrs. Foulkes.

The west Carquinez Bridge carried two-directional traffic on its three lanes until Nov. 25, 1958, when the four-lane east bridge was opened after a $44 million construction project.

California Highway Patrol officer Thomas Foley talks with Larry A. Hawkinson, 25, of 204 Laurel Place, San Rafael, (head visible) after pulling him out of the wreckage of this van truck, six miles west of Highway 101 on Lucas Valley Road. The westbound truck ran off the road, down an embankment and rolled against a tree. Hawkinson was trapped inside for 20 minutes before help arrived. He was examined at Marin General Hospital and released, suffering a bruised arm and chest. (Independent-Journal photo)

District May Require Hill Sewer Valves

Directors of Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary district last night discussed an ordinance that would require backwater valves in new subdivisions for hilly areas.

District secretary Helen D. Foulkes said the proposed ordinance was tabled until a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 18 at the district office in order to have more information.

Needed was a firmer idea of valve cost. Directors last night heard estimates ranging from $21 to $125.

Contractors would be required to make the installation in new tracts. The district could not require the installation in existing subdivisions, but could recommend the valves for home owners in hilly areas.

Directors have been considering the requirements for some time, but a recent case in which sewage backed into a home after the street line was clogged, helped prompt last night's discussion, said Mrs. Foulkes.

The west Carquinez Bridge carried two-directional traffic on its three lanes until Nov. 25, 1958, when the four-lane east bridge was opened after a $44 million construction project.

DIRECTORS TALK TO GRAND JURY

More Study Of Gallinas Village Complaints Will Precede Any Action, Panel Announces

Testimony from all five members of Gallinas Village Community Service District board was taken by Marin County Grand Jury yesterday in an investigation of charges of district irregularities.

However, jury foreman George R. Scott said no immediate release of the information will be made. He said the court reporter's transcript—to be completed in a day or two—will be given to the panel's committee on municipalities, districts and commissions for study.

The committee then will report to the entire jury for possible further action.

The investigation followed charges by Albert R. Borden, 707 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, that board directors have violated sections of the state code in conducting district business. Borden, who previously testified before the jury, was not present at yesterday's session.

Board members attending were Herbert C. Belben, chairman, and John H. Campbell, Mrs. Alys Durenberger, Harry W. Thomas and John H. Miller.

Scott said questions prepared by the committee were asked, then jurors asked individual questions.

In other action, the jury quizzed County Administrator Alan Bruce about a charge that money from a special tax levy is not being directed toward its proper goal—a veteran's memorial building at the Civic Center. A proposal has been made that the memeorial building would be combined with a Civic Center auditorium, rather than as an originally planned separate building.

Bruce informed the jury yesterday that the Marin County Veterans' Memorial Building committee has approved the joint building plan. W. P. Duhamel, chairman of the committee, also told newsmen today the plan is acceptable. He said concern was not over a combined building, but whether the building can be named as a veteran's memorial building.

It can, he said.

Richmond Firm To Do Repairs On Bridge Piers

A low bid of $98,201 was opened by the Division of Bay Toll Crossings yesterday to repair damage caused when a Navy picket ship crashed into two piers of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge last Jan. 15.

The bid, submitted by Duncan-Harrelson Company of Richmond, was forwarded to the Department of Public Works in Sacramento for formal approval. Four other bids ranging to $204,313 were submitted.

The accident occurred as the USS Locator was being towed under the bridge. The picket ship crashed into the pier on the west side of the main channel, smashing loose the wooden fenders and damaging the concrete of the pier structure. It then ricocheted and damaged fenders around the pier on the east side of the main channel.

Accident Claim Congestion In Courts To Get Study

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Congestion in California's courts, caused primarily by an increasing number of accident damage cases, will be the subject of seminars in Los Angeles and San Francisco tomorrow and Saturday, sponsored by the American Trial Lawyers Assn.

In what is an innovation in methods of coping with the congestion, the seminars invite all attorneys in the state to become "students" at the teaching groups.

Joseph Kelner, New York, is leader of a team of lawyer-professors which will seek to find the key to unlocking court congestion. He said about 99 per cent of all personal injury cases are settled at present, but the one per cent left has caused the difficulty.

"Understanding," Kelner stated, "professionally and technically, the techniques for settlement and damages cuts appreciably into the one per cent, and results in welfare both for the client and the taxpayer."

"The practicing attorney," said Markus, "realizes that the demand for settlement in personal injury cases calls for a comprehensive knowledge of legal, psychological, economic and community values to serve client and the public."

Anti-Social Causes Attacked By Waters

VAN NUYS (AP) — "No one espousing anti-social causes is going to sit in the governor's chair after next year's elections," Laughlin E. Waters, Republican candidate for governor, said in a speech last night.

The former U. S. district attorney for Southern California listed as "anti-social" attitudes: "Blind opposition to medicare; destructive attacks upon. . .social security"; "unrealistic positions" on the Viet Nam issue or "failure, in any way, to indicate that California must and should assume its own obligations as the greatest state in the nation."

PANDORA'S BOX CLOSES

Planned Parenthood, Middle Age Discussed At Marin Symposium

Most of the problems that beset families living in Suburbia are as common among city dwellers, it was agreed by a group of six panelists last night at Civic Center.

It was the fourth and last discussion in the symposium, "Home in Suburbia — Pandora's Box." Last night's discussion was moderated by Jack Danielson. It ranged over a variety of topics, including middle age frustration, the child-centered home, sex education, and psychiatric counselling.

Panel members representing the four sponsoring agencies were Dr. James Green of Ross, Marin Assn. for Mental Health; Dr. Janet Lyon of Tiburon, Family Service League; Mrs. Emanuel Rapaport, Young Women's Christian Assn., and Dr. William Langford of Kentfield, Planned Parenthood Assn. Also on the panel were Miss Margaret Frings of the Catholic Social Service and Mrs. D. Kirk Davidson of the Marin Volunteer Bureau.

Dr. Langford said of the 140 babies born each month at Marin General Hospital, 10 are born to families on welfare.

To serve such clients, to a great extent, the Planned Parenthood Assn. operates a clinic in San Rafael and another in Marin City.

"Parents don't want more children than they can emotionally accept and economically afford," he said. Clients come from as far away as Santa Rosa and the coast, where this service is not available, Dr. Langford reported.

Several of the panelists considered middle age "blues." Dr. Green, who practices psychiatry in San Francisco, said that the suburban housewife is not alone in experiencing a feeling of emptiness as her 40th birthday approaches. This feeling is found as often among city dwellers. And men feel it, too.

Mrs. Davidson, who is public relations chairman for the Volunteer Bureau, said volunteer work is not a panacea for feelings of discontent for all persons. She said that for some it is more important to set time aside for oneself occasionally, to do something different from the routine, and so prepare for the day when, in fact, with the children grown, there will be only oneself.

Dr. Lyon observed that children are better whose parents do something interesting, have some life of their own and are not completely dominated by their children's lives.

Parents make a mistake in setting up their child as king of the household and letting this myth continue while he grows up, said Dr. Langford. "All sorts of troubles occur when these 'kings' meet other little 'kings.' "

Dr. Green noted that the permissiveness of the average modern home contrasts with the Victorian parental attitude.

"At the turn of the century," Dr. Green said, "psychologists and psychiatrists were discovering many patients, crushed by harsh parental controls, were developing a terrible thing, called a neurosis. Today we find more and more that this child-as-king attitude is contributing to another terrible thing, delinquency."

The immaturity of the younger generation is fostered by parental patterns. Dr. Langford said. "A century ago a boy of 16 was a man, did a man's work, carried a man's responsibility. Today I don't know any man of 16, and I know very few men of 26. Most of them are still in school."

He quoted a Marin clergyman as saying that in 20 per cent of the marriages he performs the bride is pregnant. Dr. Langford doubts that sex education can be effectively taught to teenagers in school or church groups.

Mrs. Rapaport said that pregnancies among junior high school girls are becoming more common in San Francisco. The YWCA is cooperating with San Francisco public schools in providing pregnant girls the opportunity to complete their education in special classes held at the Y.

Concord Rancher Gets Big Bang From Grenades

CONCORD (AP) — Rancher Mike Arata got the scare of his life when three cases of military hand grenades he found in a roadside ditch started exploding.

Arata, burning grass, saw something smoking and found smouldering tar paper.

As he started to extinguish it, he noticed boxes marked "grenades." Then one exploded. Arata says he "ran like hell" to his car and drove to a fire station.

When he returned with firemen all of the grenades except nine had exploded.

The San Francisco - Oakland Bay Bridge was opened on Nov. 12, 1936, at initial construction cost of $73 million, and is 8.5 miles long, including four miles over water.

Fire Station Awaits Soil Compaction Work

As soon as the soil is compacted enough to meet city standards, work will proceed on the San Marin Fire Station, the Novato Fire commissioners learned last night.

E. H. Chapman of 679 Midway Drive, Novato, the contractor and Ralph Priestley of Gromme and Priestly, architects of San Rafael, told the board that the soils compaction was the main cause of the delay now in the construction of the fire station.

Work was stopped on Oct. 15 when the Novato city building inspectors asked for a soils test report before allowing the contractor to go ahead pouring the concrete.

After more than two weeks delay, Ceccotti and Sons of Marin Inc. of Corte Madera have been hired to compact the soil, Chapman said.

Further tests were scheduled for today by Harding and Associates of San Rafael. If these tests are satisfactory, then work will proceed on the fire station which is now one month behind schedule Chapman told the board.

The board also ordered 500 trees from the United States Forest Service for landscaping around Fire Station No. 2 on South Novato Boulevard, the San Marin Station on San Marin Drive and the proposed station on Atherton Avenue.

It paid $7,497 in bills.

Oldest Italian Priest Dies; Helped 'Tosca'

LUCCA, Italy (AP) — Msgr. Paolino Chelini, Italy's oldest Roman Catholic priest, died last night at his home here. He was 105 and had said Mass daily until a few months ago.

The priest was a close friend of composer Giacomo Puccini and helped him in the initial staging of the first act of "Tosca," which takes place in a church and ends with the singing of the "Te Deum."

NAMED TO JOB CORPS — Patrick Healy, former resident of Belvedere, has been appointed director of community relations for the Job Corps by Sargent Shriver. From 1954 to 1963 he was employed as the director of media relations for Young and Rubicam Inc. of San Francisco.

Adult Study Group Seeks Cost Figures

A citizens advisory committee looking into the possibility of adult education classes at Tomales High School agreed last night that more information on costs is needed.

Mrs. Dina Angress of Blakes's Landing, a committee member, said that there is an apparent general desire throughout the district for adult courses, both from persons wanting to finish high school credits and from those interested in homemaking and arts and crafts courses.

Mrs. Angress said the committee also wants to learn what courses are offered by adjacent districts to avoid duplication.

This information is expected by the committee's next meeting, at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 22, at the high school.

Fire Station Awaits Soil Compaction Work

As soon as the soil is compacted enough to meet city standards, work will proceed on the San Marin Fire Station, the Novato Fire commissioners learned last night.

E. H. Chapman of 679 Midway Drive, Novato, the contractor and Ralph Priestley of Gromme and Priestly, architects of San Rafael, told the board that the soils compaction was the main cause of the delay now in the construction of the fire station.

Work was stopped on Oct. 15 when the Novato city building inspectors asked for a soils test report before allowing the contractor to go ahead pouring the concrete.

After more than two weeks delay, Ceccotti and Sons of Marin Inc. of Corte Madera have been hired to compact the soil, Chapman said.

Further tests were scheduled for today by Harding and Associates of San Rafael. If these tests are satisfactory, then work will proceed on the fire station which is now one month behind schedule Chapman told the board.

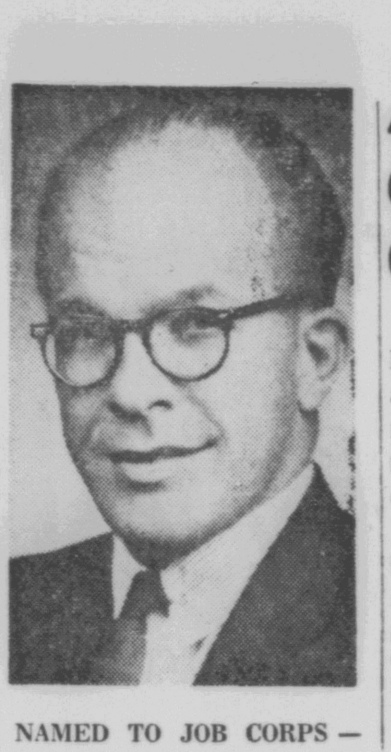
The board also ordered 500 trees from the United States Forest Service for landscaping around Fire Station No. 2 on South Novato Boulevard, the San Marin Station on San Marin Drive and the proposed station on Atherton Avenue.

It paid $7,497 in bills.

Oldest Italian Priest Dies; Helped 'Tosca'

LUCCA, Italy (AP) — Msgr. Paolino Chelini, Italy's oldest Roman Catholic priest, died last night at his home here. He was 105 and had said Mass daily until a few months ago.

The priest was a close friend of composer Giacomo Puccini and helped him in the initial staging of the first act of "Tosca," which takes place in a church and ends with the singing of the "Te Deum."



NAMED TO JOB CORPS — Patrick Healy, former resident of Belvedere, has been appointed director of community relations for the Job Corps by Sargent Shriver. From 1954 to 1963 he was employed as the director of media relations for Young and Rubicam Inc. of San Francisco.

A wild coffee plant may grow 15 to 20 feet tall. However, in cultivation it is kept trimmed to 6 to 9 feet.

Adult Study Group Seeks Cost Figures

A citizens advisory committee looking into the possibility of adult education classes at Tomales High School agreed last night that more information on costs is needed.

Mrs. Dina Angress of Blakes's Landing, a committee member, said that there is an apparent general desire throughout the district for adult courses, both from persons wanting to finish high school credits and from those interested in homemaking and arts and crafts courses.

The study was prompted partly by a request from Synanon Foundation at Marshall.

Mrs. Angress said the committee also wants to learn what courses are offered by adjacent districts to avoid duplication.

This information is expected by the committee's next meeting, at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 22, at the high school.

Basque Among New U.S. Citizens Taking Up Residence In Marin

Robert David Lafitte, 28, a member of a slowly growing Basque colony in Marin, became a naturalized citizen last month.

He came to the United States in 1959, after hearing from friends and relatives that living was easier here, and money more plentiful.

Until two years ago he was a farm worker near Salt Lake City, Utah, as he had been in France. Then he was invited to come to California by Raymond Coscarat, owner of Le Chateau Basque Restaurant in Santa Venetia. He now works as a pantryman for Franchini's Chateau restaurant, and lives nearby at 4500 Redwood Highway, San Rafael.

A native of Ayherre, Lafitte was still a young child when World War II ended. When he grew up he was inducted and served 14 months in the army in Germany and another 14 months in Algeria. He said he saw little action in Algeria, but was involved in a few incidents.

ROBERT D. LAFITTE
New citizen from France

Lafitte said he likes Marin, which has terrain similar to that at home.

Also, he said, he has found a number of friends here. There are now several Basques living in Marin, he reported. Most of them are working on ranches or as gardeners.

In addition to English, which he had to learn to become a citizen, and his native French, he is fluent in the Basque language, a puzzle to many linguistics, experts, and can converse, with a little difficulty, in Spanish.

Other Marin residents naturalized during October were:

Corte Madera—Jacobo Krystal, 135 Golden Hind Passage.

Novato — Miss Iolani Lucille Wruburton, 468 Calle De La Mesa.

Hospital To Drop Therapy Contract

Marin Hospital District directors, during their Oct. 26 meeting, passed a resolution authorizing Marin General Hospital to withdraw the offer of a contract to Dr. Margaret Filante to supervise the hospital's physical therapy department.

Her contract with the hospital expired in March. The board authorized payment of $3,000 to Dr. Filante for the interim period ending Oct. 31.

The action was taken at the recommendation of the hospital's joint conference committee. The department has no supervisor now. The committee is discussing the possibility of its being run by a committee of the hospital staff.

LBJ Promotes Secret Service Body Guard

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Treasury yesterday announced a reorganization of the U.S. Secret Service. Chief James J. Rowley will get the title of director in the new setup.

Four new assistant directors will report directly to Rowley, the Treasury said.

One of the assistant directors will be Rufus Youngblood, the agent who has been in charge of protecting President Lyndon B. Johnson. It was Youngblood who pushed Johnson to the floor of his car when President John F. Kennedy was shot to death in Dallas.

Youngblood has been given general supervision of all the service's protective details, including those that watch the President, the Vice President, former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman and Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Youngblood has been succeeded on the White House detail by Thomas L. Johns, who was No. 2 agent in the presidential guard.

Walter Young has been named assistant director in charge of gathering intelligence. Thomas J. Kelly has charge of the service's counterfeit and other enforcement activities. A fourth assistant director will be named for administration.

Jersey Cattle Raisers To Classify 50 Cows

Sonoma-Marin Junior Jersey Cattle Club will hold a cattle classification tour Saturday at 9 a.m. at the home of the president, Barry Lawrence in Petaluma.

The tour, during which nearly 50 cows will be classified, ends with lunch at the home of Ralph Grossi, 4025 Novato Boulevard, Novato.

Reagan Declines Birch Repudiation

HANFORD (UPI) — Ronald Reagan has declined to follow the suggestion of fellow Republican Thomas Kuchel that all those seeking office on the GOP ticket repudiate the John Birch Society.

Reagan, often mentioned as a gubernatorial candidate, told newsmen last night that his only comment on Sen. Kuchel's suggestion would be to refer them to a statement he made last Sept. 24. At that time, the movie actor said he had "never sought Birch Society support, nor do I have any intention of doing so."

Kuchel also called on Republican candidates to repudiate the Communist party and the Ku Klux Klan. Reagan said his views on the Communist party were well known and added that he has "opposed the Klan all my life."

Reagan, here for a reception of the Kings County Republican Central Committee, told newsmen he is against a national minimum wage for farm workers.

"I would choose local bargaining over government setting this wage," he said.

Reagan also said that "no one has come up with a substitute" for bracero farm labor.

Dump Hearing Nov. 23

Hearing on the proposed county dump in Corte Madera will be held before the Marin County Board of Supervisors at 8 p.m., Nov. 23, not Nov. 16 as incorrectly reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Parliament Vote Scheduled Today

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government expects to pick up another vote in a special election today and increase its one-vote majority in Parliament.

Labor party leaders were confident that their candidate, A. James Wellbeloved, 39, would win the House of Commons seat from Erith and Crayford, a Labor stronghold.

The seat became vacant with the death last August of Norman Dodds, who rolled up a majority of almost 9,000 votes over his Conservative opponent in the national elections last year.

The Conservative candidate is David Madel, 27.

CREW CHIEF OF THE MONTH — S/Sgt. Joseph F. Willis of the 78th organizational maintenance squadron has been named "Crew Chief of the Month" at Hamilton Air Air Force Base. In addition, he was feted by the Novato Chamber of Commerce as "King for a Day." He and his wife, Madeline, with their three children, Suzan, Joseph and Jeffrey, live at 503 Norman Drive, Novato.

Brown Urges Youth Speak Outu But Warns About Law Violation

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown urged the state's younger generation today to fully exercise its constitutional rights—but to remember the responsibilities that go along with such liberties.

"Nobody is going to be allowed to violate the law and get away with it," Brown declared in prepared remarks to the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth.

Referring to student disturbances throughout the country, Brown said:

"Nobody is going to be allowed to take away any citizen's constitutional right to speak out—so long as he speaks and acts within the law.

"The place of the university campus as a forum for independent speech will be protected from political adventures while I am governor."

Brown denied that his era of young people is "a subculture of teenagers, preoccupied with boots and Beatles ..."

"I think the older generation has always complained," Brown told the conference.

Brown said his administration was meeting head-on the traditional problems that plague youth. He said the state is taking significant steps to provide more jobs, job training and to prevent juvenile delinquency.

He told the young people that they are part of a great generation — "Great because you are challenged, not terrified by new ideas."

Governor Asks Blackout Probe

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown has asked three state agencies to probe how California would handle the problem of a massive power failure similar to the one that blacked out the northeast.

At the same time, Assemblyman Joseph M. Kennick, D-Long Beach, reports a lower house committee will start an investigation along similar lines.

Brown's request for a study and report of the would - be emergency went out yesterday to the Water Resources Department, California Disaster Office and Public Utilities Commission.

High And Low

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lowest temperature reporte this morning to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 6 degrees at Caribou and Limestone, Maine. The highest reported Wednesday was 85 at Fort Myers, Fla.

Mosquito, Bee Population Cut During October

Mosquito breeding in salt marshes dropped off sharply in Marin last month, G. Paul Jones, manager of the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District, told district directors last night.

Jones also reported that yellow jacket worker population dropped off sharply at the end of October and that queen yellow jackets started to appear.

The queens will hibernate until next spring when they will start the nests that produce workers.

There were 31 mosquito complaints last month, 86 yellow jacket complaints and 52 yellow jacket nests destroyed.

Directors authorized payment of $10,378.78 in warrants.

Reagan Declines Birch Repudiation

HANFORD (UPI) — Ronald Reagan has declined to follow the suggestion of fellow Republican Thomas Kuchel that all those seeking office on the GOP ticket repudiate the John Birch Society.

Reagan, often mentioned as a gubernatorial candidate, told newsmen last night that his only comment on Sen. Kuchel's suggestion would be to refer them to a statement he made last Sept. 24. At that time, the movie actor said he had "never sought Birch Society support, nor do I have any intention of doing so."

Kuchel also called on Republican candidates to repudiate the Communist party and the Ku Klux Klan. Reagan said his views on the Communist party were well known and added that he has "opposed the Klan all my life."

Reagan, here for a reception of the Kings County Republican Central Committee, told newsmen he is against a national minimum wage for farm workers.

"I would choose local bargaining over government setting this wage," he said.

Reagan also said that "no one has come up with a substitute" for bracero farm labor.

Dump Hearing Nov. 23

Hearing on the proposed county dump in Corte Madera will be held before the Marin County Board of Supervisors at 8 p.m., Nov. 23, not Nov. 16 as incorrectly reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Parliament Vote Scheduled Today

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government expects to pick up another vote in a special election today and increase its one-vote majority in Parliament.

Labor party leaders were confident that their candidate, A. James Wellbeloved, 39, would win the House of Commons seat from Erith and Crayford, a Labor stronghold.

The seat became vacant with the death last August of Norman Dodds, who rolled up a majority of almost 9,000 votes over his Conservative opponent in the national elections last year.

The Conservative candidate is David Madel, 27.

CREW CHIEF OF THE MONTH — S/Sgt. Joseph F. Willis of the 78th organizational maintenance squadron has been named "Crew Chief of the Month" at Hamilton Air Air Force Base. In addition, he was feted by the Novato Chamber of Commerce as "King for a Day." He and his wife, Madeline, with their three children, Suzan, Joseph and Jeffrey, live at 503 Norman Drive, Novato.

Brown Urges Youth Speak Outu But Warns About Law Violation

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown urged the state's younger generation today to fully exercise its constitutional rights—but to remember the responsibilities that go along with such liberties.

"Nobody is going to be allowed to violate the law and get away with it," Brown declared in prepared remarks to the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth.

Referring to student disturbances throughout the country, Brown said:

"Nobody is going to be allowed to take away any citizen's constitutional right to speak out—so long as he speaks and acts within the law.

"The place of the university campus as a forum for independent speech will be protected from political adventures while I am governor."

Brown denied that his era of young people is "a subculture of teenagers, preoccupied with boots and Beatles ..."

"I think the older generation has always complained," Brown told the conference.

Brown said his administration was meeting head-on the traditional problems that plague youth. He said the state is taking significant steps to provide more jobs, job training and to prevent juvenile delinquency.

He told the young people that they are part of a great generation — "Great because you are challenged, not terrified by new ideas."

Governor Asks Blackout Probe

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown has asked three state agencies to probe how California would handle the problem of a massive power failure similar to the one that blacked out the northeast.

At the same time, Assemblyman Joseph M. Kennick, D-Long Beach, reports a lower house committee will start an investigation along similar lines.

Brown's request for a study and report of the would - be emergency went out yesterday to the Water Resources Department, California Disaster Office and Public Utilities Commission.

Mosquito, Bee Population Cut During October

Mosquito breeding in salt marshes dropped off sharply in Marin last month, G. Paul Jones, manager of the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District, told district directors last night.

Jones also reported that yellow jacket worker population dropped off sharply at the end of October and that queen yellow jackets started to appear.

The queens will hibernate until next spring when they will start the nests that produce workers.

There were 31 mosquito complaints last month, 86 yellow jacket complaints and 52 yellow jacket nests destroyed.

Directors authorized payment of $10,378.78 in warrants.

Princess In Tucson To Check Old West

The princess and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, arrived yesterday from Los Angeles for a 4½-day rest to break up their three-week tour of the United States.

No trace of the laryngitis that plagued her in smoggy Los Angeles was present when she made a planeside speech at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base.

Waiting at the plane along with Gov. Sam Goddard were her host, Lewis Douglas, and his wife. Their daughter, Sharman, and Princess Margaret became close friends when Douglas was ambassador to Great Britain in 1948-50.

Douglas invited 200 neighbors, business acquaintances and old friends to a cocktail party last night at the picturesque Arizona Inn to meet the royal pair.

"She's a darling," said a guest as the princess made the shortest social stop of her trip so far — 45 minutes.

After the party, the Snowdons returned to the Douglas home for a quiet dinner.

So close are the princess and the Douglases that when they did not reply to her wedding invitation, she sent them another cable.

"What happened," said a friend of the Douglases, "was that Lew and his wife were in New York and their Mexican help couldn't read the invitation when it arrived at the ranch.

"The help saw the big, red royal seal on the back and thought it might melt. So they put the invitation in the refrigerator."

Students Lose Out On Try To Set Up Airport Bus Run

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The state Public Utilities Commission yesterday turned down an application by three University of California students to operate a bus service between the Berkeley campus and the San Francisco International Airport during holidays and semester breaks.

The service was awarded instead to the Barrett Transportation Co. of San Francisco.

In making the award, the PUC said Barrett was more qualified than the students to establish and operate the service. Barrett already has a franchise to furnish bus transportation from the airport to downtown San Francisco.

The bus service to Berkeley first was proposed in 1963 by Peter Madian, 21, his wife, Nancy, 22, and Larry Agran, 20. They applied formally to the PUC on Sept. 28, 1964.

The students' attorney, Peter Franck, said after the decision was announced:

"At a time when people are critical of students for taking part in demonstrations, it seems wrong that when students do try to start a business, the weight of competition tips the balances against them."

The students were opposed by Greyhound and the city of San Francisco in the hearings before the PUC in addition to Barrett. Greyhound spokesmen argued that the service was not needed, and San Francisco argued on Barrett's behalf.

Mono Voters Reject School Unification

BRIDGEPORT (AP)—Voters of Mono County have rejected a plan to combine the county's one high school and seven elementary school districts into a unified district.

Voting officials said yesterday that 40 per cent of the county's 1,666 registered voters turned out the day before, rejecting the plan 470 to 207.

Oakland Police Worry About Viet Violence

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland Police Department's chief intelligence officer has asserted that the Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC) is arming itself with clubs, bamboo poles and its own personel motorcycle club for its proposed Nov. 20 protest march.

The charges were made by Sgt. Carl Dahl in a written report filed as part of the record yesterday at a formal hearing on the committee's application for a parade permit.

He said that he had information that "at least 300" members of the Hells Angels planned "to engage the Viet Nam Day Committee in physical combat." But he said he had also been informed that "a rival motorcycle club of approximately 60 members" will be used by the VDC to fight the Hells Angels.

Further, he charged extra-heavy picket signs will be utilized as clubs and the committee is also trying to secure a large number of bamboo poles for use as defensive weapons.

VC representatives at the hearing did not comment on the charges, but committee spokesman Windrim Smith denied them categorically later.

He said that the VDC had never contacted any other motorcycle club and he said that use of heavy signs and bamboo poles had been discussed at committee meetings and "overwhelmingly rejected."

"Our only defense, as always, will be non-violence," he said.

Fifteen persons spoke at the hearing in favor of the granting of a parade permit to the VDC and nine spoke against it in addition to five written reports in opposition.

Supporters of the committee's right to the parade permit included University of California law professor William L. Blaine, Democratic Assemblyman Nicholas Petris, and labor leader Harry Bridges.

Petris noted that when the VDC was refused permission to march Oct. 14 "Oakland became the only city where a commotion was raised."

One of the opponents, Mrs. Joan Spark, said she would "gladly give my five sons to the effort in Viet Nam." She said issuing the permit "would tear down the morale of our soldiers."

The committee said it would provide 500 monitors to help control its protest parade.

Experts Making Air Crash Check

So far positive identifications have been made on only five of the 58 persons who died when the Boeing 727 crashed into a hill Monday night on a flight from New York to Cincinnati.

Four persons survived the crash.

Oakland Police Worry About Viet Violence

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland Police Department's chief intelligence officer has asserted that the Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC) is arming itself with clubs, bamboo poles and its own personel motorcycle club for its proposed Nov. 20 protest march.

The charges were made by Sgt. Carl Dahl in a written report filed as part of the record yesterday at a formal hearing on the committee's application for a parade permit.

He said that he had information that "at least 300" members of the Hells Angels planned "to engage the Viet Nam Day Committee in physical combat." But he said he had also been informed that "a rival motorcycle club of approximately 60 members" will be used by the VDC to fight the Hells Angels.

Further, he charged extra-heavy picket signs will be utilized as clubs and the committee is also trying to secure a large number of bamboo poles for use as defensive weapons.

VC representatives at the hearing did not comment on the charges, but committee spokesman Windrim Smith denied them categorically later.

He said that the VDC had never contacted any other motorcycle club and he said that use of heavy signs and bamboo poles had been discussed at committee meetings and "overwhelmingly rejected."

"Our only defense, as always, will be non-violence," he said.

Fifteen persons spoke at the hearing in favor of the granting of a parade permit to the VDC and nine spoke against it in addition to five written reports in opposition.

Supporters of the committee's right to the parade permit included University of California law professor William L. Blaine, Democratic Assemblyman Nicholas Petris, and labor leader Harry Bridges.

Petris noted that when the VDC was refused permission to march Oct. 14 "Oakland became the only city where a commotion was raised."

One of the opponents, Mrs. Joan Spark, said she would "gladly give my five sons to the effort in Viet Nam." She said issuing the permit "would tear down the morale of our soldiers."

The committee said it would provide 500 monitors to help control its protest parade.

Experts Making Air Crash Check

So far positive identifications have been made on only five of the 58 persons who died when the Boeing 727 crashed into a hill Monday night on a flight from New York to Cincinnati.

Four persons survived the crash.

HE REALLY EARNED IT

Roy R. Rhodes of 31 Grove Street, San Rafael, shows off the new license plate, bearing his initials and street address, which took him three years of chasing before he got it this week. He began hounding the Department of Motor Vehicles to locate the "ROY" or "RRR" series in January, 1963. He missed the "ROY" sequence by a few days when it was issued in San Diego, but had better luck with "RRR" in Culver City. Now he must hang on to his 1954 model car so as not to lose those hard-earned license plates.

Pupils Secretly Enroll Outside School District

Nine pupils have been "crossing the border" from Sausalito School District into the Mill Valley School District to attend Tamalpais Valley School, but the district-jumping is about to end.

Leo B. Edson, assistant superintendent at the Mill Valley district, said today that six of the nine are no longer making the passage, the family of another is moving to Mill Valley, and the other two pupils are staying with their grandmother in Tamalpais Valley.

Sausalito School District trustees Monday night complained that Harry H. Johnson had been "misleading" occupants of his Villa Garden apartments at 20 Tennessee Valley Road by advising them the apartments are in the Mill Valley School District. Tennessee Valley Road divides the two districts, and the Villa Garden apartments are in the Sausalito District.

It was reported to the Mill Valley district that persons living in the apartments were using addresses on Shoreline Highway, which is for the most part in the Mill Valley district.

Sausalito trustee Harold L. Sleight told the board "maybe we ought to post a sign at the apartments with a $500 fine if it is taken down." Trustees agreed to write to Johnson, the Marin County counsel, and the Mill Valley district asking an end to the misrepresentation.

Electric Shock Kills Father

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Three children who lost their mother seven weeks ago in an auto accident were orphaned yesterday when their father was killed by electric shock while working atop a power pole.

The father, Oscar Y. Fields, 30, died instantly when he touched a live wire carrying 7,000 volts. His wife, Ruby, was killed Sept. 16 when her car collided with a tractor-trailer truck south of Manassas, Va.

Their three children are Eugene, 12, Theresa, 5, and Cecil, 4.

To Sail In Orient

Douglas A. MacPherson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan MacPherson of 17 Bret Avenue, San Rafael, has been assigned to duty in the Orient aboard the S. S. California as the second phase of his Merchant Marine training.

HE REALLY EARNED IT

Roy R. Rhodes of 31 Grove Street, San Rafael, shows off the new license plate, bearing his initials and street address, which took him three years of chasing before he got it this week. He began hounding the Department of Motor Vehicles to locate the "ROY" or "RRR" series in January, 1963. He missed the "ROY" sequence by a few days when it was issued in San Diego, but had better luck with "RRR" in Culver City. Now he must hang on to his 1954 model car so as not to lose those hard-earned license plates.

Pupils Secretly Enroll Outside School District

Nine pupils have been "crossing the border" from Sausalito School District into the Mill Valley School District to attend Tamalpais Valley School, but the district-jumping is about to end.

Leo B. Edson, assistant superintendent at the Mill Valley district, said today that six of the nine are no longer making the passage, the family of another is moving to Mill Valley, and the other two pupils are staying with their grandmother in Tamalpais Valley.

Sausalito School District trustees Monday night complained that Harry H. Johnson had been "misleading" occupants of his Villa Garden apartments at 20 Tennessee Valley Road by advising them the apartments are in the Mill Valley School District. Tennessee Valley Road divides the two districts, and the Villa Garden apartments are in the Sausalito District.

It was reported to the Mill Valley district that persons living in the apartments were using addresses on Shoreline Highway, which is for the most part in the Mill Valley district.

Sausalito trustee Harold L. Sleight told the board "maybe we ought to post a sign at the apartments with a $500 fine if it is taken down." Trustees agreed to write to Johnson, the Marin County counsel, and the Mill Valley district asking an end to the misrepresentation.

Electric Shock Kills Father

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Three children who lost their mother seven weeks ago in an auto accident were orphaned yesterday when their father was killed by electric shock while working atop a power pole.

The father, Oscar Y. Fields, 30, died instantly when he touched a live wire carrying 7,000 volts. His wife, Ruby, was killed Sept. 16 when her car collided with a tractor-trailer truck south of Manassas, Va.

Their three children are Eugene, 12, Theresa, 5, and Cecil, 4.

To Sail In Orient

Stafford Lake, Chileno Valley, Bolinas Lagoon Picked For Parks

A regional park at Stafford Lake was yesterday placed among the top seven local beauty-spots Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission believes should get top priority for possible development by the county.

The voting was unanimous, as it was for three other areas in the final ilst: Chileno Valley, Bolinas Lagoon and China Camp. Peter Gottheiner was the only member absent.

The rejection two weeks ago by the board of supervisors of an application for $175,000 in state funds for Stafford Lake was the reason a commission member, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Davies talked of quitting and why action director Walter Horchler, county planner, asked to be relieved of his assignment with the commission.

At that time, the supervisors refused the application 3-2 because members said all park purchase and development priorities were not known.

The commission met yesterday to remedy the situation and like judges in a beauty contest, looked along the line-up to decide which of the county's beauty-spots likely to make the grade.

Every member had a chance to list their preference — some well-known other obscure—and finally the areas were grouped into Class A, Class B and the rest in a loose Class C which will be open to any additions.

Each of the board supervisors will be sent a personal copy of the final listings for his comments.

Other areas voted for, included; Mazanita Green, Hog Island, Elephant Rocks, Bluff Point, Redwood Canyon, Agate Beach-Bolinas Bluff and Corte Madera Creek.

"This will occupy us for at least five years," commented Lothar Salin.

Mrs. Davies said: "The more we spread ourselves over the county the better it is for all concerned."

Melton Ferris suggested the availability of funds for the different projects be determined before the commission study them deeper.

Napa Area Crash Kills Driver From Crockett

NAPA (AP) — Maurice Hornbeck died in a Napa hospital today from injuries received when his car went out of control and crashed into a bridge abutment on the Silverado Trail north of Napa about 10 p.m. last night.

Hornbeck lived at 1614 Flora Street, Crockett.

FSM Communist Tells Membership

BERKELEY (AP) — —Bettina Aptheker, a leader of the Free Speech Movement that disrupted the University of California Berkeley campus last December, declares she is a Communist.

In a letter to the Daily Californian, a student newspaper, she said: "I have been for a number of years, I am now, and I propose to remain a member of the Communisty party of the United States."

Miss Aptheker, who recently married a fellow student, said in her letter Tuesday she had kept her Communist party membership secret until now because acknowledgment would have meant "cooperation with a Red-baiting attack on the FSM by helping to focus attention away from the issues raised by FSM. . . ."

With the exception of the Golden Gate Bridge, all of California's toll crossings are operated by a relatively new state agency, the Division of Bay Toll Crossings, which was organized Nov. 18, 1963.

Doctors Cause Illness, Physician Complains

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —Ten to 15 per cent of the patients in Australian hospitals are suffering from illnesses induced by their own doctors, the chairman of the Victoria State Committee of the Royal Australian College of Physicians said today.

Dr. John L. Frew blamed the multitude of tablets dispensed by the National Health Service. He said these tablets often produce undesirable side-effects.

The 750-foot span of the new San Mateo-Hayward Bridge, over the main shipping channel, will be the longest orthotropic span in the United States and will soar 138 feet over water.

Mrs. Claude Besse, garden section chairman, left, watches with fascination as Gordon Baker Lloyd, speaker after yesterday's San Rafael Improvement Club noon luncheon, demonstrates the construction of a styrofoam and wire holiday deer decoration. (Independent-Journal photo)

Special Program Planned By Novato Women's Assn.

The annual thank offering will be held by members of the Novato United Presbyterian Women's Assn. as part of the national thank offering at a special Thanksgiving luncheon at 11:45 a.m., Wednesday in the Christensen room of the church. The luncheon will precede the ingathering and dedication.

World service chairman of the organization, Mrs. Helen Noel, is in charge of the program and money will be divided between three departments of world service — Christian education, national missions and ecumenical missions. The anticipated goal of the offerings throughout the country is $565,000.

Mrs. Stephen Boyko will narrate a film strip entitled, "Focus on Opportunity."

Novato members will be heard during the program reading in seven languages, from the scripture the "great commission" as recorded in Matthew 28, 19-20, which is in connection with the project of the ecumenical missions department using its funds for furthering the translations of the Bible into many of the world's languages.

Participating in the multilingual reading will be Mesdames E. C. Leigon, Samuel Young, John von Der Weid, Maynard Briggs, Howard W. Crabtree and Mrs. Agnes Hansen.

Assisting Mrs. Noel in the program will be Mrs. Katherine Hulme and Mrs. Robert Casady.

Mrs. George Hayford is luncheon chairman assisted by members of the Miriam Circle. Mrs. E. C. Leigon and Mrs. Walter Sundberg are reservations chairmen.

AAUW Section To Hear Kesey

Author Ken Kesey will be the speaker tonight for the Reading Arts Section of the Marin Branch, American Assn. of University Women at the home of Mrs. David Dooley in Mill Valley.

Mr. Kesey is the author of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" which has been made into a Broadway play, and of "Sometimes A Great Notion," a novel with an Oregon setting.

Mrs. Lawrence Stotter is chairman for the group.

Juice And Oil

For fruit salads, make a dressing by combining equal parts of salad oil and concentrated orange juice. Season to taste with honey or sugar.

MINKLETS FOR ANKLES

Where else can you put mink besides on toothbrushes, beer can openers, fly swatters, and book markers? That is, besides coats, vests, slacks, dresses and lingerie?

Ankles, that's where.

At the premium fur show held at the New York Coliseum this year Douglas Furs introduced mink ankle circlets not unlike those ringlets around the trim leg bones of a well-manicured poodle. The furriers suggested the accessory for beachwear, nightwear, formal and cocktail occasions.

Paradoxically, the minklets were not always mink. There were also leopard and ermine "minklets."

Teresa A. Foulkes Wed At St. Anselm's

Teresa Anne Foulkes became the bride of Frank Robert Gateley in a noon ceremony at San Anselmo's Church on Saturday.

E. E. Frost gave his granddaughter in marriage at the double ring ceremony.

Teresa wore a princess-style floor length candlelight satin gown accented with Swedish embroidered lace. Her attendants were gowned alike in full length ivory satin, with mint green detail at the empire waist. Nina Vrjisch of San Francisco was maid of honor; Phyllis Liberati and Nancy Liberati of San Francisco and Elsbeth Roesch of Oakland were bridesmaids.

The bridegroom asked Richard Sanford to be his best man, and Mike Sanford of Napa, Dana Burger of San Francisco and Jim Farron of San Rafael to usher.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Foulkes of San Anselmo, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Frost of Lakeport. Her brother is Fred Burk of San Anselmo.

Frank's parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Gateley Jr. of Novato. He is the grandson of F. R. Gateley of Novato, and the brother of William Gateley of Novato.

Teresa is a graduate of the Star of the Sea Academy and attended San Francisco City College. Her husband was graduated from Monterey High School and attended San Francisco City College. He is a member of the California Club. Frank is employed at Cain's Goodyear Tire Co. in San Rafael.

A reception at the Officers' Club at Hamilton Air Force Base followed the wedding.

The newlyweds will reside in Novato.

December Nuptials Planned In Nebraska

A2/c Robert Dale Anderson of Hamilton Air Force Base will claim Wilma Jean Tuma of Schuyler, Neb., as his bride at ceremonies in Nebraska on Dec. 11.

WILMA JEAN TUMA

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Tuma of Schuyler. She is a graduate of Schuyler High School.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Anderson of Atlantic. He is a graduate of Atlantic High School.

The couple will live in Marin following their marriage.

Fall Wardrobe Calls For Special Laundering Care

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fall calls for extra care by the homemaker about the way the family's clothes are laundered. It's the time of year when garments fade and lose color because of the lack of warm sunshine's natural bleaching agents.

By following a few simple rules the entire family's clothing will stay bright and colorful all winter long.

FIRST, NEVER overload the machine — allow the clothing to agitate freely, and be sure to wash big objects, such as rugs and tablecloths, singly. Don't mix lightly soiled clothes with very dirty garments— the dirt will only be picked up by the cleaner objects.

Make sure the water is hot enough. Temperatures of 135 to 145 degrees are advised.

HERE'S ANOTHER hint: Many new fabrics have optical brightners added. These gradually wash out, leaving a dull appearance. So always use a bleach on bleachable fabrics. However, be sure to allow the washing cycle to progress about four minutes before adding the bleach.

Vandalism Talk To Be Presented By Marin Branch

"Vandalism in Your Own Backyard" will be the topic of the luncheon meeting of Marin Branch, American Assn. of University Women on Monday at Sabella's Restaurant. Speakers will be Alfred Brokes, district psychologist at Redwood High School, and Walter Busher, chief probation officer at Juvenile Hall.

The program was set up by Mrs. H. F. Harnsberger and Mrs. E. Kent Sibbald, Mrs. Milton L. Stannard is reservations chairman.

District CCPT Plans Meeting In Larkspur

The 14th District California Congress of Parents and Teachers will have an open meeting at Redwood High School in Larkspur on Nov. 18, with registration at 9:30 a.m., in the Little Theater.

PROF. BEN ARD

Professor Ben N. Ard Jr., will speak on "Sex Education—Are We Passing the Buck?". Doctor Ard is a member of the counseling staff of San Francisco State College and practicing psychologist.

This address is the first in a series the district has planned for the year on sex education. Last year, under the direction of Mrs. Dale Moore, a survey was conducted of elementary, junior, and high schools in Marin and Sonoma counties to determine the amount of sex education offered in the schools. Churches are now being surveyed, and it is the ultimate goal of the CCPT after a comprehensive study, to offer a recommendation of opportunity and responsibility for sex education in the home, church, community and school.

Mrs. William Rudee of Santa Rosa, president of 14th District, announces that hostesses for the luncheon meeting are members of the Ross Valley Council, and of Henry Hall School P-TA. Reservations chairman is Mrs. M. W. Milot, 85 Corte Toluca, Greenbrae.

Appeal Made For Calendars By Auxiliary

The Donald V. Westlund Auxiliary Post No. 7816 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Novato have issued an appeal to merchants in Novato to contribute 1966 calendars, any size, to the veterans at Yountville Veterans Home and also to the local convalescent home patients.

Calendars are cherished by these people because no one ever thinks of giving them, said Mrs. Grover Owen, publicity chairman of the auxiliary.

Merchants are requested to contact Mrs. Owen so arrangements can be made to pick them up.

Petalumua Artist Wins Novato Art Show Title

Robinson also was declared winner of the realistic seascape section. Other winners were Marta Sullivan, realistic landscape; Ian McVarnish, realistic still life; Ray Mathewson, impressionistic landscape; Lorraine Parsons, abstract still life; and Pat Carder, watercolors.

O. G. Garter received honorable mention in the abstract design category, for which no first place was given.

Dutch Parliament Allows Marriage

THE HAGUE (AP) — Crown Princess Beatrix's marriage to West German commoner Claus von Armsberg was assured of parliamentary approval last night.

The lower house approved the match 132-9 in the first parliamentary vote on a royal marriage in modern Dutch history. A second vote to make Von Amsberg a Dutch citizens was approved 135-60.

The bills not go to the Senate, where approval is certain. The wedding will take place in March in Amsterdam.

Charity Grenades

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Goodwill Industries, which repairs castoff clothes, toys and furniture and sells them for charity, found four live World War II Japanese hand grenades in a box from one of its pickup trucks yesterday. A bomb removal squad from nearby Mather Air Force Base was called to take them away.

Mill Valley Creeks Cleanup Time Again

Residents of Mill Valley having property bordering creeks were asked today to clean all refuse, debris and growth from the creeks which may interfere with drainage. Ross J. Benson, superintendent of public works, made the request, saying the reason is impending winter rains.

City ordinance, Benson said, requires that creeks be kept clean of such debris.

John P. O'Looney of 164 Pine Street, San Anselmo, and John W. Rudolph of 417 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, inlisted last week in the Marine Corps at the San Rafael recruiting office.

BRIGHT YULE LIGHTS DUE AT NORTHGATE

Bright colored lights will glow and flicker in time to music Nov. 26 in a special ceremony when a 25-foot Christmas tree is lighted for the first time at the Northgate Shopping Center for 1965.

The Douglas fir, painted white, will be lighted with plexiglass spheres similar to those used for the National Christmas Tree on the White House lawn in Washington, D. C.

The lighting system is designed so that lights will glow brighter when certain frequency sounds are played or sung louder. Various lights will be tuned to different frequencies. Local church and school choirs will provide music for the first night.

Florida Writer Woos Marin Depopulators

The California Depopulation Commission, the almost-serious group organized by a Marinite and five other California residents, may lose its battle if it accepts an offer from Florida to trade six dozen real estate salesmen for one movie star, preferably Sanda Dee.

The proposal came as a result of Caldepop's campaign to have Californians send money to Florida promotional organizations to urge migrating Americans to head east, not west.

The offer came from Dick Bothwell, in his column in the St. Petersburg Times, who said Florida has a few things it can do without and offers to trade.

Bothwell offers 100 tons of Spanish moss for six Redwoods —and says it isn't fair for California to try to trade off old Pierre Salinger speeches, water programs or beds Dick Nixon slept in.

Florida will never offer to trade its sunshine or rain, fishing or oranges, Bothwell wrote. His state would be happy to aid Caldepop by sending testimonials on Florida's wonders from former Californians now in the state.

Caldepop last July proclaimed "Florida Appreciation Month" to show that "if it weren't for Florida, California would be much more densely populated than it is."

Bothwell learned of Caldepop from a letter sent by Mrs. Donald Baldwin, 111 Tamal Vista Drive, San Rafael, to her sister in St. Petersburg, who passed it on to the columnist.

Burns Committee May Hire Faculty To Investigate

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Faculty members may be hired as investigators on the University of California's Berkeley campus, says State Sen. Hugh M. Burns.

The Fresno Democrat, chairman of the Senate Fact-Finding Subcommittee on Un-American Activities, said "we need to expand our investigating staff out there."

Asked if the use of professors might create a conflict of interest with the university administration, Burns replied:

"No. These will not be informers, but just American citizens doing their duty. I see no conflict."

Pacifist Torch Dies Of Injury

NEW YORK (AP) — A young pacifist has died of burns 33 hours after he doused himself with gasoline and set himself afire in front of the United Nations in a protest against war.

Roger LaPorte, 20, who was burned on 95 per cent of his body, was the third American to die of self-inflicted burns this year in pacifist demonstrations. LaPorte died yesterday.

Bellevue Hospital's Roman Catholic chaplain, the Rev. Alexander Busuttill, said LaPorte was "clear and expressivee as he received the last rites of the Church in which he once sought priesthood.

Hershey Suggests Dropout Draft

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, has suggested that high school dropouts be placed in the armed servies.

"They've got to be some place where they can't drop out," he said yesterday. "We've got to help these young people become team players in our democracy, or we won't have one."

He estimated the draft rate will stay at about 36,000 men a month nationally.

Novato Club Schedules 'French Flair'

"With a French Flair" is the title and theme of the fall "Fling" of the Novato Communitl Club, which will open at the Community House at 8:30 p.m.

Friday and be repeated at the same hour Saturday and Nov. 19 and 20.

The audience will be taken on a visit to Maxim's, an outdoor cafe, the River Seine and Dior's.

Elaine Pikull plays Susan, an American tourist; Carol Martinucci, Jane, an American teacher; Edward Hamann, an American who is making his second visit to Paris, and Robert Patterson, another American tourist. Arthur Bliss is Pierre, a Frenchman, and Vivienne Terry is Mimi, a French woman "of easy virtue."

Others in the cast include James Cermak, Scott Wright, Paul Terry, Leo Wagner, Sally Geser, Lois Wright, Dawn Scheiern, plus choruses and Can Can girls.

Dorothy Weston is directing the musical production, with Kenneth and Constance Craig as producers. Musical director is Jean Teague, with Lorrain Crozier at the piano. Lee Mann is coordinator of choreography; Robert Young, stage manager; Benjamin Cimoli and Bruce Scheiern, set designers; Eric Kollgaard, in charge of the sound; Patricia Conway and Joseph Lombard, lights, and Sharon Bond, make-up.

Petalumua Artist Wins Novato Art Show Title

Robinson also was declared winner of the realistic seascape section. Other winners were Marta Sullivan, realistic landscape; Ian McVarnish, realistic still life; Ray Mathewson, impressionistic landscape; Lorraine Parsons, abstract still life; and Pat Carder, watercolors.

O. G. Garter received honorable mention in the abstract design category, for which no first place was given.

Dutch Parliament Allows Marriage

THE HAGUE (AP) — Crown Princess Beatrix's marriage to West German commoner Claus von Armsberg was assured of parliamentary approval last night.

The lower house approved the match 132-9 in the first parliamentary vote on a royal marriage in modern Dutch history. A second vote to make Von Amsberg a Dutch citizens was approved 135-60.

The bills not go to the Senate, where approval is certain. The wedding will take place in March in Amsterdam.

Charity Grenades

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Goodwill Industries, which repairs castoff clothes, toys and furniture and sells them for charity, found four live World War II Japanese hand grenades in a box from one of its pickup trucks yesterday. A bomb removal squad from nearby Mather Air Force Base was called to take them away.

Mill Valley Creeks Cleanup Time Again

Residents of Mill Valley having property bordering creeks were asked today to clean all refuse, debris and growth from the creeks which may interfere with drainage. Ross J. Benson, superintendent of public works, made the request, saying the reason is impending winter rains.

City ordinance, Benson said, requires that creeks be kept clean of such debris.

BRIGHT YULE LIGHTS DUE AT NORTHGATE

Bright colored lights will glow and flicker in time to music Nov. 26 in a special ceremony when a 25-foot Christmas tree is lighted for the first time at the Northgate Shopping Center for 1965.

The Douglas fir, painted white, will be lighted with plexiglass spheres similar to those used for the National Christmas Tree on the White House lawn in Washington, D. C.

The lighting system is designed so that lights will glow brighter when certain frequency sounds are played or sung louder. Various lights will be tuned to different frequencies. Local church and school choirs will provide music for the first night.

Florida Writer Woos Marin Depopulators

The California Depopulation Commission, the almost-serious group organized by a Marinite and five other California residents, may lose its battle if it accepts an offer from Florida to trade six dozen real estate salesmen for one movie star, preferably Sanda Dee.

The proposal came as a result of Caldepop's campaign to have Californians send money to Florida promotional organizations to urge migrating Americans to head east, not west.

The offer came from Dick Bothwell, in his column in the St. Petersburg Times, who said Florida has a few things it can do without and offers to trade.

Bothwell offers 100 tons of Spanish moss for six Redwoods —and says it isn't fair for California to try to trade off old Pierre Salinger speeches, water programs or beds Dick Nixon slept in.

Florida will never offer to trade its sunshine or rain, fishing or oranges, Bothwell wrote. His state would be happy to aid Caldepop by sending testimonials on Florida's wonders from former Californians now in the state.

Caldepop last July proclaimed "Florida Appreciation Month" to show that "if it weren't for Florida, California would be much more densely populated than it is."

Bothwell learned of Caldepop from a letter sent by Mrs. Donald Baldwin, 111 Tamal Vista Drive, San Rafael, to her sister in St. Petersburg, who passed it on to the columnist.

Burns Committee May Hire Faculty To Investigate

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Faculty members may be hired as investigators on the University of California's Berkeley campus, says State Sen. Hugh M. Burns.

The Fresno Democrat, chairman of the Senate Fact-Finding Subcommittee on Un-American Activities, said "we need to expand our investigating staff out there."

Asked if the use of professors might create a conflict of interest with the university administration, Burns replied:

"No. These will not be informers, but just American citizens doing their duty. I see no conflict."

Pacifist Torch Dies Of Injury

NEW YORK (AP) — A young pacifist has died of burns 33 hours after he doused himself with gasoline and set himself afire in front of the United Nations in a protest against war.

Roger LaPorte, 20, who was burned on 95 per cent of his body, was the third American to die of self-inflicted burns this year in pacifist demonstrations. LaPorte died yesterday.

Bellevue Hospital's Roman Catholic chaplain, the Rev. Alexander Busuttill, said LaPorte was "clear and expressivee as he received the last rites of the Church in which he once sought priesthood.

Hershey Suggests Dropout Draft

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, has suggested that high school dropouts be placed in the armed servies.

"They've got to be some place where they can't drop out," he said yesterday. "We've got to help these young people become team players in our democracy, or we won't have one."

He estimated the draft rate will stay at about 36,000 men a month nationally.

Hitting Bugs With Sledgehammer Like Some Folks Play The Cards

When the man hits his thumb, you sigh sadly; the poor fellow reminds you of your partners.

Opening lead — ♡ J

Declarer put up the queen of hearts at the first trick, covered by the king and ace. South led a spade to the ace and returned the nine of spades to ruff.

East played a low spade without giving himself away.

South got to dummy with a trump and ruffed another spade, got to dummy with another trump and ruffed a spade for the third time. This time the king fell, so South could lead a trump to dummy's seven to get rid of his losing heart on the last spade.

Declarer than led the ten of clubs from dummy for a finesse. West took the king of clubs and cashed a heart trick.

South's ponderous plan to get rid of a heart was no good because it also got rid of all of his trumps.

SIMPLE PLAN

The slam is unbeatable if South adopts a simple plan. He wins the ace of hearts, draws two trumps, cashes the ace of spades and leads the queen of spades from dummy.

If East plays the king, South ruffs.

Declarer can then get to dummy with a trump to discard a heart and two clubs on good spades. The club finesse loses, but South still makes six.

If East plays a low spade on dummy's queen, South discards his losing heart. The queen of spades wins, and South continues with the same plan.

He would have no further heart to lose, so could ruff a heart and get to dummy with a trump to discard three clubs on the rest of dummy's spades.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened with one spade, and your partner raises to two spades.

You hold:

♠ A Q J 10 9
♥ Q 3
♦ A 10 7 3
♣ 10 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Partner has spade support, but a weak hand. You need a rather good dummy to have any reasonable play for game.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Nov. 11, the 315th day of 1965 with 50 to follow.

This is Veterans Day.

The moon is approaching its last quarter; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

In 1918, fighting in World War II was halted with the signing of an armistice.

Also in 1918, Polish independence was proclaimed.

In 1921, President Warren Harding dedicated the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

In 1933, the first of the great dust storms swept over North Dakota.

A Thought for the Day — President Woodrow Wilson said, "Only a peace between equals can last."

Berlin's trolley system is 100 years old this year. There are nine separate lines.

Elias Rempelos is chief of the Bolinas Fire District.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

WINNING BRIDGE

Hitting Bugs With Sledgehammer Like Some Folks Play The Cards

When the man hits his thumb, you sigh sadly; the poor fellow reminds you of your partners.

Opening lead — ♡ J

Declarer put up the queen of hearts at the first trick, covered by the king and ace. South led a spade to the ace and returned the nine of spades to ruff.

East played a low spade without giving himself away.

South got to dummy with a trump and ruffed another spade, got to dummy with another trump and ruffed a spade for the third time. This time the king fell, so South could lead a trump to dummy's seven to get rid of his losing heart on the last spade.

South's ponderous plan to get rid of a heart was no good because it also got rid of all of his trumps.

SIMPLE PLAN

The slam is unbeatable if South adopts a simple plan. He wins the ace of hearts, draws two trumps, cashes the ace of spades and leads the queen of spades from dummy.

If East plays the king, South ruffs.

Declarer can then get to dummy with a trump to discard a heart and two clubs on good spades. The club finesse loses, but South still makes six.

If East plays a low spade on dummy's queen, South discards his losing heart. The queen of spades wins, and South continues with the same plan.

He would have no further heart to lose, so could ruff a heart and get to dummy with a trump to discard three clubs on the rest of dummy's spades.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened with one spade, and your partner raises to two spades.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Partner has spade support, but a weak hand. You need a rather good dummy to have any reasonable play for game.

College Faculty, Staff Members Ask War Cease

STANFORD (AP) — An open letter, already signed by some 500 faculty and staff members of San Francisco area colleges, asks president Johnson to "stop the bombing of North Viet Nam."

Published yesterday in the Stanford Daily, the letter has been signed by persons at the University of California, Stanford, San Francisco and San Jose state colleges, Foothill College and the UC medical center in San Francisco.

It calls the war "brutal and unnecessary" and asks for negotiations with the Viet Cong.

Circulating the letter is the Bay Area Inter-University Committee on Foreign Policy. Prof. Richard Strohman of Berkeley was listed as committee head.

Gum Ball Suspects Go To Juvenile Court

Larry Striplin, 18, of House C-50, and Horace du Pont, of 218 Drake Avenue, both 18 and of Marin City, were certified to Marin Juvenile Court yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a joint charge of petty theft.

Governor Asks Extra Time Off For Guardsmen

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Employers of national guardsmen in special "Selected Reserve Force" units were asked today by Gov. Brown to give such workers extra time off if necessary to meet their additional training requirements.

Forty California guard units recently were designated for training geared to make them immediately available for active service.

The governor said he had been told by guard leaders "that in the past, some guardsmen's jobs have been in jeopardy and their promotions or pay increases frozen because they were subject to call to duty in an emergency."

"I ask business and industry to take the lead in supporting the National Guard by adopting hiring and personnel practices that do not discriminate against these guardsmen."

College Faculty, Staff Members Ask War Cease

STANFORD (AP) — An open letter, already signed by some 500 faculty and staff members of San Francisco area colleges, asks president Johnson to "stop the bombing of North Viet Nam."

Published yesterday in the Stanford Daily, the letter has been signed by persons at the University of California, Stanford, San Francisco and San Jose state colleges, Foothill College and the UC medical center in San Francisco.

It calls the war "brutal and unnecessary" and asks for negotiations with the Viet Cong.

Circulating the letter is the Bay Area Inter-University Committee on Foreign Policy. Prof. Richard Strohman of Berkeley was listed as committee head.

Gum Ball Suspects Go To Juvenile Court

Larry Striplin, 18, of House C-50, and Horace du Pont, of 218 Drake Avenue, both 18 and of Marin City, were certified to Marin Juvenile Court yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a joint charge of petty theft.

The pair was arrested by Sausalito police Tuesday night after allegedly taking 389 balls of gum from a gum ball machine at Sausalito Coin Laundry, 518 Caledonia Street.

Governor Asks Extra Time Off For Guardsmen

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Employers of national guardsmen in special "Selected Reserve Force" units were asked today by Gov. Brown to give such workers extra time off if necessary to meet their additional training requirements.

Forty California guard units recently were designated for training geared to make them immediately available for active service.

The governor said he had been told by guard leaders "that in the past, some guardsmen's jobs have been in jeopardy and their promotions or pay increases frozen because they were subject to call to duty in an emergency."

"I ask business and industry to take the lead in supporting the National Guard by adopting hiring and personnel practices that do not discriminate against these guardsmen."

POSTERS RECALL WORLD WAR I

A collection of colored posters from World War I, promoting sales of Liberty Bonds and various war relief agencies, went on sale today—appropriately, on Veterans Day. The collection, being sold at Old St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon to benefit the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, recalls the all-out effort of the war that ended on Armistice Day—rechristened "Veterans Day" after World War II. The exhibit and sale will continue through Sunday, from noon to 4 p.m. Shown here are four of the posters.

County's Two Water Districts Near Agreement On Annexations

Marin Municipal Water District general manager William R. Seeger yesterday told his board of directors that he and North Marin County Water District manager Jerome Gilbert are close to agreement on a joint statement of policy for future annexations.

Seeger told the board the policy, for which he will probably seek its approval at the next meeting, is based on a county water service map, dated last April 6 which divides the county north of lake Nicasio.

The policy indicates the districts' willingness to annex areas either contiguous or noncontiguous to provide for present and future water service.

It states that, while it will be economically sound in the long run to inter-connect all water service areas in the county, it may be necessary for areas like West Marin to undertake service through local wells and dams on an interim basis.

The policy further states that the districts will consider the possibility of providing sewer service.

The Marin Municipal Water District Board also:

1. Awarded contracts for cast iron fittings totalling $27,780.98 to Water Works Supply Co., lowest of eight bidders.

2. Accepted deeds for six pipeline right of ways and one pump site.

3. Agreed to pay $1,182 to help the City of Belvedere connect two fire lines in a loop running from Belvedere Avenue to Beach Street.

4. Agreed to replace six inch lines with four inch lines running from the mains to fire hydrants in the Alto Fire District. Seeger noted that all other fire districts use the six inch lines and said he had insisted the Alto district request the change in writing before he would authorize it. "I don't agree with this. I think it's a bad policy," he said.

Visitors Bureau Design Annoys Park Group

Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission has a bone to pick with Clinton De Lap, of the Marin Visitors Bureau.

Members said yesterday they want to know why De Lap all but agreed with the commission's sign for the scenic route plan around the county, yet produced his own sign when the board of supervisors considered the matter Oct. 19.

De Lap is to be invited to the next meeting of the commission to explain himself.

Declared Melton Ferris, "I am not going to waste my time talking to Mr. De Lap or to anyone else and then when the chips are down, have the ground cut away from underneath."

Chairman Gibbs H. Lawson said that although De Lap did not concur with everything about the commission's proposal for a yellow sign "we had a feeling from him that the sign was adequate and could be used."

At its meeting two weeks ago, supervisors referred the scenic route plan and the sign proposal back to the commission for further study.

Dedication Tomorrow At New Jewish School

The climax of three years of work by the Jewish community of Marin will be reached tomorrow when a new $190,000 Sabbath school is opened adjacent to Temple Rodef Sholom at 170 N. San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

In an age-old ceremony, children of the temple will place a Mezzuzah—a Jewish emblem—on the door frame of each of the new 13 classrooms which will be in use for the first time 10 a.m. Sunday.

The dedication address at services in the Temple at 8:30 will be given by Rabbi Alexander Schindler, director of education of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

The new building is the final step in completion of the temple, which was the first of its kind in Marin when it was dedicated in May, 1962. The Sabbath school will be used by 450 children, who until now have attended classes at Marin Country Day School.

Robert Slate, president, said today: "The completion is the result of the efforts of a congregation which has made many sacrifices to attain its goals."

ALEXANDER SCHINDLER
To dedicate new school

Slate and past-president Lawrence Goldberg co-ordinated the drive for funds which began three years ago. Other officers involved in the project were: Abe Blumenfeld, chairman of the building committee; Lawrence Landy and Sidney Braverman, co-chairmen of the building fund; Frederic Kirschner, campaign team chairman; Mrs. Meyer Abel, major gifts chairman; Mrs. Gerson Jacobs, religious school chairman, and Penrod Moss, school principal.

Park Unit Seat Occupied Again By Mrs. Davies

Marin County Parks and Recreation Commissioner Elizabeth Banning Davies, who resigned before the board of supervisors two weeks ago, has reconsidered.

She took her seat at the commission meeting yesterday and helped fellow commissioners develop priorities for county parks.

She gave her oral resignation to the board after supervisors voted against applying for $175,000 in state funds for development of a regional park at Stafford Lake.

It was not known that she had reconsidered until she sat with the commission yesterday. "I hope it does some good," she said. "We'll see."

Marin Visitors Bureau Assists County Economy

Marin Visitors Bureau is giving more than just lip service to the promotion of tourism in the county.

In addition to the more routine function of providing brochures at its offices in San Rafael and at the State Fair in Sacramento in September, the Bureau used the Gazebo in Sausalito to disseminate information to tourists this summer.

It reports that since July, more than 3,000 tourists dropped in for general information, and many of them asked for specific points of interest within the county.

The Bureau has entered into a contract with the City of Sausalito for continued use of the Gazebo into the autumn months.

During Labor Day and Admission Day week, the Marin Visitors Bureau set up a booth at the corner of Fourth and Court Streets in San Rafael to give information. William McDevitt Co. provided the booth, and volunteers from Marin Aid for Retarded Children staffed the area.

Tangible results from these projects are difficult to assess immediately, but over the long haul, we are confident that these promotional efforts will prove effective in vitalizing the tourist industry.

"We have reason to believe that many of the people came farther into Marin and left many dollars behind them," the Bureau reports.

This is confirmed in part by the glowing letters from first-time visitors, who were impressed with the physical and cultural assets that Marin County has to offer.

Marin's winning the "All American City" award, in itself, seemed of little economic consequence at the time. Construction of the Civic Center and establishment of Point Reyes National Seashore both received opposition from some quarters.

The Marin Visitors Bureau is beginning to perform a valuable service for the economic well being of the county.

No Last Rose Of Summer

Some people use the expression "like the last rose of summer" to mean something very bedraggled and beat. However, the expression is quite inappropriate in Marin.

Here, our roses bloom lushly well into autumn. In November, a few hardy plants are still producing perfect blossoms. The "last rose of December" would be more like it here.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

LOOK INTO YOURSELF

A lawyer who had shown little interest in better government was sparked by a discussion with a friend to run for office.

"I suddenly woke up to the fact," he said, "that I was expecting everybody else to provide good government for me while I did nothing but complain. And if that's what I wanted from others, I realized I'd better get busy doing the same for them."

This built-in "yardstick" is part of the nature God gave you. You have a right to the cooperation of others in earning a reasonable living and in developing your physical, mental and spiritual capacities.

Apply this standard consistently to others and you will be well on the way towards fulfilling the message of the Gospel.

As St. Paul said: "And if there is any other commandment, it is summed up in saying: "You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' Love does no evil to a neighbor. Love therefore is the fulfillment of the law."

(Romans 13:9-10)

Increase my capacity to love, O Holy Spirit, and move me to live up to it.

Lawmakers Ask Why Secondary Diplomas Are So Uninformative

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — The question of how much usefulness a high school diploma has to a student who receives such a document at the end of his secondary scholastic career will be the subject of discussion at an assembly sub-committee meeting to be held Nov. 18 in Monterey.

This announcement was made by Assemblyman Winfield A. Shoemaker, D-Santa Barbara, chairman of the group on school curriculum.

THE ASSEMBLYMAN says there is substantial evidence indicating that the high school diploma serves no useful purpose as a measurement of a student's ability, or his achievement either.

"We cannot allow," he said, "mere physical presence of an individual in the classroom for some four years to become the sole criterion for high school graduation and for later success in work or at college."

Shoemaker pointed out the role of the legislature for many years has concerned itself with the framework of education, such as school finance, staffing problems and teacher qualifications.

WHILE THESE are important, he says the lawmakers cannot neglect the facts of what is actually taking place in the classrooms of the state.

There has long been the suspicion that the high school diploma represents little more than a piece of paper indicating the student has completed high school days. But there is no indication on the diploma as to how successfully he has completed them, nor is there any clue from the certificate of graduation as to what the student may be qualified to accomplish following his graduation.

A high school transcript, required by institutions of higher learning, tells what the student has had in high school, and while not a complete indicator, at least provides some guidelines for the future.

THE PURPOSE of the subcommittee apparently will be to determine if possible, what can be done toward outlining the capabilities of the graduate both for his own benefit and the information needed by his future contacts, either additional schooling, or in employment, to assist in providing a key to future activities of the student.

There has also been the suspicion at times that a college diploma has some minimum value, particularly in the field of those employers who have had applicants for jobs hired on the strength of a diploma, and later found to have passed through college "in the dark." However, this field is not the province of the assembly committee at the moment.

THE SUB - COMMITTEE in exploring this field, especially in measuring the capabilities of students, will run up against a difficult problem. No laws can be put into effect which will do the job on an accurate basis. However, a start can be made someplace along the line.

Tiburon Writer Defends Tam Bonds

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mr. Leo Sousa's recent letter on the Tam bond election gives the impression that foes of the single district unification oppose the bond issue. Actually, many of the most vigorous opponents of the big district unification have joined forces supporting the bonds.

Having leveled criticism at the Tam Board for delaying its building program pending unification, they recognize this bond issue is the first step in a long overdue plant expansion. The students waiting to enter these projected facilities will be there regardless of how districts are ultimately formed.

While many of us in the Reed District were disappointed to find the projected Tiburon High School omitted from this issue, we realize that the needs of the entire district must be filled in orderly progression. The beginning of San Geronimo High School and the completion of Redwood are the next steps in that progression.

The bonds deserve full public support. Vote YES on Tuesday, Nov. 16.

Does Anyone Care About Children?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Four little children, under the age of five, were killed by cars near their California homes, Halloween night.

Where were their parents?

The news accounts said only that the drivers of the cars which killed them did not see the tiny tots running into the streets—until it was too late.

Is a TV soap opera or a party with friends more important to parents than the lives of their children?

Next time you put on the brakes quickly to avoid striking youngsters take a good look at how many parents are concerned for the safety of these innocents.

One father defends his attitude—"When I was a boy, we always played games in the street."

Does he remember how many cars were being used in his boyhood? How many playgrounds were available to him?

A mother complains, "How can you watch them all the time?" There's an alternative —letting children run loose like wild savages. Or putting the responsibility for their lives in the hands of drivers, who may or may not be preoccupied with their own problems.

A mother wails, after the funeral, "He was in first grade and I always taught him to watch out for cars—but he was playing with some friends and . . . ."

And more grief to come, as the lonely years pass.

Have children become such a bother in our Great Society that they must die—or be injured—as they play?

Who cares?

Bridge Building Solution Proposed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is with astonishment, and concern for the commuters of Marin County that I read of the action of the Golden Gate Bridge directors and our own Marin county supervisors: to wit, the approval of a second deck on the bridge . . .

First, this project is estimated to take three years to complete: in my experience with estimates of time in construction add at least two, and maybe four years to this.

The bridge is now operating at capacity. Even a slight mishap at peak hours backs up traffic as far as San Rafael in the morning and ties traffic far up Van Ness and Bay Streets in the evening.

While this work is being done, what is to be done with this heavy traffic? Believe me, there is no detour possible . . .

Now suppose it is done, with all its inconveniences. What has been accomplished? Traffic will still be dumped at the Presidio, plus the possibility of an unsightly approach built off the Marina Green to funnel traffic around. The Waldo Grade will still be there, and widening it would be most difficult.

Then why is the ultimate and the only reasonable crossing not being considered? It seems so very simple to me. Stand on any hill in the Bay Area and look at the bay. Or go to the Corps of Engineers Bay Model in Sausalito and view it in miniature.

You will get this answer: the crossing should begin where the Embarcadero Freeway now ends, going straight to Alcatraz Island, to Angel Island, then to Tiburon Point and intersect with Highway 101 at Corte Madera overapss thus leaving our present facilities operating without interference.

'Don't Fail Children' Says Bond Chairman

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It has been my privilege to serve as Chairman of the Citizens Committee working for passage of the Tamalpais High School District bond proposal on Tuesday, Nov. 16.

I have been greatly impressed by the fact that so many community leaders and other interested and concerned citizens who have strenuously opposed one another in other matters, have been willing to enthusiastically combine forces to support this proposal. For example, the Citizens Committee itself is approximately evenly divided between persons who strongly oppose and persons who strongly endorse the recent unification election. Partisan political labels have never been considered, for the obvious reason that they are not relevant to this issue. It is also significant that community leaders of all the geographical areas of the District are represented on the Citizens Committee, and all recognize that the bond proposal to be presented for voter approval on Nov. 16 is the most realistic method of meeting the most urgent educational needs of the District.

All members of the committee also share the common concern that the failure to provide adequate facilities as needed will result in irreparable damage to those students who are affected thereby. While lack of adequate foresight in planning to meet commuting, parking, or other problems of that nature results in aggravation and inconvenience only, the loss to the child who has not had the benefit of adequate classrooms and other important facilities cannot be regained. That is the reason for our slogan: "Don't Fail Our Children."

The two-thirds majority required for passage of the bond proposal is always a difficult goal to attain.

It is urgently requested, therefore, that every citizen vote on Tuesday, and it is our fervent hope that this vote will be "Yes."

The song that she sang while performing this operation, was of course, I'm Gonna Wash That Hare Right Out of My Man."

Lindsay's New York Win May Shake Up Old-Line Party Hacks

WASHINGTON — The machine politicans in every big city in the United States are scared stiff.

They should be.

THE THING which they were confident would never happen, has happened—in New York City and elsewhere. The thing they most feared has come upon them.

The cynics and the machine politicians had full confidence in the city-dwelling voter.

They were confident that he didn't care.

They were confident that the voters were so wedded to past voting habits, based on sentiment, race, union loyalty and long partisan affiliation, they would never break the pattern.

They were confidently counting on public apathy and a sense of voter hopelessness that nothing could be done.

The fact that the cynics and the machine politicians were so wrong about city voters is the most significant fact of all about last week's elections in New York, Philadelphia, Akron, Toledo and a few other cities.

WHAT MOST scares the machine politicians is that they know that John Lindsay, for example, was not the cause of the voter revolt; he was its beneficiary.

They are worried because they fear that the political revolt against sterile, stand-still city government will spread.

If it could happen in New York—the biggest, the wealthiest, just about the longest machine-ridden city in the nation — it can happen elsewhere.

The New York election shows:

That New York voters care.

That they have not become mesmerized by the belief that nothing can be done, that the voter is helpless.

That they reject the easy cliche that New York is too big and too complex to be governed efficienty and honestly.

That they have the gumption, the independence to break with the political past in open demand for a better political future.

THAT'S SOMETHING. That's a lot.

New York City was the perfect test — and voter revolt radiantly won over voter apathy.

It couldn't have been easy for the divergent racial and economic groups of New York to break so completely with long - ingrained voting habits. For most of this century the Irish, the Jews, the Catholics, the Negroes and Labor have consistently voted to keep the Democratic party in control of City Hall. The registered voters have long been 7-to-2 Democratic.

But last week the voters of New York City pulled themselves up by their own roots and said: Give us something different, give us something better.

They didn't turn to Mayor-elect Lindsay because he was a Republican. They turned to him despite the fact that he was a Republican. This is way it will take other Lindsays to help rebuild the Republican party elsewhere.

The "Democratic" voters of New York are not asking and do not want Mr. Lindsay to put partisan government back in City Hall. There is no "Republican" way to resolve the traffic mess, make the parks safe to walk in, clear the air and increase the water supply. They are asking for modern, creative, do-something government.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

West Germany Seeks NATO Nuclear Role

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, during his forthcoming meeting with President Lyndon B. Johnson at his Texas ranch, will be armed with a potent new argument for giving his government a finger on the NATO nuclear trigger.

THE THREAT posed by Russia's medium-range ballistic missile force, primarily aimed at targets in West Germany, has been sharply increased in the past six months through an extensive modernization program.

This powerful force pointing at the heart of Europe now consists of approximately 700 nuclear-tipped missiles, all on Soviet soil and with ranges from 950 to 1,200 miles.

Prior to last March all of these missiles and their launchers were aboveground and in fixed locations known to NATO and U.S. intelligence authorities. According to information Erhard is bringing to the U.S., these missiles have vanished into "hardened" underground sites — many of whose locations are unknown to NATO officials.

AN INCREASING percentage of the sinister Red missile force is being made fully mobile by being mounted on large caterpillar-propelled or rubber-tired vehicles which also serve as launchers.

It is the Bonn government's estimate that all Soviet missiles aimed at targets in Europe and Great Britain will either be in "hardened underground" bases or converted to the mobile-launching rockets by late 1966.

These new missiles will be difficult both to locate and destroy.

TO COUNTER THIS grave Russian threat, Chancellor Erhard will ask U.S. backing for a seat on the proposed "NATO Special Nuclear Command Committee" that Defense Secretary McNamara is pressing.

This atomic command group, which France has declined to join, will be discussed at a NATO defense ministers meeting in Paris on Nov. 26. These Western officials will then report their findings to a NATO foreign ministers meeting on Dec. 16-19 in the same city.

British Prime Minister Wilson has vigorously opposed German membership on the so-called "trigger committee" because the Soviet has served notice there can be no agreement or pact against nuclear weapons proliferation if Bonn is given an atomic weapons command role.

The Erhard statement will ask for "co-responsibility" in NATO nuclear affairs, including both German "co-direction" and "co-ownership" of nuclear delivery systems (missiles) and their warheads.

AT PRESENT the largest nuclear missile in Germany is the 400-mile-range Pershing. This cannot reach Soviet soil, and its atomic warhead is under sole U.S. control.

With the shelving of the U.S. - proposed mixed - manned nuclear surface fleet as a compromise solution, President Johnson will soon have to decide whether to face the risk of losing West German confidence or letting slip the chance of an agreement with Russia on spread of nuclear weapons.

FIDEL CASTRO'S regime is trying to instigate an uprising in Haiti, only 50 miles off Cuba's eastern tip and adjoining the Dominican Republic. Castro, who had a hand in the April 24 uprising in Santo Domingo, is trying to incite a similar outbreak in Haiti by broadcasting instructions and appeals from Havana in the Creole tongue used by most Haitians.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By STEPHEN COOK

Alas, Hell's Angels Going Soft, Aspiring To Pro-Society Status

The Hell's Angels, that band of motorcycling mauraders who, for years, have stood as one of the finest examples of men alienated from their society, who never asked anything but that they be allowed to risk their necks aboard their high speed two-wheelers, drink beer and perhaps terrorize a few communities — this club, steeped in tradition, is in serious danger of disintegration.

OH, I DARESAY the angels will still be around for a number of years to come, but it will never be the same as it has been. Some year, probably not too far in the future, someone will turn the organization into a men's service club. Its death-head insignia, possibly dressed up with a lightning bolt clamped in the teeth and an olive branch hanging from the angel wings, will, along with the Rotary and Sertoma, greet visitors to every small town up and down the state. The Angels will hold weekly breakfast or luncheon meetings, fining members who fail to attend.

Yes, it all sounds pretty grim, but you cannot say the blackjacketed gentlemen aren't asking for it. Take for example, the two Angels who visited the American government class at Redwood High School last week. Both are fine examples of the sickness which seems to pervade their organization.

In the days when men were men and Hell's Angels were hoodlums, these two would never have set foot on a high school campus — unless they planned to take the school captive. School, being an arm of government which is an extension of society, is something the old Angels would have scoffed at.

THE ANGELS, it appears, are just men after all. The possibility of acceptance into society is luring them down off the motorcycle paths. Oakland Hell's Angels Club President Ralph (Sonny) Bargar, for example, is a sucker for society's present mania—the campaign button. Appearing at the high school, his black jacket was dotted with buttons reading "support your local police," "business is good" and "victory over communism." Barger would probably claim the buttons are mostly for jokes but, as students of Freud would tell him, a joke may just be an overt negation of something he really desires.

And then there is the reason for the Angels' visit to the high school. Was it to regale the students with tales of the club's adventurous exploits in California foothill towns? No indeed. It was to enlist their support, or at least sympathy, in the Hell's Angels' patriotic crusade against "peace-creep" communists who are opposing our war in Viet Nam.

THIS CRUSADE of the Angels has been accepted as good by most of our society and even praised highly by some. This praise for just wading in and picking a fight seems to have turned the heads of the Hell's Angels. Here, they think, they have made their deepest inroad towards acceptance in the society they covet.

I would blame those who applaud the Angels for their patriotism as the responsibiles for the club's certain disintegration, were it not for something that Barger told me at at the high school. The Angels, I decided then, have no one to blame but themselves.

Asked how much it cost him to drive his motorcycle each year, Barger responded that the figure was about $1,700. "You see," he said, "I buy a new bike every year and trade the old one in."

NOW IF THAT isn't emulation of the Great American Society, what is? Now if he would just buy a house with a two motorcycle garage. . . .

MORRIE RYSKIND

Congress Emulates Corporation Wheel Out On Credit Card Spree

By RAYMOND MOLEY
(Substituting for Morrie Ryskind)

AS THE FIRST session of the 89th Congress fades into history, it reminds me of a man in New York who had a big afternoon and night on the town. That man, who recklessly spent on his credit, realized when the bills came in that he was not only unable to remember what he had "bought," but was so loaded with debt that his obligations would haunt him for a long time to come.

The President has acclaimed the session as "the greatest in American history." But his use of the word "greatest" means the most expensive and the most reckless.

The New Yorker to whom I refer was one of the best paid and best known figures on Madison Ave. On the morning of the night out he had received a new and better employment contract with his company. He had a home with wife and kiddies in Westchester. He had charge accounts at the better stores, and his wallet was crammed with credit cards of all sorts.

THE SPENDING PART of his day began at noon, when he entertained three associates in his company. After the familiar three martinis before lunch, his feeling of good will rose so high that in the early afternoon he proceeded to several stores and charged presents for his family and other relatives.

At 5:30 he met some friends at a bar for the usual two or three "for the road." Meanwhile the commuter train departed and he called home and said that "business" would keep him in town for the evening. Then he and his friends began the rounds. He ended by taking a room for the night at an expensive hotel. In addition to his outlays on credit, there was a certain amount of cash paid out for taxis and tips.

The next day, if his mind considered costs at all, he had not the faintest idea of the extent of his obligations. The bills would come staggering in for three of four weeks.

CONGRESS AT this 1965 session appropriated $119 billion, which was $12 billion more than in 1964, but this is only the official figure. Many welfare programs that were adopted are of the open-end variety. Some of the legislation imposes obligations of an indeterminate nature for years to come. Some involve backdoor spending, in which money will be drawn from the Treasury without annual appropriation.

In the final catchall supplemental money measures approved just prior to adjournment, Congress acted to provide advance funding for the urban renewal program. No one knows what the future costs of hospital and nursing-home care will be, for no one can predict how many will claim the benefits. The costs of education are unknown, for no one knows how many individuals and institutions will claim grants under a rather fuzzy authorization.

What we do know is that federal welfare expenditures leaped in the 10 years from 1955 to 1965 from $13 billion to $33 billion, and under the laws passed this year the welfare costs will probably go up to around $45 billion by 190. This comes very close to the outlays for the military and for foreign aid.

BUT WHILE in this country we have been moving into the welfare state, following the United Kingdom in the early years after World War II, the United Kingdom is now discovering a serious drift in public opinion in the other direction. A poll by the British Institute of Public Affairs shows that the costly social-service programs over there are rapidly losing their popularity. In the United Kingdom two-fifths of the government's revenue goes to these services.

The present Labor government now finds that these outlays are impairing the nation's currency in foreign markets. This in any nation measures the ultimate reckoning. At the recent Britìtsh Labor Party's conference at Blackpool the more conservative elements in the dominant party sharply rebuffed the orthodox socialists.

This is in contrast with the United States, where the liberal element overwhelmingly swept the elections in 1964. At this moment in the United States government welfare is at a high tide. We are enjoying our spree now.

THE INEVITABLE bills will come in later.

Marin Visitors Bureau Assists County Economy

Marin Visitors Bureau is giving more than just lip service to the promotion of tourism in the county.

In addition to the more routine function of providing brochures at its offices in San Rafael and at the State Fair in Sacramento in September, the Bureau used the Gazebo in Sausalito to disseminate information to tourists this summer.

It reports that since July, more than 3,000 tourists dropped in for general information, and many of them asked for specific points of interest within the county.

The Bureau has entered into a contract with the City of Sausalito for continued use of the Gazebo into the autumn months.

During Labor Day and Admission Day week, the Marin Visitors Bureau set up a booth at the corner of Fourth and Court Streets in San Rafael to give information. William McDevitt Co. provided the booth, and volunteers from Marin Aid for Retarded Children staffed the area.

Tangible results from these projects are difficult to assess immediately, but over the long haul, we are confident that these promotional efforts will prove effective in vitalizing the tourist industry.

"We have reason to believe that many of the people came farther into Marin and left many dollars behind them," the Bureau reports.

This is confirmed in part by the glowing letters from first-time visitors, who were impressed with the physical and cultural assets that Marin County has to offer.

Marin's winning the "All American City" award, in itself, seemed of little economic consequence at the time. Construction of the Civic Center and establishment of Point Reyes National Seashore both received opposition from some quarters.

The Marin Visitors Bureau is beginning to perform a valuable service for the economic well being of the county.

No Last Rose Of Summer

Some people use the expression "like the last rose of summer" to mean something very bedraggled and beat. However, the expression is quite inappropriate in Marin.

Here, our roses bloom lushly well into autumn. In November, a few hardy plants are still producing perfect blossoms. The "last rose of December" would be more like it here.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

LOOK INTO YOURSELF

A lawyer who had shown little interest in better government was sparked by a discussion with a friend to run for office.

"I suddenly woke up to the fact," he said, "that I was expecting everybody else to provide good government for me while I did nothing but complain. And if that's what I wanted from others, I realized I'd better get busy doing the same for them."

This built-in "yardstick" is part of the nature God gave you. You have a right to the cooperation of others in earning a reasonable living and in developing your physical, mental and spiritual capacities.

Apply this standard consistently to others and you will be well on the way towards fulfilling the message of the Gospel.

As St. Paul said: "And if there is any other commandment, it is summed up in saying: "You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' Love does no evil to a neighbor. Love therefore is the fulfillment of the law."

(Romans 13:9-10)

Increase my capacity to love, O Holy Spirit, and move me to live up to it.

Lawmakers Ask Why Secondary Diplomas Are So Uninformative

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — The question of how much usefulness a high school diploma has to a student who receives such a document at the end of his secondary scholastic career will be the subject of discussion at an assembly sub-committee meeting to be held Nov. 18 in Monterey.

This announcement was made by Assemblyman Winfield A. Shoemaker, D-Santa Barbara, chairman of the group on school curriculum.

THE ASSEMBLYMAN says there is substantial evidence indicating that the high school diploma serves no useful purpose as a measurement of a student's ability, or his achievement either.

"We cannot allow," he said, "mere physical presence of an individual in the classroom for some four years to become the sole criterion for high school graduation and for later success in work or at college."

Shoemaker pointed out the role of the legislature for many years has concerned itself with the framework of education, such as school finance, staffing problems and teacher qualifications.

WHILE THESE are important, he says the lawmakers cannot neglect the facts of what is actually taking place in the classrooms of the state.

There has long been the suspicion that the high school diploma represents little more than a piece of paper indicating the student has completed high school days. But there is no indication on the diploma as to how successfully he has completed them, nor is there any clue from the certificate of graduation as to what the student may be qualified to accomplish following his graduation.

A high school transcript, required by institutions of higher learning, tells what the student has had in high school, and while not a complete indicator, at least provides some guidelines for the future.

THE PURPOSE of the subcommittee apparently will be to determine if possible, what can be done toward outlining the capabilities of the graduate both for his own benefit and the information needed by his future contacts, either additional schooling, or in employment, to assist in providing a key to future activities of the student.

There has also been the suspicion at times that a college diploma has some minimum value, particularly in the field of those employers who have had applicants for jobs hired on the strength of a diploma, and later found to have passed through college "in the dark." However, this field is not the province of the assembly committee at the moment.

THE SUB - COMMITTEE in exploring this field, especially in measuring the capabilities of students, will run up against a difficult problem. No laws can be put into effect which will do the job on an accurate basis. However, a start can be made someplace along the line.

Tiburon Writer Defends Tam Bonds

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mr. Leo Sousa's recent letter on the Tam bond election gives the impression that foes of the single district unification oppose the bond issue. Actually, many of the most vigorous opponents of the big district unification have joined forces supporting the bonds.

Having leveled criticism at the Tam Board for delaying its building program pending unification, they recognize this bond issue is the first step in a long overdue plant expansion. The students waiting to enter these projected facilities will be there regardless of how districts are ultimately formed.

While many of us in the Reed District were disappointed to find the projected Tiburon High School omitted from this issue, we realize that the needs of the entire district must be filled in orderly progression. The beginning of San Geronimo High School and the completion of Redwood are the next steps in that progression.

The bonds deserve full public support. Vote YES on Tuesday, Nov. 16.

Does Anyone Care About Children?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Four little children, under the age of five, were killed by cars near their California homes, Halloween night.

Where were their parents?

The news accounts said only that the drivers of the cars which killed them did not see the tiny tots running into the streets—until it was too late.

Is a TV soap opera or a party with friends more important to parents than the lives of their children?

Next time you put on the brakes quickly to avoid striking youngsters take a good look at how many parents are concerned for the safety of these innocents.

One father defends his attitude—"When I was a boy, we always played games in the street."

Does he remember how many cars were being used in his boyhood? How many playgrounds were available to him?

A mother complains, "How can you watch them all the time?" There's an alternative —letting children run loose like wild savages. Or putting the responsibility for their lives in the hands of drivers, who may or may not be preoccupied with their own problems.

A mother wails, after the funeral, "He was in first grade and I always taught him to watch out for cars—but he was playing with some friends and . . . ."

And more grief to come, as the lonely years pass.

Have children become such a bother in our Great Society that they must die—or be injured—as they play?

Who cares?

Bridge Building Solution Proposed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is with astonishment, and concern for the commuters of Marin County that I read of the action of the Golden Gate Bridge directors and our own Marin county supervisors: to wit, the approval of a second deck on the bridge . . .

First, this project is estimated to take three years to complete: in my experience with estimates of time in construction add at least two, and maybe four years to this.

The bridge is now operating at capacity. Even a slight mishap at peak hours backs up traffic as far as San Rafael in the morning and ties traffic far up Van Ness and Bay Streets in the evening.

While this work is being done, what is to be done with this heavy traffic? Believe me, there is no detour possible . . .

Now suppose it is done, with all its inconveniences. What has been accomplished? Traffic will still be dumped at the Presidio, plus the possibility of an unsightly approach built off the Marina Green to funnel traffic around. The Waldo Grade will still be there, and widening it would be most difficult.

Then why is the ultimate and the only reasonable crossing not being considered? It seems so very simple to me. Stand on any hill in the Bay Area and look at the bay. Or go to the Corps of Engineers Bay Model in Sausalito and view it in miniature.

You will get this answer: the crossing should begin where the Embarcadero Freeway now ends, going straight to Alcatraz Island, to Angel Island, then to Tiburon Point and intersect with Highway 101 at Corte Madera overapss thus leaving our present facilities operating without interference.

'Don't Fail Children' Says Bond Chairman

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It has been my privilege to serve as Chairman of the Citizens Committee working for passage of the Tamalpais High School District bond proposal on Tuesday, Nov. 16.

I have been greatly impressed by the fact that so many community leaders and other interested and concerned citizens who have strenuously opposed one another in other matters, have been willing to enthusiastically combine forces to support this proposal. For example, the Citizens Committee itself is approximately evenly divided between persons who strongly oppose and persons who strongly endorse the recent unification election. Partisan political labels have never been considered, for the obvious reason that they are not relevant to this issue. It is also significant that community leaders of all the geographical areas of the District are represented on the Citizens Committee, and all recognize that the bond proposal to be presented for voter approval on Nov. 16 is the most realistic method of meeting the most urgent educational needs of the District.

All members of the committee also share the common concern that the failure to provide adequate facilities as needed will result in irreparable damage to those students who are affected thereby. While lack of adequate foresight in planning to meet commuting, parking, or other problems of that nature results in aggravation and inconvenience only, the loss to the child who has not had the benefit of adequate classrooms and other important facilities cannot be regained. That is the reason for our slogan: "Don't Fail Our Children."

The two-thirds majority required for passage of the bond proposal is always a difficult goal to attain.

It is urgently requested, therefore, that every citizen vote on Tuesday, and it is our fervent hope that this vote will be "Yes."

Lindsay's New York Win May Shake Up Old-Line Party Hacks

WASHINGTON — The machine politicans in every big city in the United States are scared stiff.

They should be.

THE THING which they were confident would never happen, has happened—in New York City and elsewhere. The thing they most feared has come upon them.

The cynics and the machine politicians had full confidence in the city-dwelling voter.

They were confident that he didn't care.

They were confident that the voters were so wedded to past voting habits, based on sentiment, race, union loyalty and long partisan affiliation, they would never break the pattern.

They were confidently counting on public apathy and a sense of voter hopelessness that nothing could be done.

The fact that the cynics and the machine politicians were so wrong about city voters is the most significant fact of all about last week's elections in New York, Philadelphia, Akron, Toledo and a few other cities.

WHAT MOST scares the machine politicians is that they know that John Lindsay, for example, was not the cause of the voter revolt; he was its beneficiary.

They are worried because they fear that the political revolt against sterile, stand-still city government will spread.

If it could happen in New York—the biggest, the wealthiest, just about the longest machine-ridden city in the nation — it can happen elsewhere.

The New York election shows:

That New York voters care.

That they have not become mesmerized by the belief that nothing can be done, that the voter is helpless.

That they reject the easy cliche that New York is too big and too complex to be governed efficienty and honestly.

That they have the gumption, the independence to break with the political past in open demand for a better political future.

THAT'S SOMETHING. That's a lot.

New York City was the perfect test — and voter revolt radiantly won over voter apathy.

It couldn't have been easy for the divergent racial and economic groups of New York to break so completely with long - ingrained voting habits. For most of this century the Irish, the Jews, the Catholics, the Negroes and Labor have consistently voted to keep the Democratic party in control of City Hall. The registered voters have long been 7-to-2 Democratic.

But last week the voters of New York City pulled themselves up by their own roots and said: Give us something different, give us something better.

They didn't turn to Mayor-elect Lindsay because he was a Republican. They turned to him despite the fact that he was a Republican. This is way it will take other Lindsays to help rebuild the Republican party elsewhere.

The "Democratic" voters of New York are not asking and do not want Mr. Lindsay to put partisan government back in City Hall. There is no "Republican" way to resolve the traffic mess, make the parks safe to walk in, clear the air and increase the water supply. They are asking for modern, creative, do-something government.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

West Germany Seeks NATO Nuclear Role

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, during his forthcoming meeting with President Lyndon B. Johnson at his Texas ranch, will be armed with a potent new argument for giving his government a finger on the NATO nuclear trigger.

THE THREAT posed by Russia's medium-range ballistic missile force, primarily aimed at targets in West Germany, has been sharply increased in the past six months through an extensive modernization program.

This powerful force pointing at the heart of Europe now consists of approximately 700 nuclear-tipped missiles, all on Soviet soil and with ranges from 950 to 1,200 miles.

Prior to last March all of these missiles and their launchers were aboveground and in fixed locations known to NATO and U.S. intelligence authorities. According to information Erhard is bringing to the U.S., these missiles have vanished into "hardened" underground sites — many of whose locations are unknown to NATO officials.

AN INCREASING percentage of the sinister Red missile force is being made fully mobile by being mounted on large caterpillar-propelled or rubber-tired vehicles which also serve as launchers.

It is the Bonn government's estimate that all Soviet missiles aimed at targets in Europe and Great Britain will either be in "hardened underground" bases or converted to the mobile-launching rockets by late 1966.

These new missiles will be difficult both to locate and destroy.

TO COUNTER THIS grave Russian threat, Chancellor Erhard will ask U.S. backing for a seat on the proposed "NATO Special Nuclear Command Committee" that Defense Secretary McNamara is pressing.

This atomic command group, which France has declined to join, will be discussed at a NATO defense ministers meeting in Paris on Nov. 26. These Western officials will then report their findings to a NATO foreign ministers meeting on Dec. 16-19 in the same city.

British Prime Minister Wilson has vigorously opposed German membership on the so-called "trigger committee" because the Soviet has served notice there can be no agreement or pact against nuclear weapons proliferation if Bonn is given an atomic weapons command role.

The Erhard statement will ask for "co-responsibility" in NATO nuclear affairs, including both German "co-direction" and "'co-ownership" of nuclear delivery systems (missiles) and their warheads.

AT PRESENT the largest nuclear missile in Germany is the 400-mile-range Pershing. This cannot reach Soviet soil, and its atomic warhead is under sole U.S. control.

With the shelving of the U.S. - proposed mixed - manned nuclear surface fleet as a compromise solution, President Johnson will soon have to decide whether to face the risk of losing West German confidence or letting slip the chance of an agreement with Russia on spread of nuclear weapons.

FIDEL CASTRO'S regime is trying to instigate an uprising in Haiti, only 50 miles off Cuba's eastern tip and adjoining the Dominican Republic. Castro, who had a hand in the April 24 uprising in Santa Domingo, is trying to incite a similar outbreak in Haiti by broadcasting instructions and appeals from Havana in the Creole tongue used by most Haitians.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By STEPHEN COOK

Alas, Hell's Angels Going Soft, Aspiring To Pro-Society Status

The Hell's Angels, that band of motorcycling mauraders who, for years, have stood as one of the finest examples of men alienated from their society, who never asked anything but that they be allowed to risk their necks aboard their high speed two-wheelers, drink beer and perhaps terrorize a few communities — this club, steeped in tradition, is in serious danger of disintegration.

OH, I DARESAY the angels will still be around for a number of years to come, but it will never be the same as it has been. Some year, probably not too far in the future, someone will turn tne organization into a men's service club. Its death-head insignia, possibly dressed up with a lightning bolt clamped in the teeth and an olive branch hanging from the angel wings, will, along with the Rotary and Sertoma, greet visitors to every small town up and down the state. The Angels will hold weekly breakfast or luncheon meetings, fining members who fail to attend.

Yes, it all sounds pretty grim, but you cannot say the blackjacketed gentlemen aren't asking for it. Take for example, the two Angels who visited the American government class at Redwood High School last week. Both are fine examples of the sickness which seems to pervade their organization.

In the days when men were men and Hell's Angels were hoodlums, these two would never have set foot on a high school campus — unless they planned to take the school captive. School, being an arm of government which is an extension of society, is something the old Angels would have scoffed at.

THE ANGELS, it appears, are just men after all. The possibility of acceptance into society is luring them down off the motorcycle paths. Oakland Hell's Angels Club President Ralph (Sonny) Bargar, for example, is a sucker for society's present mania—the campaign button. Appearing at the high school, his black jacket was dotted with buttons reading "support your local police," "business is good" and "victory over communism." Barger would probably claim the buttons are mostly for jokes but, as students of Freud would tell him, a joke may just be an overt negation of something he really desires.

And then there is the reason for the Angels' visit to the high school. Was it to regale the students with tales of the club's adventurous exploits in California foothill towns? No indeed. It was to enlist their support, or at least sympathy, in the Hell's Angels' patriotic crusade against "peace-creep" communists who are opposing our war in Viet Nam.

THIS CRUSADE of the Angels has been accepted as good by most of our society and even praised highly by some. This praise for just wading in and picking a fight seems to have turned the heads of the Hell's Angels. Here, they think, they have made their deepest inroad towards acceptance in the society they covet.

I would blame those who applaud the Angels for their patriotism as the responsibiles for the club's certain disintegration, were it not for something that Barger told me at at the high school. The Angels, I decided then, have no one to blame but themselves.

Asked how much it cost him to drive his motorcycle each year, Barger responded that the figure was about $1,700. "You see," he said, "I buy a new bike every year and trade the old one in."

NOW IF THAT isn't emulation of the Great American Society, what is? Now if he would just buy a house with a two motorcycle garage. . . .

MORRIE RYSKIND

Congress Emulates Corporation Wheel Out On Credit Card Spree

By RAYMOND MOLEY
(Substituting for Morrie Ryskind)

AS THE FIRST session of the 89th Congress fades into history, it reminds me of a man in New York who had a big afternoon and night on the town. That man, who recklessly spent on his credit, realized when the bills came in that he was not only unable to remember what he had "bought," but was so loaded with debt that his obligations would haunt him for a long time to come.

The President has acclaimed the session as "the greatest in American history." But his use of the word "greatest" means the most expensive and the most reckless.

The New Yorker to whom I refer was one of the best paid and best known figures on Madison Ave. On the morning of the night out he had received a new and better employment contract with his company. He had a home with wife and kiddies in Westchester. He had charge accounts at the better stores, and his wallet was crammed with credit cards of all sorts.

THE SPENDING PART of his day began at noon, when he entertained three associates in his company. After the familiar three martinis before lunch, his feeling of good will rose so high that in the early afternoon he proceeded to several stores and charged presents for his family and other relatives.

At 5:30 he met some friends at a bar for the usual two or three "for the road." Meanwhile the commuter train departed and he called home and said that "business" would keep him in town for the evening. Then he and his friends began the rounds. He ended by taking a room for the night at an expensive hotel. In addition to his outlays on credit, there was a certain amount of cash paid out for taxis and tips.

The next day, if his mind considered costs at all, he had not the faintest idea of the extent of his obligations. The bills would come staggering in for three of four weeks.

CONGRESS AT this 1965 session appropriated $119 billion, which was $12 billion more than in 1964, but this is only the official figure. Many welfare programs that were adopted are of the open-end variety. Some of the legislation imposes obligations of an indeterminate nature for years to come. Some involve backdoor spending, in which money will be drawn from the Treasury without annual appropriation.

In the final catchall supplemental money measures approved just prior to adjournment, Congress acted to provide advance funding for the urban renewal program. No one knows what the future costs of hospital and nursing-home care will be, for no one can predict how many will claim the benefits. The costs of education are unknown, for no one knows how many individuals and institutions will claim grants under a rather fuzzy authorization.

What we do know is that federal welfare expenditures leaped in the 10 years from 1955 to 1965 from $13 billion to $33 billion, and under the laws passed this year the welfare costs will probably go up to around $45 billion by 190. This comes very close to the outlays for the military and for foreign aid.

BUT WHILE in this country we have been moving into the welfare state, following the United Kingdom in the early years after World War II, the United Kingdom is now discovering a serious drift in public opinion in the other direction. A poll by the British Institute of Public Affairs shows that the costly social-service programs over there are rapidly losing their popularity. In the United Kingdom two-fifths of the government's revenue goes to these services.

The present Labor government now finds that these outlays are impairing the nation's currency in foreign markets. This in any nation measures the ultimate reckoning. At the recent Brititsh Labor Party's conference at Blackpool the more conservative elements in the dominant party sharply rebuffed the orthodox socialists.

This is in contrast with the United States, where the liberal element overwhelmingly swept the elections in 1964. At this moment in the United States government welfare is at a high tide. We are enjoying our spree now.

THE INEVITABLE bills will come in later.

20 YEARS AGO

Voters in Ross Valley Sanitary District approved a $320,000 bond issue to finance a new sewage treatment plant, designed to serve a population of 35,000.

Oliver Hartzell, superintendent of San Rafael schools, recommended abandonment of the B Street School because of its location in the business district.

Traditions

are so nice in the Holiday Season and this New Englandish house just asks for them. A central hall with a stairway just right for swags of greenery—a red brick fireplace for the Santa stockings—a modern kitchen where it's easy to whip out fragrant turkeys and pumpkin pies—4 huge bedrooms (two even have dormer ceilings) and two large baths. And the low price of $34,500 makes it a shrewd Yankee bargain!

Traditions

are so nice in the Holiday Season and this New Englandish house just asks for them. A central hall with a stairway just right for swags of greenery—a red brick fireplace for the Santa stockings—a modern kitchen where it's easy to whip out fragrant turkeys and pumpkin pies—4 huge bedrooms (two even have dormer ceilings) and two large baths. And the low price of $34,500 makes it a shrewd Yankee bargain!

THEY TAKE TRADE-INS

When San Geronimo contractor Jess Janssen visited San Rafael's Town and Country Motors yesterday, he decided to test their claim that they would take nearly anything in trade. They passed the test by accepting his 9-year-old horse, Rebel, as part payment on a dump truck. Slapping an improvised sign on the steed's neck, salesmen placed Rebel on the lot. The horse was sold the same day— which was fortunate, because police by that time had pointed out its presence was a violation of a city ordinance.

HEARTBREAK OFFICER

Mark Falcone's Job Pays Off For Taxpayers Of Marin County

By RICHARD LYTTLE

That is his job, a job that pays off for Marin County taxpayers.

Falcone is revenue officer for Marin County, and as such runs the county government's collection agency.

"Sometimes," Falcone admits, "it breaks you up."

He cited the case of a girl who suffered a serious head injury in a traffic accident and was three months in the hospital before she died. Her parents were left with hospital and medical bills totaling $10,000.

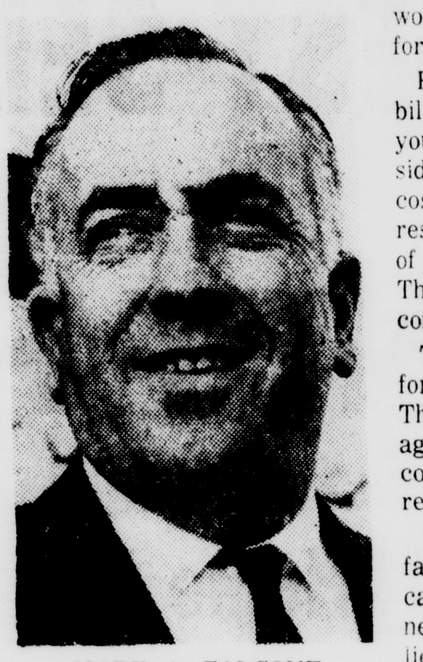
"They'll never be able to pay it," Falcone said. "But they want to pay. Most people want to pay."

Falcone's office, a bureau in the auditor-controller's department, was created in 1962, consolidating all the collection efforts of various departments of county government. Most of the collections are for medical aid, probation, mental hygiene and general relief.

How is a person who qualifies for county medical aid in the first place expected to pay the bill later?

Falcone explained the many conditions that arise where the county will expect repayment. Sometimes a patient will find employment after treatment, often there is insurance that will cover the bill, or a responsible relative who can be billed. Also the county can settle its bills with the estate after death.

Another method of assuring payment is through liens on real property. Here the county collects either at probate or when the property is sold.



MARK J. FALCONE
He meets all kinds

No bill is ever written off the books, although many are classified as "inactive," Falcone said.

He said $2.9 million is technically due the county for aid rendered during the past five years. If you wanted to go back further, you could probably run the figure up to $10 million, said Falcon.

But, as a practical matter, only about $600,000 can be considered "accounts receivable," Falcone said.

How are such bills incurred by residents of Marin?

Medical aid accounts for the biggest share, about $1.7 million in the last five years. Mental hygiene accounts, the bills from state mental institutions, come to $49,000. Payment due for probation services totals $430,000, and payment on general relief comes to $762,000.

State hospitals, such as Sonoma State Hospital which takes care of mentally retarded children, bill the county at the rate of $20 a month for each Marin child. Falcone must collect this from the parents or other responsible relatives.

The rate was set under a 75-year-old state law. Actual cost to the state for the care is $397 a month. There are now 147 Marin children at Sonoma State Hospital and only 17 of these involve collection problems for Falcone.

Adults who go to Napa State Hospital run up higher bills. Sometimes Falcone goes to the patients themselves, after they are released, to get reimbursement. The cost here is $10.20 a day, so bills can run high in a short time.

"It is considered good therapy for the patients to ask them to pay what they can," Falcone said.

Often it is up to Falcone to judge how much can be paid and what the payment program should be. Sometimes, if the county must take a case to court, the judge will set the payment schedule.

With probation cases, the probation officer on the case sets the arrangement for payment. Falcone thinks this should be put in his discretion, leaving the probation officer to work on the rehabilitation effort.

Parents of juveniles are billed $5 a day for lodging of youths in juvenile hall, considerably under the actual cost. There is also a billing to responsible relatives for care of children in foster homes. The charges here vary, Falcone said.

The state charges for California Youth Authority camps. These again are charged against the county, with Falcone responsible to seek what reimbursement possible.

The only category of welfare payments that the county can try to collect is that money paid out under general relief. This fund of strictly county money (no state or federal allocations involved) is usually used to help needy until they are qualified under one of the other categories of aid.

In one case, a woman who had been receiving aid had $9,000 in an account under her maiden name. Falcone also tells of instances where those about to go on aid have deeded real property to relatives or friends so that it cannot be attached at time of death.

"These are rare instances," he said.

It is difficult to measure the dollars and cents benefit of the collection bureau. Last year the bureau, with an operating budget of $30,000, brought in $160,000.

How much less would have been brought in under the old method where each department was responsible for collection is impossible to say, Falcone said.

Auditor - Controller Michael Mitchell declared that Falcone also provides a valuable service in determining if a case qualifies for county aid. Often investigations prior to medical treatment will show that the patient has substantial insurance or can cover costs and has no business seeking public assistance.

"This provides a substantial saving for the county," Mitchell said.

The bureau work involves considerable filing and bookkeeping. Falcone is assisted by two stenographers, Mrs. Penny Franciska and Mrs. Phyllis Stroh. All accounts are processed through the data processing department.

But it is tough to do the job without a lot of leg work and investigation of individual cases Falcone daily comes face to face with all the quirks of humanity. Once he was even threatened.

That was when he went to see a woman about a payment. The woman's sweetheart, thinking Falcone was a rival, chased the collection agent from the home.

"We meet all kinds," Falcone said.

Teacher Tells Of Bugging By Secret Police

By CHARLIE ENNIS

Terra Linda High School Student

"We were constantly aware of the Secret Police in Warsaw because they made themselves perfectly obvious. Black Mercedes Benzes surrounded the house we stayed in.

"When we talked I could see them bend to tune a radio, so we knew there were microphones planted. I walked into my room once and saw a camera disappear below the window sill."

The stay in the house of a Polish dignitary was only a small part of her journey through Europe and England.

After leaving her job at Sequoia High School in Redwood City, last June, she traveled through eight European countries including two behind the Iron Curtain.

"Teen-agers in England really fit the stereotype we have of them in this country. Boys tend to be outfitted in Beatle type clothes, some sort of denim trouser, heavy belts, high-heeled boots and those workmen's caps or in little boys' suits with narrow ties and pointy shoes," she said.

"I sometimes wasn't sure if I was looking at a boy or a girl." I would say that English girls look better than American girls their age because the English girls do make up their eyes but do not go on to wreck their faces with slabs of brown cream that only looks hideous," she said.

She visited the Warsaw ghetto that the Nasis used as a Jewish concentration camp.

Now marked by a monument, the camp is famous for its uprising when the Jews held off the Germans for several weeks with virtually no food or weapons.

"The day my friends and I visited it, it was pouring rain. We were parked in our car when we saw an old Jew come up to stand in front of the monument. He just stood staring, holding a parcel. His raincoat started to soak through, but he didn't move.

"We wondered if maybe he was one of the few who miraculously escaped. We wondered what must be going through his mind as he stood there. The rain soaked completely through his raincoat, he hadn't moved once, and he turned and walked away through the sandpiles. The picture of this poor old man is just indelible in my memory," Miss Freedman said.

'Payday' Lets Retarded See Money Value

By MAX JENNINGS

LANDER, Wyo. (UPI)—Twice a month, on Wednesdays, it's payday at Wyoming's primary facility for the mentally retarded.

Since it was begun in 1962, despite misgivings on the part of some officials and apprehension on the part of the State Training School at Lander, the "payday" plan has been a burgeoning success.

"When we first started the program, we paid with silver dollars," said Glen Hamilton, then director of the school program at the institution and now director of the Governor's Committee on Mental Retardation.

"That afternoon," he said, "we found silver dollars laying all over the place."

Now, more than two years after the first payday, said school director Dr. Fred W. Heryford, almost every one of the students has an awareness of the value of money. The money no longer is found laying about the grounds of the institution.

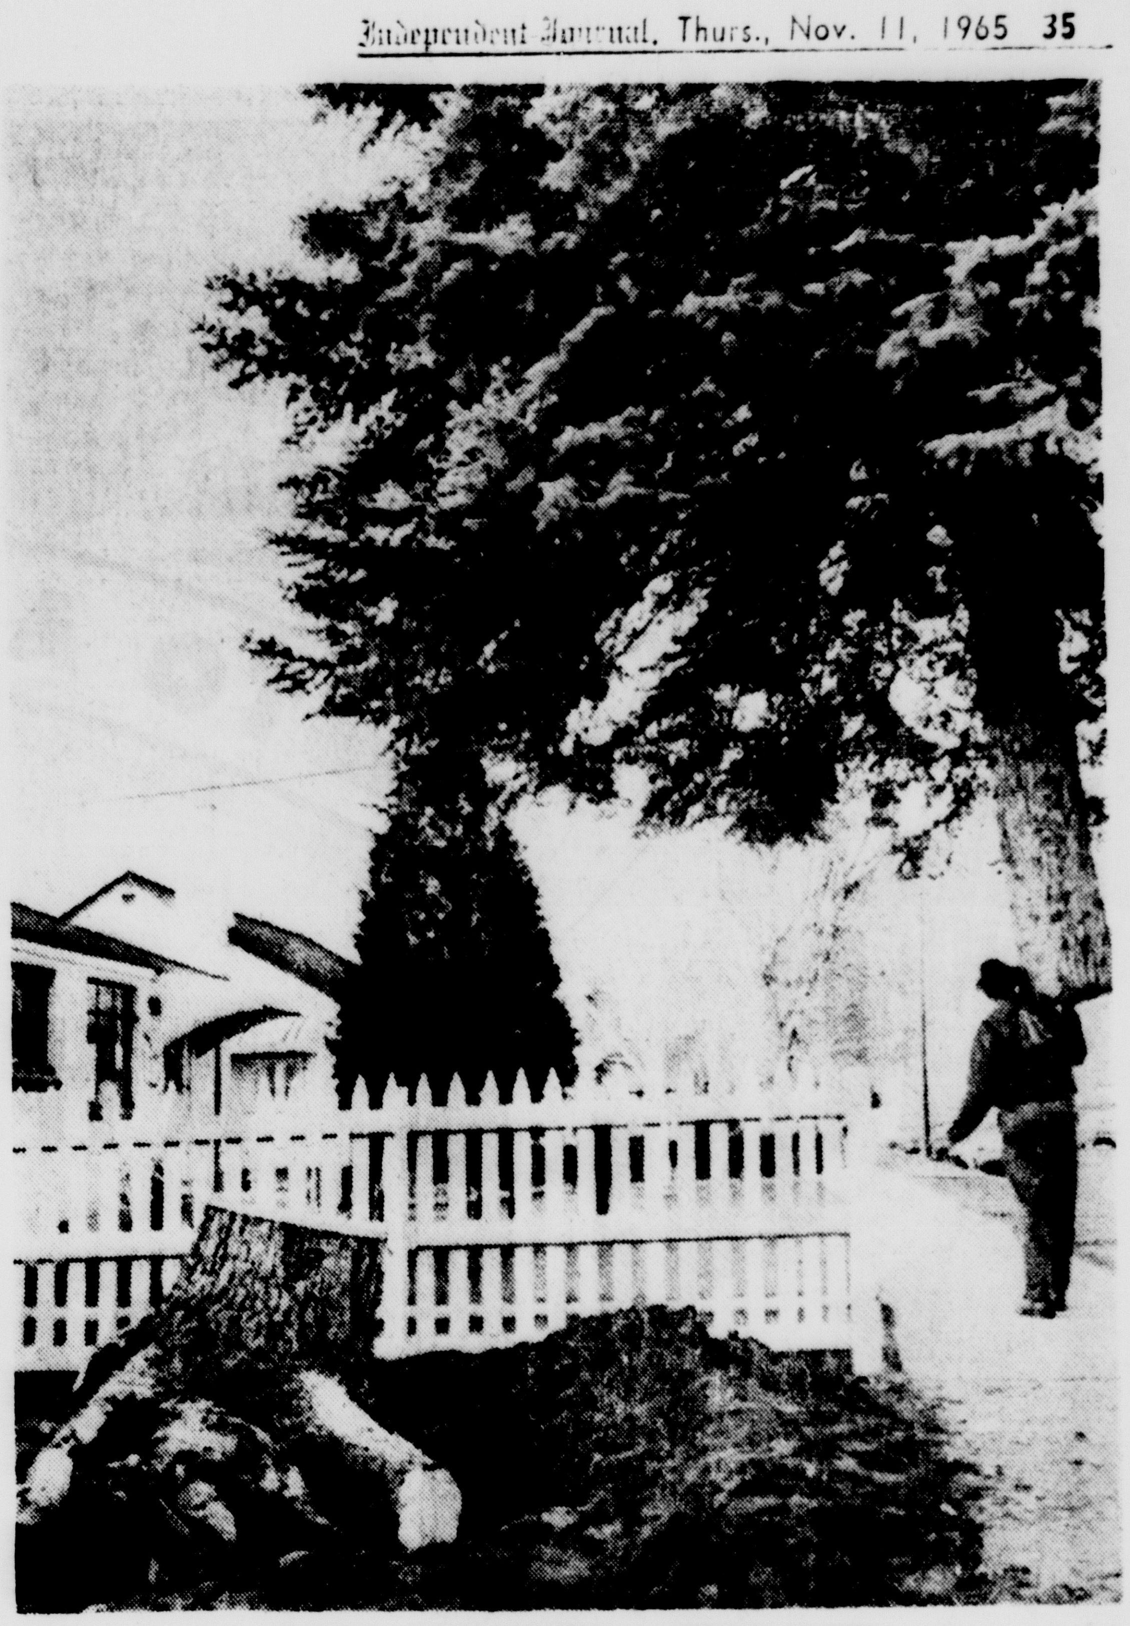
"This has been the most effective tool," Heryford said, "it is the best disciplinary tool we have in the institution."

Some of the ways the retarded children earn their pay include getting along with other pupils, willingness to perform household or ward tasks, personal cleanliness, ability to get along with the attendants and disciplinary problems.

Depending on the student's report, he receives between 25 cents and $3 every pay day.

And, too, Heryford said, the students are required to sign the forms before they are paid.

"This adds another fringe value," he said. "It's an asset to our school program."



TREE SURGEON HERCULES

Indians Getting Touchy About Fake Souvenirs

BY ROBERT E. HUBER

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — Southwest Indians are trying a reverse twist to their old problem of education. They are bent on educating the white man.

That's because these Indians get a little testy when they see tourists buying fake Indian souvenirs in curio shops. It's easy to understand why.

In brochures and in person, Indians are quoting federal laws which say any person who offers for sale goods labeled Indian Products had better have the real thing. Fines can be levied up to $2,000, and imprisonment can be involved.

On top of that, the Indians are trying to point out to tourists who travel New Mexico and Arizona the differences between authentic Indian products and factory produced souvenirs.

Silversmithing is associated generally with Navajos, Hopis and some Pueblo Indians along the Rio Grande in New Mexico. The Zuni Indians produce the finest turquoise work.

Aside from jewelry, Indian blankets are the second most copied craft of the Southwest artisans. But the Navajos have the best solution to the quandry of how to distinguish the real from the fake.

Navajos, they say, don't make rugs. In other words, if the material is light weight, don't buy it. Rugs made by Indians were intended for use on the floors of homes. They are heavy, rugged, and they even scratch bare skin.

The quickest way to spot the genuine item, one Pueblo Indian in Santa Fe said, is by taking a good look at the seller and the price of the item. If they both look cheap, that's probably what they are, he said.

School Votes Allow Absentees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Voters in school elections may use absentee ballots, Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch ruled today.

Lynch said the general election code applies to school as well as other balloting. The attorney general also declared that electioneering is banned 500 feet from the entrance to a polling place.

The rulings were in response to a request by Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie, D-Antioch.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Myasthenia Gravis Can Occur When Nerve Lacks Chemical

Most victims of myasthenia gravis tell a typicial story about their illness. Without warning they begin to have difficulty keeping the eyelids open. This is less noticeable during the first part of the morning and more troublesome as the day goes on. Strength returns with a short rest but the weakness recurs after the lids are held open. Double vision occurs when the eyes are affected.

VAN DELLEN

MORE THAN ONE group of muscles are likely to be involved. Those of the face, jaws, and the swallowing apparatus are also susceptible. The disorder is more serious when the structures concerned with breathing, talking, and swallowing become fatigued. The person may be engaged in conversation when, without warning, he is unable to continue until the muscles are given a chance to recuperate. A similar condition exists when swallowing or chewing. Walking is difficult when the legs are affected and work is almost impossible when the arms tire.

The trouble centers about acetylcholine that is formed at the point where the controlling nerve enters the muscle fiber. Those with myasthenia gravis do not produce this substance or perhaps it is destroyed immediately after the muscle contracts. This chemical is essential for proper muscular activity. No one knows why some develop the condition; the thymus gland under the breastbone is implicated in some, but not all victims.

THE DEGREE of weakness is easily tested by contracting the involved muscles repeatedly. Shutting and opening the eyes in rapid succession is an example. This is done before and after the use of neostigmine because victims of this disease respond promptly and dramatically when this drug is used.

Several good remedies are available and the majority live a long but somewhat restricted life.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

BE SENSIBLE

A. A. M. writes: After an intestinal operation recently, the surgeon told me I could eat anything. But when I eat chocolate, ice cream, fruit juices, and a few other foods I become ill. Will you advise?

REPLY

Common sense should tell you to omit foods that bother you. Substitutes are available but you may need vitamin C tablets to make up for the lack of fruit juices.

PERSISTENT SORE

T. R. writes: A friend of mine keeps removing the scabs from a sore. She claims it will not heal unless she does this. Is this right or wrong?

REPLY

Any lesion that does not heal should be viewed with suspicion because of the possibility that it may be cancerous. The scab is part of the healing process and often protects the sore until the skin covers the lesion.

PROSTATE SURGERY

V. P. writes: Can the prostate grow back after surgery? A man told me he has had three operations and each time it returns.

REPLY

If the prostate is removed, it cannot grow back. But most of the surgical procedures done today consist of removing only that part of the organ causing obstruction. Regrowth, in these circumstances, is possible.

COLOR ADDED

Mrs. Z. writes: When oranges are marked "color added" does this mean the value of the fruit is impaired?

REPLY

No. Some fruits are picked green and color is added to improve eye appeal.

MILK ALLERGY

F. R. writes: Why does milk go through me like a dose of salts?

REPLY

You are allergic or have an idiosyncrasy to milk.

MOIST BETTER

Mrs. V. writes: Is wet or dry heat better in an attack of acute sinus?

REPLY

I prefer wet because moisture has a soothing effect upon the membranes of the upper respiratory passageways.

NONSPECIFIC

E. J. writes: What does a sedimentation test reveal about infection in the body?

REPLY

A high reading usually is associated with infection but this blood test offers no clue on where or what type of infection is present.

THEY TAKE TRADE-INS

When San Geronimo contractor Jess Janssen visited San Rafael's Town and Country Motors yesterday, he decided to test their claim that they would take nearly anything in trade. They passed the test by accepting his 9-year-old horse, Rebel, as part payment on a dump truck. Slapping an improvised sign on the steed's neck, salesmen placed Rebel on the lot. The horse was sold the same day— which was fortunate, because police by that time had pointed out its presence was a violation of a city ordinance.

HEARTBREAK OFFICER

Mark Falcone's Job Pays Off For Taxpayers Of Marin County

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Mark J. Falcone sees a lot of heartbreak.

That is his job, a job that pays off for Marin County taxpayers.

Falcone is revenue officer for Marin County, and as such runs the county government's collection agency.

"Sometimes," Falcone admits, "it breaks you up."

He cited the case of a girl who suffered a serious head injury in a traffic accident and was three months in the hospital before she died. Her parents were left with hospital and medical bills totaling $10,000.

"They'll never be able to pay it," Falcone said. "But they want to pay. Most people want to pay."

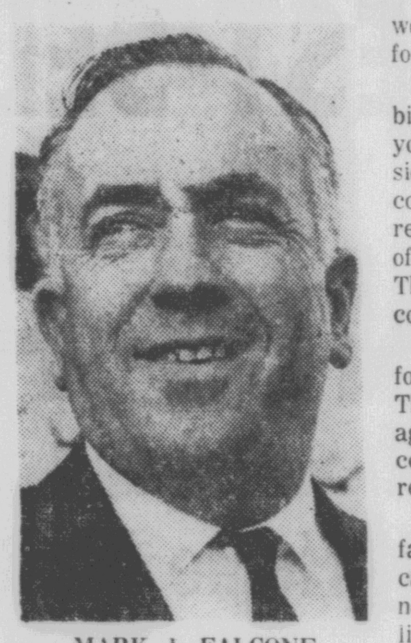
Falcone's office, a bureau in the auditor-controller's department, was created in 1962, consolidating all the collection efforts of various departments of county government. Most of the collections are for medical aid, probation, mental hygiene and general relief.

How is a person who qualifies for county medical aid in the first place expected to pay the bill later?

Falcone explained the many conditions that arise where the county will expect repayment. Sometimes a patient will find employment after treatment, often there is insurance that will cover the bill, or a responsible relative who can be billed. Also the county can settle its bills with the estate after death.

Another method of assuring payment is through liens on real property. Here the county collects either at probate or when the property is sold.

No bill is ever written off the books, although many are classified as "inactive," Falcone said.



MARK J. FALCONE
He meets all kinds

He said $2.9 million is technically due the county for aid rendered during the past five years. If you wanted to go back further, you could probably run the figure up to $10 million, said Falcon.

But, as a practical matter, only about $600,000 can be considered "accounts receivable," Falcone said.

How are such bills incurred by residents of Marin?

Medical aid accounts for the biggest share, about $1.7 million in the last five years. Mental hygiene accounts, the bills from state mental institutions, come to $49,000. Payment due for probation services totals $430,000, and payment on general relief comes to $762,000.

State hospitals, such as Sonoma State Hospital which takes care of mentally retarded children, bill the county at the rate of $20 a month for each Marin child. Falcone must collect this from the parents or other responsible relatives.

The rate was set under a 75-year-old state law. Actual cost to the state for the care is $397 a month. There are now 147 Marin children at Sonoma State Hospital and only 17 of these involve collection problems for Falcone.

Adults who go to Napa State Hospital run up higher bills. Sometimes Falcone goes to the patients themselves, after they are released, to get reimbursement. The cost here is $10.20 a day, so bills can run high in a short time.

"It is considered good therapy for the patients to ask them to pay what they can," Falcone said.

Often it is up to Falcone to judge how much can be paid and what the payment program should be. Sometimes, if the county must take a case to court, the judge will set the payment schedule.

With probation cases, the probation officer on the case sets the arrangement for payment. Falcone thinks this should be put in his discretion, leaving the probation officer to work on the rehabilitation effort.

Parents of juveniles are billed $5 a day for lodging of youths in juvenile hall, considerably under the actual cost. There is also a billing to responsible relatives for care of children in foster homes. The charges here vary, Falcone said.

The state charges for California Youth Authority camps. These again are charged against the county, with Falcone responsible to seek what reimbursement possible.

The only category of welfare payments that the county can try to collect is that money paid out under general relief. This fund of strictly county money (no state or federal allocations involved) is usually used to help needy until they are qualified under one of the other categories of aid.

In one case, a woman who had been receiving aid had $9,000 in an account under her maiden name. Falcone also tells of instances where those about to go on aid have deeded real property to relatives or friends so that it cannot be attached at time of death.

"These are rare instances," he said.

It is difficult to measure the dollars and cents benefit of the collection bureau. Last year the bureau, with an operating budget of $30,000, brought in $160,000.

How much less would have been brought in under the old method where each department was responsible for collection is impossible to say, Falcone said.

Auditor - Controller Michael Mitchell declared that Falcone also provides a valuable service in determining if a case qualifies for county aid. Often investigations prior to medical treatment will show that the patient has substantial insurance or can cover costs and has no business seeking public assistance.

"This provides a substantial saving for the county," Mitchell said.

The bureau work involves considerable filing and bookkeeping. Falcone is assisted by two stenographers, Mrs. Penny Franciska and Mrs. Phyllis Stroh. All accounts are processed through the data processing department.

But it is tough to do the job without a lot of leg work and investigation of individual cases Falcone daily comes face to face with all the quirks of humanity. Once he was even threatened.

That was when he went to see a woman about a payment. The woman's sweetheart, thinking Falcone was a rival, chased the collection agent from the home.

"We meet all kinds," Falcone said.

Teacher Tells Of Bugging By Secret Police

By CHARLIE ENNIS

Terra Linda High School Student

"We were constantly aware of the Secret Police in Warsaw because they made themselves perfectly obvious. Black Mercedes Benzes surrounded the house we stayed in.

"When we talked I could see them bend to tune a radio, so we knew there were microphones planted. I walked into my room once and saw a camera disappear below the window sill."

The stay in the house of a Polish dignitary was only a small part of her journey through Europe and England.

After leaving her job at Sequoia High School in Redwood City, last June, she traveled through eight European countries including two behind the Iron Curtain.

"Teen-agers in England really fit the stereotype we have of them in this country. Boys tend to be outfitted in Beatle type clothes, some sort of denim trouser, heavy belts, high-heeled boots and those workmen's caps or in little boys' suits with narrow ties and pointy shoes," she said.

"I sometimes wasn't sure if I was looking at a boy or a girl." I would say that English girls look better than American girls their age because the English girls do make up their eyes but do not go on to wreck their faces with slabs of brown cream that only looks hideous," she said.

She visited the Warsaw ghetto that the Nasis used as a Jewish concentration camp.

Now marked by a monument, the camp is famous for its uprising when the Jews held off the Germans for several weeks with virtually no food or weapons.

"The day my friends and I visited it, it was pouring rain. We were parked in our car when we saw an old Jew come up to stand in front of the monument. He just stood staring, holding a parcel. His raincoat started to soak through, but he didn't move.

"We wondered if maybe he was one of the few who miraculously escaped. We wondered what must be going through his mind as he stood there. The rain soaked completely through his raincoat, he hadn't moved once, and he turned and walked away through the sandpiles. The picture of this poor old man is just indelible in my memory," Miss Freedman said.

'Payday' Lets Retarded See Money Value

By MAX JENNINGS

LANDER, Wyo. (UPI)—Twice a month, on Wednesdays, it's payday at Wyoming's primary facility for the mentally retarded.

Since it was begun in 1962, despite misgivings on the part of some officials and apprehension on the part of the State Training School at Lander, the "payday" plan has been a burgeoning success.

"When we first started the program, we paid with silver dollars," said Glen Hamilton, then director of the school program at the institution and now director of the Governor's Committee on Mental Retardation.

"That afternoon," he said, "we found silver dollars laying all over the place."

Now, more than two years after the first payday, said school director Dr. Fred W. Heryford, almost every one of the students has an awareness of the value of money. The money no longer is found laying about the grounds of the institution.

"This has been the most effective tool," Heryford said, "it is the best disciplinary tool we have in the institution."

Some of the ways the retarded children earn their pay include getting along with other pupils, willingness to perform household or ward tasks, personal cleanliness, ability to get along with the attendants and disciplinary problems.

Depending on the student's report, he receives between 25 cents and $3 every pay day.

And, too, Heryford said, the students are required to sign the forms before they are paid.

"This adds another fringe value," he said. "It's an asset to our school program."

Indians Getting Touchy About Fake Souvenirs

BY ROBERT E. HUBER

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — Southwest Indians are trying a reverse twist to their old problem of education. They are bent on educating the white man.

That's because these Indians get a little testy when they see tourists buying fake Indian souvenirs in curio shops. It's easy to understand why.

In brochures and in person, Indians are quoting federal laws which say any person who offers for sale goods labeled Indian Products had better have the real thing. Fines can be levied up to $2,000, and imprisonment can be involved.

On top of that, the Indians are trying to point out to tourists who travel New Mexico and Arizona the differences between authentic Indian products and factory produced souvenirs.

Silversmithing is associated generally with Navajos, Hopis and some Pueblo Indians along the Rio Grande in New Mexico. The Zuni Indians produce the finest turquoise work.

Aside from jewelry, Indian blankets are the second most copied craft of the Southwest artisans. But the Navajos have the best solution to the quandry of how to distinguish the real from the fake.

Navajos, they say, don't make rugs. In other words, if the material is light weight, don't buy it. Rugs made by Indians were intended for use on the floors of homes. They are heavy, rugged, and they even scratch bare skin.

The quickest way to spot the genuine item, one Pueblo Indian in Santa Fe said, is by taking a good look at the seller and the price of the item. If they both look cheap, that's probably what they are, he said.

School Votes Allow Absentees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Voters in school elections may use absentee ballots, Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch ruled today.

Lynch said the general election code applies to school as well as other balloting. The attorney general also declared that electioneering is banned 500 feet from the entrance to a polling place.

The rulings were in response to a request by Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie, D-Antioch.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Myasthenia Gravis Can Occur When Nerve Lacks Chemical

VAN DELLEN

Most victims of myasthenia gravis tell a typicial story about their illness. Without warning they begin to have difficulty keeping the eyelids open. This is less noticeable during the first part of the morning and more troublesome as the day goes on. Strength returns with a short rest but the weakness recurs after the lids are held open. Double vision occurs when the eyes are affected.

MORE THAN ONE group of muscles are likely to be involved. Those of the face, jaws, and the swallowing apparatus are also susceptible. The disorder is more serious when the structures concerned with breathing, talking, and swallowing become fatigued. The person may be engaged in conversation when, without warning, he is unable to continue until the muscles are given a chance to recuperate. A similar condition exists when swallowing or chewing. Walking is difficult when the legs are affected and work is almost impossible when the arms tire.

The trouble centers about acetylcholine that is formed at the point where the controlling nerve enters the muscle fiber. Those with myasthenia gravis do not produce this substance or perhaps it is destroyed immediately after the muscle contracts. This chemical is essential for proper muscular activity. No one knows why some develop the condition; the thymus gland under the breastbone is implicated in some, but not all victims.

THE DEGREE of weakness is easily tested by contracting the involved muscles repeatedly. Shutting and opening the eyes in rapid succession is an example. This is done before and after the use of neostigmine because victims of this disease respond promptly and dramatically when this drug is used.

Several good remedies are available and the majority live a long but somewhat restricted life.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

BE SENSIBLE

A. A. M. writes: After an intestinal operation recently, the surgeon told me I could eat anything. But when I eat chocolate, ice cream, fruit juices, and a few other foods I become ill. Will you advise?

REPLY

Common sense should tell you to omit foods that bother you. Substitutes are available but you may need vitamin C tablets to make up for the lack of fruit juices.

PERSISTENT SORE

T. R. writes: A friend of mine keeps removing the scabs from a sore. She claims it will not heal unless she does this. Is this right or wrong?

REPLY

Any lesion that does not heal should be viewed with suspicion because of the possibility that it may be cancerous. The scab is part of the healing process and often protects the sore until the skin covers the lesion.

PROSTATE SURGERY

V. P. writes: Can the prostate grow back after surgery? A man told me he has had three operations and each time it returns.

REPLY

If the prostate is removed, it cannot grow back. But most of the surgical procedures done today consist of removing only that part of the organ causing obstruction. Regrowth, in these circumstances, is possible.

COLOR ADDED

Mrs. Z. writes: When oranges are marked "color added" does this mean the value of the fruit is impaired?

REPLY

No. Some fruits are picked green and color is added to improve eye appeal.

MILK ALLERGY

F. R. writes: Why does milk go through me like a dose of salts?

REPLY

You are allergic or have an idiosyncrasy to milk.

MOIST BETTER

Mrs. V. writes: Is wet or dry heat better in an attack of acute sinus?

REPLY

I prefer wet because moisture has a soothing effect upon the membranes of the upper respiratory passageways.

NONSPECIFIC

E. J. writes: What does a sedimentation test reveal about infection in the body?

REPLY

A high reading usually is associated with infection but this blood test offers no clue on where or what type of infection is present.

Four-Horned Bull Taken From Show

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you see a Brown Swiss bull with four horns and three eyes, don't call a psychiatrist or an optometrist. It might be Elmer.

Elmer was reported stolen yesterday from a carnival. His owner, Harvey Williams, 60, told officers the animal was on display earlier yesterday but that his van and Elmer later disappeared.

Williams said he valued the bull at $25,000.

Four-Horned Bull Taken From Show

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you see a Brown Swiss bull with four horns and three eyes, don't call a psychiatrist or an optometrist. It might be Elmer.

Elmer was reported stolen yesterday from a carnival. His owner, Harvey Williams, 60, told officers the animal was on display earlier yesterday but that his van and Elmer later disappeared.

Williams said he valued the bull at $25,000.

Down To The Wire In Marin Grid Race

The race for the Marin Athletic League football team championship and individual rushing title will go right down to the wire this weekend with Drake and Novato dominating the center of attention on the league's final day of play.

Tied for first place with 4-1 records going into the final games, Drake and Novato will be under pressure to win. Drake plays Redwood (2-2-1) Saturday afternoon, 1:30, at Kentfield while Novato meets Marin Catholic (0-5) Saturday night, 8 o'clock, also at Kentfield.

The final weekend starts tomorrow night, 8 o'clock, at San Rafael High where Tamalpais (3-2) and Terra Linda (2-2-1) battle for third place. San Rafael (2-4) finished its league schedule last Saturday and plays Petaluma in practice tomorrow night at Petaluma.

While the team championship or co-championship will be decided at Kentfield Saturday, there and then too will be decided the individual rushing championship in the spirited battle between Novato's Dick Otis and Drake's Dean Lazzarini.

Otis has 599 yards in five games to Lazzarini's 590, so fans can expect both of them to do considerable ball carrying in their final high school games. Otis will be seeking his second straight rushing title, having won the honor last year with 570 yards to Lazz' runner-up 522. With fewer carries over the past two years, Lazzarini, a break-away type runner, has the better average per carry of the two super stars.

In the final games, Lazzarini's job would seem to be the tougher of the two. Redwood, his final opponent, ranks fourth in defense against rushing while Marin Catholic is last in that category.

Lazzarini is the favorite to win the individual scoring title. He has 44 points to date, a 17-point lead over his nearest challenger.

And Novato end Tom Corder appears headed for the pass-catching crown with 15 catches for 299 yards, a 20-yard average per catch, and three touchdowns.

MARIN VS. SPARKLING SHASTA '11' TOMORROW

College of Marin Tars, hoping to salvage some glory from a disappointing season, host the first place Shasta Knights tomorrow at Kentfield, 8 p.m., in their next to last game of the season.

Marin, 2-4-1 overall and 1-2 in Golden Valley Conference, will be meeting a Shasta team that has a 3-0 conference mark. The Knights can clinch at least a tie for the title with a victory tomorrow.

Marin has one game remaining on the schedule — its traditional Big Game against Santa Rosa's Bear Cubs Nov. 19 at Kentfield.

Mays: MVP Great, But I'd Rather Win Pennant

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Shy Sam So Well Remembered: Marin's Greatest Athlete

Samuel Blake Chapman is 49 years old now. There's snow on the thinning roof, but there is still that physique of a great athlete. Upon meeting him for the first time you would say to yourself, "I'll bet that guy played a lot of ball."

And you would be so right. But, in conversation, S. B. Chapman of 32 Corte Morada, Greenbrae, would lead you to believe he led the Patsy League in fumbles and the Greenbrae Goblins in errors. They didn't call him Shy Sam for nothing.

I THINK ol' Sambo actually would blush if someone told you in his presence that he was the greatest athlete ever to set spike or cleat on Marin County real estate. Or that he stormed out of Tiburon and Tamalpais High School to become an All-Time, All-American grid great at University of California. Or that he then went on to grace major league outfields for 14 long, hot summers, mostly with Connie Mack and the Philadelphia Athletics.

SEVERAL YEARS ago I interviewed Sam for a magazine piece and wound up with enough material to fill a whole sentence. He also leads the league in reticence. Finally, in frustration, I had to dig through a trunkful of mementoes saved by Jody Chapman to learn that her hubby was quite an All-American and quite a big leaguer.

UNITED PRESS International's Scott Baillie interviewed Sam the other day and encountered the same problem. Rather than discuss his plusses, Sam, now an inspector for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, wanted to tell about his few minuses, like his first day with the A's when his error lost the game, or when Cal's unbeaten grid team of 1937 beat Stanford in the Big Game," . . . but the one thing I remember was dropping a perfect pass in the end zone." And when asked about the time in 1939 when he hit three home runs, a triple, double and single in two days, he shrugged, "That was a few years ago. I've forgotten about it."

In 1937, when he led Cal through an unbeaten season and on to a 13-0 victory over Alabama in the Rose Bowl, a news clipping rated him the best back on the coast and ". . . the key man in the Cal attack, whose blocking, punting, ball carrying and passing won loud plaudits throughout the nation."

TY COBB once wrote to Connie Mack: "You couldn't go wrong signing this kid." It was the first time the Georgia Peach ever recommended a player to the major leagues. Sam signed for $8,500 in 1938 and did not play minor league ball until 1952 when he played out his final three season as a Coast Leaguer at Oakland.

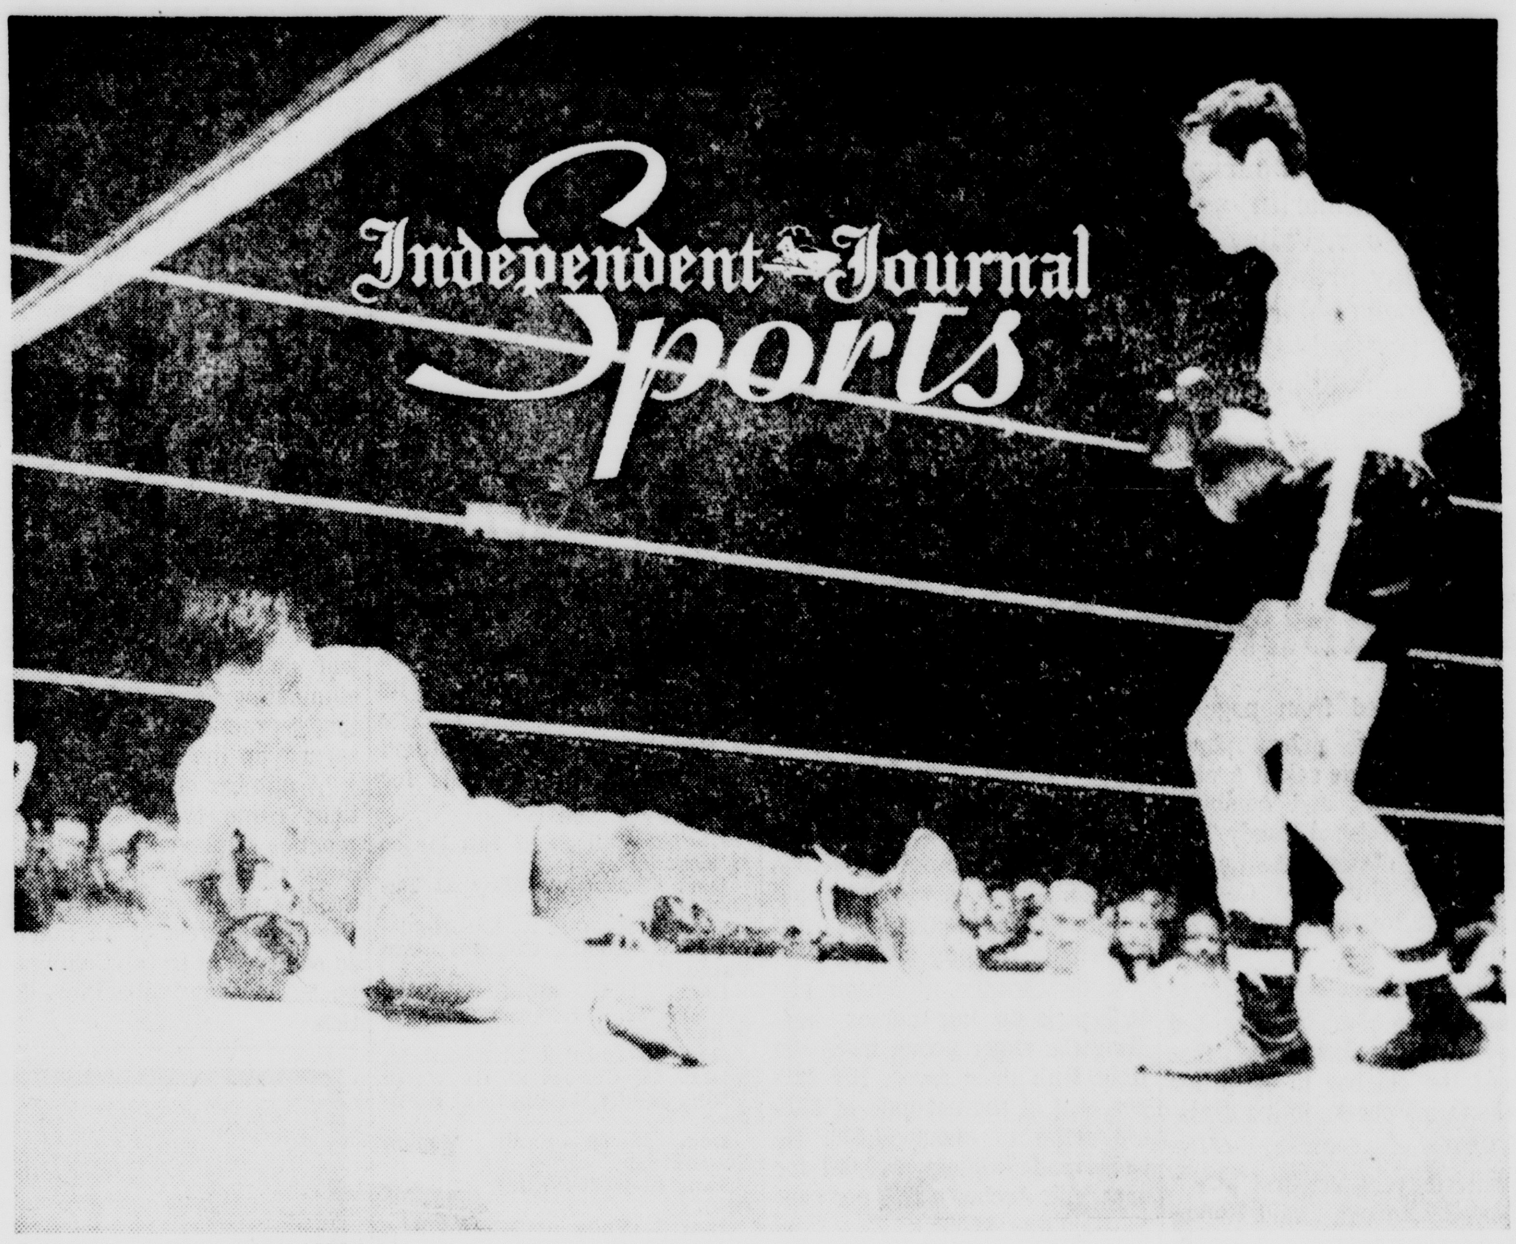
In 1946 he hit three home runs in a double-header and that same year hit a grand slam that beat the great Bobby Feller.

SAM'S CREDENTIALS are long and impressive. But don't ask him. He blushes easily.

ONE LAST NOTE: Tam High named a football stadium after its most illustrious athletic alumnus. And while Sam was still playing baseball a decade or so ago, wreckers were razing Sam Chapman Stadium at Mill Valley.

He had outlived a stadium, which seems to describe Samuel Blake Chapman. Indestructible.



SUGAR SPILLED—Sugar Ray Robinson, again trying for a comeback, is floored by Joey Archer in the fourth round of their fight last night in Pittsburgh, Pa. Sugar Ray took a count of nine and got up to finish the bout, but Archer was the winner by a unanimous decision. (UPI Telephoto)

Sugar Ray Calls It Quits

By JACK HAND

PITTSBURGH, pa. (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, five-times the middleweight boxing champion, said today he is quitting the ring for good.

The veteran of 199 professional bouts announced his decision as an aftermath to last night's one-sided loss to young Joey Archer of New York in the Civic Arena here.

"I hate to go on too long campaigning for another chance," Robinson said. "I had high hopes of fighting for the championship again if I had beaten Archer. But I didn't win."

It is Archer's turn to scream "we want Dick Tiger." Chances are he'll get that shot at the middleweight crown. Teddy Brenner, the Madison Square Garden matchmaker, wants to make it for March in New York.

Archer knocked down Robinson for a nine-count in the fourth round to the surprise of the Civic Arena crowd of 9,023 that paid a gross gate of $40,91.3 He rocked the tired body of the faded ex-champion time after time and almost put him away in the 10th round.

All three officials voted for him — referee Buck McTiernan 48-41, judge Ernie Sesto 49-40 and judge George Lupinacci 50-39. The AP card was 48-41.

When the final bell rang the cheers were for Sugar Ray, who claims to be 44 although the record books carry his age at 45. They weren't applauding because they thought Robinson had won.

They were paying a tribute to a gallant stand by an old man who was still trying to knock out the kid with one big punch. He had only one big round, the third.

The truth of the matter is that

WESTBURY, N.Y. — Ambro Flight, $3, virtually wrapped up the 3-year-old championship with an easy 2½-length victory in the $81,386.40 Dexter Cup at Roosevelt Raceway.

Seals Suffer First Shutout Of Season

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Seals, after a loss to Pittsburgh of the American Hockey League, resume Western Hockey League schedule tomorrow against Vancouver.

The Canucks could pull even with the Seals with a victory in San Francisco's Cow Palace. The Seals are in third place with 10 points an the Canucks in fourth with eight.

Pittsburgh haned the Seals their first shutout of the season last night, 4-0. Norm Beaudin put the Hornets in the lead in the second period with a 40-foot slapper.

It was the first AHL team San Francisco had faced this season in the to leagues' interlocking schedule. The results of the interleague games count in the standings in each league.

The loss left the Seals with a 4-4-2 record.

Second Top Award For Giants' Great

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Just by winning the 1965 National League Most Valuable Player Award, Willie Mays has set another record.

For it was 11 years ago that the San Francisco Giants' centerfielder last captured the MVP. And no player in baseball history has had to wait that long between.

WILLIE MAYS
Most Valuable

Joe DiMaggio, another famous center fielder from San Francisco, once waited eight years between MVP's when he was with the New York Yankees.

"It's just wonderful to be chosen with so many good ball players around," said Mays when notified he had won yesterday. "It's especially good because we didn't win a pennant. But I'd rather have won the pennant than the award."

The 34-year-old Mays, whose Giants finished two games behind Los Angeles, polled 224 points in the balloting announced in Boston by the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Sandy Koufax, the left-handed unanimous Cy Young Award choice as Most Valuable Pitcher, got 177 points for his 26-8 record and two Series victories. Maury Wills, the Dodger shortstop, received 164 points on the ballots from two writers in each of the 10 National League cities.

Ken Boyer, 1964 MVP while with the St. Louis Cardinals, got no votes and no points.

ALL BALLOTS

Mays, only player named on all ballots, received nine first place votes, 10 seconds and one third in becoming the fifth man to win the Award twice.

Koufax, the 1963 MVP, received six firsts, five seconds and five thirds.

Wills, whose selection as 1962 MVP sent Mays' adherents howling in the last Giants' pennant year, polled five firsts, three seconds and seven thirds for stealing 94 bases and batting .286.

Mays led the majors with a personal high of 52 homers and led the National League with 360 total bases and a .645 slugging average. He batted across 112 runs and hit for a .317 average.

"Beating Koufax is a great thrill," Mays. "I thought I'd be a candidate because this was one of my best years and I didn't think I'd be left out."

Mays carried the Giants through August by hitting 17 homers, a league record. San Francisco then won 14 in a row in September and took over first place only to fall back later in the race of a 13-game Los Angeles victory string.

Home run No. 52 came on the last day of the season and set a club record. It left him with 505 career homers, only six less than the National League mark of 511 by ex-Giant Mel Ott.

"I needed those rests this year," said "I'll need more rest next year.

"I was tired at the end of the season. It was a real strain that last day," he continued. "All I was trying to do was hit a home run."

HELPED YOUNGSTERS

Mays led the league in 1954 with a .345 batting average and also hit 41 homers for the pennant winning New York Giants. But he feel he made more of a contribution to the 1965 team because he also helped younger players.

"Any time a player hits 52 homers, he figures he has had a good season," said Mays. "Why 30 to 40 homers is doing good in this league. When I hit 52, I felt I had to be pretty lucky."

Of his 52 homers, Mays said the most significant was the one he hit Sept. 14 in Houston. After fouling off a number of pitches, Mays hit a 3-2 delivery into the left field stands with two out in the ninth inning, a man on base and the Giants two runs behind. San Francisco won 7-5 in the next inning.

"I don't believe in goals," said Mays about his future. "You start worrying about goals and you don't do anything for the team. You play well and you get the records anyway."

One goal Mays could achieve is to become the highest paid player in baseball history. He now earns close to $110,000 and Ted Williams once drew $125,000 for a season with the Boston Red Sox.

The 'Blue Drip' Invades Stanford

Before the season started, if anyone had taken a poll of the UCLA campus as to what they thought the "Rose Bowl" was, 40 per cent of the student body might have answered that it was a deep dish in the living room where Grandma kept cut flowers.

The other 60 per cent would have described it as a mythical place where a football team from Michigan or Illinois annually chopped up a team from the Pacific northwest.

Then they would have changed the subject to basketball, or the new medical wing of the university—or the weather.

THERE WAS a movement afoot for a time to get a new football stadium built on UCLA's campus to avoid the necessity of the student body having to get up early on Saturday to go downtown and watch the team beaten, but hotter heads prevailed, and suggested "Why don't we wait a few years and the Orpheum Theatre will be big enough?" It was added that, if the student body got any more apathetic, they'd have to hold the game in the school library to get an audience.

FOOTBALL HAS always run a poor second to education at UCLA. Only in infrequent coaching administrations did the school have 11 people who were better with a football than a microscope—or who knew that the War of the Roses was not run by Woody Hayes.

They never call the team the "Red Tide," the "Purple Puddle," the "Brown Wave," the "Thundering Herd," or any of the other ringing alliterations selected by other football schools. For one reason. Usually, UCLA was more like a "Pink T," or the "Thundering Birds," the "Puddle—." The Red Tide was coming from its nose. If the student body rose to chant "we're No. 1," they meant in chemistry —or interior decoration.

IN SHORT, they were settling into a nice comfortable academic rut. The faculty was all but purring. The deemphasizers were studying plane schedules to Boston and New Haven and dreaming of going to the Yale Bowl instead of the Rose Bowl. They wondered if Ivy could be made to grow clear across the country. They were checking to see whether Harvard still scheduled football.

J. THOMPSON Prothro changed all that—poisoned the Ivy, got the cheerleaders practicing something besides "hold that line!," sent the girls scurrying for their short skirts and pom-pons, and made career football players who had already bought their ticket for points north and east to pause and wonder whether they had made the right move. Perhaps, all they needed was the Wilshire bus.

COACH PROTHRO took a a squad which had lost six of its last seven games and which had given up 147 points in five of those games. How he convinced them they could play football has to rank as the greatest snow job since 1888, and Tommy became known in the trade as the "Abdominable Snowman" which (or whom), by the way, he somewhat resembles. It was freely perdicted that Tommy was so full of snow that when the spring sun came there would be nothing left of him but a fewpieces of charcoal buttons and a corn-cob pipe. The rest of him would be running down the sidewalk in a stream.

COLDLY, TOMMY is in a rut, too. If he wins two more games —which he just might if his team doesn't sit down and try to figure out what they're doing right—he'll be the first modern coach to take two different teams to the Rose Bowl in successive years. They may just tell him to stay there.

We may have to cast around now for a suitable descriptive nickname for the squad, the "Blue Drip," the "Golden Glob," the "Blue Blot," the "Hammering Horde" — something to suggest Attila the Hun in cleats, not just a bunch of kids who are good in spelling.

THE "GLOB" beat the Washington Huskies' Purple Gang the other afternoon in a game that was so twosided, the final gun was the turning point.

UCLA sometimes seemed to be in a unique "pass-prevent" defense — a 4-4-3. Sherman's statue in the park had more lateral movement than the "deep three" who more often looked not only deep but buried.

THE SCOREBOARD looked like a bank clearance. The Huskies got their first score before the coin came down, but the Bruins—pardon me, the Blue Blot—won because Washington's quarterback gave a Heisman Trophy performance. For sheer versatility, it's hard to match a man who can complete 21 passes—three of them to total strangers, i.e., UCLA Bruins. This more than made up for the 24 first downs in the 509 yards rushing and passing Washington otherwise made. The Bruins should have given him the game ball.

Instead, they gave it to Prothro. After all, he's the only one who knows the way to the Rose Bowl.

Next stop is at Palo Alto this Saturday against the Stanford Indians.

Raiders To Juggle The Lineup

OAKLAND (UPI)— Coach Al Davis is hinting that he will juggle his lineup a bit when Oakland takes its 5-3-1 record against Eastern Division leader Buffalo here Sunday.

One of those likely to be replaced is rookie halfback Larry Todd, a surprise starter against Houston last week who gained 149 yards from scrimmage.

But Buffalo has permitted less than 80 yards per game on the ground while their pass defense has leaked 211 yards per contest.

Davis apparently feels that the 192-pound Todd will have trouble moving against men like Tom Sestak, 270, Jim Dunaway, 280, Roland McDole, 275, and Tom Day, 265.

He indicates Clem Daniels will shift back to halfback ith Al Miller, a good pass blocker, going at fullback.

GRID CHECK TO AID STUDENTS

Sugar Ray Nears End Of Fabulous Career

Robinson's once potent punch has lost its zip. He raked Archer with left hooks and combinations as he punished Randy Turpin, Gene Fullmer, Jake Lamotta, Rocky Graziano, Carmen Basilio and all the others in the good old days.

Nothing nappened. Archer shook off the bombs and pecked away with that stiff left jab that forced the old boy to apply ice packs to his cheeks in his dressing room.

"I tried from the first punch to knock him out," said Robinson, a forlorn figure on a bench. "The knockdown was the difference. He caught me off balance with a right hand."

Is this the end?

"You'll have to ask my manager," said Robinson pointing to George Gainford.

"We'll decide in a couple of days," said the sweaty Emperor. Later, in a dark corridor, Gainford nodded his head and said, "Age catches up to everybody."

Around the corner and down the hall, the Archer boys, Joey and his brother, Jimmy, who acts as his manager, were yelling for Tiger. But first, Joey had a kind word for Ray.

"He's still a great champion," said Joey. "He went out like a champ. I can see why they said he was so great. I learned something fighting him."

If he chooses, Robinson can still pick up fair purses, handling the eager young men who fight with their faces. His 22½ per cent of the net gate of $34,802 came to about $7,830. He once made almost $500,000 for one fight. Archer's 27½ per cent payday was $9,560.

It was Robinson's 14th fight of the year and his fifth defeat. People like Stan Harrington (twice), Fred Hernandez and Memo Ayon have beaten him. The crowd still remembers the Sugar Ray who started his pro career in 1940 when super fighters like Joe Louis, Billy Conn, Fritzie Zivic and Lew Jenkins were champions.

When Ray throws his hook or pulls the trigger on the right, they still expect to see the other man fall. Youngsters like Archer just walk in and start belting back.

Sugar Ray vs. Joey Archer in 1940? Why, Joey was only two years old then. But this is 1965. The crowd still cheers and grown men scramble for autographs. There is only one big trouble — the judges vote for the other guy.

BABY SITTING PROBLEM

Early AFL Draft Creates A Furor

NEW YORK (AP) — Seeking to solve what it calls a baby-sitting problem, the American Football League has set Nov. 20 for its college draft and once again has incurred the rath of college officials.

As a result of the AFL move yesterday, the National League says it may be forced to change its mind and follow the younger league in holding an early draft.

The AFL action, announced by Commissioner Joe Foss, ignited the college-pro controversy all over again. The dispute raged last year over alleged secret drafts, player-hiding, early signings and double signings.

Following that extended battle, both pro leagues told the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. they would refrain from signing players before their eligibility had ended. The NCAA also asked that the drafts be held no earlier than Nov. 27, the last big Saturday of college football.

Foss said Nov. 20 was selected for to reasons.

"First, it is the day on which a majority of college teams complete their schedules," he said. "And, further, I personally feel that drafting on the 20th will go a long ways toward eliminating so-called baby-sitting practices which have sprung up the last to years.

"A number of unsavory situations came to light from the practice of players being hidden away for several days prior to the last to drafts. I think it's in the best interest of all that we do our best to try and eliminate an increasingly unhealthy situation."

But James Corbett of Louisiana State, chairman of the NCAA committee on pro relations, didn't take that view.

"The AFL action," he said, "makes a mockery of that league's agreement with the NCAA and its member collegs. A draft as early as Nov. 20 can only be a completely negative morale factor since there will be increased pressure on the drafted player, on his team and on his college — at exactly the wrong time."

Foss, however, said the AFL would not violate the NCAA's primary concern over early signings.

"We just want a chance to contact the players and make our sales pitch," he added. "We understand the NFL has made elaborate plans again for baby-sitting with prospects and we want to get the chance to talk with these prospects."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL didn't say anything about the baby-sitting charges but he did say the league tentatively is planning its draft for Nov. 27, "in accordance with the wishes of colleges and universities.

"However, we may be forced to draft much sooner if others fail to honor requests."

An AFL spokesman said it had been learned that the NFL spent $150,000 on baby-sitting last year and was planning to spend $250,000 this year.

"The NCAA hasn't taken a stand on baby-sitting," the spokesman said. "It cost us some real good ballplayers last year. You try to sign a player, but you can't find him. Then when you do find him, he's already signed."

Both leagues held their drafts last year on Nov. 28, the last big day of the college season.

Terra Linda, Redwood Tie For 'C' Title

The Trojans of Terra Linda whipped Novato 30-16 and Redwood dumped Tamalpais 44-27 yesterday in final games of the season. The triumphs gave the co-champs 10-2 records for the season.

Terra Linda was in control throughout the game yesterday on its own court. Bob Maxwell and Gary Krambs shared high scoring honors with 10 points each.

The Little Giants of Redwood breezed to victory in their game also, leading 29-14 at half. Tim Hart and Andy McIlroy shared high scoring honors for Redwood with 11 points apiece.

Down To The Wire In Marin Grid Race

The race for the Marin Athletic League football team championship and individual rushing title will go right down to the wire this weekend with Drake and Novato dominating the center of attention on the league's final day of play.

Tied for first place with 4-1 records going into the final games, Drake and Novato will be under pressure to win. Drake plays Redwood (2-2-1) Saturday afternoon, 1:30, at Kentfield while Novato meets Marin Catholic (0-5) Saturday night, 8 o'clock, also at Kentfield.

The final weekend starts tomorrow night, 8 o'clock, at San Rafael High where Tamalpais (3-2) and Terra Linda (2-2-1) battle for third place. San Rafael (2-4) finished its league schedule last Saturday and plays Petaluma in practice tomorrow night at Petaluma.

While the team championship or co-championship will be decided at Kentfield Saturday, there and then too will be decided the individual rushing championship in the spirited battle between Novato's Dick Otis and Drake's Dean Lazzarini.

Otis has 599 yards in five games to Lazzarini's 590, so fans can expect both of them to do considerable ball carrying in their final high school games. Otis will be seeking his second straight rushing title, having won the honor last year with 570 yards to Lazz' runner-up 522. With fewer carries over the past two years, Lazzarini, a breakaway type runner, has the better average per carry of the two super stars.

In the final games, Lazzarini's job would seem to be the tougher of the two. Redwood, his final opponent, ranks fourth in defense against rushing while Marin Catholic is last in that category.

Lazzarini is the favorite to win the individual scoring title. He has 44 points to date, a 17-point lead over his nearest challenger.

And Novato end Tom Corder appears headed for the pass-catching crown with 15 catches for 299 yards, a 20-yard average per catch, and three touchdowns.

MARIN VS. SPARKLING SHASTA '11' TOMORROW

College of Marin Tars, hoping to salvage some glory from a disappointing season, host the first place Shasta Knights tomorrow at Kentfield, 8 p.m., in their next to last game of the season.

Marin, 2-4-1 overall and 1-2 in Golden Valley Conference, will be meeting a Shasta team that has a 3-0 conference mark. The Knights can clinch at least a tie for the title with a victory tomorrow.

Marin has one game remaining on the schedule — its traditional Big Game against Santa Rosa's Bear Cubs Nov. 19 at Kentfield.

Mays: MVP Great, But I'd Rather Win Pennant

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Shy Sam So Well Remembered: Marin's Greatest Athlete

Samuel Blake Chapman is 49 years old now. There's snow on the thinning roof, but there is still that physique of a great athlete. Upon meeting him for the first time you would say to yourself, "I'll bet that guy played a lot of ball."

And you would be so right. But, in conversation, S. B. Chapman of 32 Corte Morada, Greenbrae, would lead you to believe he led the Patsy League in fumbles and the Greenbrae Goblins in errors. They didn't call him Shy Sam for nothing.

I THINK ol' Sambo actually would blush if someone told you in his presence that he was the greatest athlete ever to set spike or cleat on Marin County real estate. Or that he stormed out of Tiburon and Tamalpais High School to become an All-Time, All-American grid great at University of California. Or that he then went on to grace major league outfields for 14 long, hot summers, mostly with Connie Mack and the Philadelphia Athletics.

SEVERAL YEARS ago I interviewed Sam for a magazine piece and wound up with enough material to fill a whole sentence. He also leads the league in reticence. Finally, in frustration, I had to dig through a trunkful of mementoes saved by Jody Chapman to learn that her hubby was quite an All-American and quite a big leaguer.

UNITED PRESS International's Scott Baillie interviewed Sam the other day and encountered the same problem. Rather than discuss his plusses, Sam, now an inspector for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, wanted to tell about his few minuses, like his first day with the A's when his error lost the game, or when Cal's unbeaten grid team of 1937 beat Stanford in the Big Game," . . . but the one thing I remember was dropping a perfect pass in the end zone." And when asked about the time in 1939 when he hit three home runs, a triple, double and single in two days, he shrugged, "That was a few years ago. I've forgotten about it."

In 1937, when he led Cal through an unbeaten season and on to a 13-0 victory over Alabama in the Rose Bowl, a news clipping rated him the best back on the coast and ". . . the key man in the Cal attack, whose blocking, punting, ball carrying and passing won loud plaudits throughout the nation."

TY COBB once wrote to Connie Mack: "You couldn't go wrong signing this kid." It was the first time the Georgia Peach ever recommended a player to the major leagues. Sam signed for $8,500 in 1938 and did not play minor league ball until 1952 when he played out his final three season as a Coast Leaguer at Oakland.

In 1946 he hit three home runs in a doubleheader and that same year hit a grand slam that beat the great Bobby Feller.

SAM'S CREDENTIALS are long and impressive. But don't ask him. He blushes easily.

ONE LAST NOTE: Tam High named a football stadium after its most illustrious athletic alumnus. And while Sam was still playing baseball a decade or so ago, wreckers were razing Sam Chapman Stadium at Mill Valley.

He had outlived a stadium, which seems to describe Samuel Blake Chapman. Indestructible.

Sugar Ray Calls It Quits

By JACK HAND

PITTSBURGH, pa. (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, five-times the middleweight boxing champion, said today he is quitting the ring for good.

The veteran of 199 professional bouts announced his decision as an aftermath to last night's one-sided loss to young Joey Archer of New York in the Civic Arena here.

"I hate to go on too long campaigning for another chance," Robinson said. "I had high hopes of fighting for the championship again if I had beaten Archer. But I didn't win."

It is Archer's turn to scream "we want Dick Tiger." Chances are he'll get that shot at the middleweight crown. Teddy Brenner, the Madison Square Garden matchmaker, wants to make it for March in New York.

Archer knocked down Robinson for a nine-count in the fourth round to the surprise of the Civic Arena crowd of 9,023 that paid a gross gate of $40,91.3 He rocked the tired body of the faded ex-champion time after time and almost put him away in the 10th round.

All three officials voted for him — referee Buck McTiernan 48-41, judge Ernie Sesto 49-40 and judge George Lupinacci 50-39. The AP card was 48-41.

When the final bell rang the cheers were for Sugar Ray, who claims to be 44 although the record books carry his age at 45. They weren't applauding because they thought Robinson had won.

They were paying a tribute to a gallant stand by an old man who was still trying to knock out the kid with one big punch. He had only one big round, the third.

The truth of the matter is that

Second Top Award For Giants' Great

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Just by winning the 1965 National League Most Valuable Player Award, Willie Mays has set another record.

For it was 11 years ago that the San Francisco Giants' centerfielder last captured the MVP. And no player in baseball history has had to wait that long between.

WILLIE MAYS
Most Valuable

Joe DiMaggio, another famous center fielder from San Francisco, once waited eight years between MVP's when he was with the New York Yankees.

"It's just wonderful to be chosen with so many good ball players around," said Mays when notified he had won yesterday. "It's especially good because we didn't win a pennant. But I'd rather have won the pennant than the award."

The 34-year-old Mays, whose Giants finished two games behind Los Angeles, polled 224 points in the balloting announced in Boston by the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Sandy Koufax, the left-handed unanimous Cy Young Award choice as Most Valuable Pitcher, got 177 points for his 26-8 record and two Series victories. Maury Wills, the Dodger shortstop, received 164 points on the ballots from two writers in each of the 10 National League cities.

Ken Boyer, 1964 MVP while with the St. Louis Cardinals, got no votes and no points.

ALL BALLOTS

Mays, only player named on all ballots, received nine first place votes, 10 seconds and one third in becoming the fifth man to win the Award twice.

Koufax, the 1963 MVP, received six firsts, five seconds and five thirds.

Wills, whose selection as 1962 MVP sent Mays' adherents howling in the last Giants' pennant year, polled five firsts, three seconds and seven thirds for stealing 94 bases and batting .286.

Mays led the majors with a personal high of 52 homers and led the National League with 360 total bases and a .645 slugging average. He batted across 112 runs and hit for a .317 average.

"Beating Koufax is a great thrill," Mays. "I thought I'd be a candidate because this was one of my best years and I didn't think I'd be left out."

Mays carried the Giants through August by hitting 17 homers, a league record. San Francisco then won 14 in a row in September and took over first place only to fall back later in the race of a 13-game Los Angeles victory string.

Home run No. 52 came on the last day of the season and set a club record. It left him with 505 career homers, only six less than the National League mark of 511 by ex-Giant Mel Ott.

"I needed those rests this year," said "I'll need more rest next year.

"I was tired at the end of the season. It was a real strain that last day," he continued. "All I was trying to do was hit a home run."

HELPED YOUNGSTERS

Mays led the league in 1954 with a .345 batting average and also hit 41 homers for the pennant winning New York Giants. But he feel he made more of a contribution to the 1965 team because he also helped younger players.

"Any time a player hits 52 homers, he figures he has had a good season," said Mays. "Why 30 to 40 homers is doing good in this league. When I hit 52, I felt I had to be pretty lucky."

Of his 52 homers, Mays said the most significant was the one he hit Sept. 14 in Houston. After fouling off a number of pitches, Mays hit a 3-2 delivery into the left field stands with two out in the ninth inning, a man on base and the Giants two runs behind. San Francisco won 7-5 in the next inning.

"I don't believe in goals," said Mays about his future. "You start worrying about goals and you don't do anything for the team. You play well and you get the records anyway."

One goal Mays could achieve is to become the highest paid player in baseball history. He now earns close to $110,000 and Ted Williams once drew $125,000 for a season with the Boston Red Sox.

Warner All-Star Battle At Novato High Sunday

The annual Marin County Pop Warner All-Star football game will be held Sunday, starting at 2 p.m., on the Novato High School field.

Comprising the North squad are 10 players from each of the north Marin teams, San Rafael, Terra Linda and Novato, while an equal number will come from the south Marin teams, Redwood, Tamalpais and Drake.

Since the three North teams ended the regular Marin County Pop Warner season as co-champs, they will be heavily favored to triumph in Sunday's game, which is free of charge.

San Antonio Gets 1968 PGA Tourney

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — John D. MacArthur, who donated the land for the PGA national headquarters, announced this week the 1968 PGA championship would be played at San Antonio, Tex.

PGA spokesman John Hubbard said, however, that "no official announcement of the tourney site had been made."

He would neither confirm or deny MacArthur's report.

MacArthur, the millionaire developer of Palm Beach Gardens, also announced the 1969 PGA tourney would be played in Florida.

Fans Love Warrior 'Baby'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When Rick Barry and Fred Hetzel, All America collegiate players of the past season, were drafted by the San Francisco Warriors, they became the basketball men-of-the-year in this territory.

The Warriors finished last in the NBA Western Division last season, a dismal result which nevertheless gave them the opportunity of getting the two high draft choices.

Barry became a starting forward off his work during pre season drills and games while Hetzel still hasn't seen much action. He suffered a ligament injury to a little finger which required surgery.

"The finger feels fine," he says while awaiting more action in the National Basketball Assn. games.

Barry is fast becoming a favorite with San Francisco fans although still not exhibiting all-over consistency.

He has been held to as low as eight points and scored as many as 33.

In the latter instance, when the Warriors lost to New York 104-103, Knickerbocker coach Harry Gallatin observed, "He's a tough man to guard. For a rookie, he really shows something. He makes the moves and the shots. He snakes around in there and always goes for the second and third effort.

"It won't be long after games like this that he's going to draw the other team's best defensive forward."

Barry scored only eight in the second game played by San Francisco against Detroit. Yet he contributed the key play as the Warriors came from behind to beat the Pistons.

The rookie from Miami University in Florida fielded a rebounded Detroit shot off the boards and moved the Warriors into position to score the go-ahead points.

Coach Alex Hannum said he "figured it was just a matter of time before Barry broke out and make a hit with the San Francisco fans. We've put a lot of load on him and he's done okay."

Barry's presence certainly doesn't figure as the whole reason, but he is the only new man in the Warriors' starting lineup and the team which finished last a year ago currently leads the NBA Western Division.

Warriors Embark On A Very Rugged Road Trip

BOSTON (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors play eight of their next 10 games on the road beginning tonight against the Philadelphia 76ers in Boston.

"For the next two weeks," said Coach Alex Hannum, "we have the roughest schedule in the league."

During the week the Warriors play the Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks, two teams San Francisco has not tangled with this season.

The Warriors, who are now 7-4, have beaten each of the other teams in the league at least once. The Warriors have won one and lost one to the 76ers.

The 'Blue Drip' Invades Stanford

Before the season started, if anyone had taken a poll of the UCLA campus as to what they thought the "Rose Bowl" was, 40 per cent of the student body might have answered that it was a deep dish in the living room where Grandma kept cut flowers.

The other 60 per cent would have described it as a mythical place where a football team from Michigan or Illinois annually chopped up a team from the Pacific northwest.

Then they would have changed the subject to basketball, or the new medical wing of the university—or the weather.

THERE WAS a movement afoot for a time to get a new football stadium built on UCLA's campus to avoid the necessity of the student body having to get up early on Saturday to go downtown and watch the team beaten, but hotter heads prevailed, and suggested "Why don't we wait a few years and the Orpheum Theatre will be big enough?" It was added that, if the student body got any more apathetic, they'd have to hold the game in the school library to get an audience.

FOOTBALL HAS always run a poor second to education at UCLA. Only in infrequent coaching administrations did the school have 11 people who were better with a football than a microscope—or who knew that the War of the Roses was not run by Woody Hayes.

They never call the team the "Red Tide," the "Purple Puddle," the "Brown Wave," the "Thundering Herd," or any of the other ringing alliterations selected by other football schools. For one reason. Usually, UCLA was more like a "Pink T," or the "Thundering Birds," the "Puddle—." The Red Tide was coming from its nose. If the student body rose to chant "we're No. 1," they meant in chemistry —or interior decoration.

IN SHORT, they were settling into a nice comfortable academic rut. The faculty was all but purring. The deemphasizers were studying plane schedules to Boston and New Haven and dreaming of going to the Yale Bowl instead of the Rose Bowl. They wondered if Ivy could be made to grow clear across the country. They were checking to see whether Harvard still scheduled football.

J. THOMPSON Prothro changed all that—poisoned the Ivy, got the cheerleaders practicing something besides "hold that line!," sent the girls scurrying for their short skirts and pom-pons, and made career football players who had already bought their ticket for points north and east to pause and wonder whether they had made the right move. Perhaps, all they needed was the Wilshire bus.

COACH PROTHRO took a squad which had lost six of its last seven games and which had given up 147 points in five of those games. How he convinced them they could play football has to rank as the greatest snow job since 1888, and Tommy became known in the trade as the "Abdominable Snowman" which (or whom), by the way, he somewhat resembles. It was freely perdicted that Tommy was so full of snow that when the spring sun came there would be nothing left of him but a fewpieces of charcoal buttons and a corn-cob pipe. The rest of him would be running down the sidewalk in a stream.

COLDLY, TOMMY is in a rut, too. If he wins two more games —which he just might if his team doesn't sit down and try to figure out what they're doing right—he'll be the first modern coach to take two different teams to the Rose Bowl in successive years. They may just tell him to stay there.

We may have to cast around now for a suitable descriptive nickname for the squad, the "Blue Drip," the "Golden Glob," the "Blue Blot," the "Hammering Horde" — something to suggest Attila the Hun in cleats, not just a bunch of kids who are good in spelling.

THE "GLOB" beat the Washington Huskies' Purple Gang the other afternoon in a game that was so twosided, the final gun was the turning point.

UCLA sometimes seemed to be in a unique "pass-prevent" defense — a 4-4-3. Sherman's statue in the park had more lateral movement than the "deep three" who more often looked not only deep but buried.

THE SCOREBOARD looked like a bank clearance. The Huskies got their first score before the coin came down, but the Bruins—pardon me, the Blue Blot—won because Washington's quarterback gave a Heisman Trophy performance. For sheer versatility, it's hard to match a man who can complete 21 passes—three of them to total strangers, i.e., UCLA Bruins. This more than made up for the 24 first downs in the 509 yards rushing and passing Washington otherwise made. The Bruins should have given him the game ball.

Instead, they gave it to Prothro. After all, he's the only one who knows the way to the Rose Bowl.

Next stop is at Palo Alto this Saturday against the Stanford Indians.

Raiders To Juggle The Lineup

OAKLAND (UPI)— Coach Al Davis is hinting that he will juggle his lineup a bit when Oakland takes its 5-3-1 record against Eastern Division leader Buffalo here Sunday.

One of those likely to be replaced is rookie halfback Larry Todd, a surprise starter against Houston last week who gained 149 yards from scrimmage.

But Buffalo has permitted less than 80 yards per game on the ground while their pass defense has leaked 211 yards per contest.

Davis apparently feels that the 192-pound Todd will have trouble moving against men like Tom Sestak, 270, Jim Dunaway, 280, Roland McDole, 275, and Tom Day, 265.

He indicates Clem Daniels will shift back to halfback ith Al Miller, a good pass blocker, going at fullback.

GRID CHECK TO AID STUDENTS

Robinson's once potent punch has lost its zip. He raked Archer with left hooks and combinations as he punished Randy Turpin, Gene Fullmer, Jake Lamotta, Rocky Graziano, Carmen Basilio and all the others in the good old days.

Nothing nappened. Archer shook off the bombs and pecked away with that stiff left jab that forced the old boy to apply ice packs to his cheeks in his dressing room.

"I tried from the first punch to knock him out," said Robinson, a forlorn figure on a bench. "The knockdown was the difference. He caught me off balance with a right hand."

Is this the end?

"You'll have to ask my manager," said Robinson pointing to George Gainford.

"We'll decide in a couple of days," said the sweaty Emperor. Later, in a dark corridor, Gainford nodded his head and said, "Age catches up to everybody."

Around the corner and down the hall, the Archer boys, Joey and his brother, Jimmy, who acts as his manager, were yelling for Tiger. But first, Joey had a kind word for Ray.

"He's still a great champion," said Joey. "He went out like a champ. I can see why they said he was so great. I learned something fighting him."

If he chooses, Robinson can still pick up fair purses, handling the eager young men who fight with their faces. His 22½ per cent of the net gate of $34,802 came to about $7,830. He once made almost $500,000 for one fight. Archer's 27½ per cent payday was $9,560.

It was Robinson's 14th fight of the year and his fifth defeat. People like Stan Harrington (twice), Fred Hernandez and Memo Ayon have beaten him. The crowd still remembers the Sugar Ray who started his pro career in 1940 when super fighters like Joe Louis, Billy Conn, Fritzie Zivic and Lew Jenkins were champions.

When Ray throws his hook or pulls the trigger on the right, they still expect to see the other man fall. Youngsters like Archer just walk in and start belting back.

Sugar Ray vs. Joey Archer in 1940? Why, Joey was only two years old then. But this is 1965. The crowd still cheers and grown men scramble for autographs. There is only one big trouble — the judges vote for the other guy.

BABY SITTING PROBLEM

Early AFL Draft Creates A Furor

NEW YORK (AP) — Seeking to solve what it calls a baby-sitting problem, the American Football League has set Nov. 20 for its college draft and once again has incurred the rath of college officials.

As a result of the AFL move yesterday, the National League says it may be forced to change its mind and follow the younger league in holding an early draft.

The AFL action, announced by Commissioner Joe Foss, ignited the college-pro controversy all over again. The dispute raged last year over alleged secret drafts, player-hiding, early signings and double signings.

Following that extended battle, both pro leagues told the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. they would refrain from signing players before their eligibility had ended. The NCAA also asked that the drafts be held no earlier than Nov. 27, the last big Saturday of college football.

Foss said Nov. 20 was selected for to reasons.

"First, it is the day on which a majority of college teams complete their schedules," he said. "And, further, I personally feel that drafting on the 20th will go a long ways toward eliminating so-called baby-sitting practices which have sprung up the last to years.

"A number of unsavory situations came to light from the practice of players being hidden away for several days prior to the last to drafts. I think it's in the best interest of all that we do our best to try and eliminate an increasingly unhealthy situation."

But James Corbett of Louisiana State, chairman of the NCAA committee on pro relations, didn't take that view.

"The AFL action," he said, "makes a mockery of that league's agreement with the NCAA and its member collegs. A draft as early as Nov. 20 can only be a completely negative morale factor since there will be increased pressure on the drafted player, on his team and on his college — at exactly the wrong time."

Foss, however, said the AFL would not violate the NCAA's primary concern over early signings.

"We just want a chance to contact the players and make our sales pitch," he added. "We understand the NFL has made elaborate plans again for baby-sitting with prospects and we want to get the chance to talk with these prospects."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL didn't say anything about the baby-sitting charges but he did say the league tentatively is planning its draft for Nov. 27, "in accordance with the wishes of colleges and universities.

"However, we may be forced to draft much sooner if others fail to honor requests."

An AFL spokesman said it had been learned that the NFL spent $150,000 on baby-sitting last year and was planning to spend $250,000 this year.

"The NCAA hasn't taken a stand on baby-sitting," the spokesman said. "It cost us some real good ballplayers last year. You try to sign a player, but you can't find him. Then when you do find him, he's already signed."

Both leagues held their drafts last year on Nov. 28, the last big day of the college season.

Terra Linda, Redwood Tie For 'C' Title

The Trojans of Terra Linda whipped Novato 30-16 and Redwood dumped Tamalpais 44-27 yesterday in final games of the season. The triumphs gave the co-champs 10-2 records for the season.

Terra Linda was in control throughout the game yesterday on its own court. Bob Maxwell and Gary Krambs shared high scoring honors with 10 points each.

The Little Giants of Redwood breezed to victory in their game also, leading 29-14 at half. Tim Hart and Andy McIlroy shared high scoring honors for Redwood with 11 points apiece.

Expert Tells Anti-Blackout Preparations

PHILADELPHIA—A nationally known expert on emergency lighting and power today outlined how people, buildings, plants and products can be kept safe if electric power fails.

He is C.H. Leet, an electrical engineer and engineering sales manager of Exide Industrial Marketing Division, the Electric Storage Battery Co., Philadelphia.

Leet said that despite excellent maintenance and service by electric utility companies, blackouts such as Tuesday's power loss over the northeast of the nation can occur from accidents, storms, overloads, fire or explosions.

If a power loss happens at a public building, hotel-motel, restaurant, hospital or factory, an automatic emergency lighting system can illumine main aisles, exits, fire towers, locker rooms and lunch rooms, for a long enough time to evacuate the building, he explained.

Water Board To Meet

Stinson Beach County Water District directors will meet at 8 p.m., tomorrow at the Community Center. Principal business will be filling a vacancy on the five-man board created when Director William Sherfey moved from the district, President Hugh Dougherty said today.

Guardian Named For Man Who Said He Was Bilked

A guardian has been appointed for Max Bootzin, 82-year-old Mill Valleyan who claims he was bilked of $120,000 in cash and property by two young women.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court has signed an order appointing Morris Bootzin of San Francisco as guardian for his father. The order was issued on petition of the son, holding that the elder Bootzin, "because of infirmities, both physical and mental," is unable to protect his interests.

A hearing was scheduled for 10 a.m. on Nov. 29 in Superior Court on a petition by Morris Bootzin for appointment of a conservator of his father's estate. It alleges the estate needs the care and attention of some fit and proper person, and that real and personal property is claimed "adversely" by the two women, Charmaine Klenman, 27, and Joan Taylor, 18.

The older Bootzin on Oct. 29 filed a suit charging the pair moved into his home at 8 Robertson Terrace, Mill Valley, and that under persuasion of Miss Klenman that she planned to marry him, Bootzin gave her cash and property amounting to $120,000. It asks recovery of the alleged losses.

San Rafael Officer Awarded Bronze Star

Maj. Frederick P. Schmidt Jr., of 24 Lowell Avenue, San Rafael, newly assigned chief of the Sixth Army Command Information Division, San Francisco, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for service in Viet Nam.

According to the citation, Schmidt undertook "outstanding meritorious service" with ground operations against the Viet Cong while serving as public information officer of the U.S. Military Assistance Command from August, 1964, to August, 1965.

Daniel C. Davis is president of the San Rafael Rotary Club.

Professor To Discuss Viet Nam Implications

Winnett Hagens, a San Francisco State College professor of international relations, will speak on "What's Happening In Viet Nam" Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the College of Marin Newman Center at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and College Avenue, Kentfield.

Hagens' talk will be sponsored by Motive, a Protestant student club on the campus.

Vet, Junior Share Bowling Spotlight

The veteran, Chico Valsecchi, bowled a rip-roaring 651 series in the 900 Classic League for the week's top series. He also had high game of 245 along with a 223 in his three-game set.

Rick Posusney gave the Junior 900 Masters League a shot in the arm with a blazing 641 series on lines of 229, 223 and 189.

On the distaff side Rennee Boehnlein fired high series of 582 featuring games of 208 and 204 in the Ladies 600 Scratch League and Char Warcup came up with high game of 211 in her 578 series, also in the 600 Scratch. Butchie Steele's 210 was a highlight in the Classy Lassies League.

Warner All-Star Battle At Novato High Sunday

The annual Marin County Pop Warner All-Star football game will be held Sunday, starting at 2 p.m., on the Novato High School field.

Comprising the North squad are 10 players from each of the north Marin teams, San Rafael, Terra Linda and Novato, while an equal number will come from the south Marin teams, Redwood, Tamalpais and Drake.

Since the three North teams ended the regular Marin County Pop Warner season as cochamps, they will be heavily favored to triumph in Sunday's game, which is free of charge.

San Antonio Gets 1968 PGA Tourney

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — John D. MacArthur, who donated the land for the PGA national headquarters, announced this week the 1968 PGA championship would be played at San Antonio, Tex.

PGA spokesman John Hubbard said, however, that "no official announcement of the tourney site had been made."

He would neither confirm or deny MacArthur's report.

MacArthur, the millionaire developer of Palm Beach Gardens, also announced the 1969 PGA tourney would be played in Florida.

Fans Love Warrior 'Baby'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When Rick Barry and Fred Hetzel, All America collegiate players of the past season, were drafted by the San Francisco Warriors, they became the basketball men-of-the-year in this territory.

The Warriors finished last in the NBA Western Division last season, a dismal result which nevertheless gave them the opportunity of getting the two high draft choices.

Barry became a starting forward off his work during pre season drills and games while Hetzel still hasn't seen much action. He suffered a ligament injury to a little finger which required surgery.

"The finger feels fine," he says while awaiting more action in the National Basketball Assn. games.

Barry is fast becoming a favorite with San Francisco fans although still not exhibiting allover consistency.

He has been held to as low as eight points and scored as many as 33.

In the latter instance, when the Warriors lost to New York 104-103, Knickerbocker coach Harry Gallatin observed, "He's a tough man to guard. For a rookie, he really shows something. He makes the moves and the shots. He snakes around in there and always goes for the second and third effort.

"It won't be long after games like this that he's going to draw the other team's best defensive forward."

Barry scored only eight in the second game played by San Francisco against Detroit. Yet he contributed the key play as the Warriors came from behind to beat the Pistons.

The rookie from Miami University in Florida fielded a rebounded Detroit shot off the boards and moved the Warriors into position to score the go-ahead points.

Coach Alex Hannum said he "figured it was just a matter of time before Barry broke out and make a hit with the San Francisco fans. We've put a lot of load on him and he's done okay."

Barry's presence certainly doesn't figure as the whole reason, but he is the only new man in the Warriors' starting lineup and the team which finished last a year ago currently leads the NBA Western Division.

Warriors Embark On A Very Rugged Road Trip

BOSTON (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors play eight of their next 10 games on the road beginning tonight against the Philadelphia 76ers in Boston.

"For the next two weeks," said Coach Alex Hannum, "we have the roughest schedule in the league."

During the week the Warriors play the Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks, two teams San Francisco has not tangled with this season.

The Warriors, who are now 7-4, have beaten each of the other teams in the league at least once. The Warriors have won one and lost one to the 76ers.

Early Losses Erased But Market Is Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered late today and closed no worse than mixed after erasing an early loss.

Trading was slack due to the Veterans Day observance. Some banks and commodity exchanges were closed.

Aluminums, depressed early in the day by news that the aluminum price increased as being rescinded, came back in the final hour. In late trading Reynolds Metals had canceled its decline, Alcoa had halved its worst decline, Kaiser Aluminum and Olin Mathieson were showing gains.

American Telephone, which had sunk fractionally to a new low, recovered also, moving into plus territory.

A number of issues in electronics, aerospace and airlines showed selective strength.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.1 million shares compared with 5.01 million Wednesday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Gains and losses of fractions to a point or so were scattered throughout the list of leading issues.

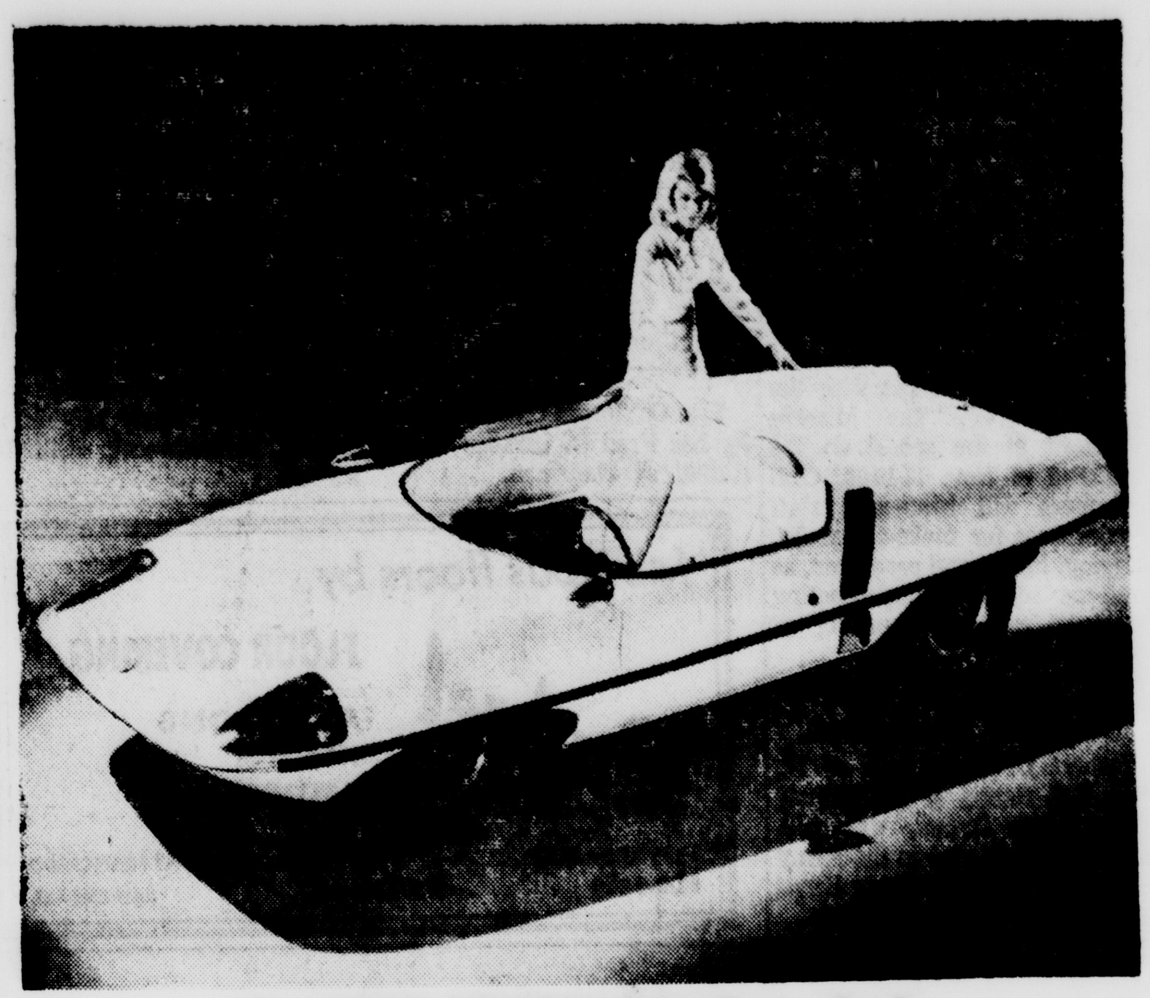
The market declined at the start, gradually cut its losses, then showed a pretty even balance between plus and minus signs.

The aluminums were down in early trading following the rollback of the aluminum price increase. Alcoa remained down about 2 points and Reynolds Metals about 1½. Olin Mathieson steadied and edged to the upside. Kaiser Aluminum and Aluminium Ltd. showed fractional losses.

American Telephone, fractionally lower, touched a new low, but some of the recent high flyers and other selected issues showed strength. Drexel Enterprises and Electronic Associates gained about 2 each. Up a point or better were Boeing, Zenith, General Motors, Texas Pacific Land, Transitron and Technical Materiel.

Gains of about 2 were scored by Polaroid, U.S. Smelting Eastern Air Lines, Admiral, Fairchild Camera and Emery Air Freight.

Prices were mixed in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.



PLASTIC EXPERIMENTAL CAR

This "Cycolac Research Vehicle" is one of two cars being roadtested by Borg Warner Corp. to determine the advantages of plastic in automobile bodies. The CRV-1 above has a tubular steel frame. A sister car, the CRV-2, also has a fiberglass chassis, to which the body is fastened with an epoxy resin. Both cars have two-piece bodies that were thermoformed in 30 minutes. Plastic companies contend their materials are lighter but just as durable as metals.

Telephone Firm Sales At Record

NEW YORK—Sales and earnings of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. for the third quarter and first nine months of 1965 reached new peaks for any comparable periods in the corporation's history, Harold S. Geneen, chairman and president, said today in this interim report to stockholders.

Consolidated net income for the three months ended Sept. 30 was $17,649,000 compared with $15,792,000 for the same period last year. Third quarter earnings were equal to 84 cents per share, an increase of 10.5 per cent over the 76 cents per share in the like 1964 period.

For the first nine months of 1965, net income was $52,066,000 compared with $46,501,000 for the same period a year ago. Earnings per share for the first nine months were $2.48 or 11.2 per cent greater than the $2.23 per share a year ago.

Exec Flying Brings Boom To Aviation

By PHILIP J. KEUPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Private aviation, an industry that was supposed to take off after World War II, sputtered and coughed for years. Today it is booming.

Business flying, based on a maxim that every minute of an executive's time means money, is providing the main thrust for the private plane industry.

This year there were more than 90,000 nonmilitary, noncommercial airplanes in the United States, almost three times the total in 1946. At New York's La Guardia Airport, where the concentration of such aircraft is among the heaviest, these planes land or take off at the rate of one every other minute during peak hours.

RISING INCOME

Though rising income and growing interest in flying have fueled the private plane boom—275,000 Americans hold private pilot licenses—company purchases of planes have provided the biggest boost to sales, particularly in more expensive aircraft. Corporate air fleets range from sleek light planes to 570-mile-an-hour jets that seat 10 passengers.

Even railroads use private planes. Chesapeake & Ohio Railway has four twin-engine planes to move executives to some meetings. Chicago & North Western uses a twin-engine light plane and a turboprop.

FIELD EXPANDS

A mushrooming use of business jets has attracted military and major commercial airplane producers into the field. Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. is building a business jet that will cost more than $2 million. Lockheed's business jet sells for $1.6 million. Last month, Boeing announced it would make a jet for corporation use.

Less glamorous but far more plentiful are small propeller-driven aircraft largely produced by three major specialists in the light plane field: Beech Aircraft, Cessna Aircraft and Piper. Sales at the factory level of business and pleasure aircraft made by these companies soared last year to $176 million. In 1950, they amounted to only $19 million.

Increases in plushness and power have brought increases in price. The average private plane today sells for $22,000; the cheapest at about $7,000. The two-seater, single-engine aircraft of the 1940s cost $1,700 to $3,000.

Barber Shop Has New Ownership

John A. Ligouri of San Francisco has bought the Village Barber shop at 11 Bernard Street, Mill Valley, and opened it under his management yesterday.

The shop was formerly owned by Joseph Roccoforte, who died in August.

Ligouri has been a barber for four and one-half years, working at the 63 California Street barber shop in San Francisco. He and his wife, Janis, live in San Francisco. Ligouri said he plans to run the shop by himself, possibly hiring someone to help out on Saturdays.

Armstrong Consents To Revamp Pricing

LANCASTER, Pa. — A consent agreement, in which Armstrong Cork Co. undertakes to review and modify some of its pricing and marketing practices in the resilient flooring industry, has been entered into by Armstrong and the Federal Trade Commission.

The consent agreement points out that Armstrong's signing of the order is for settlement only purposes and is not an admission that the company has violated the law in any respect.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Glen's TV At New Location; Coffee, Etc. Doors Are Open

In his fifth move since 1953, Glen Retke has relocated his Glen's TV again—this time at 875 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

This is the store once occupied by Knit 'n Needle; it has good foot traffic in front of it all day long and more than three times the space Retke last had at 909 D Street—so he will enlarge his operation from strictly a repair shop to sales and repair service. He leased it through Coldwell, Banker and Co.

Retke will handle both black and white color sets—but deliveries on color are still sluggish. He first started his business in Fairfax, subsequently moved to San Anselmo, the Miracle Mile and three years ago to D Street.

NOW OPEN for business in the Northgate Shopping Center—opposite the Emporium and between Casual Aire and Loana's is Coffee, Etc., an interesting shop selling teas, coffees and spices and coffee makers. Mrs. Fred De Bow is in charge.

For those who like to try something new, a different blend of coffee is prepared everyday. There is a coffee bar where coffee and pastries are served. Decor is unusual, with an entire wall made of tea boxes.

I. L. POTTER of San Anselmo has been elected vice president of Chevron International Oil Co., Inc., newly created subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of California responsible for national and international sales of petroleum products to airlines and the marine trade.

Previously assistant manager of Standard's foreign trade department since 1963, Potter joined the organization 10 years ago as a marketing trainee with another Standard affiliate, California Rexas Oil Corp., New York. Headquarters of Chevron International will be in Standard's new building at 555 Market Street, San Francisco. The company will operate primarily in the western hemisphere.

NOW ASSOCIATED with Marin Capital Properties, which represents the Goheen land development in Mill Valley, are R. Wallace Lawson of San Anselmo, formerly with Coldwell, Banker and Co., and J. Trow Cutter of Mill Valley, formerly with Lewis Realty. Goheen has recently opened its Northridge development in the Scott Highland Two subdivision.

MONITOR PLASTICS CO., San Rafael, has been awarded a $23,100 contract by Textron's Bell Aerosystems Co. of Buffalo, N.Y. for ablative liners used by Bell in testing the Lunar Excursion Module ascent engine being built for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

HANK'S GULF STATION, San Anselmo has received commendation from Gulf Oil Co. regional sales director H. M. Hall as the best maintained owner-operated facility of about 50 of the company's stations in the Oakland and San Francisco districts.

"TEN TOWNHOUSE DECORATOR TOUR" to benefit Marin General Hospital will be staged at the Knoll at Peacock Gap Saturday, Nov. 13 through Sunday, Nov. 21 from 1 to 5 p.m. daily. Tickets may be purchased on site. Model homes will be decorated by Betty Perdue, Florence Huber, the Station House, Casa Marin, Bell's Draperies, Carpets and Interiors and Dorothy Farber—all of Marin. Other decorators include Norman Black Interiors, Douglas Baughman and Gertrude Roarke and Western Contract Furnishers.

CREDIT UNION of the East Bay and Marin County telephone company employees has earned three awards with its magazine "2-Eleven Foothill News" for best layout and typography, news-education balance and overall scoring in its class (credit unions with assets over one million dollars).

Kaiser-Portland Firms Merge

OAKLAND — The merger of Longhorn Portland Cement Co. into Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp. has been completed, it was announced yesterday by Kaiser Cement president Peter S. Hass.

Hass said a new $1.375 convertible preference stock of Kaiser Cement has been listed for trading on the New York and Pacific Coast stock exchanges. One million shares of the new preference stock were issued by Kaiser to be exchanged in the merger for Longhorn common stock on a share-for-share basis.

Expert Tells Anti-Blackout Preparations

PHILADELPHIA—A nationally known expert on emergency lighting and power today outlined how people, buildings, plants and products can be kept safe if electric power fails.

He is C.H. Leet, an electrical engineer and engineering sales manager of Exide Industrial Marketing Division, the Electric Storage Battery Co., Philadelphia.

Leet said that despite excellent maintenance and service by electric utility companies, blackouts such as Tuesday's power loss over the northeast of the nation can occur from accidents, storms, overloads, fire or explosions.

If a power loss happens at a public building, hotel-motel, restaurant, hospital or factory, an automatic emergency lighting system can illumine main aisles, exits, fire towers, locker rooms and lunch rooms, for a long enough time to evacuate the building, he explained.

Water Board To Meet

Stinson Beach County Water District directors will meet at 8 p.m., tomorrow at the Community Center. Principal business will be filling a vacancy on the five-man board created when Director William Sherfey moved from the district, President Hugh Dougherty said today.

Guardian Named For Man Who Said He Was Bilked

A guardian has been appointed for Max Bootzin, 82-year-old Mill Valleyan who claims he was bilked of $120,000 in cash and property by two young women.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court has signed an order appointing Morris Bootzin of San Francisco as guardian for his father. The order was issued on petition of the son, holding that the elder Bootzin, "because of infirmities, both physical and mental," is unable to protect his interests.

A hearing was scheduled for 10 a.m. on Nov. 29 in Superior Court on a petition by Morris Bootzin for appointment of a conservator of his father's estate. It alleges the estate needs the care and attention of some fit and proper person, and that real and personal property is claimed "adversely" by the two women, Charmaine Klenman, 27, and Joan Taylor, 18.

The older Bootzin on Oct. 29 filed a suit charging the pair moved into his home at 8 Robertson Terrace, Mill Valley, and that under persuasion of Miss Klenman that she planned to marry him, Bootzin gave her cash and property amounting to $120,000. It asks recovery of the alleged losses.

San Rafael Officer Awarded Bronze Star

Maj. Frederick P. Schmidt Jr., of 24 Lowell Avenue, San Rafael, newly assigned chief of the Sixth Army Command Information Division, San Francisco, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for service in Viet Nam.

According to the citation, Schmidt undertook "outstanding meritorious service" with ground operations against the Viet Cong while serving as public information officer of the U.S. Military Assistance Command from August, 1964, to August, 1965.

Daniel C. Davis is president of the San Rafael Rotary Club.

Professor To Discuss Viet Nam Implications

Winnett Hagens, a San Francisco State College professor of international relations, will speak on "What's Happening In Viet Nam" Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the College of Marin Newman Center at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and College Avenue, Kentfield.

Hagens' talk will be sponsored by Motive, a Protestant student club on the campus.

Attends Lodge School

Herman L. May, secretary of San Rafael Moose Lodge 1803, will attend an administration school for Moose lodge secretaries in Los Angeles this weekend.

Dias Ranch Proposal On Mill Valley Agenda

The Marin County Planning Commission Monday will again consider the proposed master plan for the 170-acre Dias Ranch west of Mill Valley. The hearing is to begin at 2 p.m.

The commission meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center. One of the first matters on the morning agenda is an application for architectural supervision by Loyal Davis for a 12-unit apartment at 548 Miller Avenue, just outside of Mill Valley. The consideration has been repeatedly delayed pending improvement of the survey map, found at first to be in error, and due to many protests by adjacent property owners.

Item number 15 on the agenda is a request for a use permit for Synanon Foundation at Marshall for a trailer to serve as architect's and night watchman's headquarters in connection with construction at the narcotics treatment center.

The mayor of Belvedere is Merritt K. Ruddock. L. T. Mersereau is Belvedere fire chief.

Military Academy Cadets Promoted

A total of 96 cadets of the upper and lower schools of San Rafael Military Academy have recently been promoted, Lee L. Alfred, professor of military science, announced yesterday.

Dwight Fallon, B Company commander, was promoted to captain and the following cadets promoted to lieutenant: Peter Berton, Vaughn Feather, Stuart Haeder Jr., Robert Taylor, William Wooten, Greg Wilson and Steve Yoshino.

Promoted to master sergeant were: John Bower and Dennis Cooke, and Kirk Snyder is a new first sergeant.

Other promotions included eight cadets to the rank of sergeant first class, 16 to cadet sergeant, 22 to cadet corporal, 20 to private first class.

Officer Slate Elected By Redwood Club

Redwood High School's Drama Club has elected senior Hamp Lyons of Kentfield as president, Vicki Evans of Kentfield as vice president, and Vicki Turner of Greenbrae as secretary.

The club will assist with the production of "The Miracle Worker" at the school on the weekend of Nov. 18-19-20. Club members will head and staff committees for make-up, props, staging, lights, and programs, as well as some members acting in small roles and working on publicity.

Student Promotion

Robert D. Harris, son of Lt. Col. Zed Harris of 108 DuBois Street, San Rafael, was promoted to lieutenant in the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University of Oregon.

Officer Training

John Hinman, son of Col. and Mrs. John M. Hinman of Headquarters, Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command, at Fort Baker, has been accepted in the professional officers course of the Air Force ROTC at Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., where he is a junior.

The California Adult Authority has Fred R. Dickson of San Rafael as chairman.

Stinson Beach Party Slates Three Films

Stinson Beach Community Center will have a "Family Night" community party at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the center.

Films to be shown are "Schreecher, the Tern," an Audubon film; "Islands in Green" from the forest service, and a documentary on smoking created by John Korty of Stinson Beach. Refreshments will be served.

Early Losses Erased But Market Is Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered late today and closed no worse than mixed after erasing an early loss.

Trading was slack due to the Veterans Day observance. Some banks and commodity exchanges were closed.

Aluminums, depressed early in the day by news that the aluminum price increased as being rescinded, came back in the final hour. In late trading Reynolds Metals had canceled its decline, Alcoa had halved its worst decline, Kaiser Aluminum and Olin Mathieson were showing gains.

American Telephone, which had sunk fractionally to a new low, recovered also, moving into plus territory.

A number of issues in electronics, aerospace and airlines showed selective strength.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.1 million shares compared with 5.01 million Wednesday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Gains and losses of fractions to a point or so were scattered throughout the list of leading issues.

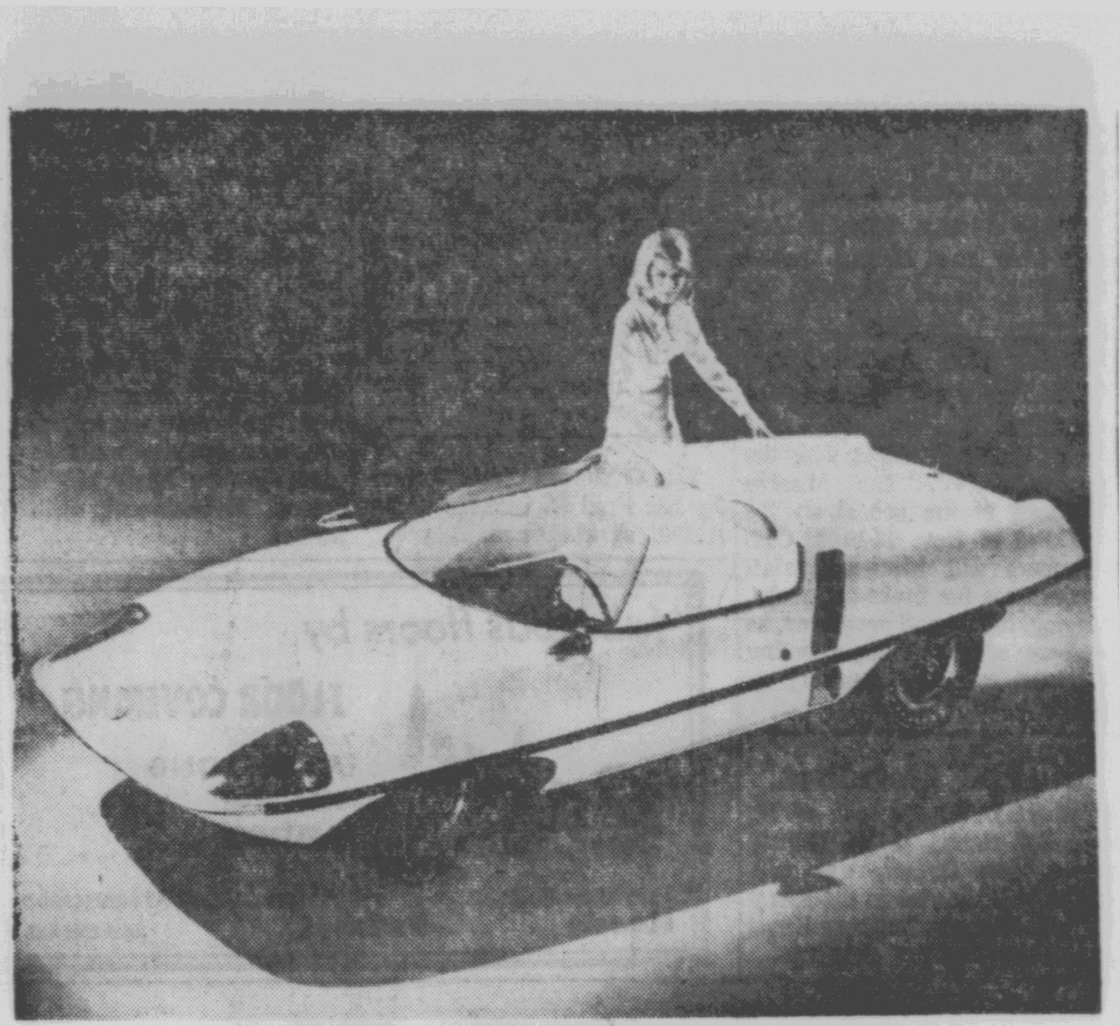
The market declined at the start, gradually cut its losses, then showed a pretty even balance between plus and minus signs.

The aluminums were down in early trading following the rollback of the aluminum price increase. Alcoa remained down about 2 points and Reynolds Metals about 1½. Olin Mathieson steadied and edged to the upside. Kaiser Aluminum and Aluminium Ltd. showed fractional losses.

American Telephone, fractionally lower, touched a new low, but some of the recent high flyers and other selected issues showed strength. Drexel Enterprises and Electronic Associates gained about 2 each. Up a point or better were Boeing, Zenith, General Motors, Texas Pacific Land, Transitron and Technical Materiel.

Gains of about 2 were scored by Polaroid, U.S. Smelting Eastern Air Lines, Admiral, Fairchild Camera and Emery Air Freight.

Prices were mixed in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.



PLASTIC EXPERIMENTAL CAR

This "Cycolac Research Vehicle" is one of two cars being roadtested by Borg Warner Corp. to determine the advantages of plastic in automobile bodies. The CRV-1 above has a tubular steel frame. A sister car, the CRV-2, also has a fiberglass chassis, to which the body is fastened with an epoxy resin. Both cars have two-piece bodies that were thermoformed in 30 minutes. Plastic companies contend their materials are lighter but just as durable as metals.

Telephone Firm Sales At Record

NEW YORK—Sales and earnings of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. for the third quarter and first nine months of 1965 reached new peaks for any comparable periods in the corporation's history, Harold S. Geneen, chairman and president, said today in this interim report to stockholders.

Consolidated net income for the three months ended Sept. 30 was $17,649,000 compared with $15,792,000 for the same period last year. Third quarter earnings were equal to 84 cents per share, an increase of 10.5 per cent over the 76 cents per share in the like 1964 period.

For the first nine months of 1965, net income was $52,066,000 compared with $46,501,000 for the same period a year ago. Earnings per share for the first nine months were $2.48 or 11.2 per cent greater than the $2.23 per share a year ago.

Exec Flying Brings Boom To Aviation

By PHILIP J. KEUPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Private aviation, an industry that was supposed to take off after World War II, sputtered and coughed for years. Today it is booming.

Business flying, based on a maxim that every minute of an executive's time means money, is providing the main thrust for the private plane industry.

This year there were more than 90,000 nonmilitary, noncommercial airplanes in the United States, almost three times the total in 1946. At New York's La Guardia Airport, where the concentration of such aircraft is among the heaviest, these planes land or take off at the rate of one every other minute during peak hours.

RISING INCOME

Though rising income and growing interest in flying have fueled the private plane boom—275,000 Americans hold private pilot licenses—company purchases of planes have provided the biggest boost to sales, particularly in more expensive aircraft. Corporate air fleets range from sleek light planes to 570-mile-an-hour jets that seat 10 passengers.

Even railroads use private planes. Chesapeake & Ohio Railway has four twin-engine planes to move executives to some meetings. Chicago & North Western uses a twin-engine light plane and a turboprop.

FIELD EXPANDS

A mushrooming use of business jets has attracted military and major commercial airplane producers into the field. Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. is building a business jet that will cost more than $2 million. Lockheed's business jet sells for $1.6 million. Last month, Boeing announced it would make a jet for corporation use.

Less glamorous but far more plentiful are small propeller-driven aircraft largely produced by three major specialists in the light plane field: Beech Aircraft, Cessna Aircraft and Piper. Sales at the factory level of business and pleasure aircraft made by these companies soared last year to $176 million. In 1950, they amounted to only $19 million.

Increases in plushness and power have brought increases in price. The average private plane today sells for $22,000; the cheapest at about $7,000. The two-seater, single-engine aircraft of the 1940s cost $1,700 to $3,000.

Barber Shop Has New Ownership

John A. Ligouri of San Francisco has bought the Village Barber shop at 11 Bernard Street, Mill Valley, and opened it under his management yesterday.

The shop was formerly owned by Joseph Roccoforte, who died in August.

Ligouri has been a barber for four and one-half years, working at the 63 California Street barber shop in San Francisco. He and his wife, Janis, live in San Francisco. Ligouri said he plans to run the shop by himself, possibly hiring someone to help out on Saturdays.

Armstrong Consents To Revamp Pricing

LANCASTER, Pa. — A consent agreement, in which Armstrong Cork Co. undertakes to review and modify some of its pricing and marketing practices in the resilient flooring industry, has been entered into by Armstrong and the Federal Trade Commission.

The consent agreement points out that Armstrong's signing of the order is for settlement only purposes and is not an admission that the company has violated the law in any respect.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Glen's TV At New Location; Coffee, Etc. Doors Are Open

In his fifth move since 1953, Glen Retke has relocated his Glen's TV again—this time at 875 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

This is the store once occupied by Knit 'n Needle; it has good foot traffic in front of it all day long and more than three times the space Retke last had at 909 D Street—so he will enlarge his operation from strictly a repair shop to sales and repair service. He leased it through Coldwell, Banker and Co.

Retke will handle both black and white color sets—but deliveries on color are still sluggish. He first started his business in Fairfax, subsequently moved to San Anselmo, the Miracle Mile and three years ago to D Street.

NOW OPEN for business in the Northgate Shopping Center—opposite the Emporium and between Casual Aire and Loana's is Coffee, Etc., an interesting shop selling teas, coffees and spices and coffee makers. Mrs. Fred De Bow is in charge.

For those who like to try something new, a different blend of coffee is prepared everyday. There is a coffee bar where coffee and pastries are served. Decor is unusual, with an entire wall made of tea boxes.

I. L. POTTER of San Anselmo has been elected vice president of Chevron International Oil Co., Inc., newly created subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of California responsible for national and international sales of petroleum products to airlines and the marine trade.

Previously assistant manager of Standard's foreign trade department since 1963, Potter joined the organization 10 years ago as a marketing trainee with another Standard affiliate, California Rexas Oil Corp., New York. Headquarters of Chevron International will be in Standard's new building at 555 Market Street, San Francisco. The company will operate primarily in the western hemisphere.

NOW ASSOCIATED with Marin Capital Properties, which represents the Goheen land development in Mill Valley, are R. Wallace Lawson of San Anselmo, formerly with Coldwell, Banker and Co., and J. Trow Cutter of Mill Valley, formerly with Lewis Realty. Goheen has recently opened its Northridge development in the Scott Highland Two subdivision.

MONITOR PLASTICS CO., San Rafael, has been awarded a $23,100 contract by Textron's Bell Aerosystems Co. of Buffalo, N.Y. for ablative liners used by Bell in testing the Lunar Excursion Module ascent engine being built for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

HANK'S GULF STATION, San Anselmo has received commendation from Gulf Oil Co. regional sales director H. M. Hall as the best maintained owner-operated facility of about 50 of the company's stations in the Oakland and San Francisco districts.

"TEN TOWNHOUSE DECORATOR TOUR" to benefit Marin General Hospital will be staged at the Knoll at Peacock Gap Saturday, Nov. 13 through Sunday, Nov. 21 from 1 to 5 p.m. daily. Tickets may be purchased on site. Model homes will be decorated by Betty Perdue, Florence Huber, the Station House, Casa Marin, Bell's Draperies, Carpets and Interiors and Dorothy Farber—all of Marin. Other decorators include Norman Black Interiors, Douglas Baughman and Gertrude Roarke and Western Contract Furnishers.

CREDIT UNION of the East Bay and Marin County telephone company employees has earned three awards with its magazine "2-Eleven Foothill News" for best layout and typography, news-education balance and overall scoring in its class (credit unions with assets over one million dollars).

Smith Declares Independence For Rhodesia From Britain

COMBING THE HILLS—Dozens of California State Correction officers from San Quentin Prison joined yesterday with highway patrolmen and Sheriff's deputies in a search for Eual Leon Stone, reported missing near noon from a prison work camp. This group of correction officers is searching for fugitive Stone in the hills surrounding the Hutchison quarry between the prison and Highway 101. The search continued today. Johnson Calls Aides To Meet On Diplomacy

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson called his top military and diplomatic advisers to the LBJ Ranch today for his first major foreign affairs review since his Oct. 8 surgery.

Summoned for the day-long conference were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and McGeorge Bundy, Johnson's special assisant for national security affairs.

Officials said topics would include operations in Viet Nam, the Nov. 17 conference of hemisphere foreign ministers in Rio de Janeiro and the Dec. 6-8 American visit of West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

Joseph Laitin, acting press secretary, announced that Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission, director of the Johnson-ordered

Search Fails To Find Walk-Away Prisoner

A 27-year-old walk-away prisoner from San Quentin remained at large today despite a search patrol of over 50 guards supplemented yesterday by California Highway Patrol, sheriff's officers, and other law enforcement agencies.

Free is Eual Leon Stone, a Los Angeles County burglar described as "an ordinary sort of person—no trouble at all." He was working outside the wall on a minimum security ground crew when he departed, according to Prison Capt. C. G. Hocker.

The officer said the large search group was maintained through last night, then pulled off at 8 a.m. today. Continuing the vigil are two patrol cars, one working the south side of the ridge from San Quentin Wye to the Highway 101 intersection at Greenbrae, and the other from Richmond Bridge to San Quentin Wye.

Stone, serving two years for burglary and car theft, was paroled, then returned last August to San Quentin as a parole violator. He was missing about noon yesterday when a muster was held. He is described as 5 feet, 8½ inches tall, weighing 160 pounds, of ruddy complexion with brown hair, and having a tatooed skull on his left forearm.

He was wearing blue denims, officers said.

Marijuana Confirmed In Kentfield Shooting

Michael Lazar, 22-year-old College of Marin student murdered by a school custodian last Friday, did have a small container of marijuana in his possession at time of the shooting, it was confirmed yesterday.

Sheriff's Inspector Marco M. Melovich said a substance removed from Lazar's clothing and taken yesterday to a state narcotics laboratory in San Francisco was definitely established as "weed."

He added, however, that "at this particular phase of our investigation, there is no link (of the marijuana) to the murder as far as the motive is concerned."

Officers said it has not been determined how or where Lazar obtained the marijuana.

The youth, of 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, and a student at the college, was killed while he and a girl friend, Janine Lieberman, 18, also a student, were visiting in the apartment of the custodian, Hardy Westmore, 46, also of the Kentfield address.

Westmore is charged with the apparent motiveless slaying of Lazar and attempted murder on Miss Lieberman. She suffered a single .30 caliber deer rifle wound of the right shoulder and is in "fair" condition at Marin General Hospital.

Marin Coroner Frank J. Keaton said he discovered the marijuana in a 35-mm film can in Lazar's left front trousers pocket just after the shooting. It contained only enough marijuana for half a cigarette, he estimated.

Indians Stone Office

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Pakistani High Commission in New Delhi charged today that a mob of 200 stoned its office, causing "serious damage," and that Indian police beat three of its officials. A protest note demanded compensation and an official apology.

Eisenhower Chest Pain Returns

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Doctors said today former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is in "satisfactory" condition but warned he could lapse into a full blown heart attack.

"It is not uncommon for patients with known coronary disease to experience repeated episodes of chest pain which may or may not progress to a full blown heart attack," the medics said.

Doctors said they would continue to treat Eisenhower as if he had already suffered a heart attack.

In San Francisco, Dr. Paul Dudley White, the noted Boston heart specialist who treated Eisenhower for a heart attack 10 years ago, said he was confident that the former president will make a full recovery from his latest attack.

White, in San Francisco to address a program sponsored by two Northern California heart groups, Wednesday said he had spoken with Eisenhower's doctors and was satisfied the coronary attack Monday night was a mild one.

"There should be a good prognosis and the attack should leave no scar," he said.

Woman Burns Self In Viet Nam Protest

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A 24-year-old mother who had said "all the world's problems are my problems," was found with her clothing aflame late last night in front of her South Bend home. Her husband said she had been concerned about Viet Nam.

Patrolman Edward Friend said two burned books of paper matches were found on the steps of Mrs. Celene Jankowski's house.

Viet Cong Ambush Backfires On Road

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Viet Cong force ambushed a South Vietnamese unit on a main highway west of Saigon today, but 130 of the Communists were killed by combined ground and air action, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The spokesman said American and Vietnamese planes hammered the attacking Viet Cong and killed 100 of them. He had no information on government casualties or other details of the action five miles west of Baria.

A large force of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops pressed an offensive in sandy, rolling coastal terrain 350 miles northeast of Saigon, but results were meager.

Two Viet Cong were reported killed and 18 suspects were detained in the search-and-destroy mission 18 miles northwest of Chu Lai on the coast of the South China Sea. No Allied casualties were reported, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The Americans stormed ashore yesterday with the Vietnamese in the first joint amphibious operation of the war against the Viet Cong. Col. Thell Fisher of Springfield, Va., was in command of the operation, the first time an American was put in operational control of a Vietnamese fighting unit.

The United Auto Workers Union will send a fully equipped pediatric clinic and three tons of food and medical supplies to South Viet Nam.

Walter Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO union, said the $250,000 shipment will allow South Vietnamese trade unions to establish a children's clinic.

The new squadron of F100 Supersabre jets had been based in the Philippines and at Da Nang.

U.S. Air Force jets dropped 340,000 propaganda leaflets 180 miles west of Hanoi on Dien Bien Phu, site of the decisive French defeat in the Indochinese War.

Vietnamese troops said they uncovered a huge arms cache 40 miles west of Saigon.

Mrs. Cannon Will Not Ask Reelection

The committee which was organized to oppose the re-election of Novato Mayor Robert D. Carrow and Mrs. Lucile Cannon, met last night at the Hilltop Restaurant and found out that it might not have a campaign.

"There were 28 people at the meeting," said George Amaroli, who with Harold E. Bright has organized the "Committee for Reasonable and Prudent Taxation Through Representative Government."

However, when Amaroli and Bright called off their threatened recall of Carrow, Cannon and William Jack Adams, Carrow told them he might not run for re-election.

Mrs. Cannon yesterday announced that she would not run for re-election in the April municipal elections. She stated that she wished to spend more time with her family and that the threatened opposition had nothing to do with it.

"Carrow has not publically stated that he will not run, but if he runs for either the council or some higher office, we will oppose him," Amaroli said.

A motto "TAB", which stands for Taxation After Balloting, was adopted by the committee last night, according to Amaroli.

By MICHAEL PERCY

The Marine Mineral Technology Center's new research vessel set sail today from the Tiburon Peninsula to complete her first assignment since being commissioned.

The Serendipity, as she is called by the staff at the center located on Paradise Drive, is churning toward the waters off Santa Barbara where she will continue work on a project for the Defense Department.

Her job is to place buoys below the surface of the ocean at various depths to test sonic waves. The ship, manned by a crew of technicians from the Texas Instrument Corp. of Houston, returns to the buoys, equipped with devices to record the waves, in from one to three days to check the readings.

The exact nature of the project is classified.

"She should complete that job in about three weeks and return to us by Dec. 7," said J. Leslie Goodier, project leader for the undersea mining at the center. "Then we'll get to work equip-

Widening Talks In Closed Meet

The Kentfield Fire District Commission last night held a closed session with Asst. Director Arthur T. Knutson of the Marin County Public Works department on the possible effect of widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard on the fire district.

Thomas Henricks, deputy county counsel, told the commission that it was legal to hold a closed meeting because plans for the widening of the street were not public information yet and might affect the price of the property, said Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp.

The Ralph M. Brown act forbids closed meetings of municipal governing bodies except for hiring, firing or hearing charges against an employee.

Wilson Calls It Treason

COMBINED AP & UPI

SALISBURY, Rhodesia — Prime Minister Ian Smith declared Rhodesia independent today, the first such declaration against Britain since the American colonies broke away in 1776.

Britain retaliated swiftly, in effect outlawing Rhodesia. Prime Minister Harold Wilson declared in the House of Commons that Smith and his ministers had been fired—an action which will be ignored in Rhodesia. Wilson asserted his government will have no dealings with the Rhodesian regime.

Britain called for an immediate meeting of the United Nations Security Council to discuss the implications of Rhodesia's declaration of independence.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart was understood to be flying to New York from London to participate in the meeting.

The request for a council session was made by British Ambassador Lord Caradon in an early morning telephone call

Woman Leaps To Her Death From Bridge

A 30-year-old San Francisco woman, on leave as a patient from Napa State Hospital, leaped to her death from the east side of the San Francisco end of the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday morning.

Her plunge to the water 100 feet off shore was seen by motorist Jerry C. Bodewin of Novato and a Daly City woman at Fort Point below the bridge.

The California Highway Patrol said they found the purse of Karen Ann Silverstein on the east pedestrian walkway, between the south tower and the toll plaza. In her purse were papers indicating she was on leave from Napa State Hospital.

Her body was recovered shortly after she jumped by the fishing boat Marie Anna and was turned over to the Coast Guard, CHP officers said.

Dias Ranch Proposal On Mill Valley Agenda

The Marin County Planning Commission Monday will again consider the proposed master plan for the 170-acre Dias Ranch west of Mill Valley. The hearing is to begin at 2 p.m.

The commission meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center. One of the first matters on the morning agenda is an application for architectural supervision by Loyal Davis for a 12-unit apartment at 548 Miller Avenue, just outside of Mill Valley. The consideration has been repeatedly delayed pending improvement of the survey map, found at first to be in error, and due to many protests by adjacent property owners.

Item number 15 on the agenda is a request for a use permit for Synanon Foundation at Marshall for a trailer to serve as architect's and night watchman's headquarters in connection with construction at the narcotics treatment center.

The mayor of Belvedere is Merritt K. Ruddock. L. T. Mersereau is Belvedere fire chief.

Military Academy Cadets Promoted

A total of 96 cadets of the upper and lower schools of San Rafael Military Academy have recently been promoted, Lee L. Alfred, professor of military science, announced yesterday.

Dwight Fallon, B Company commander, was promoted to captain and the following cadets promoted to lieutenant: Peter Berton, Vaughn Feather, Stuart Haeder Jr., Robert Taylor, William Wooten, Greg Wilson and Steve Yoshino.

Promoted to master sergeant were: John Bower and Dennis Cooke, and Kirk Snyder is a new first sergeant.

Other promotions included eight cadets to the rank of sergeant first class, 16 to cadet sergeant, 22 to cadet corporal, 20 to private first class.

Officer Slate Elected By Redwood Club

Redwood High School's Drama Club has elected senior Hamp Lyons of Kentfield as president, Vicki Evans of Kentfield as vice president, and Vicki Turner of Greenbrae as secretary.

The club will assist with the production of "The Miracle Worker" at the school on the weekend of Nov. 18-19-20. Club members will head and staff committees for make-up, props, staging, lights, and programs, as well as some members acting in small roles and working on publicity.

Student Promotion

Robert D. Harris, son of Lt. Col. Zed Harris of 108 DuBois Street, San Rafael, was promoted to lieutenant in the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University of Oregon.

Officer Training

John Hinman, son of Col. and Mrs. John M. Hinman of Headquarters, Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command, at Fort Baker, has been accepted in the professional officers course of the Air Force ROTC at Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., where he is a junior.

The California Adult Authority has Fred R. Dickson of San Rafael as chairman.

Stinson Beach Party Slates Three Films

Stinson Beach Community Center will have a "Family Night" community party at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the center.

Films to be shown are "Schreecher, the Tern," an Audubon film; "Islands in Green" from the forest service, and a documentary on smoking created by John Korty of Stinson Beach. Refreshments will be served.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Ben-Gurion To Visit

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—Former Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion will visit the United States next February to attend a conference on the Israel Bible Research Society in Chicago, it was reported today.

Irish Leader Threats

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — The government last night ordered police protection for the homes of northern Ireland's premier and other ministers because of terrorist threats. The danger was apparently posed by Republican extremists who want to end the partition of Ireland.

Tass Accuses FBI

Threat Brings Arrest

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert Francis Squillan, 23, of New York, was arrested by the FBI yesterday on charges of writing a threatening letter to President Johnson.

Agent John F. Malone said Squillan mailed the letter from Rome. It was traced to him by an analysis of the handwriting.

Bliss Leaves Hospital

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) —Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss, 57, hospitalized five days ago with chest pains and a muscle spasm, was to leave today for his home in Akron, Ohio. Bliss became ill last Friday while attending the Western States Republican Conference. Doctors said they found no trace of any heart ailment.

Troops Query Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who returned last night from a tour of Viet Nam, said he was asked by some servicemen if the anti-war demonstrations reflect the feelings of "most young people in the United States." He said he had assured them that "the majority of Americans are in support" of Viet Nam's right to self determination.

Red Chinese Crew Defects

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Three crewmen of a Communist Chinese air force jet bomber defected to Nationalist China today and the Formosa government promptly presented them with a reward of $140,000 in gold.

The Chinese airmen landed the Russian-built plane at a Formosa air base. The plane skidded off the runway, seriously injuring the radio operator and bruising the navigator. The pilot was not hurt and the plane was only slightly damaged.

It was the third Communist plane to defect to the Nationalists.

College Student Refuses Draft

OAKLAND (AP)—A college student, calling the war in Viet Nam "immoral," says he will refuse to be drafted. But he adds that he would accept a draft to defend this country, "but not to fight in Viet Nam."

"The individual has the right to determine," said Daniel F. Healy, 21, "when he can or cannot take another man's life."

An FBI man warned Healy he could be committing a federal crime with a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine and five years in prison.

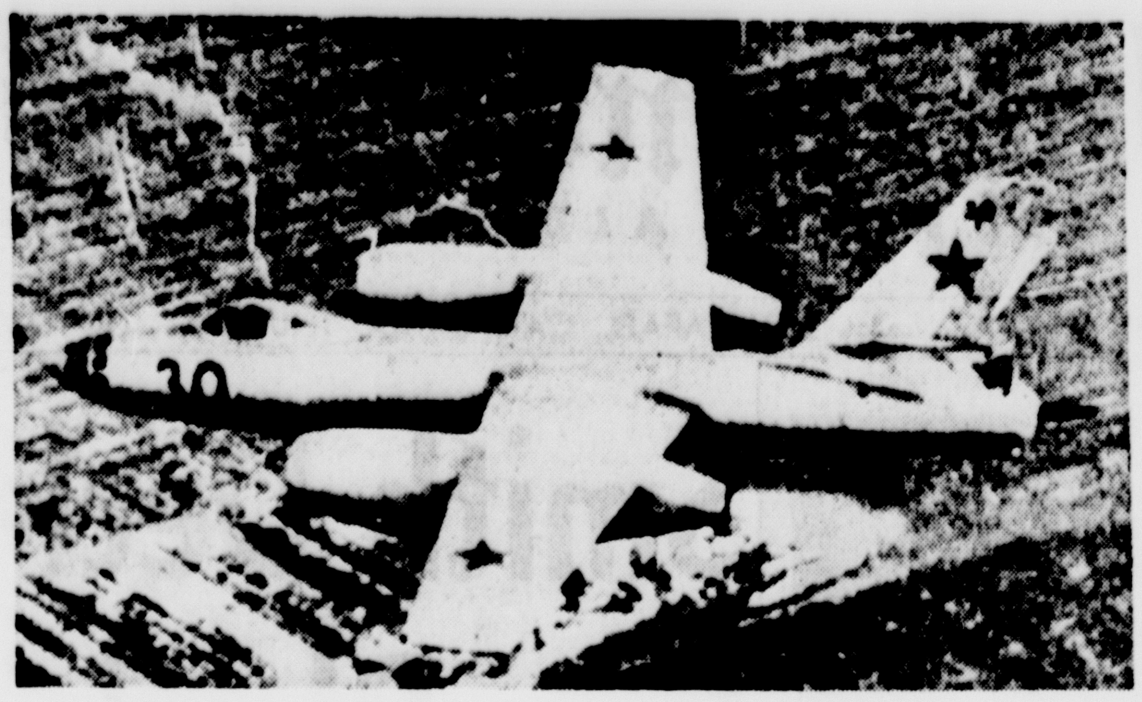
Healy said he was not a conscientious objector.

Peking U.N. Resolution Delayed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Peking's supporters today drafted a resolution to seat Communist China in the United Nations that would soft-pedal the expulsion of Nationalist China. But they delayed its introduction in the General Assembly.

Informed sources said the resolution would have Red China take over the seat "illegally occupied by" the nationalists.

This, some of the sponsors felt, would win some votes among African countries that balk at any proposal to expel the Republic of China on Taiwan.



DEFECTORS' PLANE—Three men, the crew of a Communist Chinese bomber like this one, flew their craft to Taipei, Formosa, today and asked asylum. The plane is a Russian-built 11-28. The bomber skidded on landing and two crew members were injured. (UPI Telephoto)

Marcos Leading Macapagal In Philippine Balloting

MANILA (UPI) — President Diosdado Macapagal continued to lose ground today to World War II hero Sen. Ferdinand E. Marcos in their election fight for the Philippines presidency. Nearly half the votes remained to be counted two days after the polls closed.

Latest returns showed Senate President Marcos with 2,333,031 votes to 1,899,245 for Macapagal. Fifty-seven per cent of the votes had been counted by noon today.

Marcos, 48, candidate of the Nacionalista Party, was one of the most decorated Filipino soldiers of World War II and a survivor of the Bataan death march. Macapagal seeks to become the Philippines, first two-time president. He belongs to the Liberal party.

Most political observers said it appeared doubtful Macapagal, 55, could overcome Marcos' strong lead with only half the vote remaining to be counted. Both candidates and the National Elections Commission declared they feared widespread fraud because of the lengthy delays in counting and reporting the eight million ballots.

The first vehicular crossing of San Diego Bay, now being planned and designed by the Division of Bay Toll Crossings, is scheduled to be completed in 1969.

Motorcycle-Car Crash Kills Youth

CONCORD (AP) — A motorcycle-automobile collision here last night killed Dale Thompson, 17, and critically injured Larry Cappell, 17, riding with him on the bike. Both lived in Concord.

Police said Thompson's motorcycle ran broadside into a car driven by Ronald G. Cast, 17, of Pittsburg about 8 p.m.

Aluminum Firms Rescind Price Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three of the nation's four big aluminum producers backed down today in the face of stern Johnson administration opposition and canceled price increases the government had called inflationary.

The Aluminum Co. of America—No. 1 in the industry — called it quits last night by rescinding the increases announced Monday. Reynolds Metals followed to hours later.

Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., third biggest, joined the procession midmorning today. That firm called the price rises "restorations" and said its action followed "similar cancellations by other major producers."

Alcoa's decision to cancel the price increase was announced at a hastily called night press conference by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. He hailed it as "a patriotic act."

The defense secretary also said the government agreed to an immediate resumption of negotiations for the orderly disposal of a surplus of 1.4 million tons of aluminum now held in national stockpiles.

McNamara said he believed the government would be able to limit the amount of aluminum disposed of from the stockpile to less than 200,000 tons and thus "avoid disruption" of prices.

One-Time 'Angel Of Broadway' Defeats Illness

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Rheba Crawford Lambertz, once known as New York's "Angel of Broadway," appears to be improving after being critically ill from meningitis, a county hospital spokesman said.

Mrs. Lambertz, 67, was reported to be in "fairly good condition" yesterday. She entered the hospital two weeks ago.

Mrs. Lambertz gained her title as "Angel of Broadway" as a sidewalk preacher for the Salvation Army in New York during the 1920s.

She resigned from the Salvation Army in 1929 and moved to California where she was appointed director of the State Department of Welfare.

Mrs. Lambertz later worked with the late Aimee Semple McPherson at the Angelus Temple in Los Angeles.

LBJ Talks Luci Into Delaying

Nugent plans to go into the service on Nov. 28. If he goes into the Air Reserves, it would be only a six-month stint.

Johnson is said to feel Luci is still too young. He also wants her to get her degree at Georgetown University's school of nursing.

The Golden Gate Bridge is the only toll bridge in California which is not administered by the state.

Student, Politicians Disagree On Viet

By WAT TAKESHITA

Four radio panelists disagreed this morning on the justification for use of force in Viet Nam.

They spoke over Radio Station KTIM's Sounding Board program, directed by Kitty Oppenheimer. The discussion will be rebroadcast via tape recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Robert D. Carrow, chairman of the Marin Democratic Central Committee, and Thomas A. Skornia, chairman of the Marin Council of Democratic Clubs, defended U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Nancy Swadesh of Tiburon, state chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, and Lynn Gray, 21, College of Marin student from Fairfax and member of the Marin Viet Nam Committee, disagreed.

Carrow noted these three choices for the U.S.: (1) Pull out, (2) stop the bombing and military buildup, and (3) negotiate.

He said no reputable organization would go so far as to urge an immediate pullout. He added that the second and third alternatives have been tried, all unsuccessfully.

Since North Viet Nam will not negotiate, the U.S. has no alternative but to exert enough force to bring them to negotiation, said Carrow.

"We are trying to rule out violence; yet we are carrying out our well-intentioned policies through violence," declared Mrs. Swadesh. "This certainly is a paradox."

In Europe after World War II, communism was stemmed through the Marshall Plan. "Why not a similar program in Viet Nam?" she asked.

She said the conflict in Viet Nam is essentially a civil war, and she questioned America's "moral justification" for killing the Vietnamese and exposing American boys to death and injury.

American military might will probably wipe out the North Vietnamese, but the ideaological conflict will remain, Mrs. Swadesh contended.

"Whether we should be supporting our young men in Viet Nam is not the question; they shouldn't be there in the first place."

Skornia warned that South Viet Nam is "only a testing ground in the planned Communist program to encircle and defeat the free nations of Southeast Asia and of the world."

Until world peace can be achieved through world law, "we must be prepared when called upon to meet force and violence with measured responses which will at least permit the ad hoc development of a process for more orderly change."

Skornia declared that the U.S. has "no other choice" but to meet force with force.

Gray, speaking as an individual, traced the history of the struggle in Viet Nam, dating back to the 1954 Geneva Accord, when the country was partitioned and plans set up for free elections in 1956.

He contended that free elections were not held, and that Ngo Dinh Diem was installed chief of state by an electorate consisting of about 15 per cent of the citizenry.

Gray pointed out that Dwight D. Eisenhower and other American leaders felt that if widespread elections were held at that time, about 80 per cent would have voted for Ho Chi Minh.

"The Diem regime had no popular support," said Gray. He sees "no justification for support of Diem" or for any of the other governments that have been installed in the last 10 years.

The panelists agreed that draft card burning and troop train stopping are illegal, and those who engage in such activities should be prepared for the consequences.

Youth Council Group Selected

Six were named last night to a committee to prepare bylaws for the Mill Valley Youth Council which has been operating under regulations in the southern Marin Boys Club charter, Jack Benjamin, council co-director announced today.

Mrs. Parnel Finn will be chairman. Others are Frank David, Les Mize, J. M. Sykes, Jack Little and Benjamin.

The committee expects to make its recommendation at the next meeting of the Youth Council Advisory Committee Dec. 13.

THIS DRIVE NOT PARADISE

Thomas G. Corbett of 119 Jamaica Avenue, Tiburon, was driving East on Paradise Drive in his Volkswagen last night when he suddenly found the road had cracked and dropped six inches along the dividing line near El Camino Avenue. The discovery came to him with a jolt and a tearing noise. He stopped his car and found his two left tires torn up, police reported. Officer Charles Brobeck said the fissure ran 57 feet down the road. When an Independent-Journal photographer went to the road later this morning, the crack was blacktopped over. Town Manager Ronald L. Usher said he did not know who made the repair. He had not even been told of the crack, he said. Paradise Drive has been site of a sewer line replacement the last two months. The town has complained of damage to the road.

Dixie Board To Pass Up Poverty Coin

Trustees of the Dixie School District last night agreed they will not seek $11,370 available under the recent public law 10-89 for education of children from impoverished families.

Districts can only receive the money if they develop a program specifically aimed at such pupils.

Trustees agreed to experiment with two new kinds of report cards. Seventh and eighth graders at Miller Creek School will be first graded according to five different achievement levels. They then will have five different grades they can receive within that level, Supt. Dennie B. Willis explained.

At Bernard Hoffman School, fourth and six graders will be given two grades, one for standing in his class and another grade related to his own effort.

Trustees approved a change in the speech therapy schedule. Therapist, instead of two visits a week with pupils, will work for six weeks steadily with those in need and then let the pupil rest for six weeks.

Willis said a test of this scheduling proved very effective last year.

Collision Hurts Inverness Woman

Mrs. Manka Prokupek, 56, of the Inverness Valley Inn, Inverness, was treated at Marin General Hospital last night for multiple cuts on her face, after the car she was riding in struck a car which skidded broadside into the eastbound lane on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, one mile west of Fairfax.

Russell G. Elmore, 17, of 145 Central Avenue, Woodacre, was westbound on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard when a tire failed and his car skidded on a curve, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The CHP said his car slid into the eastbound lane and was struck by a car driven by Milos V. J. Prokupek. Highway patrol officers said Elmore complained of pain around his ribs but said he would see his own doctor.

A/C Transit To Hike Some Fares

OAKLAND (AP) — Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District said today it would increase bus fares for children and trans-bay commuters Jan. 1 because of mounting costs.

Directors said they are faced with a deficit of approximately $750,000 for the current year.

Trans-bay commute fares will be increased 2 cents a ride. Children's fares will be increased to 15 cents from 10.

The district's 20-ride commute books to San Francisco will be increased 46 cents.

White said Eisenhower's second attack was typical of angina Pectoris, or cardiac insufficiency. He hazarded a guess that Eisenhower had "put on a pound or two" in recent months.

A statement issued by doctors this morning said:

"It is our opinion that the attack of pain which occurred yesterday afternoon represented another episode of acute coronary insufficiency of longer duration and greater intensity than the episode he experienced Tuesday morning.

The 75-year-old Eisenhower was placed under an oxygen tent again yesterday when he had another attack of chest pains which hospitalized him early Tuesday morning.

Sausalitans Turn Out To Assist School Planning

The Sausalito School District Board last night met with 75 residents who answered an invitation to help in a study which will prepare plans for new school buildings.

The district is contemplating a three-year building program which could require a million-dollar bond issue.

District Supt. Charles Lavaroni said today that 112 invitations had been mailed to people recommended to help in the study. Along with the 75 who attended last night's meeting, he said, 15 others sent letters expressing their support.

Persons who attended last night's meeting, Lavaroni said, were assigned to five subcommittees which will report back to the entire "committee of 100" in February.

Vandals Overturn Mechanical Rides

Vandals overturned the mechanical toys, broke bottles and emptied garbage in the Corte Madera Shopping Center sometime early this morning, according to Corte Madera police.

The hobby horse, rocket ship and swing sets on the east side of the center were overturned, police reported. A car with several youths in it was seen in the area by a nearby service station attendant between 3 and 5 a.m., according to police. No description of either the car or its occupants was obtained by police.

Burglaries Reported In Four Homes

Loss of two television sets and a large mirror in a burglary of the home of Joanne Winfred Betts, 742 Marin Drive, Tamalpais Valley, was reported by sheriff's deputies today.

Officers said entry was via an unlocked sliding door.

Arlys D. Lines, 160 Miller Road, Mill Valley, reported her son's locker at Tamalpais High School was forced and a ring and wristwatch worth a total of $300 were taken.

A $30 love seat owned by James Meyer, owner of Bungalow Motel at Stinson Beach, was stolen from the Stinson Beach Motel, officers also reported. Entry to a motel room was by breaking a front door glass.

Burglars entered an unlocked family room door of the home of Ann L. Al-Shamma, 3195 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, to steal $6 cash and a radio, sheriff's officers said today.

Humphrey Vows U.S. To Remain Until Peace Won

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today led the country in paying homage to the nation's veterans with a pledge that "we will remain in Viet Nam until a just and lasting peace has been established there."

At the same time he lashed out at those who plead "that mankind's plight in other places need not be our concern.

"These voices must be rejected," Humphrey said. "Theirs is the counsel of despair and defeat."

The speech spearheaded the theme of this year's Veterans Day observance, "Peace With Honor." Johnson called in a proclamation for the day to show the dedication of Americans for "the cause of world peace."

When the San Diego-Coronado Bridge is completed, it will be 10,000 feet long, will provide a minimum 200-foot clearance over two main channnel spans, and will carry four lanes of traffic on a single level.

inquiry into the cause of the power blackout, has agreed to remain in his post until Dec. 31. Swidler, whose term on the FPC expired last June 22, had planned to enter private law practice in Washington next week.

Laitin said Swidler's extended tenure had nothing to do with the power failure — that Johnson had asked him to stay before the blackout hit the Northeast.

Togetherness Extends To Twin Surgery

CHICAGO (UPI) — After 37 years, the "togetherness" of a good marriage became second nature to Mr. J. Alvin Dru'yor, 62, and his wief, Inez, 60.

It carried them into a Chicago operating room yesterday in an affair of the heart. Both suffered from identical heart conditions and both underwent identical operations.

Dr Maurice Mazel said today the couple as in "very good" condition. They were expected to be up and around today and should be able to leave the hospital in "from seven to 10 days." Mazel said.

Contrary to usual folk custom, it was gentlemen first in the tandem operations; Dru'yor went first because his was the greatest risk.

Dr. Mazel said "approximately 87 per cent have survived" the operations. "This is the 106th consecutive operation without a single death."

Chisel Left Behind In Burglary Attempt

Officers said the would-be intruders apparently had been scared off. Police also reported theft of an $180 automobile stereophonic set from the car of Linda L. Landers, 1101 Grand Avenue, and parked at home.

to Council President Fernando Ortiz Sanz of Bolivia.

There was no immediate word on when the session would be held.

Wilson expelled Rhodesia from the sterling area, banned exports, including British purchases of Rhodesia's $112 million a year tobacco crop, ended all British aid, suspended trading preferences.

Britain embargoed the shipment of all arms to this central African country, and asked for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council.

The United States publicly deplored today Rhodesia's unilateral declaration of independence from Britain and the State Department announced "we will be in consultation with the British government."

The statement, by emphasizing consultation with Britain, left no doubt that the United States intends full support for Wilson's program of economic boycott of the Rhodesian regime.

Britain's other allies, were expected to join in ignoring the declaration and in imposing economic sanctions.

While Smith still was speaking on the radio, British Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs announced that Smith and all his ministers had been dismissed on orders of Queen Elizabeth for "an unconstitutional act of independence."

Smith and his Cabinet determined to go it alone after months of fruitless negotiations in which the British government demanded guarantees of eventual political power for the colony's 4 million Africans. Smith and his colleagues are determined to preserve rule by Rhodesia's 225,000 white settlers.

In proclaiming independence, Smith rejected last-minute appeals from both Wilson and Queen Elizabeth II. Wilson had telephoned Smith at 6 a.m. today in a final attempt to dissuade him.

Smith's broadcast was monitored in London at No. 10 Downing Street while the British Cabinet was in session considering the crisis.

As soon as Smith made his declaration, the British governor of Rhodesia, Sir Humphrey Gibbs, announced that on instructions from the queen he had suspended Smith and all his ministers from office.

It was not immediately clear how the governor would implement the queen's instructions, however. Wilson previously had ruled out the use of British troops to nullify a declaration of independence.

Smith, in his broadcast in Salisbury, said Rhodesians had demonstrated their loyalty to the crown and to others in the United Kingdom and elsewhere throughout two world wars.

He contended that the people of Rhodesia fully supported the request of their government for sovereign independence.

Yorty Blasts Request For 5,000 Negro Jobs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Samuel W. Yorty says a recommendation by the County Human Relations Commission that 5,000 new jobs be made available for Negroes is "an extremely dangerous, ill-conceived statement."

Such a move, Yorty told newsmen Wednesday, "would really skyrocket property taxes." The recommendation, he said, is building up a case for a potential riot."

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Amelia M. Lamb Dies At 82

Amelia M. Lamb, 82, of 21 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, a retired practical nurse, died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

A native of Minster, Ohio, Mrs. Lamb had lived in California and Marin County one and a half years. She worked as a practical nurse in Gary, Ind., where she lived most of her life. She moved here from Florida, where she lived for six years after retiring.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Mary Owens and Mrs. Martha Keever, both of San Anselmo, three grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A Requiem Mass will be offered Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo. Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Two Injured In San Rafael Accidents

Two persons were injured, neither seriously, in separate traffic accidents in San Rafael yesterday.

Charles Doyle, 17, of 327 Colburn Street, San Rafael, suffered bruises, a fractured left hand, and a sprained finger about 7 p.m. when the motorcycle he was riding and a car driven by Thomas Alan Barker, 34, of 8 Third Street, San Rafael, collided at the intersection of Lincoln and Fifth Avenues.

Mrs. Aimee Posty, 68, of 207 Bayview Street, San Rafael, suffered right shoulder and collar bone injuries when the car in which she was riding was in collision with a second vehicle at D and Bayview streets at 4:54 p.m.

Police said she was passenger in a vehicle driven west on Bayview Street by John Posty, 68, of the same address. Martin Henry Long, 49, of 116 Longfellow Drive, Mill Valley, was driving the other vehicle south on D Street.

Both victims were treated and released from San Rafael General Hospital.

Military Agents Arrest Soldier In Viet Protest

FT. DEVENS, Mass. (UPI)—A soldier, dressed in civilian clothes while participating in an anti-Viet Nam demonstration, was seized by military officials outside the main gate of this Army post on Veterans Day today.

The soldier, who identified himself as Pvt. Steven Underwood, 18, Fremont, Calif., was one of 25 pickets protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam. Some carried signs and said there was a possibility of a draft card burning incident later today.

Underwood was grabbed by two military intelligence agents in civilian clothes. Before leading him away they made him show his military pass, meal card and other papers.

Underwood said he enlisted in the Army for four years in March. "But I didn't have all the facts before I signed up," he said.

Asked whey he was demonstrating, he answered, "It's what I believe in."

NELL CLARK

Mrs. Nell Clark, who for many years had taught school in one room school houses in the Missouri River area of Kansas, died today in a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Bellville, Kans., she had started teaching school when she was 16 years old. She rode horseback to reach the remote rural schools where she taught for 12 years. She had made her home in Troy, Kan., until moving to San Rafael 10 years ago to make her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tegeler of 189 Bay View Drive. She was 88 years old.

Prior to moving west, she had been active in the Republican party in northeast Kansas.

She is survived, in addition to her daughter, two sons, Dr. John Clark of Asbury Park, N.J., and Ian Clark of Victorville, Calif., and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Holy Innocents Episcopal Church in Corte Madera. Interment will follow in Kansas.

LOUIS NORGUIERA

Louis Norguiera, 59, of 312 H Street, San Rafael, a 19-year resident of Marin, died at a local hospital today after a brief illness.

He was a member of the Marin County Mounted Sheriff's Posse and once served as posse captain.

He was a chemist with the American Marine Paint Co. in San Francisco.

He leaves his wife, Marie Norguiera, a daughter, Gloria Ecton of Fairfax, a sister, Mrs. Helen Carlson of San Francisco, and a brother, Joseph Norguiera of San Francisco. He also leaves four grandchildren.

Funeral cortege will leave Chapel of the Hills Mortuary in San Anselmo at 8:30 a.m. Saturday and go to St. Rita's Church in Fairfax where a Requiem Mass will be held at 9 a.m. Rosary will be recited at Chapel of the Hills at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

SEN. HARRY F. BYRD
Retires at 78

Sen. Byrd Quits Post In Senate After 32 Years

Harrison said the resignation was effective last night upon receipt of a letter from the 78-year-old Senator announcing his retirement.

Byrd was appointed to the U.S. Senate on March 4, 1933, and became one of the most powerful political figures in the country.

The text of Byrd's resignation said:

"It was 50 years ago this month that I first was elected to the Senate of Virginia. Since then through the partiality and generosity of the people of Virginia I havs served as governor of our Commonwealth and for nearly 33 years I have served in the United States Senate.

"I have concluded that the time has come for someone younger to bear these burdens and shoulder these responsibilities."

He gave arthritis as his main reason for giving up his Senate post.

Redwood Stunts Due To Aid Lettermen

The Green Archer, a Robin Hood-style hero, will invade Redwood High School next week to help finance the school's Letterman Club.

Flaming arrows and fair maidens will aid the Archer in his shows in an attempt to surpass the highly successful "Zorro" series, begun last year by football coach Bob Troppmann to bolster the sagging Letterman treasury.

MANSFIELD TRIP RAISES QUESTIONS

Senate Diplomatic Expert Shunted Aside To Minor Parley In Australia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's approval of a European- Asiatic factfinding tour by Sen. Mike Mansfield has raised new speculation over White House relations with Sen. J.W. Fulbright.

While Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, and four colleagues are assessing relations with European allies and probing conditions in Asia, Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Foreign Relations Committee, is scheduled to attend a minor conference in New Zealand.

Fulbright has contended that the Johnson administration over-reacted when it intervened militarily in the Dominican Republic. He has suggested a new and longer pause in North Viet Nam bombings to encourage the Communists there to negotiate. The White House has said this would not do any good.

Fulbright heads a group scheduled to attend a meeting of British Commonwealth parliamentarians in Wellington, New Zealand, the first week of December. While this may furnish valuable contacts, it seems unlikely to produce any world-stirring pronouncements.

The freeze that seems to have developed in relations between the President and Fulbright after the latter's Sept. 15 criticism of the Dominican course shows no signs of breaking. Senatorial colleagues said Fulbright wrote Johnson a note while the President was in the hospital for his gall bladder operation and got back an acknowledgment from a staff member.

It was not exactly clear how the Mansfield trip materialized. But it was known that it was not authorized through the Foreign Relations Committee and that Fulbright was surprised by the announcement.

Mansfield has been critical of some aspects of Johnson's Viet Nam policy. But he has supported the President's course despite his original opposition to escalation of the war.

He said yesterday in a statement:

"To the extent that we speak abroad, it will be solely to stress the essential unity of this government in the search for an equitable and lasting peace in Viet Nam and for stable and mutually satisfying and useful relations with all nations similarly inclined."

Mansfield's group will include one other Foreign Relations Committee member beside himself, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt. Others going along are Sens. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii; J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del.; and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

The extent of White House interest in the trip was indicated by the fact that the Mansfield group will travel by Air Force jet while Fulbright's delegation and another headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., were told they would have to get slower planes or commercial accommodations.

Fairfax Trustees Set Hiring Rules

The Fairfax School District board, meeting last night, set up procedures for choosing a new superintendent for the district from an expected 40 applicants.

Supt. Homer Sisk reported that the board met with the screening committee, composed of William Vanason, director of business services in the county schools office, Tamalpais High School District Supt. Chester Carlisle, and Mill Valley School District Supt. G. R. McConnell.

The board and screening committee determined that an advisory committee would first choose from nine to 12 of the candidates by reading their confidential files, then pass these names onto the screening committee for closer evaluation, Sisk said.

Peking Flays Kremlin For Peace Effort

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today the Soviet Union tried to end the Viet Nam war early this year "in tacit agreement and close collaboration" with President Johnson.

"Since (the Soviets) are cooperating so closely with the U.S. imperialists in united action, it is, of course, impossible for (Chinese) Marxist-Leninists to join in and take 'united action' with them," the Chinese said.

The Chinese, in an 18,000-word article in the party theoretical journal Red Flag, said the Soviet peace moves started in January when Soviet leaders transmitted to Communist North Viet Nam a U.S. demand that it stop supporting the Viet Cong, stop supplying it with guns and stop attacks on the cities of South Viet Nam.

The article outlined these other Soviet overtures and the responses:

In February, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, en route home from North Viet Nam, stressed in talks with Chinese leaders in Peking "the need to help the United States find a way out of Viet Nam."

"This was firmly rebutted," the Chinese said, and "we expressed the hope that the new leaders of the Soviet Communist party would support the struggle of the Vietnamese people and not make a deal with the United States on the question of Viet Nam."

Kosygin agreed, but "the new leaders of the Communist party of the Soviet Union soon went back on their promise."

On Feb. 15, the day after Kosygin returned to Moscow, the Soviet government officially put before North Viet Nam and China a proposal to convene a new international conference on Indochina without prior conditions.

This amounted to an endorsement of President Johnson's offer for "unconditional negotiations," Peking claimed. It charged that the Soviet leaders have been trying to arrange peace talks without mentioning withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam.

U.S. Nuclear Expert Reported As Missing

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Army reported today that a nuclear technician based in Germany disappeared on a trip to the United States after delivering classified material to an Army depot in New York State.

The man was identified as CWO Spencer D. Harris Jr. His hometown was not immediately available nor was the site of the depot to which he delivered the material.

The widely circulated newspaper Bild Zeitung said Harris was fully informed on the location and plans for all U.S. nuclear weapons stored in Germany. It said he also had knowledge of nuclear tactics to be used in case of emergency.

Bild Zeitung said American security agents around the world had been alerted to look for the missing man.

Harris was last heard from Sept. 21 when he cabled for an extension of his leave.

The Overseas Weekly, a private newspaper published here for American forces in Europe, reported today that the disappearance of another American soldier, Sgt. 1.C. Glen R. Rohrer, 44, of West Allis, Wis., had set back Army espionage in Europe 5 to 10 years.

Rohrer left his intelligence unit in Frankfurt on Aug. 16. His car was found abandoned near Weiden, on the border between Czechoslovakia and West Germany, and bloodhounds followed his scent to the border.

The Overseas Weekly, quoting high intelligence sources, said Rohrer crossed into Czechoslovakia with top secret information and the names of hundreds of Western agents and contacts operating in Communist countries. As a result, many operatives have been pulled back into the West, the weekly reported.

Ross Trustees Hold Session On Faculty

Trustees of the Ross School District last night held a special closed session for teacher evaluation and continued it until next Monday, Supt. William W. Monohan reported today.

The Monday session will start at 7:30 p.m. and the regular, open meeting of trustees will start at 8:30 p.m., he said. Teacher evaluations are discussed by the board every spring and fall, Monohan explained.

Fuel Stolen

Theft of 325 gallons of American Helicopter Corp.'s aviation fuel stored in an underground tank at The Lodge, north of Novato, was reported today by sheriff's officers. A padlock was filed for access to the tank.

Bolinas-Stinson Board Backs Tam Bond Issue

Trustees of the Bolinas Stinson School District last night unanimously endorsed the $5.75 million bond measure to be decided by voters of the Tamalpais High School District Tuesday, trustee Arthur E. Carpenter reported today.

The board will meet next on Dec. 8 for review of budget expenditures.

"She was actually first commissioned as the Navy net layer Suncock in 1946, but being completed right after the end of the war she spent most of her life in mothballs.

"The Navy recommissioned her at Mare Island and turned her over to the center last July. Since then we've been working on her, too. New navigational equipment, radar and a radio telephone system have been installed.

"We have yet to squip her with Sonar to record the contours of the bottom of the sea and other such refinements."

The Serendipity is 168 feet in length and has a beam of 34 feet, much larger than her sister ship, the 65-foot Perspicacity.

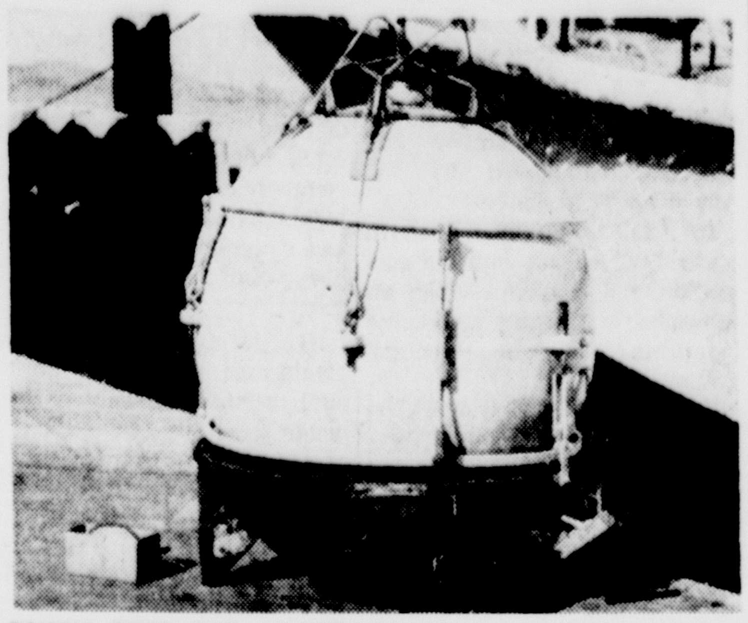
"The Perspicacity is now conducting underwater mineral tests off the Washington and Oregon coasts," Goodier said. "But she's pretty small and we have to keep her close to shore. The Serendipity will be able to go anywhere in the world."

The Serendipity, which will carry a crew of about 15 scientist-seamen, has a crane capable of lifting 20 tons and two lifting horns on her bow with a 50-ton capacity.

"When we start working with small two-man submersible vessels—we don't like to call them submarines—next year, that lifting capacity will come in handy," said Goodier, upon whose wall hangs the words: "think down."

The ship has been in use now for about two weeks, practicing with the buoys in San Francisco Bay and planting them along the coast off Northern California.

The Marine Mineral Technilogy Center, under the Department of the Interior, is expecting a small two-man submersible vessel from the General Dynamics Corp.'s San Diego marine research center late next month.



BUOYS TEST FOR SOUNDS—Orange buoys, such as this one, have been planted in waters off the coast of Northern California to test sonic waves for the Defense Department by the Serendipity. (Independent-Journal photo)

The Serendipity will be used as mother ship to conduct tests off Point Reyes with the craft. The small sub will will also be used to explore for phosphate, a mineral in demand for fertilizers.

Webster's gives the definition of serendipity as "an apparent aptitude for making discoveries accidentally."

"The ocean holds great promise for Man," said Goodier, "but any discoveries we make with the help of Serendipity won't be by chance; they'll be the results of hard work. . . . Well, maybe a little bit o' luck, too."

Bus Crash Brings Death To 4 In Car

STEWARTS POINT (UP)—Four persons were killed on rain slick Highway 1 yesterday when a packed school bus collided with a car near here in Sonoma County.

The victims were all occupants of the car. None of the 30 children and adults aboard the school bus was seriously hurt although many minor injuries were reported.

The victims were tentatively identified as Pauline Horn, 37; Jarad Horn, 4; Nadine M. McGill, 18, and Ella P. White, 70, all believed to be from Point Arena.

The Highway Patrol said Mrs. Horn's vehicle skidded broadside across the highway and was struck by the bus.

Apollo Delayed, But Not Gemini

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — U.S. scientists today delayed until Saturday the first test firing of the new Apollo spaceship, but took another step toward the Gemini 7 launch Dec. 4 by wiring the to-man capsule to its booster.

The Apollo rocket unit being readied for a 15-second ground firing is similar to one that is to return three moon explorers to earth after the first lunar exploration in about three years. The static test had been set for tomorrow, but lagging preparations put it off a day.

Work leading toward the launch of Gemini 7 and then Gemini 6 in December was proceeding at full speed.

DON'T FAIL OUR CHILDREN

You have a vital stake in what happens Nov. 16. The issue: A bond proposal for the Tamalpais Union High School District.

The choice: Will we maintain our tradition of excellence? Or will our schools be swamped by a rush of children—young victims of Marin's growth?

FACT: Proposed is $5,750,000 to build the initial phase of San Geronimo High and the final phase of Redwood High.

FACT: Right now there are nore students than spaces at the district's three schools: Drake, Redwood and Tam. Marin's growth will soon have them bursting at the seams.

FACT: The two new projects will ease pressure at all three present schools.

FACT: The needed schools will have to be built sometime. If they are delayed only two years, increased costs will exceed $575,000. That's not economy.

FACT: Everybody's for the bond issue. From both sides of the unification issue. From both political parties. Thousands of individuals. Scores of groups. There is no significant opposition—nobody argued against it with the official sample ballot.

EVERYONE AGREES . . .

WHICH WAY IS UP?

California Highway Patrol officer Thomas Foley talks with Larry A. Hawkinson, 25, of 204 Laurel Place, San Rafael, (head visible) after pulling him out of the wreckage of this van truck, six miles west of Highway 101 on Lucas Valley Road. The westbound truck ran off the road, down an embankment and rolled against a tree. Hawkinson was trapped inside for 20 minutes before help arrived. He was examined at Marin General Hospital and released, suffering a bruised arm and chest. (Independent-Journal photo)

District May Require Hill Sewer Valves

Directors of Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary district last night discussed an ordinance that would require backwater valves in new subdivisions for hilly areas.

District secretary Helen D. Foulkes said the proposed ordinance was tabled until a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 18 at the district office in order to have more information.

Needed was a firmer idea of valve cost. Directors last night heard estimates ranging from $21 to $125.

Contractors would be required to make the installation in new tracts. The district could not require the installation in existing subdivisions, but could recommend the valves for home owners in hilly areas.

Directors have been considering the requirements for some time, but a recent case in which sewage backed into a home after the street line was clogged, helped prompt last night's discussion, said Mrs. Foulkes.

The west Carquinez Bridge carried two-directional traffic on its three lanes until Nov. 25, 1958, when the four-lane east bridge was opened after a $44 million construction project.

DIRECTORS TALK TO GRAND JURY

More Study Of Gallinas Village Complaints Will Precede Any Action, Panel Announces

Testimony from all five members of Gallinas Village Community Service District board was taken by Marin County Grand Jury yesterday in an investigation of charges of district irregularities.

However, jury foreman George R. Scott said no immediate release of the information will be made. He said the court reporter's transcript—to be completed in a day or two—will be given to the panel's committee on municipalities, districts and commissions for study.

The committee then will report to the entire jury for possible further action.

The investigation followed charges by Albert R. Borden, 707 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, that board directors have violated sections of the state code in conducting district business. Borden, who previously testified before the jury, was not present at yesterday's session.

Board members attending were Herbert C. Belben, chairman, and John H. Campbell, Mrs. Alys Durenberger, Harry W. Thomas and John H. Miller.

Scott said questions prepared by the committee were asked, then jurors asked individual questions.

In other action, the jury quizzed County Administrator Alan Bruce about a charge that money from a special tax levy is not being directed toward its proper goal—a veteran's memorial building at the Civic Center. A proposal has been made that the memeorial building would be combined with a Civic Center auditorium, rather than as an originally planned separate building.

Bruce informed the jury yesterday that the Marin County Veterans' Memorial Building committee has approved the joint building plan. W. P. Duhamel, chairman of the committee, also told newsmen today the plan is acceptable. He said concern was not over a combined building, but whether the building can be named as a veteran's memorial building.

It can, he said.

Richmond Firm To Do Repairs On Bridge Piers

A low bid of $98.201 was opened by the Division of Bay Toll Crossings yesterday to repair damage caused when a Navy picket ship crashed into two piers of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge last Jan. 15.

The bid, submitted by Duncan-Harrelson Company of Richmond, was forwarded to the Department of Public Works in Sacramento for formal approval. Four other bids ranging to $204,313 were submitted.

The accident occurred as the USS Locator was being towed under the bridge. The picket ship crashed into the pier on the west side of the main channel, smashing loose the wooden fenders and damaging the concrete of the pier structure. It then ricocheted and damaged fenders around the pier on the east side of the main channel.

Accident Claim Congestion In Courts To Get Study

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Congestion in California's courts, caused primarily by an increasing number of accident damage cases, will be the subject of seminars in Los Angeles and San Francisco tomorrow and Saturday, sponsored by the American Trial Lawyers Assn.

In what is an innovation in methods of coping with the congestion, the seminars invite all attorneys in the state to become "students" at the teaching groups.

Joseph Kelner, New York, is leader of a team of lawyer-professors which will seek to find the key to unlocking court congestion. He said about 99 per cent of all personal injury cases are settled at present, but the one per cent left has caused the difficulty.

"Understanding," Kelner stated, "professionally and technically, the techniques for settlement and damages cuts appreciably into the one per cent, and results in welfare both for the client and the taxpayer."

"The practicing attorney," said Markus, "realizes that the demand for settlement in personal injury cases calls for a comprehensive knowledge of legal, psychological, economic and community values to serve client and the public."

Anti-Social Causes Attacked By Waters

VAN NUYS (AP) — "No one espousing anti-social causes is going to sit in the governor's chair after next year's elections," Laughlin E. Waters, Republican candidate for governor, said in a speech last night.

The former U. S. district attorney for Southern California listed as "anti-social" attitudes: "Blind opposition to medicare; destructive attacks upon. . .social security"; "unrealistic positions" on the Viet Nam issue or "failure, in any way, to indicate that California must and should assume its own obligations as the greatest state in the nation."

PANDORA'S BOX CLOSES

Planned Parenthood, Middle Age Discussed At Marin Symposium

Most of the problems that beset families living in Suburbia are as common among city dwellers, it was agreed by a group of six panelists last night at Civic Center.

It was the fourth and last discussion in the symposium, "Home in Suburbia — Pandora's Box." Last night's discussion was moderated by Jack Danielson. It ranged over a variety of topics, including middle age frustration, the child-centered home, sex education, and psychiatric counselling.

Panel members representing the four sponsoring agencies were Dr. James Green of Ross, Marin Assn. for Mental Health; Dr. Janet Lyon of Tiburon, Family Service League; Mrs. Emanuel Rapaport, Young Women's Christian Assn., and Dr. William Langford of Kentfield, Planned Parenthood Assn. Also on the panel were Miss Margaret Frings of the Catholic Social Service and Mrs. D. Kirk Davidson of the Marin Volunteer Bureau.

Dr. Langford said of the 140 babies born each month at Marin General Hospital, 10 are born to families on welfare.

To serve such clients, to a great extent, the Planned Parenthood Assn. operates a clinic in San Rafael and another in Marin City.

"Parents don't want more children than they can emotionally accept and economically afford," he said. Clients come from as far away as Santa Rosa and the coast, where this service is not available, Dr. Langford reported.

Several of the panelists considered middle age "blues." Dr. Green, who practices psychiatry in San Francisco, said that the suburban housewife is not alone in experiencing a feeling of emptiness as her 40th birthday approaches. This feeling is found as often among city dwellers. And men feel it, too.

Mrs. Davidson, who is public relations chairman for the Volunteer Bureau, said volunteer work is not a panacea for feelings of discontent for all persons. She said that for some it is more important to set time aside for oneself occasionally, to do something different from the routine, and so prepare for the day when, in fact, with the children grown, there will be only oneself.

Dr. Lyon observed that children are better whose parents do something interesting, have some life of their own and are not completely dominated by their children's lives.

Parents make a mistake in setting up their child as king of the household and letting this myth continue while he grows up, said Dr. Langford. "All sorts of troubles occur when these 'kings' meet other little 'kings.'"

Dr. Green noted that the permissiveness of the average modern home contrasts with the Victorian parental attitude.

"At the turn of the century," Dr. Green said, "psychologists and psychiatrists were discovering many patients, crushed by harsh parental controls, were developing a terrible thing, called a neurosis. Today we find more and more that this child-as-king attitude is contributing to another terrible thing, delinquency."

The immaturity of the younger generation is fostered by parental patterns, Dr. Langford said. "A century ago a boy of 16 was a man, did a man's work, carried a man's responsibility. Today I don't know any man of 16, and I know very few men of 26. Most of them are still in school."

He quoted a Marin clergyman as saying that in 20 per cent of the marriages he performs the bride is pregnant. Dr. Langford doubts that sex education can be effectively taught to teenagers in school or church groups.

Mrs. Rapaport said that pregnancies among junior high school girls are becoming more common in San Francisco. The YWCA is cooperating with San Francisco public schools in providing pregnant girls the opportunity to complete their education in special classes held at the Y.

Concord Rancher Gets Big Bang From Grenades

CONCORD (AP) — Rancher Mike Arata got the scare of his life when three cases of military hand grenades he found in a roadside ditch started exploding.

As he started to extinguish it, he noticed boxes marked "grenades." Then one exploded. Arata says he "ran like hell" to his car and drove to a fire station.

When he returned with firemen all of the grenades except nine had exploded.

The San Francisco - Oakland Bay Bridge was opened on Nov. 12, 1936, at initial construction cost of $73 million, and is 8.5 miles long, including four miles over water.

Fire Station Awaits Soil Compaction Work

As soon as the soil is compacted enough to meet city standards, work will proceed on the San Marin Fire Station, the Novato Fire commissioners learned last night.

E. H. Chapman of 679 Midway Drive, Novato, the contractor and Ralph Priestley of Gromme and Priestly, architects of San Rafael, told the board that the soils compaction was the main cause of the delay now in the construction of the fire station.

Work was stopped on Oct. 15 when the Novato city building inspectors asked for a soils test report before allowing the contractor to go ahead pouring the concrete.

After more than two weeks delay, Ceccotti and Sons of Marin Inc. of Corte Madera have been hired to compact the soil, Chapman said.

Further tests were scheduled for today by Harding and Associates of San Rafael. If these tests are satisfactory, then work will proceed on the fire station which is now one month behind schedule Chapman told the board.

The board also ordered 500 trees from the United States Forest Service for landscaping around Fire Station No. 2 on South Novato Boulevard, the San Marin Station on San Marin Drive and the proposed station on Atherton Avenue.

It paid $7,497 in bills.

Oldest Italian Priest Dies; Helped 'Tosca'

LUCCA, Italy (AP) — Msgr. Paolino Chelini, Italy's oldest Roman Catholic priest, died last night at his home here. He was 105 and had said Mass daily until a few months ago.

The priest was a close friend of composer Giacomo Puccini and helped him in the initial staging of the first act of "Tosca," which takes place in a church and ends with the singing of the "Te Deum."

NAMED TO JOB CORPS — Patrick Healy, former resident of Belvedere, has been appointed director of community relations for the Job Corps by Sargent Shriver. From 1954 to 1963 he was employed as the director of media relations for Young and Rubicam Inc. of San Francisco.

A wild coffee plant may grow 15 to 20 feet tall. However, in cultivation it is kept trimmed to 6 to 9 feet.

Adult Study Group Seeks Cost Figures

A citizens advisory committee looking into the possibility of adult education classes at Tomales High School agreed last night that more information on costs is needed.

Mrs. Dina Angress of Blakes's Landing, a committee member, said that there is an apparent general desire throughout the district for adult courses, both from persons wanting to finish high school credits and from those interested in homemaking and arts and crafts courses.

The study was prompted partly by a request from Synanon Foundation at Marshall.

Mrs. Angress said the committee also wants to learn what courses are offered by adjacent districts to avoid duplication.

This information is expected by the committee's next meeting, at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 22, at the high school.

Basque Among New U.S. Citizens Taking Up Residence In Marin

Robert David Lafitte, 28, a member of a slowly growing Basque colony in Marin, became a naturalized citizen last month.

He came to the United States in 1959, after hearing from friends and relatives that living was easier here, and money more plentiful.

Until two years ago he was a farm worker near Salt Lake City, Utah, as he had been in France. Then he was invited to come to California by Raymond Coscarat, owner of Le Chateau Basque Restaurant in Santa Venetia. He now works as a pantryman for Franchini's Chateau restaurant, and lives nearby at 4500 Redwood Highway, San Rafael.

ROBERT D. LAFITTE
New citizen from France

A native of Ayherre, Lafitte was still a young child when World War II ended. When he grew up he was inducted and served 14 months in the army in Germany and another 14 months in Algeria. He said he saw little action in Algeria, but was involved in a few incidents.

Lafitte said he likes Marin, which has terrain similar to that at home.

Also, he said, he has found a number of friends here. There are now several Basques living in Marin, he reported. Most of them are working on ranches or as gardeners.

In addition to English, which he had to learn to become a citizen, and his native French, he is fluent in the Basque language, a puzzle to many linguistics, experts, and can converse, with a little difficulty, in Spanish.

Other Marin residents naturalized during October were:

Corte Madera—Jacobo Krystal, 135 Golden Hind Passage.

Novato — Miss Iolani Lucille Wruburton, 468 Calle De La Mesa.

Sausalito — Dennis Edward Andrews, 21 Glen Court, and Tung Lim Lee, 16 Gordon Street.

LBJ Promotes Secret Service Body Guard

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Treasury yesterday announced a reorganization of the U.S. Secret Service. Chief James J. Rowley will get the title of director in the new setup.

Four new assistant directors will report directly to Rowley, the Treasury said.

One of the assistant directors will be Rufus Youngblood, the agent who has been in charge of protecting President Lyndon B. Johnson. It was Youngblood who pushed Johnson to the floor of his car when President John F. Kennedy was shot to death in Dallas.

Youngblood has been given general supervision of all the service's protective details, including those that watch the President, the Vice President, former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman and Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Youngblood has been succeeded on the White House detail by Thomas L. Johns, who was No. 2 agent in the presidential guard.

Walter Young has been named assistant director in charge of gathering intelligence. Thomas J. Kelly has charge of the service's counterfeit and other enforcement activities. A fourth assistant director will be named for administration.

Jersey Cattle Raisers To Classify 50 Cows

Sonoma-Marin Junior Jersey Cattle Club will hold a cattle classification tour Saturday at 9 a.m. at the home of the president, Barry Lawrence in Petaluma.

The tour, during which nearly 50 cows will be classified, ends with lunch at the home of Ralph Grossi, 4025 Novato Boulevard, Novato.

President of the Marin County Bar Assn. is Howard K. Morehouse.

Hospital To Drop Therapy Contract

Marin Hospital District directors, during their Oct. 26 meeting, passed a resolution authorizing Marin General Hospital to withdraw the offer of a contract to Dr. Margaret Filante to supervise the hospital's physical therapy department.

Her contract with the hospital expired in March. The board authorized payment of $3,000 to Dr. Filante for the interim period ending Oct. 31.

The action was taken at the recommendation of the hospital's joint conference committee. The department has no supervisor now. The committee is discussing the possibility of its being run by a committee of the hospital staff.

Reagan Declines Birch Repudiation

HANFORD (UPI) — Ronald Reagan has declined to follow the suggestion of fellow Republican Thomas Kuchel that all those seeking office on the GOP ticket repudiate the John Birch Society.

Reagan, often mentioned as a gubernatorial candidate, told newsmen last night that his only comment on Sen. Kuchel's suggestion would be to refer them to a statement he made last Sept. 24. At that time, the movie actor said he had "never sought Birch Society support, nor do I have any intention of doing so."

Kuchel also called on Republican candidates to repudiate the Communist party and the Ku Klux Klan. Reagan said his views on the Communist party were well known and added that he has "opposed the Klan all my life."

Reagan, here for a reception of the Kings County Republican Central Committee, told newsmen he is against a national minimum wage for farm workers.

"I would choose local bargaining over government setting this wage," he said.

Reagan also said that "no one has come up with a substitute" for bracero farm labor.

Dump Hearing Nov. 23

Hearing on the proposed county dump in Corte Madera will be held before the Marin County Board of Supervisors at 8 p.m., Nov. 23, not Nov. 16 as incorrectly reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Parliament Vote Scheduled Today

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government expects to pick up another vote in a special election today and increase its one-vote majority in Parliament.

Labor party leaders were confident that their candidate, A. James Wellbeloved, 39, would win the House of Commons seat from Erith and Crayford, a Labor stronghold.

The seat became vacant with the death last August of Norman Dodds, who rolled up a majority of almost 9,000 votes over his Conservative opponent in the national elections last year.

The Conservative candidate is David Madel, 27.

CREW CHIEF OF THE MONTH — S/Sgt. Joseph F. Willis of the 78th organizational maintenance squadron has been named "Crew Chief of the Month" at Hamilton Air Air Force Base. In addition, he was feted by the Novato Chamber of Commerce as "King for a Day." He and his wife, Madeline, with their three children, Suzan, Joseph and Jeffrey, live at 503 Norman Drive, Novato.

Brown Urges Youth Speak Outu But Warns About Law Violation

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown urged the state's younger generation today to fully exercise its constitutional rights—but to remember the responsibilities that go along with such liberties.

"Nobody is going to be allowed to violate the law and get away with it," Brown declared in prepared remarks to the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth.

Referring to student disturbances throughout the country, Brown said:

"Nobody is going to be allowed to take away any citizen's constitutional right to speak out—so long as he speaks and acts within the law.

"The place of the university campus as a forum for independent speech will be protected from political adventures while I am governor."

Brown denied that his era of young people is "a subculture of teenagers, preoccupied with boots and Beatles ..."

"I think the older generation has always complained," Brown told the conference.

Brown said his administration was meeting head-on the traditional problems that plague youth. He said the state is taking significant steps to provide more jobs, job training and to prevent juvenile delinquency.

He told the young people that they are part of a great generation — "Great because you are challenged, not terrified by new ideas."

Governor Asks Blackout Probe

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown has asked three state agencies to probe how California would handle the problem of a massive power failure similar to the one that blacked out the northeast.

At the same time, Assemblyman Joseph M. Kennick, D-Long Beach, reports a lower house committee will start an investigation along similar lines.

Brown's request for a study and report of the would - be emergency went out yesterday to the Water Resources Department, California Disaster Office and Public Utilities Commission.

Mosquito, Bee Population Cut During October

Mosquito breeding in salt marshes dropped off sharply in Marin last month, G. Paul Jones, manager of the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District, told district directors last night.

Jones also reported that yellow jacket worker population dropped off sharply at the end of October and that queen yellow jackets started to appear.

The queens will hibernate until next spring when they will start the nests that produce workers.

There were 31 mosquito complaints last month, 86 yellow jacket complaints and 52 yellow jacket nests destroyed.

Directors authorized payment of $10,378.78 in warrants.

Princess In Tucson To Check Old West

The princess and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, arrived yesterday from Los Angeles for a 4½-day rest to break up their three-week tour of the United States.

No trace of the laryngitis that plagued her in smoggy Los Angeles was present when she made a planeside speech at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base.

Waiting at the plane along with Gov. Sam Goddard were her host, Lewis Douglas, and his wife. Their daughter, Sharman, and Princess Margaret became close friends when Douglas was ambassador to Great Britain in 1948-50.

Douglas invited 200 neighbors, business acquaintances and old friends to a cocktail party last night at the picturesque Arizona Inn to meet the royal pair.

"She's a darling," said a guest as the princess made the shortest social stop of her trip so far — 45 minutes.

After the party, the Snowdons returned to the Douglas home for a quiet dinner.

So close are the princess and the Douglases that when they did not reply to her wedding invitation, she sent them another cable.

"What happened," said a friend of the Douglases, "was that Lew and his wife were in New York and their Mexican help couldn't read the invitation when it arrived at the ranch.

"The help saw the big, red royal seal on the back and thought it might melt. So they put the invitation in the refrigerator."

Students Lose Out On Try To Set Up Airport Bus Run

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The state Public Utilities Commission yesterday turned down an application by three University of California students to operate a bus service between the Berkeley campus and the San Francisco International Airport during holidays and semester breaks.

The service was awarded instead to the Barrett Transportation Co. of San Francisco.

In making the award, the PUC said Barrett was more qualified than the students to establish and operate the service. Barrett already has a franchise to furnish bus transportation from the airport to downtown San Francisco.

The bus service to Berkeley first was proposed in 1963 by Peter Madian, 21, his wife, Nancy, 22, and Larry Agran, 20. They applied formally to the PUC on Sept. 28, 1964.

The students' attorney, Peter Franck, said after the decision was announced:

"At a time when people are critical of students for taking part in demonstrations, it seems wrong that when students do try to start a business, the weight of competition tips the balances against them."

The students were opposed by Greyhound and the city of San Francisco in the hearings before the PUC in addition to Barrett. Greyhound spokesmen argued that the service was not needed, and San Francisco argued on Barrett's behalf.

Mono Voters Reject School Unification

BRIDGEPORT (AP)—Voters of Mono County have rejected a plan to combine the county's one high school and seven elementary school districts into a unified district.

Voting officials said yesterday that 40 per cent of the county's 1,666 registered voters turned out the day before, rejecting the plan 470 to 207.

Oakland Police Worry About Viet Violence

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland Police Department's chief intelligence officer has asserted that the Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC) is arming itself with clubs, bamboo poles and its own personel motorcycle club for its proposed Nov. 20 protest march.

The charges were made by Sgt. Carl Dahl in a written report filed as part of the record yesterday at a formal hearing on the committee's application for a parade permit.

He said that he had information that "at least 300" members of the Hells Angels planned "to engage the Viet Nam Day Committee in physical combat." But he said he had also been informed that "a rival motorcycle club of approximately 60 members" will be used by the VDC to fight the Hells Angels.

Further, he charged extra-heavy picket signs will be utilized as clubs and the committee is also trying to secure a large number of bamboo poles for use as defensive weapons.

VC representatives at the hearing did not comment on the charges, but committee spokesman Windrim Smith denied them categorically later.

He said that the VDC had never contacted any other motorcycle club and he said that use of heavy signs and bamboo poles had been discussed at committee meetings and "overwhelmingly rejected."

"Our only defense, as always, will be non-violence," he said.

Fifteen persons spoke at the hearing in favor of the granting of a parade permit to the VDC and nine spoke against it in addition to five written reports in opposition.

Supporters of the committee's right to the parade permit included University of California law professor William L. Blaine, Democratic Assemblyman Nicholas Petris, and labor leader Harry Bridges.

Petris noted that when the VDC was refused permission to march Oct. 14 "Oakland became the only city where a commotion was raised."

One of the opponents, Mrs. Joan Spark, said she would "gladly give my five sons to the effort in Viet Nam." She said issuing the permit "would tear down the morale of our soldiers."

The committee said it would provide 500 monitors to help control its protest parade.

Experts Making Air Crash Check

So far positive identifications have been made on only five of the 58 persons who died when the Boeing 727 crashed into a hill Monday night on a flight from New York to Cincinnati.

Four persons survived the crash.

HE REALLY EARNED IT

Roy R. Rhodes of 31 Grove Street, San Rafael, shows off the new license plate, bearing his initials and street address, which took him three years of chasing before he got it this week. He began hounding the Department of Motor Vehicles to locate the "ROY" or "RRR" series in January, 1963. He missed the "ROY" sequence by a few days when it was issued in San Diego, but had better luck with "RRR" in Culver City. Now he must hang on to his 1954 model car so as not to lose those hard-earned license plates.

Pupils Secretly Enroll Outside School District

Nine pupils have been "crossing the border" from Sausalito School District into the Mill Valley School District to attend Tamalpais Valley School, but the district-jumping is about to end.

Leo B. Edson, assistant superintendent at the Mill Valley district, said today that six of the nine are no longer making the passage, the family of another is moving to Mill Valley, and the other two pupils are staying with their grandmother in Tamalpais Valley.

Sausalito School District trustees Monday night complained that Harry H. Johnson had been "misleading" occupants of his Villa Garden apartments at 20 Tennessee Valley Road by advising them the apartments are in the Mill Valley School District. Tennessee Valley Road divides the two districts, and the Villa Garden apartments are in the Sausalito District.

It was reported to the Mill Valley district that persons living in the apartments were using addresses on Shoreline Highway, which is for the most part in the Mill Valley district.

Sausalito trustee Harold L. Sleight told the board "maybe we ought to post a sign at the apartments with a $500 fine if it is taken down." Trustees agreed to write to Johnson, the Marin County counsel, and the Mill Valley district asking an end to the misrepresentation.

Electric Shock Kills Father

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Three children who lost their mother seven weeks ago in an auto accident were orphaned yesterday when their father was killed by electric shock while working atop a power pole.

The father, Oscar Y. Fields, 30, died instantly when he touched a live wire carrying 7,000 volts. His wife, Ruby, was killed Sept. 16 when her car collided with a tractor-trailer truck south of Manassas, Va.

Their three children are Eugene, 12, Theresa, 5, and Cecil, 4.

Stafford Lake, Chileno Valley, Bolinas Lagoon Picked For Parks

A regional park at Stafford Lake was yesterday placed among the top seven local beauty-spots Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission believes should get top priority for possible development by the county.

The voting was unanimous, as it was for three other areas in the final ilst: Chileno Valley, Bolinas Lagoon and China Camp. Peter Gottheiner was the only member absent.

The rejection two weeks ago by the board of supervisors of an application for $175,000 in state funds for Stafford Lake was the reason a commission member, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Davies talked of quitting and why action director Walter Horchler, county planner, asked to be relieved of his assignment with the commission.

At that time, the supervisors refused the application 3-2 because members said all park purchase and development priorities were not known.

The commission met yesterday to remedy the situation and like judges in a beauty contest, looked along the line-up to decide which of the county's beauty-spots likely to make the grade.

Every member had a chance to list their preference — some well-known other obscure—and finally the areas were grouped into Class A, Class B and the rest in a loose Class C which will be open to any additions.

Each of the board supervisors will be sent a personal copy of the final listings for his comments.

Other areas voted for, included; Mazanita Green, Hog Island, Elephant Rocks, Bluff Point, Redwood Canyon, Agate Beach-Bolinas Bluff and Corte Madera Creek.

"This will occupy us for at least five years," commented Lothar Salin.

Mrs. Davies said: "The more we spread ourselves over the county the better it is for all concerned."

Melton Ferris suggested the availability of funds for the different projects be determined before the commission study them deeper.

FSM Communist Tells Membership

BERKELEY (AP) — —Bettina Aptheker, a leader of the Free Speech Movement that disrupted the University of California Berkeley campus last December, declares she is a Communist.

In a letter to the Daily Californian, a student newspaper, she said: "I have been for a number of years, I am now, and I propose to remain a member of the Communisty party of the United States."

Miss Aptheker, who recently married a fellow student, said in her letter Tuesday she had kept her Communist party membership secret until now because acknowledgment would have meant "cooperation with a Red-baiting attack on the FSM by helping to focus attention away from the issues raised by FSM. . . ."

With the exception of the Golden Gate Bridge, all of California's toll crossings are operated by a relatively new state agency, the Division of Bay Toll Crossings, which was organized Nov. 18, 1963.

Doctors Cause Illness, Physician Complains

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —Ten to 15 per cent of the patients in Australian hospitals are suffering from illnesses induced by their own doctors, the chairman of the Victoria State Committee of the Royal Australian College of Physicians said today.

Dr. John L. Frew blamed the multitude of tablets dispensed by the National Health Service. He said these tablets often produce undesirable side-effects.

The 750-foot span of the new San Mateo - Hayward Bridge, over the main shipping channel, will be the longest orthotropic span in the United States and will soar 138 feet over water.

Napa Area Crash Kills Driver From Crockett

NAPA (AP) — Maurice Hornbeck died in a Napa hospital today from injuries received when his car went out of control and crashed into a bridge abutment on the Silverado Trail north of Napa about 10 p.m. last night.

Hornbeck lived at 1614 Flora Street, Crockett.

FROM THE OPULENT COLLECTIONS

White seen in a new bare light . . . strictly sculptured by Harvey Berin into a bias-cut beauty carved for the nocturnal life. Lighting up the dark is Jeri's magnificent gleaming satin gown, at left, of Celanese, cotton and nylon, as flattering to creamy shoulders as a compliment. To accent this new bare line, the bodice is encrusted with shimmering crystals. At right, the new softness . . . Kasper for Joan Leslie styles a stunning exit line in Chardon's sinuous crepe. The superbly simple scooped decolletage flows into a delightfully deep V-back, side-wrapped and accented with a self-fabric bow. Celebrating your supple silhouette is a full-length ripple of ruffles that cascades down the back and encircles the hem.

Carolyn Ann Kane To Wed In February

CAROLYN KANE

Mr. and Mrs. B. Roger Kane of Kentfield announced the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Ann, to Richard Lloyd Fogg at a family brunch at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Susan Kane of Kentfield, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and the University of California, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Kane of San Francisco and John H. Kelly of San Francisco and the late Mrs. Kelly.

The future bridegroom, son of Mrs. Lloyd C. Fogg of Newton Centre, Mass., and the late Dr. Fogg, was graduated from Bowdoin College and the Cornell Graduate School of Business Administration. He is an account executive with Dancer, Fitzgerald, and Sample. Dr. Lyman Fogg of Glastonbury, Conn., is his brother.

The wedding will be an event of February.

Wine Tasting And Exhibit To Highlight Assn. Party

Wine tasting and art will be combined for the Terra Linda Art. Assn.'s membership party tomorrow evening at the Terra Linda Community Center.

The affair, which will also feature election of new officers and board members for the coming year, will begin at 8 p.m., with wine tasting.

A special gallery exhibit is being assembled of art work from the life drawing classes. Additional sketches, oils and watercolors of member-artists will also be shown during the evening.

Four Marin Women Become Spinsters

By MOLLY MARIN

Four Marin women have been welcomed as new members of The Spinsters of San Francisco. They are Robin Dinkelspiel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Dinkelspiel of Kentfield; Janet Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Ford of Ross and Caracas; Margot Page, daughter of Thomas S. Page of Mill Valley and Barbara Reichmuth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Reichmuth of San Anselmo.

THE NEWLY formed Peacock Branch of the Marin General Hospital Auxiliary will hold an invitational preview party tomorrow night of the Ten Town Houses Decorator Tour which starts Saturday. Locale will be The Knoll, at Peacock Gap.

Viewing starts on Saturday and continues through Nov. 21, from 1 to 5 p.m. each day.

HOSTESSES WILL be members of the Peacock Gap Branch. Chairman of this initial event of the Peacock Gap group is Mrs. Samuel L. Wright Jr. Assisting her are members of the executive board, Mesdames Donald Murray, William Murray Jr., Alan Larkins, Allen Feder, Thomas Guerin and Bayard Herrick.

TOMORROW NIGHT'S party will be held at the "Buckeye Club" of The Knoll which overlooks the swimming pool and landscaped grounds. It will start at six with cocktails.

AMONG MEMBERS and guests attending the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vallarino of Country Club, who will have Judge and Mrs. Joseph G. Wilson of Peacock Gap as dinner guests afterwards. Teresa A. Foulkes Wed At St. Anselm's

Teresa Anne Foulkes became the bride of Frank Robert Gateley in a noon ceremony at San Anselmo's Church on Saturday.

E. E. Frost gave his granddaughter in marriage at the double ring ceremony.

Teresa wore a princess-style floor length candlelight satin gown accented with Swedish embroidered lace. Her attendants were gowned alike in full length ivory satin, with mint green detail at the empire waist. Nina Vrjisch of San Francisco was maid of honor; Phyllis Liberati and Nancy Liberati of San Francisco and Elsbeth Roesch of Oakland were bridesmaids.

The bridegroom asked Richard Sanford to be his best man, and Mike Sanford of Napa, Dana Burger of San Francisco and Jim Farron of San Rafael to usher.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Foulkes of San Anselmo, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Frost of Lakeport. Her brother is Fred Burk of San Anselmo.

Frank's parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Gateley Jr. of Novato. He is the grandson of F. R. Gateley of Novato, and the brother of William Gateley of Novato.

Teresa is a graduate of the Star of the Sea Academy and attended San Francisco City College. Her husband was graduated from Monterey High School and attended San Francisco City College. He is a member of the California Club. Frank is employed at Cain's Goodyear Tire Co. in San Rafael.

A reception at the Officers' Club at Hamilton Air Force Base followed the wedding.

The newlyweds will reside in Novato.

Wash Upholstery

When readying a boat for winter dry-dock, remove upholstered seats and wash them with soap or detergent suds. Then, rinse and dry them before replacing them.

Special Program Planned By Novato Women's Assn.

The annual thank offering will be held by members of the Novato United Presbyterian Women's Assn. as part of the national thank offering at a special Thanksgiving luncheon at 11:45 a.m., Wednesday in the Christensen room of the church. The luncheon will precede the ingathering and dedication.

World service chairman of the organization, Mrs. Helen Noel, is in charge of the program and money will be divided between three departments of world service — Christian education, national missions and ecumenical missions. The anticipated goal of the offerings throughout the country is $565,000.

Mrs. Stephen Boyko will narrate a film strip entitled, "Focus on Opportunity."

Novato members will be heard during the program reading in seven languages, from the scripture the "great commission" as recorded in Matthew 28, 19-20, which is in connection with the project of the ecumenical missions department using its funds for furthering the translations of the Bible into many of the world's languages.

Participating in the multilingual reading will be Mesdames E. C. Leigon, Samuel Young, John von Der Weid, Maynard Briggs, Howard W. Crabtree and Mrs. Agnes Hansen.

Assisting Mrs. Noel in the program will be Mrs. Katherine Hulme and Mrs. Robert Casady.

Mrs. George Hayford is luncheon chairman assisted by members of the Miriam Circle. Mrs. E. C. Leigon and Mrs. Walter Sundberg are reservations chairmen.

MINKLETS FOR ANKLES

Where else can you put mink besides on toothbrushes, beer can openers, fly swatters, and book markers? That is, besides coats, vests, slacks, dresses and lingerie?

Ankles, that's where.

At the premium fur show held at the New York Coliseum this year Douglas Furs introduced mink ankle circlets not unlike those ringlets around the trim leg bones of a well-manicured poodle. The furriers suggested the accessory for beachwear, nightwear, formal and cocktail occasions.

Paradoxically, the minklets were not always mink. There were also leopard and ermine "minklets."

AAUW Section To Hear Kesey

Author Ken Kesey will be the speaker tonight for the Reading Arts Section of the Marin Branch, American Assn. of University Women at the home of Mrs. David Dooley in Mill Valley.

Mr. Kesey is the author of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" which has been made into a Broadway play, and of "Sometimes A Great Notion," a novel with an Oregon setting.

Mrs. Lawrence Stotter is chairman for the group.

December Nuptials Planned In Nebraska

WILMA JEAN TUMA

A2/c Robert Dale Anderson of Hamilton Air Force Base will claim Wilma Jean Tuma of Schuyler, Neb., as his bride at ceremonies in Nebraska on Dec. 11.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Tuma of Schuyler. She is a graduate of Schuyler High School.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Anderson of Atlantic. He is a graduate of Atlantic High School.

The couple will live in Marin following their marriage.

Fall Wardrobe Calls For Special Laundering Care

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fall calls for extra care by the homemaker about the way the family's clothes are laundered. It's the time of year when garments fade and lose color because of the lack of warm sunshine's natural bleaching agents.

By following a few simple rules the entire family's clothing will stay bright and colorful all winter long.

FIRST, NEVER overload the machine — allow the clothing to agitate freely, and be sure to wash big objects, such as rugs and tablecloths, singly. Don't mix lightly soiled clothes with very dirty garments— the dirt will only be picked up by the cleaner objects.

Make sure the water is hot enough. Temperatures of 135 to 145 degrees are advised.

HERE'S ANOTHER hint: Many new fabrics have optical brightners added. These gradually wash out, leaving a dull appearance. So always use a bleach on bleachable fabrics. However, be sure to allow the washing cycle to progress about four minutes before adding the bleach.

Vandalism Talk To Be Presented By Marin Branch

"Vandalism in Your Own Backyard" will be the topic of the luncheon meeting of Marin Branch, American Assn. of University Women on Monday at Sabella's Restaurant. Speakers will be Alfred Brokes, district psychologist at Redwood High School, and Walter Busher, chief probation officer at Juvenile Hall.

The program was set up by Mrs. H. F. Harnsberger and Mrs. E. Kent Sibbald, Mrs. Milton L. Stannard is reservations chairman.

District CCPT Plans Meeting In Larkspur

PROF. BEN ARD

The 14th District California Congress of Parents and Teachers will have an open meeting at Redwood High School in Larkspur on Nov. 18, with registration at 9:30 a.m., in the Little Theater.

Professor Ben N. Ard Jr., will speak on "Sex Education—Are We Passing the Buck?". Doctor Ard is a member of the counseling staff of San Francisco State College and practicing psychologist.

This address is the first in a series the district has planned for the year on sex education. Last year, under the direction of Mrs. Dale Moore, a survey was conducted of elementary, junior, and high schools in Marin and Sonoma counties to determine the amount of sex education offered in the schools. Churches are now being surveyed, and it is the ultimate goal of the CCPT after a comprehensive study, to offer a recommendation of opportunity and responsibility for sex education in the home, church, community and school.

Mrs. William Rudee of Santa Rosa, president of 14th District, announces that hostesses for the luncheon meeting are members of the Ross Valley Council, and of Henry Hall School P-TA. Reservations chairman is Mrs. M. W. Milot, 85 Corte Toluca, Greenbrae.

Appeal Made For Calendars By Auxiliary

The Donald V. Westlund Auxiliary Post No. 7816 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Novato have issued an appeal to merchants in Novato to contribute 1966 calendars, any size, to the veterans at Yountville Veterans Home and also to the local convalescent home patients.

Calendars are cherished by these people because no one ever thinks of giving them, said Mrs. Grover Owen, publicity chairman of the auxiliary.

Merchants are requested to contact Mrs. Owen so arrangements can be made to pick them up.

Petalumua Artist Wins Novato Art Show Title

Winners in the show, judged by William Grant Sherry of Corte Madera, were announced yesterday.

Robinson also was declared winner of the realistic seascape section. Other winners were Marta Sullivan, realistic landscape; Ian McVarnish, realistic still life; Ray Mathewson, impressionistic landscape; Lorraine Parsons, abstract still life; and Pat Carder, watercolors.

O. G. Garter received honorable mention in the abstract design category, for which no first place was given.

Dutch Parliament Allows Marriage

THE HAGUE (AP) — Crown Princess Beatrix's marriage to West German commoner Claus von Armsberg was assured of parliamentary approval last night.

The lower house approved the match 132-9 in the first parliamentary vote on a royal marriage in modern Dutch history. A second vote to make Von Amsberg a Dutch citizens was approved 135-60.

The bills not go to the Senate, where approval is certain. The wedding will take place in March in Amsterdam.

Charity Grenades

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Goodwill Industries, which repairs castoff clothes, toys and furniture and sells them for charity, found four live World War II Japanese hand grenades in a box from one of its pickup trucks yesterday. A bomb removal squad from nearby Mather Air Force Base was called to take them away.

BRIGHT YULE LIGHTS DUE AT NORTHGATE

Bright colored lights will glow and flicker in time to music Nov. 26 in a special ceremony when a 25-foot Christmas tree is lighted for the first time at the Northgate Shopping Center for 1965.

The Douglas fir, painted white, will be lighted with plexiglass spheres similar to those used for the National Christmas Tree on the White House lawn in Washington, D. C.

The lighting system is designed so that lights will glow brighter when certain frequency sounds are played or sung louder. Various lights will be tuned to different frequencies. Local church and school choirs will provide music for the first night.

Mill Valley Creeks Cleanup Time Again

Residents of Mill Valley having property bordering creeks were asked today to clean all refuse, debris and growth from the creeks which may interfere with drainage. Ross J. Benson, superintendent of public works, made the request, saying the reason is impending winter rains.

City ordinance, Benson said, requires that creeks be kept clean of such debris.

Florida Writer Woos Marin Depopulators

The California Depopulation Commission, the almost-serious group organized by a Marinite and five other California residents, may lose its battle if it accepts an offer from Florida to trade six dozen real estate salesmen for one movie star, preferably Sanda Dee.

The proposal came as a result of Caldepop's campaign to have Californians send money to Florida promotional organizations to urge migrating Americans to head east, not west.

The offer came from Dick Bothwell, in his column in the St. Petersburg Times, who said Florida has a few things it can do without and offers to trade.

Bothwell offers 100 tons of Spanish moss for six Redwoods—and says it isn't fair for California to try to trade off old Pierre Salinger speeches, water programs or beds Dick Nixon slept in.

Florida will never offer to trade its sunshine or rain, fishing or oranges, Bothwell wrote. His state would be happy to aid Caldepop by sending testimonials on Florida's wonders from former Californians now in the state.

Caldepop last July proclaimed "Florida Appreciation Month" to show that "if it weren't for Florida, California would be much more densely populated than it is."

David C. Camp of Ross is one of six directors of Caldepop. Others reside in San Francisco, Danville, Fremont, Santa Cruz and LaJolla.

Bothwell learned of Caldepop from a letter sent by Mrs. Donald Baldwin, 111 Tamal Vista Drive, San Rafael, to her sister in St. Petersburg, who passed it on to the columnist.

Burns Committee May Hire Faculty To Investigate

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Faculty members may be hired as investigators on the University of California's Berkeley campus, says State Sen. Hugh M. Burns.

The Fresno Democrat, chairman of the Senate Fact-Finding Subcommittee on Un-American Activities, said "we need to expand our investigating staff out there."

Asked if the use of professors might create a conflict of interest with the university administration, Burns replied:

"No. These will not be informers, but just American citizens doing their duty. I see no conflict."

Pacifist Torch Dies Of Injury

NEW YORK (AP) — A young pacifist has died of burns 33 hours after he doused himself with gasoline and set himself afire in front of the United Nations in a protest against war.

Roger LaPorte, 20, who was burned on 95 per cent of his body, was the third American to die of self-inflicted burns this year in pacifist demonstrations. LaPorte died yesterday.

Bellevue Hospital's Roman Catholic chaplain, the Rev. Alexander Busuttill, said LaPorte was "clear and expressivee as he received the last rites of the Church in which he once sought priesthood.

Hershey Suggests Dropout Draft

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, has suggested that high school dropouts be placed in the armed servies.

"They've got to be some place where they can't drop out," he said yesterday. "We've got to help these young people become team players in our democracy, or we won't have one."

He estimated the draft rate will stay at about 36,000 men a month nationally.

AT ONE ANOTHER!"
In the spirit of this plea from Thornton Wilder, perhaps more vital today than ever before, the cast and staff of Our Town have jointly contributed to take this space.
We invite you to experience with us what we (and 6 out of 7 Bay Area critics) feel is an exciting, unique, and vital production of this Pulitzer Prize-winning American classic.
—The Our Town Company
Our Town is currently playing its last three weeks at the Festival Theatre in San Anselmo. Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 (Tickets: 2.50, 3.00, 3.50) and Sundays at 7:30 (2.00, 2.50, 3.00). Reservations: 454-3000.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Nov. 11, the 315th day of 1965 with 50 to follow.

This is Veterans Day.

The moon is approaching its last quarter; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

In 1918, fighting in World War II was halted with the signing of an armistice.

Also in 1918, Polish independence was proclaimed.

In 1921, President Warren Harding dedicated the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

In 1933, the first of the great dust storms swept over North Dakota.

A Thought for the Day — President Woodrow Wilson said, "Only a peace between equals can last."

Berlin's trolley system is 100 years old this year. There are nine separate lines.

Elias Rempelos is chief of the Bolinas Fire District.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

WINNING BRIDGE

Hitting Bugs With Sledgehammer Like Some Folks Play The Cards

When a man takes a sledge hammer to hit a mosquito, it is natural to snicker.

When the man hits his thumb, you sigh sadly; the poor fellow reminds you of your partners.

Opening lead — ♡ J

Declarer put up the queen of hearts at the first trick, covered by the king and ace. South led a spade to the ace and returned the nine of spades to ruff.

East played a low spade without giving himself away.

South got to dummy with a trump and ruffed another spade, got to dummy with another trump and ruffed a spade for the third time. This time the king fell, so South could lead a trump to dummy's seven to get rid of his losing heart on the last spade.

Declarer than led the ten of clubs from dummy for a finesse. West took the king of clubs and cashed a heart trick.

South's ponderous plan to get rid of a heart was no good because it also got rid of all of his trumps.

SIMPLE PLAN

The slam is unbeatable if South adopts a simple plan. He wins the ace of hearts, draws two trumps, cashes the ace of spades and leads the queen of spades from dummy.

If East plays the king, South ruffs.

Declarer can then get to dummy with a trump to discard a heart and two clubs on good spades. The club finesse loses, but South still makes six.

If East plays a low spade on dummy's queen, South discards his losing heart. The queen of spades wins, and South continues with the same plan.

Even if West had the king of spades, South would be safe.

He would have no further heart to lose, so could ruff a heart and get to dummy with a trump to discard three clubs on the rest of dummy's spades.

DAILY QUESTION

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Partner has spade support, but a weak hand. You need a rather good dummy to have any reasonable play for game.

College Faculty, Staff Members Ask War Cease

STANFORD (AP) — An open letter, already signed by some 500 faculty and staff members of San Francisco area colleges, asks president Johnson to "stop the bombing of North Viet Nam."

Published yesterday in the Stanford Daily, the letter has been signed by persons at the University of California, Stanford, San Francisco and San Jose state colleges, Foothill College and the UC medical center in San Francisco.

It calls the war "brutal and unnecessary" and asks for negotiations with the Viet Cong.

Circulating the letter is the Bay Area Inter-University Committee on Foreign Policy. Prof. Richard Strohman of Berkeley was listed as committee head.

Gum Ball Suspects Go To Juvenile Court

Larry Striplin, 18, of House C-50, and Horace du Pont, of 218 Drake Avenue, both 18 and of Marin City, were certified to Marin Juvenile Court yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a joint charge of petty theft.

The pair was arrested by Sausalito police Tuesday night after allegedly taking 389 balls of gum from a gum ball machine at Sausalito Coin Laundry, 518 Caledonia Street.

Governor Asks Extra Time Off For Guardsmen

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Employers of national guardsmen in special "Selected Reserve Force" units were asked today by Gov. Brown to give such workers extra time off if necessary to meet their additional training requirements.

Forty California guard units recently were designated for training geared to make them immediately available for active service.

The governor said he had been told by guard leaders "that in the past, some guardsmen's jobs have been in jeopardy and their promotions or pay increases frozen because they were subject to call to duty in an emergency."

"I ask business and industry to take the lead in supporting the National Guard by adopting hiring and personnel practices that do not discriminate against these guardsmen."

POSTERS RECALL WORLD WAR I

A collection of colored posters from World War I, promoting sales of Liberty Bonds and various war relief agencies, went on sale today—appropriately, on Veterans Day. The collection, being sold at Old St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon to benefit the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, recalls the all-out effort of the war that ended on Armistice Day—rechristened "Veterans Day" after World War II. The exhibit and sale will continue through Sunday, from noon to 4 p.m. Shown here are four of the posters.

County's Two Water Districts Near Agreement On Annexations

Marin Municipal Water District general manager William R. Seeger yesterday told his board of directors that he and North Marin County Water District manager Jerome Gilbert are close to agreement on a joint statement of policy for future annexations.

Seeger told the board the policy, for which he will probably seek its approval at the next meeting, is based on a county water service map, dated last April 6 which divides the county north of lake Nicasio.

The policy indicates the districts' willingness to annex areas either contiguous or non-contiguous to provide for present and future water service.

It states that, while it will be economically sound in the long run to inter-connect all water service areas in the county, it may be necessary for areas like West Marin to undertake service through local wells and dams on an interim basis.

The policy further states that the districts will consider the possibility of providing sewer service.

The Marin Municipal Water District Board also:

1. Awarded contracts for cast iron fittings totalling $27,780.98 to Water Works Supply Co., lowest of eight bidders.

2. Accepted deeds for six pipeline right of ways and one pump site.

3. Agreed to pay $1,182 to help the City of Belvedere connect two fire lines in a loop running from Belvedere Avenue to Beach Street.

4. Agreed to replace six inch lines with four inch lines running from the mains to fire hydrants in the Alto Fire District. Seeger noted that all other fire districts use the six inch lines and said he had insisted the Alto district request the change in writing before he would authorize it. "I don't agree with this. I think it's a bad policy," he said.

Visitors Bureau Design Annoys Park Group

Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission has a bone to pick with Clinton De Lap, of the Marin Visitors Bureau.

Members said yesterday they want to know why De Lap all but agreed with the commission's sign for the scenic route plan around the county, yet produced his own sign when the board of supervisors considered the matter Oct. 19.

De Lap is to be invited to the next meeting of the commission to explain himself.

Declared Melton Ferris, "I am not going to waste my time talking to Mr. De Lap or to anyone else and then when the chips are down, have the ground cut away from underneath."

Chairman Gibbs H. Lawson said that although De Lap did not concur with everything about the commission's proposal for a yellow sign "we had a feeling from him that the sign was adequate and could be used."

At its meeting two weeks ago, supervisors referred the scenic route plan and the sign proposal back to the commission for further study.

Dedication Tomorrow At New Jewish School

The climax of three years of work by the Jewish community of Marin will be reached tomorrow when a new $190,000 Sabbath school is opened adjacent to Temple Rodef Sholom at 170 N. San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

In an age-old ceremony, children of the temple will place a Mezzuzah—a Jewish emblem—on the door frame of each of the new 13 classrooms which will be in use for the first time 10 a.m. Sunday.

The dedication address at services in the Temple at 8:30 will be given by Rabbi Alexander Schindler, director of education of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

The new building is the final step in completion of the temple, which was the first of its kind in Marin when it was dedicated in May, 1962. The Sabbath school will be used by 450 children, who until now have attended classes at Marin Country Day School.

Robert Slate, president, said today: "The completion is the result of the efforts of a congregation which has made many sacrifices to attain its goals."

Slate and past-president Lawrence Goldberg co-ordinated the drive for funds which began three years ago. Other officers involved in the project were: Abe Blumenfeld, chairman of the building committee; Lawrence Landy and Sidney Braverman, co-chairmen of the building fund; Frederic Kirschner, campaign team chairman; Mrs. Meyer Abel, major gifts chairman; Mrs. Gerson Jacobs, religious school chairman, and Penrod Moss, school principal.

Park Unit Seat Occupied Again By Mrs. Davies

Marin County Parks and Recreation Commissioner Elizabeth Banning Davies, who resigned before the board of supervisors two weeks ago, has reconsidered.

She took her seat at the commission meeting yesterday and helped fellow commissioners develop priorities for county parks.

She gave her oral resignation to the board after supervisors voted against applying for $175,000 in state funds for development of a regional park at Stafford Lake.

It was not known that she had reconsidered until she sat with the commission yesterday. "I hope it does some good," she said. "We'll see."

Marin Visitors Bureau Assists County Economy

Marin Visitors Bureau is giving more than just lip service to the promotion of tourism in the county.

In addition to the more routine function of providing brochures at its offices in San Rafael and at the State Fair in Sacramento in September, the Bureau used the Gazebo in Sausalito to disseminate information to tourists this summer.

It reports that since July, more than 3,000 tourists dropped in for general information, and many of them asked for specific points of interest within the county.

The Bureau has entered into a contract with the City of Sausalito for continued use of the Gazebo into the autumn months.

During Labor Day and Admission Day week, the Marin Visitors Bureau set up a booth at the corner of Fourth and Court Streets in San Rafael to give information. William McDevitt Co. provided the booth, and volunteers from Marin Aid for Retarded Children staffed the area.

Tangible results from these projects are difficult to assess immediately, but over the long haul, we are confident that these promotional efforts will prove effective in vitalizing the tourist industry.

"We have reason to believe that many of the people came farther into Marin and left many dollars behind them," the Bureau reports.

This is confirmed in part by the glowing letters from first-time visitors, who were impressed with the physical and cultural assets that Marin County has to offer.

Marin's winning the "All American City" award, in itself, seemed of little economic consequence at the time. Construction of the Civic Center and establishment of Point Reyes National Seashore both received opposition from some quarters.

The Marin Visitors Bureau is beginning to perform a valuable service for the economic well being of the county.

No Last Rose Of Summer

Some people use the expression "like the last rose of summer" to mean something very bedraggled and beat. However, the expression is quite inappropriate in Marin.

Here, our roses bloom lushly well into autumn. In November, a few hardy plants are still producing perfect blossoms. The "last rose of December" would be more like it here.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

LOOK INTO YOURSELF

A lawyer who had shown little interest in better government was sparked by a discussion with a friend to run for office.

"I suddenly woke up to the fact," he said, "that I was expecting everybody else to provide good government for me while I did nothing but complain. And if that's what I wanted from others, I realized I'd better get busy doing the same for them."

This built-in "yardstick" is part of the nature God gave you. You have a right to the cooperation of others in earning a reasonable living and in developing your physical, mental and spiritual capacities.

Apply this standard consistently to others and you will be well on the way towards fulfilling the message of the Gospel.

As St. Paul said: "And if there is any other commandment, it is summed up in saying: "You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' Love does no evil to a neighbor. Love therefore is the fulfillment of the law."
(Romans 13:9-10)

Increase my capacity to love, O Holy Spirit, and move me to live up to it.

Lawmakers Ask Why Secondary Diplomas Are So Uninformative

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — The question of how much usefulness a high school diploma has to a student who receives such a document at the end of his secondary scholastic career will be the subject of discussion at an assembly sub-committee meeting to be held Nov. 18 in Monterey.

This announcement was made by Assemblyman Winfield A. Shoemaker, D-Santa Barbara, chairman of the group on school curriculum.

THE ASSEMBLYMAN says there is substantial evidence indicating that the high school diploma serves no useful purpose as a measurement of a student's ability, or his achievement either.

"We cannot allow," he said, "mere physical presence of an individual in the classroom for some four years to become the sole criterion for high school graduation and for later success in work or at college."

Shoemaker pointed out the role of the legislature for many years has concerned itself with the framework of education, such as school finance, staffing problems and teacher qualifications.

WHILE THESE are important, he says the lawmakers cannot neglect the facts of what is actually taking place in the classrooms of the state.

There has long been the suspicion that the high school diploma represents little more than a piece of paper indicating the student has completed high school days. But there is no indication on the diploma as to how successfully he has completed them, nor is there any clue from the certificate of graduation as to what the student may be qualified to accomplish following his graduation.

A high school transcript, required by institutions of higher learning, tells what the student has had in high school, and while not a complete indicator, at least provides some guidelines for the future.

THE PURPOSE of the sub-committee apparently will be to determine if possible, what can be done toward outlining the capabilities of the graduate both for his own benefit and the information needed by his future contacts, either additional schooling, or in employment, to assist in providing a key to future activities of the student.

There has also been the suspicion at times that a college diploma has some minimum value, particularly in the field of those employers who have had applicants for jobs hired on the strength of a diploma, and later found to have passed through college "in the dark." However, this field is not the province of the assembly committee at the moment.

THE SUB - COMMITTEE in exploring this field, especially in measuring the capabilities of students, will run up against a difficult problem. No laws can be put into effect which will do the job on an accurate basis. However, a start can be made someplace along the line.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Tiburon Writer Defends Tam Bonds

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mr. Leo Sousa's recent letter on the Tam bond election gives the impression that foes of the single district unification oppose the bond issue. Actually, many of the most vigorous opponents of the big district unification have joined forces supporting the bonds.

Having leveled criticism at the Tam Board for delaying its building program pending unification, they recognize this bond issue is the first step in a long overdue plant expansion. The students waiting to enter these projected facilities will be there regardless of how districts are ultimately formed.

While many of us in the Reed District were disappointed to find the projected Tiburon High School omitted from this issue, we realize that the needs of the entire district must be filled in orderly progression. The beginning of San Geronimo High School and the completion of Redwood are the next steps in that progression.

The bonds deserve full public support. Vote YES on Tuesday, Nov. 16.

Does Anyone Care About Children?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Four little children, under the age of five, were killed by cars near their California homes, Halloween night.

Where were their parents?

The news accounts said only that the drivers of the cars which killed them did not see the tiny tots running into the streets—until it was too late.

Is a TV soap opera or a party with friends more important to parents than the lives of their children?

Next time you put on the brakes quickly to avoid striking youngsters take a good look at how many parents are concerned for the safety of these innocents.

One father defends his attitude—"When I was a boy, we always played games in the street."

Does he remember how many cars were being used in his boyhood? How many playgrounds were available to him?

A mother complains, "How can you watch them all the time?" There's an alternative—letting children run loose like wild savages. Or putting the responsibility for their lives in the hands of drivers, who may or may not be preoccupied with their own problems.

A mother wails, after the funeral, "He was in first grade and I always taught him to watch out for cars—but he was playing with some friends and . . . ."

And more grief to come, as the lonely years pass.

Have children become such a bother in our Great Society that they must die—or be injured—as they play?

Who cares?

Bridge Building Solution Proposed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is with astonishment, and concern for the commuters of Marin County that I read of the action of the Golden Gate Bridge directors and our own Marin county supervisors: to wit, the approval of a second deck on the bridge . . .

First, this project is estimated to take three years to complete: in my experience with estimates of time in construction add at least two, and maybe four years to this.

The bridge is now operating at capacity. Even a slight mishap at peak hours backs up traffic as far as San Rafael in the morning and ties traffic far up Van Ness and Bay Streets in the evening.

While this work is being done, what is to be done with this heavy traffic? Believe me, there is no detour possible . . .

Now suppose it is done, with all its inconveniences. What has been accomplished? Traffic will still be dumped at the Presidio, plus the possibility of an unsightly approach built off the Marina Green to funnel traffic around. The Waldo Grade will still be there, and widening it would be most difficult.

Then why is the ultimate and the only reasonable crossing not being considered? It seems so very simple to me. Stand on any hill in the Bay Area and look at the bay. Or go to the Corps of Engineers Bay Model in Sausalito and view it in miniature.

You will get this answer: the crossing should begin where the Embarcadero Freeway now ends, going straight to Alcatraz Island, to Angel Island, then to Tiburon Point and intersect with Highway 101 at Corte Madera overapss thus leaving our present facilities operating without interference.

'Don't Fail Children' Says Bond Chairman

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It has been my privilege to serve as Chairman of the Citizens Committee working for passage of the Tamalpais High School District bond proposal on Tuesday, Nov. 16.

I have been greatly impressed by the fact that so many community leaders and other interested and concerned citizens who have strenuously opposed one another in other matters, have been willing to enthusiastically combine forces to support this proposal. For example, the Citizens Committee itself is approximately evenly divided between persons who strongly oppose and persons who strongly endorse the recent unification election. Partisan political labels have never been considered, for the obvious reason that they are not relevant to this issue. It is also significant that community leaders of all the geographical areas of the District are represented on the Citizens Committee, and all recognize that the bond proposal to be presented for voter approval on Nov. 16 is the most realistic method of meeting the most urgent educational needs of the District.

All members of the committee also share the common concern that the failure to provide adequate facilities as needed will result in irreparable damage to those students who are affected thereby. While lack of adequate foresight in planning to meet commuting, parking, or other problems of that nature results in aggravation and inconvenience only, the loss to the child who has not had the benefit of adequate classrooms and other important facilities cannot be regained. That is the reason for our slogan: "Don't Fail Our Children."

The two-thirds majority required for passage of the bond proposal is always a difficult goal to attain.

It is urgently requested, therefore, that every citizen vote on Tuesday, and it is our fervent hope that this vote will be "Yes."

Lindsay's New York Win May Shake Up Old-Line Party Hacks

WASHINGTON — The machine politicans in every big city in the United States are scared stiff.

They should be.

THE THING which they were confident would never happen, has happened—in New York City and elsewhere. The thing they most feared has come upon them.

The cynics and the machine politicians had full confidence in the city-dwelling voter.

They were confident that he didn't care.

They were confident that the voters were so wedded to past voting habits, based on sentiment, race, union loyalty and long partisan affiliation, they would never break the pattern.

They were confidently counting on public apathy and a sense of voter hopelessness that nothing could be done.

The fact that the cynics and the machine politicians were so wrong about city voters is the most significant fact of all about last week's elections in New York, Philadelphia, Akron, Toledo and a few other cities.

WHAT MOST scares the machine politicians is that they know that John Lindsay, for example, was not the cause of the voter revolt; he was its beneficiary.

They are worried because they fear that the political revolt against sterile, stand-still city government will spread.

If it could happen in New York—the biggest, the wealthiest, just about the longest machine-ridden city in the nation — it can happen elsewhere.

The New York election shows:

That New York voters care.

That they have not become mesmerized by the belief that nothing can be done, that the voter is helpless.

That they reject the easy cliche that New York is too big and too complex to be governed efficienty and honestly.

That they have the gumption, the independence to break with the political past in open demand for a better political future.

THAT'S SOMETHING. That's a lot.

New York City was the perfect test — and voter revolt radiantly won over voter apathy.

It couldn't have been easy for the divergent racial and economic groups of New York to break so completely with long-ingrained voting habits. For most of this century the Irish, the Jews, the Catholics, the Negroes and Labor have consistently voted to keep the Democratic party in control of City Hall. The registered voters have long been 7-to-2 Democratic.

But last week the voters of New York City pulled themselves up by their own roots and said: Give us something different, give us something better.

They didn't turn to Mayor-elect Lindsay because he was a Republican. They turned to him despite the fact that he was a Republican. This is way it will take other Lindsays to help rebuild the Republican party elsewhere.

The "Democratic" voters of New York are not asking and do not want Mr. Lindsay to put partisan government back in City Hall. There is no "Republican" way to resolve the traffic mess, make the parks safe to walk in, clear the air and increase the water supply. They are asking for modern, creative, do-something government.

The thunder-cloud warning from New York to the machine politicians everywhere is: Beware of voters in revolt.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

West Germany Seeks NATO Nuclear Role

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, during his forthcoming meeting with President Lyndon B. Johnson at his Texas ranch, will be armed with a potent new argument for giving his government a finger on the NATO nuclear trigger.

THE THREAT posed by Russia's medium-range ballistic missile force, primarily aimed at targets in West Germany, has been sharply increased in the past six months through an extensive modernization program.

This powerful force pointing at the heart of Europe now consists of approximately 700 nuclear-tipped missiles, all on Soviet soil and with ranges from 950 to 1,200 miles.

Prior to last March all of these missiles and their launchers were aboveground and in fixed locations known to NATO and U.S. intelligence authorities. According to information Erhard is bringing to the U.S., these missiles have vanished into "hardened" underground sites — many of whose locations are unknown to NATO officials.

AN INCREASING percentage of the sinister Red missile force is being made fully mobile by being mounted on large caterpillar-propelled or rubber-tired vehicles which also serve as launchers.

It is the Bonn government's estimate that all Soviet missiles aimed at targets in Europe and Great Britain will either be in "hardened underground" bases or converted to the mobile-launching rockets by late 1966.

These new missiles will be difficult both to locate and destroy.

TO COUNTER THIS grave Russian threat, Chancellor Erhard will ask U.S. backing for a seat on the proposed "NATO Special Nuclear Command Committee" that Defense Secretary McNamara is pressing.

This atomic command group, which France has declined to join, will be discussed at a NATO defense ministers meeting in Paris on Nov. 26. These Western officials will then report their findings to a NATO foreign ministers meeting on Dec. 16-19 in the same city.

British Prime Minister Wilson has vigorously opposec German membership on th so-called "trigger committee' because the Soviet has servec notice there can be no agreement or pact against nuclea weapons proliferation if Bon is given an atomic weapon command role.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By STEPHEN COOK

Alas, Hell's Angels Going Soft, Aspiring To Pro-Society Status

The Hell's Angels, that band of motorcycling mauraders who, for years, have stood as one of the finest examples of men alienated from their society, who never asked anything but that they be allowed to risk their necks aboard their high speed two-wheelers, drink beer and perhaps terrorize a few communities — this club, steeped in tradition, is in serious danger of disintegration.

OH, I DARESAY the angels will still be around for a number of years to come, but it will never be the same as it has been. Some year, probably not too far in the future, someone will turn the organization into a men's service club. Its death-head insignia, possibly dressed up with a lightning bolt clamped in the teeth and an olive branch hanging from the angel wings, will, along with the Rotary and Sertoma, greet visitors to every small town up and down the state. The Angels will hold weekly breakfast or luncheon meetings, fining members who fail to attend.

Yes, it all sounds pretty grim, but you cannot say the blackjacketed gentlemen aren't asking for it. Take for example, the two Angels who visited the American government class at Redwood High School last week. Both are fine examples of the sickness which seems to pervade their organization.

In the days when men were men and Hell's Angels were hoodlums, these two would never have set foot on a high school campus — unless they planned to take the school captive. School, being an arm of government which is an extension of society, is something the old Angels would have scoffed at.

THE ANGELS, it appears, are just men after all. The possibility of acceptance into society is luring them down off the motorcycle paths. Oakland Hell's Angels Club President Ralph (Sonny) Bargar, for example, is a sucker for society's present mania—the campaign button. Appearing at the high school, his black jacket was dotted with buttons reading "support your local police," "business is good" and "victory over communism." Barger would probably claim the buttons are mostly for jokes but, as students of Freud would tell him, a joke may just be an overt negation of something he really desires.

And then there is the reason for the Angels' visit to the high school. Was it to regale the students with tales of the club's adventurous exploits in California foothill towns? No indeed. It was to enlist their support, or at least sympathy, in the Hell's Angels' patriotic crusade against "peace-creep" communists who are opposing our war in Viet Nam.

THIS CRUSADE of the Angels has been accepted as good by most of our society and even praised highly by some. This praise for just wading in and picking a fight seems to have turned the heads of the Hell's Angels. Here, they think, they have made their deepest inroad towards acceptance in the society they covet.

I would blame those who applaud the Angels for their patriotism as the responsibiles for the club's certain disintegration, were it not for something that Barger told me at at the high school. The Angels, I decided then, have no one to blame but themselves.

Asked how much it cost him to drive his motorcycle each year, Barger responded that the figure was about $1,700. "You see," he said, "I buy a new bike every year and trade the old one in."

NOW IF THAT isn't emulation of the Great American Society, what is? Now if he would just buy a house with a two motorcycle garage. . . .

MORRIE RYSKIND

Congress Emulates Corporation Wheel Out On Credit Card Spree

By RAYMOND MOLEY
(Substituting for Morrie Ryskind)

AS THE FIRST session of the 89th Congress fades into history, it reminds me of a man in New York who had a big afternoon and night on the town. That man, who recklessly spent on his credit, realized when the bills came in that he was not only unable to remember what he had "bought," but was so loaded with debt that his obligations would haunt him for a long time to come.

The President has acclaimed the session as "the greatest in American history." But his use of the word "greatest" means the most expensive and the most reckless.

The New Yorker to whom I refer was one of the best paid and best known figures on Madison Ave. On the morning of the night out he had received a new and better employment contract with his company. He had a home with wife and kiddies in Westchester. He had charge accounts at the better stores, and his wallet was crammed with credit cards of all sorts.

THE SPENDING PART of his day began at noon, when he entertained three associates in his company. After the familiar three martinis before lunch, his feeling of good will rose so high that in the early afternoon he proceeded to several stores and charged presents for his family and other relatives.

At 5:30 he met some friends at a bar for the usual two or three "for the road." Meanwhile the commuter train departed and he called home and said that "business" would keep him in town for the evening. Then he and his friends began the rounds. He ended by taking a room for the night at an expensive hotel. In addition to his outlays on credit, there was a certain amount of cash paid out for taxis and tips.

The next day, if his mind considered costs at all, he had not the faintest idea of the extent of his obligations. The bills would come staggering in for three of four weeks.

CONGRESS AT this 1965 session appropriated $119 billion, which was $12 billion more than in 1964, but this is only the official figure. Many welfare programs that were adopted are of the open-end variety. Some of the legislation imposes obligations of an indeterminate nature for years to come. Some involve back-door spending, in which money will be drawn from the Treasury without annual appropriation.

In the final catchall supplemental money measures approved just prior to adjournment, Congress acted to provide advance funding for the urban renewal program. No one knows what the future costs of hospital and nursing-home care will be, for no one can predict how many will claim the benefits. The costs of education are unknown, for no one knows how many individuals and institutions will claim grants under a rather fuzzy authorization.

What we do know is that federal welfare expenditures leaped in the 10 years from 1955 to 1965 from $13 billion to $33 billion, and under the laws passed this year the welfare costs will probably go up to around $45 billion by 190. This comes very close to the outlays for the military and for foreign aid.

BUT WHILE in this country we have been moving into the welfare state, following the United Kingdom in the early years after World War II, the United Kingdom is now discovering a serious drift in public opinion in the other direction. A poll by the British Institute of Public Affairs shows that the costly social-service programs over there are rapidly losing their popularity. In the United Kingdom two-fifths of the government's revenue goes to these services.

The present Labor government now finds that these outlays are impairing the nation's currency in foreign markets. This in any nation measures the ultimate reckoning. At the recent Britith Labor Party's conference at Blackpool the more conservative elements in the dominant party sharply rebuffed the orthodox socialists.

This is in contrast with the United States, where the liberal element overwhelmingly swept the elections in 1964. At this moment in the United States government welfare is at a high tide. We are enjoying our spree now.

THE INEVITABLE bills will come in later.

Voters in Ross Valley Sanitary District approved a $320,000 bond issue to finance a new sewage treatment plant, designed to serve a population of 35,000.

Oliver Hartzell, superintendent of San Rafael schools, recommended abandonment of the B Street School because of its location in the business district.

Traditions

are so nice in the Holiday Season and this New Englandish house just asks for them. A central hall with a stairway just right for swags of greenery—a red brick fireplace for the Santa stockings—a modern kitchen where it's easy to whip out fragrant turkeys and pumpkin pies—4 huge bedrooms (two even have dormer ceilings) and two large baths. And the low price of $34,500 makes it a shrewd Yankee bargain!

THEY TAKE TRADE-INS

When San Geronimo contractor Jess Janssen visited San Rafael's Town and Country Motors yesterday, he decided to test their claim that they would take nearly anything in trade. They passed the test by accepting his 9-year-old horse, Rebel, as part payment on a dump truck. Slapping an improvised sign on the steed's neck, salesmen placed Rebel on the lot. The horse was sold the same day— which was fortunate, because police by that time had pointed out its presence was a violation of a city ordinance.

HEARTBREAK OFFICER

Mark Falcone's Job Pays Off For Taxpayers Of Marin County

By RICHARD LYTTLE

That is his job, a job that pays off for Marin County taxpayers.

Falcone is revenue officer for Marin County, and as such runs the county government's collection agency.

He cited the case of a girl who suffered a serious head injury in a traffic accident and was three months in the hospital before she died. Her parents were left with hospital and medical bills totaling $10,000.

"They'll never be able to pay it," Falcone said. "But they want to pay. Most people want to pay."

Falcone's office, a bureau in the auditor-controller's department, was created in 1962, consolidating all the collection efforts of various departments of county government. Most of the collections are for medical aid, probation, mental hygiene and general relief.

How is a person who qualifies for county medical aid in the first place expected to pay the bill later?

Falcone explained the many conditions that arise where the county will expect repayment. Sometimes a patient will find employment after treatment, often there is insurance that will cover the bill, or a responsible relative who can be billed. Also the county can settle its bills with the estate after death.

Another method of assuring payment is through liens on real property. Here the county collects either at probate or when the property is sold.

No bill is ever written off the books, although many are classified as "inactive," Falcone said.

MARK J. FALCONE
He meets all kinds

He said $2.9 million is technically due the county for aid rendered during the past five years. If you wanted to go back further, you could probably run the figure up to $10 million, said Falcon.

But, as a practical matter, only about $600,000 can be considered "accounts receivable," Falcone said.

Medical aid accounts for the biggest share, about $1.7 million in the last five years. Mental hygiene accounts, the bills from state mental institutions, come to $49,000. Payment due for probation services totals $430,000, and payment on general relief comes to $762,000.

State hospitals, such as Sonoma State Hospital which takes care of mentally retarded children, bill the county at the rate of $20 a month for each Marin child. Falcone must collect this from the parents or other responsible relatives.

The rate was set under a 75-year-old state law. Actual cost to the state for the care is $397 a month. There are now 147 Marin children at Sonoma State Hospital and only 17 of these involve collection problems for Falcone.

Adults who go to Napa State Hospital run up higher bills. Sometimes Falcone goes to the patients themselves, after they are released, to get reimbursement. The cost here is $10.20 a day, so bills can run high in a short time.

"It is considered good therapy for the patients to ask them to pay what they can," Falcone said.

Often it is up to Falcone to judge how much can be paid and what the payment program should be. Sometimes, if the county must take a case to court, the judge will set the payment schedule.

With probation cases, the probation officer on the case sets the arrangement for payment. Falcone thinks this should be put in his discretion, leaving the probation officer to work on the rehabilitation effort.

Parents of juveniles are billed $5 a day for lodging of youths in juvenile hall, considerably under the actual cost. There is also a billing to responsible relatives for care of children in foster homes. The charges here vary, Falcone said.

The state charges for California Youth Authority camps. These again are charged against the county, with Falcone responsible to seek what reimbursement possible.

The only category of welfare payments that the county can try to collect is that money paid out under general relief. This fund of strictly county money (no state or federal allocations involved) is usually used to help needy until they are qualified under one of the other categories of aid.

In one case, a woman who had been receiving aid had $9,000 in an account under her maiden name. Falcone also tells of instances where those about to go on aid have deeded real property to relatives or friends so that it cannot be attached at time of death.

"These are rare instances," he said.

It is difficult to measure the dollars and cents benefit of the collection bureau. Last year the bureau, with an operating budget of $30,000, brought in $160,000.

How much less would have been brought in under the old method where each department was responsible for collection is impossible to say, Falcone said.

Auditor - Controller Michael Mitchell declared that Falcone also provides a valuable service in determining if a case qualifies for county aid. Often investigations prior to medical treatment will show that the patient has substantial insurance or can cover costs and has no business seeking public assistance.

"This provides a substantial saving for the county," Mitchell said.

The bureau work involves considerable filing and bookkeeping. Falcone is assisted by two stenographers, Mrs. Penny Franciska and Mrs. Phyllis Stroh. All accounts are processed through the data processing department.

But it is tough to do the job without a lot of leg work and investigation of individual cases Falcone daily comes face to face with all the quirks of humanity. Once he was even threatened.

That was when he went to see a woman about a payment. The woman's sweetheart, thinking Falcone was a rival, chased the collection agent from the home.

"We meet all kinds," Falcone said.

Teacher Tells Of Bugging By Secret Police

By CHARLIE ENNIS

Terra Linda High School Student

"We were constantly aware of the Secret Police in Warsaw because they made themselves perfectly obvious. Black Mercedes Benzes surrounded the house we stayed in.

"When we talked I could see them bend to tune a radio, so we knew there were microphones planted. I walked into my room once and saw a camera disappear below the window sill."

The stay in the house of a Polish dignitary was only a small part of her journey through Europe and England.

After leaving her job at Sequoia High School in Redwood City, last June, she traveled through eight European countries including two behind the Iron Curtain.

"Teen-agers in England really fit the stereotype we have of them in this country. Boys tend to be outfitted in Beatle type clothes, some sort of denim trouser, heavy belts, high-heeled boots and those workmen's caps or in little boys' suits with narrow ties and pointy shoes," she said.

"I sometimes wasn't sure if I was looking at a boy or a girl." I would say that English girls look better than American girls their age because the English girls do make up their eyes but do not go on to wreck their faces with slabs of brown cream that only looks hideous," she said.

She visited the Warsaw ghetto that the Nasis used as a Jewish concentration camp.

Now marked by a monument, the camp is famous for its uprising when the Jews held off the Germans for several weeks with virtually no food or weapons.

"The day my friends and I visited it, it was pouring rain. We were parked in our car when we saw an old Jew come up to stand in front of the monument. He just stood staring, holding a parcel. His raincoat started to soak through, but he didn't move.

"We wondered if maybe he was one of the few who miraculously escaped. We wondered what must be going through his mind as he stood there. The rain soaked completely through his raincoat, he hadn't moved once, and he turned and walked away through the sandpiles. The picture of this poor old man is just indelible in my memory," Miss Freedman said.

'Payday' Lets Retarded See Money Value

By MAX JENNINGS

LANDER, Wyo. (UPI)—Twice a month, on Wednesdays, it's payday at Wyoming's primary facility for the mentally retarded.

Since it was begun in 1962, despite misgivings on the part of some officials and apprehension on the part of the State Training School at Lander, the "payday" plan has been a burgeoning success.

"When we first started the program, we paid with silver dollars," said Glen Hamilton, then director of the school program at the institution and now director of the Governor's Committee on Mental Retardation.

"That afternoon," he said, "we found silver dollars laying all over the place."

Now, more than two years after the first payday, said school director Dr. Fred W. Heryford, almost every one of the students has an awareness of the value of money. The money no longer is found laying about the grounds of the institution.

"This has been the most effective tool," Heryford said, "it is the best disciplinary tool we have in the institution."

Some of the ways the retarded children earn their pay include getting along with other pupils, willingness to perform household or ward tasks, personal cleanliness, ability to get along with the attendants and disciplinary problems.

Depending on the student's report, he receives between 25 cents and $3 every pay day.

And, too, Heryford said, the students are required to sign the forms before they are paid.

"This adds another fringe value," he said. "It's an asset to our school program."

Indians Getting Touchy About Fake Souvenirs

BY ROBERT E. HUBER

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — Southwest Indians are trying a reverse twist to their old problem of education. They are bent on educating the white man.

That's because these Indians get a little testy when they see tourists buying fake Indian souvenirs in curio shops. It's easy to understand why.

In brochures and in person, Indians are quoting federal laws which say any person who offers for sale goods labeled Indian Products had better have the real thing. Fines can be levied up to $2,000, and imprisonment can be involved.

On top of that, the Indians are trying to point out to tourists who travel New Mexico and Arizona the differences between authentic Indian products and factory produced souvenirs.

Silversmithing is associated generally with Navajos, Hopis and some Pueblo Indians along the Rio Grande in New Mexico. The Zuni Indians produce the finest turquoise work.

Aside from jewelry, Indian blankets are the second most copied craft of the Southwest artisans. But the Navajos have the best solution to the quandry of how to distinguish the real from the fake.

Navajos, they say, don't make rugs. In other words, if the material is light weight, don't buy it. Rugs made by Indians were intended for use on the floors of homes. They are heavy, rugged, and they even scratch bare skin.

The quickest way to spot the genuine item, one Pueblo Indian in Santa Fe said, is by taking a good look at the seller and the price of the item. If they both look cheap, that's probably what they are, he said.

School Votes Allow Absentees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Voters in school elections may use absentee ballots, Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch ruled today.

Lynch said the general election code applies to school as well as other balloting. The attorney general also declared that electioneering is banned 500 feet from the entrance to a polling place.

The rulings were in response to a request by Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie, D-Antioch.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Myasthenia Gravis Can Occur When Nerve Lacks Chemical

VAN DELLEN

Most victims of myasthenia gravis tell a typicial story about their illness. Without warning they begin to have difficulty keeping the eyelids open. This is less noticeable during the first part of the morning and more troublesome as the day goes on. Strength returns with a short rest but the weakness recurs after the lids are held open. Double vision occurs when the eyes are affected.

MORE THAN ONE group of muscles are likely to be involved. Those of the face, jaws, and the swallowing apparatus are also susceptible. The disorder is more serious when the structures concerned with breathing, talking, and swallowing become fatigued. The person may be engaged in conversation when, without warning, he is unable to continue until the muscles are given a chance to recuperate. A similar condition exists when swallowing or chewing. Walking is difficult when the legs are affected and work is almost impossible when the arms tire.

The trouble centers about acetylcholine that is formed at the point where the controlling nerve enters the muscle fiber. Those with myasthenia gravis do not produce this substance or perhaps it is destroyed immediately after the muscle contracts. This chemical is essential for proper muscular activity. No one knows why some develop the condition; the thymus gland under the breastbone is implicated in some, but not all victims.

THE DEGREE of weakness is easily tested by contracting the involved muscles repeatedly. Shutting and opening the eyes in rapid succession is an example. This is done before and after the use of neostigmine because victims of this disease respond promptly and dramatically when this drug is used.

Several good remedies are available and the majority live a long but somewhat restricted life.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

BE SENSIBLE

A. A. M. writes: After an intestinal operation recently, the surgeon told me I could eat anything. But when I eat chocolate, ice cream, fruit juices, and a few other foods I become ill. Will you advise?

REPLY

Common sense should tell you to omit foods that bother you. Substitutes are available but you may need vitamin C tablets to make up for the lack of fruit juices.

PERSISTENT SORE

T. R. writes: A friend of mine keeps removing the scabs from a sore. She claims it will not heal unless she does this. Is this right or wrong?

REPLY

Any lesion that does not heal should be viewed with suspicion because of the possibility that it may be cancerous. The scab is part of the healing process and often protects the sore until the skin covers the lesion.

PROSTATE SURGERY

V. P. writes: Can the prostate grow back after surgery? A man told me he has had three operations and each time it returns.

REPLY

If the prostate is removed, it cannot grow back. But most of the surgical procedures done today consist of removing only that part of the organ causing obstruction. Regrowth, in these circumstances, is possible.

COLOR ADDED

Mrs. Z. writes: When oranges are marked "color added" does this mean the value of the fruit is impaired?

REPLY

No. Some fruits are picked green and color is added to improve eye appeal.

MILK ALLERGY

F. R. writes: Why does milk go through me like a dose of salts?

REPLY

You are allergic or have an idiosyncrasy to milk.

MOIST BETTER

Mrs. V. writes: Is wet or dry heat better in an attack of acute sinus?

REPLY

I prefer wet because moistur has a soothing effect upon th membranes of the upper respira tory passageways.

NONSPECIFIC

E. J. writes: What does sedimentation test reveal abou infection in the body?

REPLY

A high reading usually is a sociated with infection but th blood test offers no clue where or what type of infecti is present.

Four-Horned Bull Taken From Show

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you see a Brown Swiss bull with four horns and three eyes, don't call a psychiatrist or an optometrist. It might be Elmer.

Elmer was reported stolen yesterday from a carnival. His owner, Harvey Williams, 60, told officers the animal was on display earlier yesterday but that his van and Elmer later disappeared.

Williams said he valued the bull at $25,000.

Down To The Wire In Marin Grid Race

The race for the Marin Athletic League football team championship and individual rushing title will go right down to the wire this weekend with Drake and Novato dominating the center of attention on the league's final day of play.

Tied for first place with 4-1 records going into the final games, Drake and Novato will be under pressure to win. Drake plays Redwood (2-2-1) Saturday afternoon, 1:30, at Kentfield while Novato meets Marin Catholic (0-5) Saturday night, 8 o'clock, also at Kentfield.

The final weekend starts tomorrow night, 8 o'clock, at San Rafael High where Tamalpais (3-2) and Terra Linda (2-2-1) battle for third place. San Rafael (2-4) finished its league schedule last Saturday and plays Petaluma in practice tomorrow night at Petaluma.

While the team championship or co-championship will be decided at Kentfield Saturday, there and then too will be decided the individual rushing championship in the spirited battle between Novato's Dick Otis and Drake's Dean Lazzarini.

Otis has 599 yards in five games to Lazzarini's 590, so fans can expect both of them to do considerable ball carrying in their final high school games. Otis will be seeking his second straight rushing title, having won the honor last year with 570 yards to Lazz' runner-up 522. With fewer carries over the past two years, Lazzarini, a breakaway type runner, has the better average per carry of the two super stars.

In the final games, Lazzarini's job would seem to be the tougher of the two. Redwood, his final opponent, ranks fourth in defense against rushing while Marin Catholic is last in that category.

Lazzarini is the favorite to win the individual scoring title. He has 44 points to date, a 17-point lead over his nearest challenger.

And Novato end Tom Corder appears headed for the pass-catching crown with 15 catches for 299 yards, a 20-yard average per catch, and three touchdowns.

MARIN VS. SPARKLING SHASTA '11' TOMORROW

College of Marin Tars, hoping to salvage some glory from a disappointing season, host the first place Shasta Knights tomorrow at Kentfield, 8 p.m., in their next to last game of the season.

Marin, 2-4-1 overall and 1-2 in Golden Valley Conference, will be meeting a Shasta team that has a 3-0 conference mark. The Knights can clinch at least a tie for the title with a victory tomorrow.

Marin has one game remaining on the schedule — its traditional Big Game against Santa Rosa's Bear Cubs Nov. 19 at Kentfield.

Mays: MVP Great, But I'd Rather Win Pennant

Second Top Award For Giants' Great

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Just by winning the 1965 National League Most Valuable Player Award, Willie Mays has set another record.

For it was 11 years ago that the San Francisco Giants' centerfielder last captured the MVP. And no player in baseball history has had to wait that long between.

WILLIE MAYS
Most Valuable

Joe DiMaggio, another famous center fielder from San Francisco, once waited eight years between MVP's when he was with the New York Yankees.

"It's just wonderful to be chosen with so many good ball players around," said Mays when notified he had won yesterday. "It's especially good because we didn't win a pennant. But I'd rather have won the pennant than the award."

The 34-year-old Mays, whose Giants finished two games behind Los Angeles, polled 224 points in the balloting announced in Boston by the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Sandy Koufax, the left-handed unanimous Cy Young Award choice as Most Valuable Pitcher, got 177 points for his 26-8 record and two Series victories. Maury Wills, the Dodger shortstop, received 164 points on the ballots from two writers in each of the 10 National League cities.

Ken Boyer, 1964 MVP while with the St. Louis Cardinals, got no votes and no points.

ALL BALLOTS

Mays, only player named on all ballots, received nine first place votes, 10 seconds and one third in becoming the fifth man to win the Award twice.

Koufax, the 1963 MVP, received six firsts, five seconds and five thirds.

Wills, whose selection as 1962 MVP sent Mays' adherents howling in the last Giants' pennant year, polled five firsts, three seconds and seven thirds for stealing 94 bases and batting .286.

Mays led the majors with a personal high of 52 homers and led the National League with 360 total bases and a .645 slugging average. He batted across 112 runs and hit for a .317 average.

"Beating Koufax is a great thrill," Mays. "I thought I'd be a candidate because this was one of my best years and I didn't think I'd be left out."

Mays carried the Giants through August by hitting 17 homers, a league record. San Francisco then won 14 in a row in September and took over first place only to fall back later in the race of a 13-game Los Angeles victory string.

Home run No. 52 came on the last day of the season and set a club record. It left him with 505 career homers, only six less than the National League mark of 511 by ex-Giant Mel Ott.

"I needed those rests this year," said "I'll need more rest next year.

"I was tired at the end of the season. It was a real strain that last day," he continued. "All I was trying to do was hit a home run."

HELPED YOUNGSTERS

Mays led the league in 1954 with a .345 batting average and also hit 41 homers for the pennant winning New York Giants. But he feel he made more of a contribution to the 1965 team because he also helped younger players.

"Any time a player hits 52 homers, he figures he has had a good season," said Mays. "Why 30 to 40 homers is doing good in this league. When I hit 52, I felt I had to be pretty lucky."

Of his 52 homers, Mays said the most significant was the one he hit Sept. 14 in Houston. After fouling off a number of pitches, Mays hit a 3-2 delivery into the left field stands with two out in the ninth inning, a man on base and the Giants two runs behind. San Francisco won 7-5 in the next inning.

"I don't believe in goals," said Mays about his future. "You start worrying about goals and you don't do anything for the team. You play well and you get the records anyway."

One goal Mays could achieve is to become the highest paid player in baseball history. He now earns close to $110,000 and Ted Williams once drew $125,000 for a season with the Boston Red Sox.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

Shy Sam So Well Remembered: Marin's Greatest Athlete

Samuel Blake Chapman is 49 years old now. There's snow on the thinning roof, but there is still that physique of a great athlete. Upon meeting him for the first time you would say to yourself, "I'll bet that guy played a lot of ball."

And you would be so right. But, in conversation, S. B. Chapman of 32 Corte Morada, Greenbrae, would lead you to believe he led the Patsy League in fumbles and the Greenbrae Goblins in errors. They didn't call him Shy Sam for nothing.

I THINK ol' Sambo actually would blush if someone told you in his presence that he was the greatest athlete ever to set spike or cleat on Marin County real estate. Or that he stormed out of Tiburon and Tamalpais High School to become an All-Time, All-American grid great at University of California. Or that he then went on to grace major league outfields for 14 long, hot summers, mostly with Connie Mack and the Philadelphia Athletics.

SEVERAL YEARS ago I interviewed Sam for a magazine piece and wound up with enough material to fill a whole sentence. He also leads the league in reticence. Finally, in frustration, I had to dig through a trunkful of mementoes saved by Jody Chapman to learn that her hubby was quite an All-American and quite a big leaguer.

UNITED PRESS International's Scott Baillie interviewed Sam the other day and encountered the same problem. Rather than discuss his plusses, Sam, now an inspector for the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, wanted to tell about his few minuses, like his first day with the A's when his error lost the game, or when Cal's unbeaten grid team of 1937 beat Stanford in the Big Game," . . . but the one thing I remember was dropping a perfect pass in the end zone." And when asked about the time in 1939 when he hit three home runs, a triple, double and single in two days, he shrugged, "That was a few years ago. I've forgotten about it."

In 1937, when he led Cal through an unbeaten season and on to a 13-0 victory over Alabama in the Rose Bowl, a news clipping rated him the best back on the coast and ". . . the key man in the Cal attack, whose blocking, punting, ball carrying and passing won loud plaudits throughout the nation."

TY COBB once wrote to Connie Mack: "You couldn't go wrong signing this kid." It was the first time the Georgia Peach ever recommended a player to the major leagues. Sam signed for $8,500 in 1938 and did not play minor league ball until 1952 when he played out his final three season as a Coast Leaguer at Oakland.

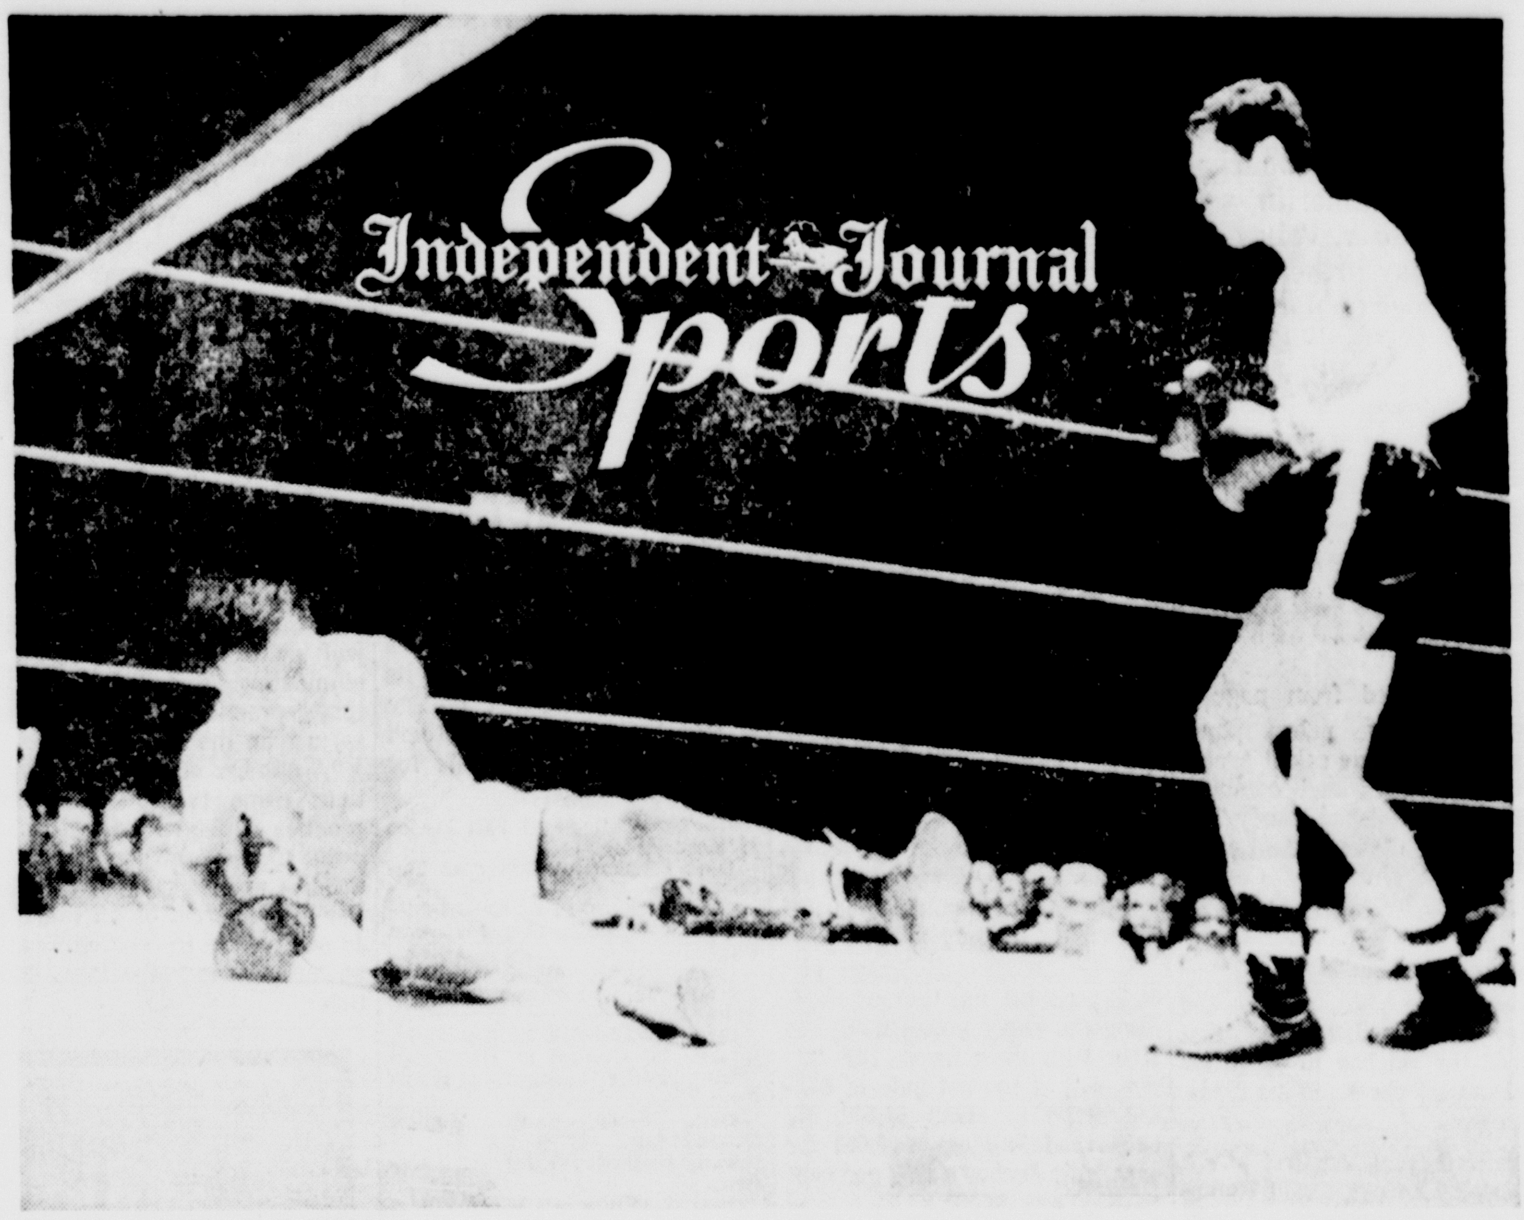
In 1946 he hit three home runs in a doubleheader and that same year hit a grand slam that beat the great Bobby Feller.

SAM'S CREDENTIALS are long and impressive. But don't ask him. He blushes easily.

ONE LAST NOTE: Tam High named a football stadium after its most illustrious athletic alumnus. And while Sam was still playing baseball a decade or so ago, wreckers were razing Sam Chapman Stadium at Mill Valley.

He had outlived a stadium, which seems to describe Samuel Blake Chapman. Indestructible.



SUGAR SPILLED—Sugar Ray Robinson, again trying for a comeback, is floored by Joey Archer in the fourth round of their fight last night in Pittsburgh, Pa. Sugar Ray took a count of nine and got up to finish the bout, but Archer was the winner by a unanimous decision.

Sugar Ray Calls It Quits

By JACK HAND

PITTSBURGH, pa. (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, five-times the middleweight boxing champion, said today he is quitting the ring for good.

The veteran of 199 professional bouts announced his decision as an aftermath to last night's one-sided loss to young Joey Archer of New York in the Civic Arena here.

"I hate to go on too long campaigning for another chance," Robinson said. "I had high hopes of fighting for the championship again if I had beaten Archer. But I didn't win."

It is Archer's turn to scream "we want Dick Tiger." Chances are he'll get that shot at the middleweight crown. Teddy Brenner, the Madison Square Garden matchmaker, wants to make it for March in New York.

Archer knocked down Robinson for a nine-count in the fourth round to the surprise of the Civic Arena crowd of 9,023 that paid a gross gate of $40,91.3 He rocked the tired body of the faded ex-champion time after time and almost put him away in the 10th round.

All three officials voted for him — referee Buck McTiernan 48-41, judge Ernie Sesto 49-40 and judge George Lupinacci 50-39. The AP card was 48-41.

When the final bell rang the cheers were for Sugar Ray, who claims to be 44 although the record books carry his age at 45. They weren't applauding because they thought Robinson had won.

They were paying a tribute to a gallant stand by an old man who was still trying to knock out the kid with one big punch. He had only one big round, the third.

The truth of the matter is that

The 'Blue Drip' Invades Stanford

Before the season started, if anyone had taken a poll of the UCLA campus as to what they thought the "Rose Bowl" was, 40 per cent of the student body might have answered that it was a deep dish in the living room where Grandma kept cut flowers.

The other 60 per cent would have described it as a mythical place where a football team from Michigan or Illinois annually chopped up a team from the Pacific northwest.

Then they would have changed the subject to basketball, or the new medical wing of the university—or the weather.

THERE WAS a movement afoot for a time to get a new football stadium built on UCLA's campus to avoid the necessity of the student body having to get up early on Saturday to go downtown and watch the team beaten, but hotter heads prevailed, and suggested "Why don't we wait a few years and the Orpheum Theatre will be big enough?" It was added that, if the student body got any more apathetic, they'd have to hold the game in the school library to get an audience.

FOOTBALL HAS always run a poor second to education at UCLA. Only in infrequent coaching administrations did the school have 11 people who were better with a football than a microscope—or who knew that the War of the Roses was not run by Woody Hayes.

They never call the team the "Red Tide," the "Purple Puddle," the "Brown Wave," the "Thundering Herd," or any of the other ringing alliterations selected by other football schools. For one reason. Usually, UCLA was more like a "Pink T," or the "Thundering Birds," the "Puddle—." The Red Tide was coming from its nose. If the student body rose to chant "we're No. 1," they meant in chemistry—or interior decoration.

IN SHORT, they were settling into a nice comfortable academic rut. The faculty was all but purring. The deemphasizers were studying plane schedules to Boston and New Haven and dreaming of going to the Yale Bowl instead of the Rose Bowl. They wondered if Ivy could be made to grow clear across the country. They were checking to see whether Harvard still scheduled football.

J. THOMPSON Prothro changed all that—poisoned the Ivy, got the cheerleaders practicing something besides "hold that line!," sent the girls scurrying for their short skirts and pom-pons, and made career football players who had already bought their ticket for points north and east to pause and wonder whether they had made the right move. Perhaps, all they needed was the Wilshire bus.

COACH PROTHRO took a a squad which had lost six of its last seven games and which had given up 147 points in five of those games. How he convinced them they could play football has to rank as the greatest snow job since 1888, and Tommy became known in the trade as the "Abdominable Snowman" which (or whom), by the way, he somewhat resembles. It was freely perdicted that Tommy was so full of snow that when the spring sun came there would be nothing left of him but a fewpieces of charcoal buttons and a corn-cob pipe. The rest of him would be running down the sidewalk in a stream.

COLDLY, TOMMY is in a rut, too. If he wins two more games—which he just might if his team doesn't sit down and try to figure out what they're doing right—he'll be the first modern coach to take two different teams to the Rose Bowl in successive years. They may just tell him to stay there.

We may have to cast around now for a suitable descriptive nickname for the squad, the "Blue Drip," the "Golden Glob," the "Blue Blot," the "Hammering Horde" — something to suggest Attila the Hun in cleats, not just a bunch of kids who are good in spelling.

THE "GLOB" beat the Washington Huskies' Purple Gang the other afternoon in a game that was so twosided, the final gun was the turning point.

UCLA sometimes seemed to be in a unique "pass-prevent" defense — a 4-4-3. Sherman's statue in the park had more lateral movement than the "deep three" who more often looked not only deep but buried.

THE SCOREBOARD looked like a bank clearance. The Huskies got their first score before the coin came down, but the Bruins—pardon me, the Blue Blot—won because Washington's quarterback gave a Heisman Trophy performance. For sheer versatility, it's hard to match a man who can complete 21 passes—three of them to total strangers, i.e., UCLA Bruins. This more than made up for the 24 first downs in the 509 yards rushing and passing Washington otherwise made. The Bruins should have given him the game ball.

Instead, they gave it to Prothro. After all, he's the only one who knows the way to the Rose Bowl.

Next stop is at Palo Alto this Saturday against the Stanford Indians.

Raiders To Juggle The Lineup

OAKLAND (UPI)— Coach Al Davis is hinting that he will juggle his lineup a bit when Oakland takes its 5-3-1 record against Eastern Division leader Buffalo here Sunday.

One of those likely to be replaced is rookie halfback Larry Todd, a surprise starter against Houston last week who gained 149 yards from scrimmage.

But Buffalo has permitted less than 80 yards per game on the ground while their pass defense has leaked 211 yards per contest.

Davis apparently feels that the 192-pound Todd will have trouble moving against men like Tom Sestak, 270, Jim Dunaway, 280, Roland McDole, 275, and Tom Day, 265.

He indicates Clem Daniels will shift back to halfback ith Al Miller, a good pass blocker, going at fullback.

GRID CHECK TO AID STUDENTS

Robinson's once potent punch has lost its zip. He raked Archer with left hooks and combinations as he punished Randy Turpin, Gene Fullmer, Jake Lamotta, Rocky Graziano, Carmen Basilio and all the others in the good old days.

Nothing nappened. Archer shook off the bombs and pecked away with that stiff left jab that forced the old boy to apply ice packs to his cheeks in his dressing room.

"I tried from the first punch to knock him out," said Robinson, a forlorn figure on a bench. "The knockdown was the difference. He caught me off balance with a right hand."

Is this the end?

"You'll have to ask my manager," said Robinson pointing to George Gainford.

"We'll decide in a couple of days," said the sweaty Emperor. Later, in a dark corridor, Gainford nodded his head and said, "Age catches up to everybody."

Around the corner and down the hall, the Archer boys, Joey and his brother, Jimmy, who acts as his manager, were yelling for Tiger. But first, Joey had a kind word for Ray.

"He's still a great champion," said Joey. "He went out like a champ. I can see why they said he was so great. I learned something fighting him."

If he chooses, Robinson can still pick up fair purses, handling the eager young men who fight with their faces. His 22½ per cent of the net gate of $34,802 came to about $7,830. He once made almost $500,000 for one fight. Archer's 27½ per cent payday was $9,560.

It was Robinson's 14th fight of the year and his fifth defeat. People like Stan Harrington (twice), Fred Hernandez and Memo Ayon have beaten him. The crowd still remembers the Sugar Ray who started his pro career in 1940 when super fighters like Joe Louis, Billy Conn, Fritzie Zivic and Lew Jenkins were champions.

When Ray throws his hook or pulls the trigger on the right, they still expect to see the other man fall. Youngsters like Archer just walk in and start belting back.

Sugar Ray vs. Joey Archer in 1940? Why, Joey was only two years old then. But this is 1965. The crowd still cheers and grown men scramble for autographs. There is only one big trouble — the judges vote for the other guy.

BABY SITTING PROBLEM

Early AFL Draft Creates A Furor

NEW YORK (AP) — Seeking to solve what it calls a baby-sitting problem, the American Football League has set Nov. 20 for its college draft and once again has incurred the rath of college officials.

As a result of the AFL move yesterday, the National League says it may be forced to change its mind and follow the younger league in holding an early draft.

The AFL action, announced by Commissioner Joe Foss, ignited the college-pro controversy all over again. The dispute raged last year over alleged secret drafts, player-hiding, early signings and double signings.

Following that extended battle, both pro leagues told the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. they would refrain from signing players before their eligibility had ended. The NCAA also asked that the drafts be held no earlier than Nov. 27, the last big Saturday of college football.

Foss said Nov. 20 was selected for to reasons.

"First, it is the day on which a majority of college teams complete their schedules," he said. "And, further, I personally feel that drafting on the 20th will go a long ways toward eliminating so-called baby-sitting practices which have sprung up the last to years.

"A number of unsavory situations came to light from the practice of players being hidden away for several days prior to the last to drafts. I think it's in the best interest of all that we do our best to try and eliminate an increasingly unhealthy situation."

But James Corbett of Louisiana State, chairman of the NCAA committee on pro relations, didn't take that view.

"The AFL action," he said, "makes a mockery of that league's agreement with the NCAA and its member collegs. A draft as early as Nov. 20 can only be a completely negative morale factor since there will be increased pressure on the drafted player, on his team and on his college — at exactly the wrong time."

Foss, however, said the AFL would not violate the NCAA's primary concern over early signings.

"We just want a chance to contact the players and make our sales pitch," he added. "We understand the NFL has made elaborate plans again for baby-sitting with prospects and we want to get the chance to talk with these prospects."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL didn't say anything about the baby-sitting charges but he did say the league tentatively is planning its draft for Nov. 27, "in accordance with the wishes of colleges and universities.

"However, we may be forced to draft much sooner if others fail to honor requests."

An AFL spokesman said it had been learned that the NFL spent $150,000 on baby-sitting last year and was planning to spend $250,000 this year.

"The NCAA hasn't taken a stand on baby-sitting," the spokesman said. "It cost us some real good ballplayers last year. You try to sign a player, but you can't find him. Then when you do find him, he's already signed."

Both leagues held their drafts last year on Nov. 28, the last big day of the college season.

Terra Linda, Redwood Tie For 'C' Title

The Trojans of Terra Linda whipped Novato 30-16 and Redwood dumped Tamalpais 44-27 yesterday in final games of the season. The triumphs gave the co-champs 10-2 records for the season.

Terra Linda was in control throughout the game yesterday on its own court. Bob Maxwell and Gary Krambs shared high scoring honors with 10 points each.

The Little Giants of Redwood breezed to victory in their game also, leading 29-14 at half. Tim Hart and Andy McIlroy shared high scoring honors for Redwood with 11 points apiece.

Warner All-Star Battle At Novato High Sunday

The annual Marin County Pop Warner All-Star football game will be held Sunday, starting at 2 p.m., on the Novato High School field.

Comprising the North squad are 10 players from each of the north Marin teams, San Rafael, Terra Linda and Novato, while an equal number will come from the south Marin teams, Redwood, Tamalpais and Drake.

Since the three North teams ended the regular Marin County Pop Warner season as co-champs, they will be heavily favored to triumph in Sunday's game, which is free of charge.

San Antonio Gets 1968 PGA Tourney

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — John D. MacArthur, who donated the land for the PGA national headquarters, announced this week the 1968 PGA championship would be played at San Antonio, Tex.

PGA spokesman John Hubbard said, however, that "no official announcement of the tourney site had been made."

He would neither confirm or deny MacArthur's report.

MacArthur, the millionaire developer of Palm Beach Gardens, also announced the 1969 PGA tourney would be played in Florida.

Fans Love Warrior 'Baby'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When Rick Barry and Fred Hetzel, All America collegiate players of the past season, were drafted by the San Francisco Warriors, they became the basketball men-of-the-year in this territory.

The Warriors finished last in the NBA Western Division last season, a dismal result which nevertheless gave them the opportunity of getting the two high draft choices.

Barry became a starting forward off his work during pre season drills and games while Hetzel still hasn't seen much action. He suffered a ligament injury to a little finger which required surgery.

"The finger feels fine," he says while awaiting more action in the National Basketball Assn. games.

Barry is fast becoming a favorite with San Francisco fans although still not exhibiting all-over consistency.

He has been held to as low as eight points and scored as many as 33.

In the latter instance, when the Warriors lost to New York 104-103, Knickerbocker coach Harry Gallatin observed. "He's a tough man to guard. For a rookie, he really shows something. He makes the moves and the shots. He snakes around in there and always goes for the second and third effort.

"It won't be long after games like this that he's going to draw the other team's best defensive forward."

Barry scored only eight in the second game played by San Francisco against Detroit. Yet he contributed the key play as the Warriors came from behind to beat the Pistons.

The rookie from Miami University in Florida fielded a rebounded Detroit shot off the boards and moved the Warriors into position to score the go-ahead points.

Coach Alex Hannum said he "figured it was just a matter of time before Barry broke out and make a hit with the San Francisco fans. We've put a lot of load on him and he's done okay."

Barry's presence certainly doesn't figure as the whole reason, but he is the only new man in the Warriors' starting lineup and the team which finished last a year ago currently leads the NBA Western Division.

Warriors Embark On A Very Rugged Road Trip

BOSTON (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors play eight of their next 10 games on the road beginning tonight against the Philadelphia 76ers in Boston.

"For the next two weeks," said Coach Alex Hannum, "we have the roughest schedule in the league."

During the week the Warriors play the Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks, two teams San Francisco has not tangled with this season.

The Warriors, who are now 7-4, have beaten each of the other teams in the league at least once. The Warriors have won one and lost one to the 76ers.

Expert Tells Anti-Blackout Preparations

PHILADELPHIA—A nationally known expert on emergency lighting and power today outlined how people, buildings, plants and products can be kept safe if electric power fails.

He is C.H. Leet, an electrical engineer and engineering sales manager of Exide Industrial Marketing Division, the Electric Storage Battery Co., Philadelphia.

Leet said that despite excellent maintenance and service by electric utility companies, blackouts such as Tuesday's power loss over the northeast of the nation can occur from accidents, storms, overloads, fire or explosions.

If a power loss happens at a public building, hotel-motel, restaurant, hospital or factory, an automatic emergency lighting system can illumine main aisles, exits, fire towers, locker rooms and lunch rooms, for a long enough time to evacuate the building, he explained.

Water Board To Meet

Stinson Beach County Water District directors will meet at 8 p.m., tomorrow at the Community Center. Principal business will be filling a vacancy on the five-man board created when Director William Sherfey moved from the district, President Hugh Dougherty said today.

Guardian Named For Man Who Said He Was Bilked

A guardian has been appointed for Max Bootzin, 82-year-old Mill Valleyan who claims he was bilked of $120,000 in cash and property by two young women.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court has signed an order appointing Morris Bootzin of San Francisco as guardian for his father. The order was issued on petition of the son, holding that the elder Bootzin, "because of infirmities, both physical and mental," is unable to protect his interests.

A hearing was scheduled for 10 a.m. on Nov. 29 in Superior Court on a petition by Morris Bootzin for appointment of a conservator of his father's estate. It alleges the estate needs the care and attention of some fit and proper person, and that real and personal property is claimed "adversely" by the two women, Charmaine Klenman, 27, and Joan Taylor, 18.

The older Bootzin on Oct. 29 filed a suit charging the pair moved into his home at 8 Robertson Terrace, Mill Valley, and that under persuasion of Miss Klenman that she planned to marry him, Bootzin gave her cash and property amounting to $120,000. It asks recovery of the alleged losses.

San Rafael Officer Awarded Bronze Star

Maj. Frederick P. Schmidt Jr., of 24 Lowell Avenue, San Rafael, newly assigned chief of the Sixth Army Command Information Division, San Francisco, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for service in Viet Nam.

According to the citation, Schmidt undertook "outstanding meritorious service" with ground operations against the Viet Cong while serving as public information officer of the U.S. Military Assistance Command from August, 1964, to August, 1965.

Daniel C. Davis is president of the San Rafael Rotary Club.

Professor To Discuss Viet Nam Implications

Winnett Hagens, a San Francisco State College professor of international relations, will speak on "What's Happening In Viet Nam" Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the College of Marin Newman Center at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and College Avenue, Kentfield.

Hagens' talk will be sponsored by Motive, a Protestant student club on the campus.

Early Losses Erased But Market Is Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered late today and closed no worse than mixed after erasing an early loss.

Trading was slack due to the Veterans Day observance. Some banks and commodity exchanges were closed.

Aluminums, depressed early in the day by news that the aluminum price increased as being rescinded, came back in the final hour. In late trading Reynolds Metals had canceled its decline, Alcoa had halved its worst decline, Kaiser Aluminum and Olin Mathieson were showing gains.

American Telephone, which had sunk fractionally to a new low, recovered also, moving into plus territory.

A number of issues in electronics, aerospace and airlines showed selective strength.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.1 million shares compared with 5.01 million Wednesday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Gains and losses of fractions to a point or so were scattered throughout the list of leading issues.

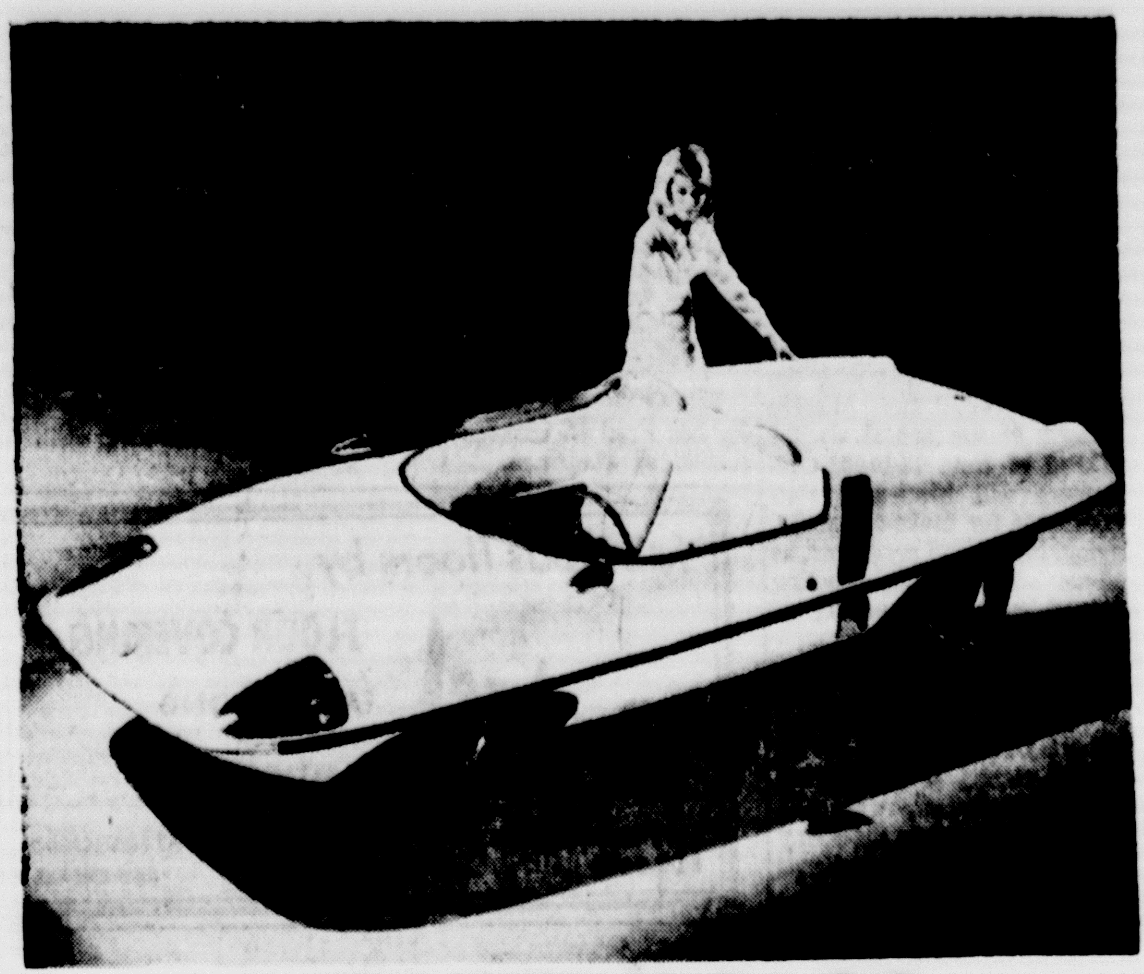
The market declined at the start, gradually cut its losses, then showed a pretty even balance between plus and minus signs.

The aluminums were down in early trading following the rollback of the aluminum price increase. Alcoa remained down about 2 points and Reynolds Metals about 1½. Olin Mathieson steadied and edged to the upside. Kaiser Aluminum and Aluminium Ltd. showed fractional losses.

American Telephone, fractionally lower, touched a new low, but some of the recent high flyers and other selected issues showed strength. Drexel Enterprises and Electronic Associates gained about 2 each. Up a point or better were Boeing, Zenith, General Motors, Texas Pacific Land, Transitron and Technical Materiel.

Gains of about 2 were scored by Polaroid, U.S. Smelting, Eastern Air Lines, Admiral, Fairchild Camera and Emery Air Freight.

Prices were mixed in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.



PLASTIC EXPERIMENTAL CAR

This "Cycolac Research Vehicle" is one of two cars being roadtested by Borg Warner Corp. to determine the advantages of plastic in automobile bodies. The CRV-1 above has a tubular steel frame. A sister car, the CRV-2, also has a fiberglass chassis, to which the body is fastened with an epoxy resin. Both cars have two-piece bodies that were thermoformed in 30 minutes. Plastic companies contend their materials are lighter but just as durable as metals.

Telephone Firm Sales At Record

NEW YORK—Sales and earnings of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. for the third quarter and first nine months of 1965 reached new peaks for any comparable periods in the corporation's history, Harold S. Geneen, chairman and president, said today in this interim report to stockholders.

Consolidated net income for the three months ended Sept. 30 was $17,649,000 compared with $15,792,000 for the same period last year. Third quarter earnings were equal to 84 cents per share, an increase of 10.5 per cent over the 76 cents per share in the like 1964 period.

For the first nine months of 1965, net income was $52,066,000 compared with $46,501,000 for the same period a year ago. Earnings per share for the first nine months were $2.48 or 11.2 per cent greater than the $2.23 per share a year ago.

Exec Flying Brings Boom To Aviation

By PHILIP J. KEUPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Private aviation, an industry that was supposed to take off after World War II, sputtered and coughed for years. Today it is booming.

Business flying, based on a maxim that every minute of an executive's time means money, is providing the main thrust for the private plane industry.

This year there were more than 90,000 nonmilitary, noncommercial airplanes in the United States, almost three times the total in 1946. At New York's La Guardia Airport, where the concentration of such aircraft is among the heaviest, these planes land or take off at the rate of one every other minute during peak hours.

RISING INCOME

Though rising income and growing interest in flying have fueled the private plane boom—275,000 Americans hold private pilot licenses—company purchases of planes have provided the biggest boost to sales, particularly in more expensive aircraft. Corporate air fleets range from sleek light planes to 570-mile-an-hour jets that seat 10 passengers.

Even railroads use private planes. Chesapeake & Ohio Railway has four twin-engine planes to move executives to some meetings. Chicago & North Western uses a twin-engine light plane and a turboprop.

FIELD EXPANDS

A mushrooming use of business jets has attracted military and major commercial airplane producers into the field. Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. is building a business jet that will cost more than $2 million. Lockheed's business jet sells for $1.6 million. Last month, Boeing announced it would make a jet for corporation use.

Less glamorous but far more plentiful are small propeller-driven aircraft largely produced by three major specialists in the light plane field: Beech Aircraft, Cessna Aircraft and Piper. Sales at the factory level of business and pleasure aircraft made by these companies soared last year to $176 million. In 1950, they amounted to only $19 million.

Increases in plushness and power have brought increases in price. The average private plane today sells for $22,000; the cheapest at about $7,000. The two-seater, single-engine aircraft of the 1940s cost $1,700 to $3,000.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Glen's TV At New Location; Coffee, Etc. Doors Are Open

In his fifth move since 1953, Glen Retke has relocated his Glen's TV again—this time at 875 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

This is the store once occupied by Knit 'n Needle; it has good foot traffic in front of it all day long and more than three times the space Retke last had at 909 D Street—so he will enlarge his operation from strictly a repair shop to sales and repair service. He leased it through Coldwell, Banker and Co.

Retke will handle both black and white color sets—but deliveries on color are still sluggish. He first started his business in Fairfax, subsequently moved to San Anselmo, the Miracle Mile and three years ago to D Street.

NOW OPEN for business in the Northgate Shopping Center—opposite the Emporium and between Casual Aire and Loana's is Coffee, Etc., an interesting shop selling teas, coffees and spices and coffee makers. Mrs. Fred De Bow is in charge.

For those who like to try something new, a different blend of coffee is prepared everyday. There is a coffee bar where coffee and pastries are served. Decor is unusual, with an entire wall made of tea boxes.

I. L. POTTER of San Anselmo has been elected vice president of Chevron International Oil Co., Inc., newly created subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of California responsible for national and international sales of petroleum products to airlines and the marine trade.

Previously assistant manager of Standard's foreign trade department since 1963, Potter joined the organization 10 years ago as a marketing trainee with another Standard affiliate, California Rexas Oil Corp., New York. Headquarters of Chevron International will be in Standard's new building at 555 Market Street, San Francisco. The company will operate primarily in the western hemisphere.

NOW ASSOCIATED with Marin Capital Properties, which represents the Goheen land development in Mill Valley, are R. Wallace Lawson of San Anselmo, formerly with Coldwell, Banker and Co., and J. Trow Cutter of Mill Valley, formerly with Lewis Realty. Goheen has recently opened its Northridge development in the Scott Highland Two subdivision.

MONITOR PLASTICS CO., San Rafael, has been awarded a $23,100 contract by Textron's Bell Aerosystems Co. of Buffalo, N.Y. for ablative liners used by Bell in testing the Lunar Excursion Module ascent engine being built for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

HANK'S GULF STATION, San Anselmo has received commendation from Gulf Oil Co. regional sales director H. M. Hall as the best maintained owner-operated facility of about 50 of the company's stations in the Oakland and San Francisco districts.

"TEN TOWNHOUSE DECORATOR TOUR" to benefit Marin General Hospital will be staged at the Knoll at Peacock Gap Saturday, Nov. 13 through Sunday, Nov. 21 from 1 to 5 p.m. daily. Tickets may be purchased on site. Model homes will be decorated by Betty Perdue, Florence Huber, the Station House, Casa Marin, Bell's Draperies, Carpets and Interiors and Dorothy Farber—all of Marin. Other decorators include Norman Black Interiors, Douglas Baughman and Gertrude Roarke and Western Contract Furnishers.

CREDIT UNION of the East Bay and Marin County telephone company employees has earned three awards with its magazine "2-Eleven Foothill News" for best layout and typography, news-education balance and overall scoring in its class (credit unions with assets over one million dollars).

Barber Shop Has New Ownership

John A. Ligouri of San Francisco has bought the Village Barber shop at 11 Bernard Street, Mill Valley, and opened it under his management yesterday.

The shop was formerly owned by Joseph Roccoforte, who died in August.

Ligouri has been a barber for four and one-half years, working at the 63 California Street barber shop in San Francisco. He and his wife, Janis, live in San Francisco. Ligouri said he plans to run the shop by himself, possibly hiring someone to help out on Saturdays.

Armstrong Consents To Revamp Pricing

LANCASTER, Pa. — A consent agreement, in which Armstrong Cork Co. undertakes to review and modify some of its pricing and marketing practices in the resilient flooring industry, has been entered into by Armstrong and the Federal Trade Commission.

The consent agreement points out that Armstrong's signing of the order is for settlement only purposes and is not an admission that the company has violated the law in any respect.

Dias Ranch Proposal On Mill Valley Agenda

The Marin County Planning Commission Monday will again consider the proposed master plan for the 170-acre Dias Ranch west of Mill Valley. The hearing is to begin at 2 p.m.

The commission meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center. One of the first matters on the morning agenda is an application for architectural supervision by Loyal Davis for a 12-unit apartment at 548 Miller Avenue, just outside of Mill Valley. The consideration has been repeatedly delayed pending improvement of the survey map, found at first to be in error, and due to many protests by adjacent property owners.

Item number 15 on the agenda is a request for a use permit for Synanon Foundation at Marshall for a trailer to serve as architect's and night watchman's headquarters in connection with construction at the narcotics treatment center.

The mayor of Belvedere is Merritt K. Ruddock. L. T. Mersereau is Belvedere fire chief.

Military Academy Cadets Promoted

A total of 96 cadets of the upper and lower schools of San Rafael Military Academy have recently been promoted, Lee L. Alfred, professor of military science, announced yesterday.

Dwight Fallon, B Company commander, was promoted to captain and the following cadets promoted to lieutenant: Peter Berton, Vaughn Feather, Stuart Haeder Jr., Robert Taylor, William Wooten, Greg Wilson and Steve Yoshino.

Promoted to master sergeant were: John Bower and Dennis Cooke, and Kirk Snyder is a new first sergeant.

Other promotions included eight cadets to the rank of sergeant first class, 16 to cadet sergeant, 22 to cadet corporal, 20 to private first class.

Eleven cadets of the lower school also received a rise in rank.

Officer Slate Elected By Redwood Club

Redwood High School's Drama Club has elected senior Hamp Lyons of Kentfield as president, Vicki Evans of Kentfield as vice president, and Vicki Turner of Greenbrae as secretary.

The club will assist with the production of "The Miracle Worker" at the school on the weekend of Nov. 18-19-20. Club members will head and staff committees for make-up, props, staging, lights, and programs, as well as some members acting in small roles and working on publicity.

Student Promotion

Robert D. Harris, son of Lt. Col. Zed Harris of 108 DuBois Street, San Rafael, was promoted to lieutenant in the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University of Oregon.

Officer Training

John Hinman, son of Col. and Mrs. John M. Hinman of Headquarters, Sixth Region Army Air Defense Command, at Fort Baker, has been accepted in the professional officers course of the Air Force ROTC at Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., where he is a junior.

The California Adult Authority has Fred R. Dickson of San Rafael as chairman.

Stinson Beach Party Slates Three Films

Stinson Beach Community Center will have a "Family Night" community party at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the center.

Films to be shown are "Schreecher, the Tern," an Audubon film; "Islands in Green" from the forest service, and a documentary on smoking created by John Korty of Stinson Beach. Refreshments will be served.
